HEADQUARTERS
REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE
Philadelphia, Feb. 94, '94.

To the Republican Exclors of Pensagleonia
I am directed by the Republican State Committee to announce that the Republic cans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State convention at Harrisburg, Pa., on Weslnesday, May 33, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the following purpose, to will:
For the nomination of candidates respectively for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, two members of Congress from the

TIRED OF AMERICA. Herr Most, the anarchist editor of the New York Freihelt, advises his followers to turn their bases "on this necursed country and continue their labors in Europe." He says he would go himself If he knew any place where he could keep from behind prison bars. He thinks anarchy will not prosper in this country till Americans become anarchists. That is just where Most is right. The people of this country will not tolerate the for ported article, and if the sexus of Europe like Most and his gang, go much further with their society for propagation of crime, this country will get waked up and seitle them once and for good. The talk about Americans becoming an archists is nonsense. There is no disposition among natives of the United States to change its government, nor is there any syldence that our people are be coming less law abiding than formerly or are losing any respect for the institutions of our country. The exhibitions of patriotism, and the love for law and order, shown during the Rebellion, do not indicate that there is any less devotion to the principles of a free government and majority rule than there was in the days of the Revolution. The prospects are that as the people become better educated and more intelligent, the permanence of our institutions will become more assured and that there will be no American anarchists outside the lunatic asylums. If Herr Most and his crowd want to leave this country, it will be very doll times when they can't get up a contribution to pay their passage in a very short time. Most may be tired of America. Certainly America is tired of Most.

East, West, North and South are beginning to feel its influence, and bosses who wend to consider themselves possessed of life tenures are realizing that they have been laboring under a delusion, and that the time has either already come or is bear at hand when they will have to stand from under or be crushed.

HOW TO CARE FOR THE HAIR.

A Few Simple Measures For Beautifying It, and a New Colffeen.

How to cars for the hair is a never settled nestion. The market is full of nostrums question. The market is full of nostrums for beautifying, restoring and preserving it, while there is an unceasing supply of contradictory recipes for its treatment. One writer mentions ange to a as a dressing, but does not add that it should be used only by brunettes, as it is inclined to dark-en the hair. Other authorities state that berax should always be dissolved in the water in which the hair is washed. But berax, although it keeps the cair soft and clean, makes it fall out as fast as it groves in.

Somebody else advises the use of vascling and glycerin. These articles may be bene-ficial, but they make the hair damp and oily and effectually prevent anything in the way of carls or waves, besides collecting all the dust and cinders that are affost in the air. Brushing has time out of mind been considered the best sort of treatment, but not long ago an innovator came out with the assertion that it is most injurious, de-stroying the new hairs before they have a chance to grow. This may be taken with a grain of wholesome doubt.

It is much easier to say what should not than what should be done. Oil or grease of any kind makes the bair straight, strings and unpleasant to the touch and is an enemy to neatness. Soda dulls and dries it. Sulphur atimulates its growth, but is to odoriferous to be pleasant. Simple measoddfiffrons to be pleasant. Simple measures in this matter, as in most others, are best. The hair may be washed as frequently as necessary, for if it is quickly dried a hath does it no harm and greatly improves its appearance. A little common sait, flue ollet soap, ammonia or alcohol may be sided to the water and the hair afterward

But Declares That Her Actions Were Not Calculated to Hold Bis Respect-Depositions Tending to Show That the Plaintiff Was Unchaste.

Washington, March 29.—The surprise f the Pollard-Breckinridge trial yester-Bay was the unexpected appearance of one of Miss Pollard's old lover's, Rankin Res-sell, a Kentucky schoolmaster. His depoself, a Kanthoky school master. His depo-sition had been read in the case, but to make his testimony doubly sure the ex-flances was introduced in person, and no somer had he taken the stand than Madeline Pollard glided in, for the first time this week, from the office of her attorneys across the atreet, where she waits to be sent for when her presence is needed.

Most of the testimony yesterday was in the form of depositions, and much of it was of a character which can only be published in expectated forms. Those depositions, removing which Judge Bradley had expressed his regress that they could not be excluded in convenion to the control of the not be excluded on general principles, were recited, and the justification for the were recited, and the justification for the scathing comments on them was self evi-dent. Some of the language employed by Hiram Kaufman, a Lexington butcher, and John Brandt, a janitor from the same place, would hardly be tolerated in a well regulated barroom. These gentlemental-mitted in a matter of fact way their ten-dencies toward habitnal drunkenness and markly infidelity, and the court admitted marital infidelity, and the court admitted their statements unexpurgated, as he remarked in conversation that the jury night judge of the character of the wit-

Colonel Breckinridge's private secre-tary was one witness of the day, and an-other was Colonel Hay, the best known man in Washington, and incidentally an expert on permanship, who was subjected to further cross-examination upon the principles employed in detecting forger-ies, under the suggestions of another ex-port who sat at Attorney Wilson's elbow. From the addition of this new expert into the case it looks as though a hard fight had been precipitated over the authen-ficity of that black bordered letter which Colonel Breckinridge's private secre ticity of that black bordered letter which was made public yesterday. The case of the defense is drawing to a close, with the appearance of Colonel Breckingidge, whose testimony is expected to occupy at least three days. Then there will be rebuttal for an indefinite length, is Miss Pollard will take the stand again. and witnesses have been summoned from Kentucky.

Mr. Rossell testified that he had met Miss Pollard first in the fall of 1883, when Miss Polinird first in the fall of 1885, when he was enveloped in a Cincinnati dry goods stor. Miss Polinird came into the store and introduced herself to him, atating she had heard her cousin, Nellis Oliver, speak of him often. At her request he accompanied her to the Wesleyan college, where she stated to Dr. Brown that lege, where she stated to Br. Brown that he was a personal friend. Subsequently be called on her regularly at the semin-ary, sometimes twice a week. She in-formed him of her engagement to Mr. Rhodes, and of her dislike for that gen-tleman. The friendship between himself and Miss Foilard led to love, and finally they were engaged to be marked.

When asked why he had allowed the engagement to drop Mr. Rossell said that she had allowed him to kiss and hug her in a way he did not like in a woman he layed. Once he had written her about the rings he had given her. He had destroyed

Last April he had made application for the position of gauger in the internal revenue service; but when his friends per enne service; out when me trends per-senaded him to run for superintendent of schools he withdrew his application. Did not know Colonel Breckinridge when he applied for the revenue position. His ap-plication had been withdrawn before he nade a deposition in this case.

Mr. Wilson jumped into the cross-exam-

you made that deposition?" he asked.
