

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.

In these days of keen competition in every line, when the business man is compelled to bend his intellect and every energy to the success of his business; the clerk, book-keeper, professional man and laborer, to drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which if not resulting in immediate death, leaves them with shattered brains and bodies. They are running at too high pressure. The strain is too great. Something must and does give way. This is equally true of women. Though their sphere is more limited, they have their daily burdens, frets and worries, and the results are the same as with their stronger companions.

This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of its increase is awful to contemplate. Our homes, hospitals, and insane asylums are full of these unfortunate and are being crowded still further. There is but one solution of the matter. Recognize the importance of the situation at once, and take the necessary measures to overcome it. If you have failing memory, hot flashes, dizziness, nervous or sick headache, biliousness, irritability, melancholy, sleeplessness, fainting, nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy, etc., know that any one of them is but a symptom of the calamity that may befall you, and even though you have used so-called remedies and treated with reputable physicians with little or no benefit, give Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve a trial. It is the only remedy that may be depended upon for nervous disorders.

Two years ago I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve with marked benefit, and later induced my son, who had been sick with catarrh of the bladder five years in the hands of our best physicians, to try it together with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. He was so wonderfully benefited that he is attending to business again. My wife also used Nerve with most excellent results. All of us together have not used more than six bottles of Nerve. Several of our friends have also used it, and are greatly improved.—Louis Gilks, Bucher & Gilks Flow Co., Canton, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles, $5. Express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Free book at druggists, or by mail.

A LYNCING AVERTED.

Terrible Triple Tragedy in the Village of Midvale, Pa.

AN INNOCENT INFANT MURDERED.

The Murderer, a burly Poleander, Then Fatally Wounded His Wife and a Fellow Countryman—His House Partly Demolished by an Enraged Mob.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 23.—A bloody tragedy occurred at Midvale, this county, last evening. Midvale is a village of 250 inhabitants, and the majority of the settlers are foreigners, the Polish element predominating. John Sanders keeps the largest boarding house in the place. He is a big, burly Poleander, greatly feared by his countrymen.

Last evening Sanders had a quarrel with a Poleander named Mike Boshop. The latter is alleged to have said: "You big tyrant, I am not afraid of you." The words had hardly left his mouth when Sanders ran to a corner of the room and picked up a rifle. Boshop tried to escape by running out of the back door, but he was not quick enough. Sanders took aim and fired. The first shot missed Boshop, but it found a target in the person of 3-year-old Willie Henderson, who was reclining in his mother's arms in the adjoining room. The ball pierced the little fellow's brain and he expired almost immediately. The mother fell in a swoon, and at first it was thought that both mother and child were dead. The second shot fired by Sanders entered Boshop's body near the heart and he fell to the ground.

Sanders, thinking he had killed Boshop, returned to the house and attacked his wife, accusing her of being intimate with the boarders. He fired two shots at the woman, both of which took effect, one lodging in the fleshy part of the right leg and the other in the neck. It is thought that the latter wound will prove fatal. Boshop and the woman were removed to a hospital. The doctors say that the man can live but a few hours, and there is but little hope for the woman.

After the shooting Sanders barricaded himself in the house. The news of the tragedy spread rapidly, and in less than an hour over 500 people had gathered in the vicinity. The crowd began to stone the house, when Sanders raised the window and fired two shots from a revolver into the crowd. This made the people more desperate than ever, and the cry went up: "Burn the house down! Lynch the scoundrel!" Several attempts to burn the house were made, but they were not successful, and the mob began to tear the house down. All the windows were broken, but nobody had the courage to enter the house and capture the assassin. County Detective Whalen and Patrick McGorray attempted to enter one of the windows, but the whiz of a bullet from Sanders' revolver drove them back.

Later Squire Perkins, of Wilkesbarre, headed a party which entered the house. They found the murderer helpless, his ammunition having been exhausted. He was found lying under a bed, with the rifle and two empty revolvers lying by his side. Blood was streaming from a wound in the back of his head, which was thought to have been inflicted by a stone thrown through the window.

When the murderer was brought out of the house the crowd wanted to lynch him to the nearest tree, but Sheriff Walters appealed to them to let the law take its course. Several men attempted to take the prisoner by force, but the wisdom of the better element prevailed, and Sanders was finally lodged in jail.

Recruits for Coxey's Army.

PITTSBURG, March 23.—Eight men, who were on their way to join Coxey's army, were arrested in the Fort Wayne yards in lower Allegheny. They were taken before Alderman Schellman, when a charge of trespass was lodged against them. In default of a fine of $5 and costs they were sent to jail for five days each. Seven of them registered at the jail as follows: John Ryan, George Hammond, Pat Lawler, Mat Burns, John King, William Devins and William Ryan. They gave their places of residence as New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Complaints from the suburbs are numerous. The outlying districts about the Fort Wayne road have been overrun with tramps the past few days. The officers of the railroad complain that they are having trouble on a number of trains.

Union Pacific Men Dissatisfied.

OMAHA, Neb., March 23.—Union Pacific employes are uneasy and restive, and there is an ugly look in the sky. Not a point has been given in by the company, and wherever there was a difference of opinion it still exists, unless the men have receded from their position. This has had a very depressing effect on them. The men have concluded that the conference is a waste of time. It is quietly announced that unless some very substantial concessions are made from the Dundy schedule the receivers of the Union Pacific will soon have a strike on their hands. The men have determined to drop the conference, and will not allow the receivers to settle the point for themselves.

A Good Year for Peaches.

GEORGETOWN, Del., March 23.—The growers throughout the entire peninsula are much encouraged as to a very large product of peaches this season. The open winter has blossomed the trees several weeks ahead of the usual time, and, while it is possible that a sudden cold snap may freeze the sap in the blossoms and thus destroy the crop, the growers are hopeful by reason of the fact that cold snaps have not lately materialized sufficiently to do any harm. However, they will be kept on the anxious bench until about May 10, which is the usual limit of cold weather.

Street Car Strike in Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., March 23.—A strike was inaugurated on the lines of the Holston Electric Street Railway company yesterday, 118 motormen and conductors refusing to take out their cars pending the reinstatement of four men alleged to have been discharged for unionism. The wires have cut in many places, regardless of a court injunction. The affair will be made an issue in the municipal election.

Evidence of a Criminal Assault.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 23.—Mary Harper, aged 35, was found a mile below this city nude and unconscious. On finally recovering her senses she could only tell her name, and the authorities suspect a criminal assault. A search is being made for her assailant.

Society for Trivial Causes.
Reading, Pa., March 23.—David Sieber, 24 years of age, living with his parents in Lehigh township, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart in his father's barn. Sieber had bought a small property, upon which he paid a $500 forfeit. He changed his mind about the purchase, however, and worry about losing the forfeit led to his suicide.

The Case Against Magee.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Recent developments indicate that the police expect to convict Magee, the managing clerk of Muller's law office, of the murder of Miss Fuller. It is claimed that Magee was wildly in love with the young lady, but that she rejected his frequent proposals of marriage, and that in a fit of desperation he took her life.

A Murderer Sentenced.

BRIDGPORT, Conn., March 23.—Mrs. Florence Hawley, the convicted murderess of Miss Mary Munson, of Shelton, in December, 1891, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Torrance to nine years in the state prison, and ordered to pay a fine of $1. John Hawley, her husband, is now serving a life sentence for the crime.

Prohibition Dead in Iowa.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 23.—The senate yesterday passed the house liquor bill which has so long been under consideration, thus destroying the Iowa policy of prohibition. The law provides for taxation of saloon property, and many conditions are required before the sale of liquor may be commenced.

A West Virginia Lady's Suicide.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 23.—Mrs. Jasper C. Moore, wife of Clerk Moore, of the United States court for West Virginia, and one of the best known ladies of the state, committed suicide here yesterday by shooting herself. No cause for the action is known.

FASHIONABLE SILK FABRICS.

They Are the Rage This Season and Are Used For Nearly Everything.

It seems scarcely possible that satin and moire can long enjoy the tremendous popularity now accorded them. It is too great to last. They are both shown in a wide variety of quality and the latter in every variety of wave and combination of stripe that can be devised. The silk weavers ought certainly to be exempt from the pressure of present hard times, since they must have been steadily employed in order to produce the quantity of silk stuffs now demanded by fashion and shown by the shops. Silk fabrics are the particular rage this season and are utilized for everything—street costumes, wraps, evening gowns, wrappers, every article of the feminine toilet except underclothing. Fashion has turned in a sensible direction, so far as the latter is concerned, and decrees the linen and muslin gowns that personally dainty women have never discarded, even in the height of the silk underwear fever. The silk petticoat is seen, to be sure, but it serves the purpose of a second dress skirt it can hardly be called an article of underwear. Besides satin and moire there are many fancy weaves shown in stiff silks, and the usual assortment of light summer goods, such as china silks and brocaded taffetas. The latter come in both flowered stripes and scattered sprays, which are usually self-colored. Glace and shot silks come this season, and the separate bodies in which they appeared so prominently last year are generally made of striped or plain moire or satin. It is said that bouillonne silks—black, sprinkled with small flowers or bouquets in the natural colors—will be much used, and they are certainly very pretty, particularly when made up in coat shape, with a bright vest and lace ruffles.

A recent English evening gown, reviving the panner effect, is shown in the accompanying cut. It figures in a tulle and moire and is made of cream satin and moire antique. The plain satin skirt is bell shaped and has no train. The panners and revers are of moire antique, while the full chemise or vest is of silk needlework lace. The puffed satin sleeves reach only half way to the elbow, but are supplemented by wide lace ruffles. The gown is of course only suitable for a tall, slender person. A woman of robust figure must always avoid panners, however fashionable they may be.

MIXED AND AMUSING.

Some Incidents of Lafayette's Tour Through the United States in 1824.

William M. Polk says, in his life of Bishop Polk, that when Lafayette in 1824 made his memorable tour through the United States many amusing incidents accompanied his passage through North Carolina. General Polk, the governor and a cavalry scout, under command of General Daniel, met the distinguished guest near the Virginia line. There was much hand shaking and speech-making. Lafayette spoke but little English and understood less. He had retained a few phrases, such as "Thank you," "My dear friend," "Great country" and "Happy man!" "Ah, I remember!" and "Thank you" were uttered these in an effusive manner they were sometimes ludicrously malapropos.

At Halifax the cortege was met by General Daniel, who had stationed a company of soldiers by the roadside, flanked by the ladies who had assembled to do honor to the guest of the state. It had been arranged that the ladies should wave their handkerchiefs as Lafayette came in sight, and when Daniel exclaimed, "Welcome, Lafayette!" the whole company was to repeat the words after him.

Unluckily the ladies misunderstood the programme and waited too long, only to be reminded of their duty by a stentorian command of "Flirt, ladies! flirt, I say!" from the general as he walked down the line to meet the marquis.

Equally misunderstanding their part, the soldiers, instead of shouting, "Welcome, Lafayette!" in unison at the close of the general's speech, repeated the sentence one by one in varying tones. Now a deep voice would exclaim, "Welcome, Lafayette!" Then the next man would squeak, in a shrill tenor, "Welcome, Lafayette!" So it went on down the line.

General Daniel, frantic at this burlesque of his order, vainly attempted to correct it. But as he unfortunately stammered when he was excited his "Say it all to-together!" could not overtake the running fire of "Welcome, Lafayette!" which continued all along the line.

ENFORCING RESPECT.

Hungarian Students Forcibly Compel Tributes to Kosuth.

ALL THE PLAY HOUSES INVADED.

Actors Driven from the Stages and Audiences from the Buildings, While Emblems of Mourning Are Displayed—Concert Halls Also Compelled to Close.

BUDA PESTH, March 23.—The government has so far yielded to the popular demand regarding the respect to be shown by it to the memory of Kosuth that it has caused to be hoisted upon the state buildings the national flag draped with crape. The students of this city, all of whom are ardent admirers of the great general, are apparently determined that the people shall pay every respect to his memory or else suffer the consequences. Last night crowds of the students went about the city displaying windows and gas lamps in front of houses on which no mourning had been displayed. Performances were being given in the theaters as usual. The students invaded the theaters and drove from the stage with missiles of all sorts the actors taking part in the performance. They then turned their attention to the audiences and managed in every case to drive them from the building.

The same tactics were employed at the concert halls, and the students compelled the closing of all of them. The police made attempts to arrest the disturbers of the peace, but the students, who were out in strong force and who were aided by the rough element, resisted them, and a number of sanguinary street conflicts took place.

When strong bands of the students entered the Royal Opera house and National theater the attaches and the police stationed at those places attempted to prevent them. The students fought their way into the bodies of the houses and stopped the performances. They demanded that black banners be displayed, and upon being met with refusals they themselves hoisted mourning banners they had brought with them over the boxes.

The distinguished Hungarian novelist, Maurice Jokay, has issued an appeal to the Hungarian people, in which he asks that all the draped flags which the army of sorrowing people will carry before the horse conveying Kosuth's remains be preceded by a white flag of reconciliation—an immaculate white flag of homage to the pillar of the constitution.

Student Imprisoned for Contempt.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 23.—The only important development yesterday in the Cornell university poisoning case was the commitment of F. L. Taylor to the county jail for contempt of court. When called to the witness stand Taylor told the court that he had decided to refuse to testify. Taylor was seen at the county jail by a reporter and he refused to make any statement except that he was in the hands of his counsel and that he wanted it understood that he was not a felon. It is said that several of his comrades will keep him company in jail within a few hours.

Rescued from a Living Tomb.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 23.—Joseph Wedemiller, 37, aged 35 years, had a narrow escape from a horrible death while digging a shaft into an old abandoned mine working. He was down fifteen feet when the sides caved in, burying him to his neck in earth. His left arm was pinned to his side, but with his right hand he managed to keep the earth off his head until assistance arrived, about two hours later. He was injured internally, and his mind is affected by the strain through which he passed.

Coxey's "Army" Moves Slowly.

MARSHALL, O., March 23.—The Coxey "Army of Peace" does not materialize. Not to exceed twenty men have yet put in an appearance here. The leaders of the movement still profess to believe that within 1,000 men will be ready to march when the army moves next Sunday. Reports tell of bodies of troops marching outward.

The Chess Champions.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The third game of the chess championship which began on Wednesday at the Union Square hotel, this city, was concluded last night. Lasker won on the Fifty-second move. The score of the match is now: Lasker, 2; Steinitz, 1.
