

Why the Day is and has been Religiously Observed.

Then the soldiers of the Governor took Jesus into the common hall, and gathered unto him the whole band of soldiers.

And they stripped him, and put on him a scarlet robe.

And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand; and they bowed the knee before him, and mocked him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews!

And they spit upon him, and took the reed, and smote him on the head.

And after that they mocked him, they took the robe off from him, and put his own raiment on him, and led him away to crucify him.

And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name; him they compelled to bear his cross.

And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull.

They gave him vinegar to drink mingled with gall; and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drink.

And they crucified him and parted his garments, casting lots; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet. They parted my garments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots.

And sitting down they watched him there.

And set up over his head his accusation written, This is Jesus, the King of the Jews.

Then there were two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand and another on the left.

And they that passed by reviled him, wailing and beating their heads.

And saying, thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days, save thyself. If thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross.

Likewise also the chief priests mocking him, with the scribes and elders, said, He saved others; himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him.

He trusted in God; let him deliver him now if he will have him; for he said, I am the Son of God.

The thieves also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.

Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour.

And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is to say, my God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, that man called for Elias.

And straightway one of them ran and took a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

The rest said, Let be; let us see whether Elias will come to save him.

Jesus, when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost.

And behold, the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent;

And the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints which slept arose.

And came out of the graves after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many.

Now when the sun was almost set, they that were with him, watching Jesus, saw the earthquake, and those things that were done; they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God.

John Saul, ex-member of the Borough Council of this place, died this morning in Pottsville, in his 80th year. He had been ill two weeks. The deceased was born in St. Eves, Lancashire, England, and came to this country in 1841.

He had been a resident of Mahanay City for twenty-one years and was a member of the Borough Council. He was the local agent of the Lister Brewing Company for six years. Interment will be made in the Episcopal cemetery on Tuesday at 2 p. m.

An official of the Lakeside Railway stated this morning that the road would be in operation between the middle and the end of next month. A load of brick arrived last night and the work of building a foundation for the boilers was begun at once. The boilers will be tested next week and the steam fittings will be completed within three weeks. Work on the big 10-foot stack was finished today and an American flag raised over it. It will at first require about twenty-five months to cover the 5 1/2 miles between Mahanay City and Shenandoah, but this time may be considerably reduced as the machinery, timbers and other defects are discovered by operation. The rate of fare has not been fixed, but it will probably be ten cents each way and fifteen cents for the round trip.

HONOR TO DARTMOUTH!

Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., Whose Giant Intellect Discovered Paine's Celery Compound.

Two giants among men—the greatest statesman and the greatest physician that America has produced—Daniel Webster and Edward D. Phelps—have both done honor to Dartmouth college, one as a student, the other as an instructor.

To Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., the world-to-day owes longer life and more freedom from sickness than to any other physician.

Every Dartmouth alumnus of more than a dozen years' standing remembers the awe in which he held the keen observer whose name appeared in the college catalogue next to that of the president as professor of materia medica; and every younger graduate has admired the complete museum of medical botany which Dr. Phelps gave to the college.

But it was the world-famed discovery of Prof. Phelps of an infallible cure for those fearful ills that result from an impaired nervous system and impure blood which has endeared the great doctor to the world, and made his life an era in the practice of medicine.

Prof. Phelps was born in Connecticut and graduated from the military school at Norwich, Vt. He studied medicine with Prof. Nathan Smith, of New Haven, Conn., and graduated in medicine at Yale.

His unusual talent soon brought him reputation and prominence among his professional brethren. In 1835 he was elected to the professorship of anatomy and surgery in the Vermont university.

In 1841 he was appointed lecturer on materia medica and medical botany in Dartmouth college. The next year he was chosen professor of the chair then vacated by Prof. Robby, and occupied the chair, the most important one in the country, until a few years before his death in 1880.

He had for years foreseen the dangers of the American way of living. He went about to find a scientific, common sense remedy to cure the common evils that, under one name and another, result from an unhealthy state of the nervous system, and within a score of years have seemed to be sweeping over the country like an epidemic.

He succeeded. He gave to the medical profession a celebrated remedy, which has since come to be known the world over as Paine's celery compound.

It was Dr. Phelps' prescription which ever since has been freely used and prescribed by the most eminent of the profession. The formula was furnished to all reputable physicians. They found the wonderful remedy to be exactly what was claimed for it, a great nerve and brain strengthener and restorer. It was demonstrated beyond doubt that Paine's celery compound would cure nervous debility and exhaustion, neuralgia, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, and all blood diseases.

It was as harmless as it was good, and it was the universal advice of the medical profession that the compound be placed where the general public could secure it, and thousands of people have every year proven the wisdom of this good advice.

The recent advice of Commodore Howell to use this compound, which the commodore publicly said had saved his own life, and the published testimonials of Mayor McShane, of Montreal, the poet-author Hardy, George Wright, Marie Tempest, Councillor Morse, Mabel Jenness, and other men and women of national reputation, has brought the compound into special notice.

As a well known physician in this city says: "Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine; it is not a sarsaparilla; it is not a mere tonic; it is not an ordinary nerve—it is as far beyond them all as the diamond is superior to cheap glass."
