TURIN, March 21.-Louis Kosauth died at 10:55 o'clock last night. His end was extremely painful. He showed signs of consolousness until the last. He expired in the arms of his son, and died pressing the hand of the flungarian deputy, Karolyi. The members of his family and a few of his intimate friends stood around the because of the expiring patriot. The mu-nicipal authorities of this city have of-fered the family to allow the remains to be buried in the Pantheon here.

Lajos (or Louis) Kossuth, ex-governor of Hungary, was born April 21, 1802, at Monok, Zemplin, Hungary. His father was a small landowner, and belonged to the nobility.

When Kossuth was 97 years old he took his seat in the national diet of Presburg as representative of a magnate, being the agent of the Counters Szapary, and his action in publishing reports of the pro-

Kossuth, in 1841, became editor of The Hirlap, a newspaper published at Pesth, and his influence with his countrymen increased. In March, 1848, he entered Vienna with a deputation to urge the claims of his country upon the Austrian governhis country upon the Austrian govern-ment, and returned to Presburg as minister of finance. Thanks to the internal re-forms advocated by Kossuth, the last re-mains of the oppressive feudal system were awept away and the peasants were declared free, the country undertaking to idemnify the landlords.

Idemnify the landlords.

Eventually the Hungarian dlet was dissolved and a new dlet was summoned for July 2, and by this dlet Kossuth was created governor of Hungary. He held that post during the civil war of 1848-49, and after the Hungarians had been crushed by the sid of the Russians Kossuth was compelled to retire to Turkey, and reached Schumla with 5,000 men. Austria and Russia wanted Turkey to give up Kossuth and the rest of the refugees. up Kossuth and the rest of the refugees, but through the intervention of England and France the demand was refused, and the late sulfan moved the refugees to Kuthia, in Asia Minor, where they re-mained prisoners until Aug. 22, 1851, be-ing treated with great humanity. Kossuth left Kutahia on Sept. 1, 1851, received at Gibraltar and at Lisbor for some years, occupying himself with writing for newspapers and in delivering lectures against the house of Hapsburg.

In November, 1881, Kossuth published in an Italian newspaper a long letter set-ting forth the situation in Hungary and urging the Italians to commence war against Austria, with the view of enabling the Hungarians to assert themselves against that power. In 1806, after the close of the war of that year, he issued an inflammatory address to the Hungarian advising them to reject the concession offered by Emperor Francis Joseph. Since April, 1875, Kossuth has been living in an unpretentious dwelling near Turin, and in November, 1879, he lest his rights as a Hungarian citizen, the chamber of deputies having adopted a bill declar-ing that any native of the country who voluntarily resided abroad for an uninter

Numerous efforts have been made to bring about his restoration to citizen ship and his eventual repatriation, but al these attempts have been unsuccessful though it is believed this would have been accomplished after the Easter holidays.

METROPOLIS MYSTERIES

Two Tragedies That Are Puzzling the Police Authorities.

WAS MISS FULLER MURDERED?

The Important Story Told by a Nassat Street Startender-The Revolting Murdes of Little Spoie Martin, Whose Dismembered Body Was Found in a Cellar.

NEW YOUR, March 21 .- The development of the day in the shorting of Miss Martha J. Fuller, the typewriter, shot in Mullen's law office on Saturday, was the result of the second autopay. It showed that she was shot in the right side of the nead, not the left, as formerly reported. In several other directions skilled and patient investigation is gradually dissipat-ing the fog of mystery with which the shooting has been surrounded, and the more clear it becomes the loss resconting seems to be to consider it at all a suicide.

Editor Kernan, who rushed to the room after the tragedy, is confident that there was no revolver by the side of the body when he picked the dying woman up. It was not until he had gone for a peliceman that the revolver appeared. Lawyer J. F. Biley agrees with him. Lawyer Riley heard Mages, the managing clerk, reproving the boy Brannigan for having removed the revolver from beside the body, but neither he nor Kernan saw it ther and there was any amount of daylight in What seems to be an important link in the chain of facts associated with Miss Fuller's death came to light for the first time last night ivan interview with Heavy C. Vett, bartender in Timothy Flynn's billiard rooms, 117 Nassau street, on the opposite side of the street to the Nassau ombers, where Miss Fuller met her Ven said: "Shortly after 5 o'clock on Saturday evening a man about 27 or 28 years old, of medium height, wearing a derby hat, and who had a small short cropped black mustache, suddenly rushed into the saloon. He was in an exceedingly excited state, and harriedly called for a glass of whisky, saying: 'Make it a big one. There is a young lady sick across

"I gave him the whisky. He picked up "I gave him the whisky. He picked up the glass, pinced his hand over the top of it, and rashed out again without paying for it. I am confident that there was no ambulance in sight when the man ran into the saloon. He did not return for at least an hour afterward. He then cares in and brought back the empty glass, and said "That girl is dead; she was shot." I know the man perfectly well by sight and have seen him in and out here frequently. have seen him in and out here frequently though I have never known his name,
"When the man who took the whisky over the way brought tack the empty glass he was accompanied by a friend. I think that the ambulance had then been there and gone again."

The story told by Vett suggests the idea that some one knew of Miss. Fuller's condition before an ambulance call was sent out, and had time to run for the whisky before any alarm was raised.

Vett said he could easily identify the two men who came into the saloon the empty gines. THE MURDER OF SUSIE MARTIN. The Body Dismembered and Boiled to Prevent Identification. New Your, March 21. - The trunk of the child that was found headless and with out arms and legs in the cellar of the tenement house 517 West Tairty-ninth street has been positively identified by Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, of 655 Eleventi avenue, as the body of their D-year-old daughter Susie, who disappeared mysteri onsly on the afternoon of Thursday March 8.

A more complete and careful examina tion of the body confirmed the fact that It was sawed and backed to pieces by some one other than a medical student, and that it was afterwards boiled, probably to hide the evidences of the crime. The most commonly accepted theory is that the child strayed from home, and was entited into a resort by some of the dock laborers who abound in that vicinity.
