

HE COMMITTED SUICIDE!

The Cause and Its Lesson.

Why did he commit suicide? Oh! for the same reason that thousands of others are on the verge of the same sin, or in immediate danger of insanity, paralytic, or some other equally unfortunate result of any nervous affection. He knew he was afflicted with a nervous disorder, but was careless, apparently indifferent to the outcome; or he may have hesitated his chances for recovery by treating with physicians who had little or no knowledge of such affections, or by deluging himself with worthless so-called remedies. His case was a sad one, but no worse than that of any other nervous sufferer, who has nervous or sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, irritability, melancholy, falling memory, hot flashes, fainting, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, sexual debility, epilepsy, etc. The same or similar consequences are likely to result to any one who has any of these symptoms.

Do not hesitate in getting rid of them by intelligent treatment. Dr. Franklin Miles, the celebrated specialist, has studied nervous diseases over 20 years, and has discovered the only reliable remedy for them. Thousands of voluntary testimonials prove the virtues of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

Alonso Barker, of Clinton, N. Y., writes: "I was so afflicted with extreme nervousness that I was on the verge of insanity. My hands trembled so that I could scarcely hold my pen. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and was cured. It is with pleasure I recommend this wonderful remedy for nervous troubles." "I had been a great sufferer from chronic headache until I began, about four months ago, to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Pills, since which time I have not had a headache. Several of my friends are using Dr. Miles' Restoratives, and find them as I did, to be more than you claim for them."—Mrs. Mary Kistner, Los Angeles, Cal.

W. H. Caswell, editor Tribune, Plymouth, Pa., writes: "My wife was cured of sick headache by many years' suffering by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Pills. I would not have been so cured had it not been for them. I am glad to be more than you claim for them."—Mrs. Mary Kistner, Los Angeles, Cal.

TILLMAN'S INQUISITION

Causes Great Indignation Among South Carolinians.

CITIZENS REFUSE TO BEAR ARMS.

The Officers of Military Companies Have Thrown Up Their Commissions Rather Than March Against Their Fellow Citizens—Tillman Controls Telegraph Lines.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 2.—Yesterday was a rather quiet day in Columbia, and while there have been incidents of a most interesting nature in connection with the dispensary troubles there has been practically no excitement. Governor Tillman established a telegraph censorship, placing several militiamen in charge of both offices to supervise all messages carried. These gentlemen have simply carried out their instructions, and have refused only a few telegrams that were calculated to arouse bad feeling.

Early in the day the governor summoned the governor's guards to the executive mansion. Drawing them up in line he addressed them, saying that he was informed that their disbandment was not their fault, but that they had been overruled by a mob at their doors. He asked for some indication as to whether they would obey his orders, in which event the arms would be given back to them. As he made this assertion five of the men threw down their bayonets and were quickly followed by several others. They obediently begged them to disband and wait until the governor had finished. Governor Tillman, however, told them that their action was satisfactory, for he only wished to know exactly what their position was. He then said to those who remained that they could leave, but if they determined that they would report to the state penitentiary. The remainder of the company marched to their armory, and in five minutes thereafter they had disbanded.

At 5 o'clock marching orders were given to the troops stationed at the penitentiary. Governor Tillman addressed them, saying: "As chief executive of South Carolina, I thank you for the promptness and zeal displayed by you in responding to the call for duty. Many of you have doubts as to the justice of the cause for which you go, you are reform Democrats and anti, but all South Carolinians, thank God, are united in their support of the law, and it is law as long as it stands on the statute books, until repealed or declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. The newspapers have sown the seed of disorder by teaching you that there are portions of the law which invade private rights. The right to search private houses on a warrant is as old as the law itself. They know that they are not telling the truth when they try to make you believe that these men in Darlington were defending their liberties."

"You are going on a delicate and dangerous mission. You must remember that the Darlington people are your fellow citizens, but they are in insurrection, and it is necessary for you to go there to uphold the law. I learn that they destroyed a state dispensary. Nobody did this but the ex-army keepers and their hirelings. You go as an arm of the law and you must treat the people with consideration, but if you are ordered to shoot you must do it, or anarchy will prevail in the state."

QUIET AT DARLINGTON.
The People, However, Are Ready for an Outbreak at Any Time.
DARLINGTON, S. C., April 2.—Everything is quiet here, for the seat of war is now changed to Columbia. The proclamation of Governor Tillman declaring the activities of Darlington and Florence in a state of insurrection has caused a great deal of bitterness. The adjutant and inspector general of the state troops arrived here on a special train, but no troops accompanied them. The inspector general, under the orders of the governor, has traveled over the state endeavoring to raise a force of volunteers to uphold the dispensary laws, but the indications are that he has met with complete failure on all sides. All classes of citizens are refusing to bear arms against South Carolinians.

The adjutant general has been in consultation with the most conservative citizens of Darlington, and the inference is that they have all agreed to use their influence to quiet the disturbed conditions. A strong determination still prevails, however, that Tillman's spies shall not invade private residences. The "spy" McLeaden, who was in jail here, was spirited away by his friends and supporters of the dispensary law between the hours of 3:30 and 5 a. m. McLeaden was the man who killed Frank Norment, and a number of the dead man's friends are searching for him. The "spy" who was captured in the woods near Rodgers' was also made his escape. McLeaden, who was first thought to be seriously wounded, proved to have been shamming, and was detained in jail by a friendly sheriff until arrangements for his escape from the county could be made. Five men are dead as the result of the fight here.

surface to indicate to a stranger that the neighborhood was on the verge of an uprising. The churches were all well attended, there were no disorderly assemblages on the streets, and the cooler judgment of a night's rest seemed to have had its effect.

But a strong feeling of resentment was working behind a cloud of apparent submission. The belief is general that even should the officers of the governor, who are asserted to be responsible for the first outbreak, be convicted by the courts they would be pardoned by the governor, as Elliott, one of the spies, who slipped the face of a woman in Charleston some time ago, was pardoned by Governor Tillman. In fact of the most convincing proof of his guilt. The people have lost faith in the efficiency of the law to protect their lives and liberties.

Darlington asserts her independence of Governor Tillman and his laws. Florence is ready to follow her lead, and it is believed that other towns in the state stand ready to take the cue from Darlington. The guns of the Confederate rifles are still in the possession of the citizens, and no attempt has thus far been made to recover them. Even should an effort be made by state troops no arms will be found, as they have been secreted. The citizens are not disposed to surrender the advance they have made, but propose that, being outlawed, they will proceed to restore law and order themselves.

A special train from Columbia with 200 troops reached here at 9 o'clock last night. They declared the town under martial law and have taken charge of the Western Union Telegraph office and the railroads. Governor Tillman has assured the citizens that the soldiers are here with no malicious intent, but merely to protect the public peace. Mayor Derosier made a short address to an assemblage on the street and asked that the citizens maintain a peaceful bearing toward the soldiers.

Great excitement prevailed when the train bearing the military arrived, but it has since died away. Governor Tillman has wired the citizens here that the presence of the troops are required to arrest those who participated in the riot three days ago. If the governor desires to make the arrest of those men he will have to send at least five times the number of troops on the spot, and it is believed if the military is called on to arrest citizens at least half, if not all the soldiers will lay down their arms and assist the citizens should trouble occur. Telegrams have been sent on ahead of the train on which nine spies are traveling to Charleston, in order to have them captured and held until a posse can be sent from this place for them.

A courier has just arrived from the country near Timmonsville announcing that two spies have been found dead in the woods near that place.

Four Killed by Explosion.
ALEXANDRIA, Ind., April 2.—The new two story Wilkesburg block, in which occurred a natural gas explosion Saturday night by which four men were killed and three hurt, is a total wreck. The clothing store was entirely ruined, as were the barber shop and express office, and the total monetary loss will reach $50,000. There was a basement several feet in depth under the building, with no ventilation, and in this cavity the natural gas accumulated. There is said to have been a quantity of nitroglycerine in the express office. The four blackened corpses, burned as they are, are being kept in a room, were removed from the charred timbers and taken to their homes.

The Sixth Gastard Mine Victim.
WILKESBURG, Pa., April 2.—The body of Joseph Olin, the sixth victim of the Gastard mine disaster, was recovered at 11 o'clock yesterday. An hour later it was brought to the surface, and at 2 o'clock the funeral was on its way to the cemetery. Olin was an old fellow, and the members of that organization had charge of the funeral. The rescuing party report that the odor of decaying fish on the plain is now almost unbearable. Unless the other bodies are recovered soon it will be almost impossible to continue the work.

Like the Breckinridge-Polmer Case.
SAN FRANCISCO April 2.—Mrs. Mary Antonio Castro Majors, member of a well known California Spanish family, has begun suit for breach of promise in the United States circuit court against Harry S. Cowell, son of the well known Santa Cruz millionaire line king, Harry C. Cowell. The woman sues for $50,000, and will contest for a share of his wealth, which she declares belongs to their child. Mrs. Majors is the mother of eight children, seven by Majors and one alleged to be by Cowell.

Breckinridge's Constituents Foes.
CINCINNATI, April 2.—The Burnett House received from Washington a telegram engaging quarters for Colonel Breckinridge to hold a conference there yesterday with his constituents, but Colonel Breckinridge did not appear, and his constituents suspected they were among the victims of All Fools' day. One man wanted to collect a bill for back hire, and another had driven over eighteen miles to see the colonel and renew his allegiance. There were fully 100 disappointed visitors.

Fruit Trees Blighted.
WASHINGTON, April 2.—The San Jose scale of California has just been discovered at De Funiak Springs, Fla., and at Tyverside, Charles county, Md. How the insect was introduced into these localities is not known, but is probably on nursery stock imported from California. The seriousness of these appearances in Florida and Maryland can hardly be exaggerated. In the latter state an orchard of 800 peach and apple trees has been practically ruined by the pest.

A Septuagenarian Murdered.
POMEY, O., April 2.—The foulest murder in the history of this county was committed here about midnight. Elizabeth, the divorced wife of Dr. Richard Slaughter, was found dead on the next door neighbor's porch with three bullets in her head. She is supposed to have run to the neighbors when attacked, and was murdered while trying to get in that door. There is no clue.

Governor Waite's Latest Move.
DENVER, Colo., April 2.—Judge Platte Rogers, counsel for Governor Waite on the fire and police board, has asked the supreme court, through Attorney General Engley, for a mandamus writ compelling the old board to give up the office and records. This is likely to sidetrack lower court proceedings, now in a dreadful muddle, and settle the issue without further delay.

Chicago's Mysterious Disappearance.
CHICAGO, April 2.—E. E. L. Gauss, one of the best known Germans of this city, has disappeared from his home, and despite the efforts of friends and the police no trace of him has been found. It is feared he has made away with himself. Mr. Gauss occupied the position of first assistant public librarian, and was well known in German newspaper and literary circles.

A "Little Difficulty" in Kentucky.
LEXINGTON, Ky., April 2.—In a bloody fight on Fourth street, Jack Slom received a bullet in his head, Charles Williams (colored) was shot in the thigh, and Pat Trier was shot in the thigh. About twenty shots in all were fired. The trouble arose from a horse race. Slom's wounds will probably prove fatal. All the men have been arrested.

Getting Thin

KOSSUTH'S FUNERAL.

A Remarkable Demonstration in Hungary's Capital.

VISITORS OVERCROWD THE CITY.

A Hundred and Fifty Thousand People Pass by the Catafalque, Five Thousand of Whom Arrived from Czeleg After a March of Two Days.

BUDA PESTH, April 2.—An immense crowd of people from all parts of Hungary, and many from Austria, is in this city. Hotel and other accommodations are at a premium, and late arrivals have considerable difficulty in finding quarters. The great center of attraction for the people was the National Museum, in which the body of Kossuth was lying in state. It is estimated that at least 100,000 persons of all classes entered the museum and walked past the catafalque. The procession was a silent one, the only sound breaking the stillness being an occasional sob from some woman.

Several impressive incidents marked the day. One was the visit of a large number of maidens from Transylvania, clad wholly in white, who deposited many wreaths on the coffin that was already almost hidden from view by the floral offerings piled upon and about it. The visit of the veteran Hunved Hussars also attracted much attention. All these veterans come from Szecseg and its neighborhood. The 5,000 inhabitants of Czeleg, who walked in a body the long distance from there to Buda Pesth in order to pay their last tribute of respect and love to the great Hungarian, arrived safely, and their visit to the hall in which the body was lying was one of the noteworthy incidents of the day. Many of them showed plainly the traces of their weary two days' march.

Order was preserved throughout, except when the great crush necessitated the interposition of Czeleg Hussars, which created confusion and disorder. It was intended to close the museum at midnight, but when the proposed closing time arrived such an immense crowd was still waiting to view the body that it was decided to keep the building open until 2 o'clock in the morning. At that hour the doors were closed, and thousands of persons were turned away disappointed. This caused much anger among a certain element in the crowd, and stone throwing and abuse of the authorities were indulged in. The trouble was not serious, and the disorder was promptly quieted.

The funeral services, which began at 10 o'clock in the morning, were the most solemn ceremonies ever seen here. They were held in the vestibule of the National Museum in the presence of the National Assembly, members of the Hungarian diet and the Hungarian magnates. After the singing of the national anthem, in which all present joined, Bishop Sarkany delivered an oration in which he eloquently extolled the services of Kossuth. Maurice Jokai, one of the leading Hungarian writers, and a member of the diet, followed, speaking on behalf of the lower house. His words moved many of his audience to tears. The funeral orator of Buda Pesth, speaking for the city, followed in a touching address.

When the funeral services at the museum had been concluded the coffin was removed from the catafalque and conveyed to the funeral car, to which were attached eight horses covered with mourning garb. The procession was then speedily formed. It was twenty special cars bearing between 2,000 and 3,000 funeral wreaths. Then followed 1000 Hunveds, some in full and others in uniform. All wore medals. Included among the regimental wreaths carried was the celebrated black flag with thirteen death wounds, in memory of the martyrs who fell in the suppression of the revolution at Arad. Fifteen formed a guard on each side. The cortege occupied two hours in reaching the cemetery. The streets through which it passed were densely crowded. Not a window nor a roof along the route was unoccupied. Business, much of which is usually done in Buda Pesth on Sundays, was at a complete standstill, all the business houses being closed. Everybody was mourning, and the city presented a scene that was never before witnessed here.

The members of a thousand deputations, carrying wreaths and banners, followed the Hunveds. As the procession moved along cheers sang national airs and the Kossuth hymn. As it passed the opera house thousands of persons massed upon the steps suddenly joined in the hymn, and the melodious air the effect was most impressive. From the opera house on there was an intermitted rising of patriotic songs from the populace.

Throughout the march from the National Museum to the cemetery Kossuth's sons, Fritz and Louis, walked behind the coffin. They were surrounded by a detachment of students carrying the principal wreaths. The final ceremony, though simple, was very impressive. Several speeches were made by representatives of the independence party and by Hunveds who served under Kossuth. As the coffin was lowered into a temporary vault a touching spectacle presented itself, the immense assemblage gathered outside the cemetery falling upon their knees and offering a silent prayer. The ceremonies concluded, the crowd dispersed quietly.
