A COMING CELEBRATION.

Camp 113, Patriotic Order Sons of America, Still Active and Progressive, Preparing to Celebrate Its Twenty-fifth Anniversary. Other Matters of Interest.

There is considerable activity among the members of Washington Camp, No. 113, P. O. S. of A., owing to the approaching celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization. This celebration will be the red letter occasion of the camp's history and will no doubt bring into re-nobility many people who are now prominent in town and cities in other parts of the country and who at one time were well-known and prominent residents of this place. During its existence of a quarter of a century the old camp has been the scene of many pleasant associations and some of the names upon its books are frequently seen recorded in connection with notable political and commercial events in all parts of the United States. Among its members and ex-members are men who have taken the lessons taught in the camp room as one of their guides in life and have steadily climbed the ladder of fame and fortune, until to-day they shine as lights among their fellow men. But in all their prosperity and prominence they never fail to remember the scenes of their early happiness and when the old camp has an anniversary the mails always bring in scores of letters from her graduates in all parts of the country. Though very old, and having had many ups and downs in her life, the camp is still as vigorous as ever. She has a healthy treasury, a large and active membership, and takes in new members at almost every meeting. The committee which has charge of the arrangements for the approaching celebration is composed of Messrs. S. L. Brown, James R. Lewis, P. H. Gable, Joseph Lehner, J. S. Williams and Frank C. Reese.

PENCIL POINTS.

Railroaders had a hard time of it. It will be mud and slush for a few days. A thaw now will do immense damage. Coxe's army doesn't take kindly to water.

Gardeners can now take a rest until winter is over.

Next November there won't be any Democratic party.

"It snowed the next day" is no longer the Democratic war cry.

Get ready for more new banks. Free banking will give them to us.

The "oldest inhabitant" has no recollection of such a snow storm in April.

Put aside the whitewashing bucket and brush and take up the snow shovel again.

The Pennsylvania Editorial Association will go to Asbury Park, N. J., this summer.

In White House circles Senator Hill's name is spelled—well, it isn't spelled with an "I."

Col. Thompson is also a Kentucky gentleman. Let us be thankful for Mason and Dixon's line.

There seems to be an organized conspiracy of the Kentucky Colonels to write themselves down blackguards.

The sleigh bells were jingling merrily yesterday and to-day. A few years from now this item will be read with incredulity.

It would require the analytical skill of a specialist to determine whether the spring is due to native coyness or cold feet.

The Boddal breaker at Greenwood, near Tamaqua, which was destroyed by fire last October, has been rebuilt and will soon resume operations.

Recent Democratic reverses in the West remind a contemporary of old Know Nothing times in that section. They remind us of "Do Nothing" times in Washington.

For the benefit of many inquirers it is stated that the Salupas charges against the borough officials will not be disposed of until the Borough Council meeting on the 10th inst.

If those Chicagoans who were married on top of a case of champagne had cared anything for the proprietors they would have popped the question there and been married somewhere else.

The Philadelphia Record complains about Democratic "absenteeism" in Congress. Democratic absenteeism in the present Congress is a mere bagatelle to what it will be in the next one.

Shenandoah officials have decided to oppose a base ball, and the sports there are discomfited, and say they have no team. They will though, and they will add to its standing in the region by shutting down on all Sunday games.—Shamokin News.

The W. W. T. Social Club will hold a party in Washington Hall, Ashland, on May 1st. The members of the club are Misses Marie Graeber, Virgie Goff, Emma Engle, Ida Wallaver, Anna Graeber and Laura Grosser. The patronesses Mrs. H. Buck, Mrs. T. F. Rich and Mrs. J. W. Rowe.

You never heard of a tomfool expedition like Coxe's Commonwealth Army during a Republican Administration in Congress and the White House. In those times American citizens were so busily engaged in making money and building homes that they had no leisure to devote to the show business.

Ugly Rumors Concerning Certain Town Organizations.

WILL BE INVESTIGATED!

The Matter is Now Being Followed Up and if the Reports Have Any Reasonable Foundation the "Herald" Readers Will be Fully Informed.

If information which has reached us from a reliable source shall be confirmed on further investigation we expect to lay before our readers in a very few days a story, which may not startle this entire community, (because many there are who are acquainted with the statement of facts we give to-day,) but it will be sufficient to arouse all order-loving citizens and the community in general to a realization of the great danger with which they are threatened.

Recent events growing out of the very disgraceful acts of a portion of our foreign population, who so far disregarded the laws and so unbecomingly of the rights of others as to loot and interfere with the funeral of M. J. Andrukatus on the 25th ult., have brought to light the existence of certain societies who, in their manifesto to Council at its last session, declare that they will sooner or later precipitate one of the bloodiest of bloody riots in our midst. We refer to the paper presented to Council on the night of the 5th of April, in which occur the threatening sentences and which paper, in the estimation of many sensible citizens, should not have been received by Council in the form it was made, but should have been couched in temperate terms based on an unbiased recital of just what occurred and ended in an appeal to Council to investigate the charges made against the borough officials, omitting all charges against private citizens and residents whose conduct would more properly be the subject of a trial in court after proper information laid before a competent magistrate. In this manifesto occur sentences which should have been eliminated before its presentation and which would have lost none of its force thereby.

The HERALD, in the spirit of fairness it always pursues, and with a purpose to do justice to all, will not hastily form or express an opinion on this, or any other subject in which citizens and residents may be at war. This newspaper is content to record and publish the news of events as they occur and those who are found, after just and impartial trial or investigation, to be at fault, will receive deserved censure in our columns.

To that end, and in order that the blame may rest where it justly belongs, the HERALD proposes to follow up the clue given it to further inform itself and its readers wherein consists the threatened danger of bloodshed in this community.

We are not alarmists, but on the contrary the foes of those who are, but we believe it is a newspaper's duty and privilege to probe all threatened troubles to the core and give its timely aid to nip in the bud any attempt at riot and bloodshed.

It always happens on an occasion of a collision between factional and riotous elements that the most peaceable and inspired are the non-contending, innocent, lookers-on, who, drawn to the scene of the occurrence by morbid curiosity, become victims to the desperate encounter of the lawless bands engaged in the struggle.

It is in this connection that we refer to the bed rock facts of this case. It will promptly dish it up for the delectation of its readers, as well as for the security of life and limb and the preservation of public and private property.

Sol Haak, the local agent for Rettig's celebrated beer and porter and Bergner & Engel's celebrated India pale ale and stout, was one of the townsmen who were surprised by the blizzard and kept his friends in good humor all day yesterday by his remarks about the change in the weather. Enterprise is always commendable and deserves proper notice every time. Happening into McElhenney's cafe this morning the reporter was regaled by the sight of five lobsters ready for the pot, hard shell crabs just boiled, which had arrived last evening and were ready to serve this morning. The eating bar was also decorated with some of the nicest of little neck clams, devilled crabs and oysters ever offered to the palates of people who love the good things of this world.

"The Fast Mail."

The scene of Niagara Falls, in the last act of "The Fast Mail," is the grandest piece of reality, mechanical ingenuity ever presented upon the stage of any theatre. The actual scene was so impressive that Lincoln J. Carter immediately determined to produce it in his piece "The Fast Mail," and with such gratifying results as to be pronounced perfect by the thousands who have seen and compared it to America's wonderful natural waterfall. At Ferguson's theatre on Tuesday evening, April 10th.

AT KEITER'S.

An old lady who visited the museum the other evening was astounded by the attenuated limbs of J. W. Coffey, who is billed as the skeleton dude. She gazed at him intently for several minutes, her eyes twinkling with great interest. "I don't know, mum, how he was made, or who made 'im; but I know there would be no business at the Atlantic City bathing houses if he all stood on pins like 'em, would there?"

The blizzard made trying work for the railroaders. The men engaged on freight trains were obliged to stand knee-deep in the snow and shoveling hard to clear the switches and tracks. At some places the snow had drifted to such a depth that even the snow plows on the locomotives were of little value and cars were side tracked only after great difficulty. The snow would pile up on the plows and pilots and after pushing a few yards the engines would look as if they had been driven into a snow bank.

A townsman seated in Ferguson's hotel last night said he would like to see Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, "just see what kind of a looking chap he is." The man who expressed this desire and many others of town, have seen him, but they forget the Congressional committee which visited Shenandoah to make an investigation of the last big strike. At that time he was comparatively unknown and but little regarded. He is now a view of him, but his recent attitude in connection with the dispensary troubles in the state of which he is Governor and his subsequent declarations on Democracy has made him more attractive than a circus.

It is said that at its meeting to-morrow night the Board of Health will give considerable attention to the consideration of the ordinance relating to the vaccination of children who wish to attend the public schools. It is believed by some that the School Board has been a little too liberal in the construction of the ordinance, and has opened a loophole by which too many may evade the intention of the law. The ordinance provides that a certificate of vaccination within seven years shall be required, but the superintendent of the schools has instructed the teachers that a vaccination mark, irrespective of its age, shall be deemed a sufficient certificate. Some of the members of the Board of Health do not concur in this opinion and it is said that this is one of the points upon which one of the discussions will hinge. It is claimed that if there is any virtue in vaccination it should be performed at least every seven years.

Removal.

Prof. E. W. Wilde has moved his place of business from North Main street to 105 North Jardin street, where he has a full line of excellent musical instruments.

Enjoyment for All.

The exhibition now being given in Robins' opera house by Everett's Bohemian and American glassblowers is drawing large crowds nightly. J. W. Coffey, the living skeleton, continues to attract much attention and the performances on the stage are always well received. The latter consist of feats in leg-stands, second sight, juggling, fire-eating, etc. The exhibition and entertainment continue until 10 o'clock every evening, when the floor is cleared for dancing. Admission to all 10 cents.

Will Work To-morrow.

It was announced to-day that all the P. & R. colliers in this district will work to-morrow, but will be idle on Saturday.

Kennels for it All.

Joe Kennella, alias Keegan, who is in jail in Reading pending a settlement of the discussion as to which of the many courts claiming him is entitled to him, is now charged with being responsible for the many burglaries in this vicinity in which chloroform was used. Among the effects found in Kennella's value was an instrument for spraying chloroform quite a distance. The Reading authorities are said to have gone to the trouble of getting at least some of the detectives have, Phil. Coyle, of Mahanoy City, went down to that city and recovered a gold watch. Kennella stole from him a short time ago. Coyle said that he could almost duplicate the watch with the money cost to get the possession of the old one. One gentleman says that whenever a burglar like Kennella is arrested in Berks county a lot of bun detectives and slyster lawyers gather around the plunder and criminal like flies on a molasses barrel and a man who claims property is bled in all directions.

Laid to Rest.

The infant son of Frank and Ellie Haley was buried yesterday. The interment was made in No. 3 cemetery at Pottaville.

The funeral of William John Bunn took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his parents, on West Lloyd street. There was a large attendance at the service, which was held at the residence, and many people attended the interment in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Brought Back for Trial.

William Evaskus was brought back to town from Shamokin yesterday by special officer Alex to answer two charges. On the 21st of last March he broke open a trunk belonging to Anthony Wulmes and stole $50. He then skipped leaving a unpaid board bill in the hands of William Lukasawicz. When before Justice Toomey the accused was unable to furnish bail and to-day Constable Matt. Giblin took him down to jail.
