Carriers From all Parts of the Country Putting in Claims of From $400 to $1,000 Each, and Judgments Amounting to $50,000 Have Been Becovered.

Uncle Sam is to be made defendant in sults brought by the letter carriers of town to recover pay for over time spentin ollecting and delivering mail matter The claims of each of the five carriers for over time worked during the past four ears amount to from $400 to $600 each.

years amount to from $400 to $600 each.

The carriers have employed M. M. Burke, Esq., of town, as their attorney, and he has retained George King, Esq., of Washington, D. C., as counsel. The claims were forwarded to the government at Washington yesterday.

The law under which the carriers are employed provides that eight hours shall constitute a day's work. The carriers go on duty at 6 a. m. and they claim that under the law their day's work is legally complete at 2 p. m., so that all time they have given after the latter hour carries extra compensation with it, in fact the Court of Claims at Washington has so decided.

This movement upon the part of the Court of Claims at Washington has so decided.

This movement upon the part of the local carriers is by no means the first of the kind. Similar suits have been brought in several parts of the country and judgments to the amount of $50,000 have already been recovered. These claims range from $600 to $1,000 each. The claims in the whole country will probably amount to $1,000,000. In Philadelphia sione there are about 400 claims.

There is no appropriation to meet these claims and it is not likely that the present Congress will make one.

A point has been raised on the question of "swings," or idle time the carriers have between collections, assortments and deliveries. It is claimed the law reads eight consecutive hours and that "swings" of less than an hour is government time, but no pay can be claimed for "swings" over an hour long.

A Treat.

On Monday evening, April 30th, an illustrated lecture, "A Trip to Europe," will be delivered in the Welsh Baptist church, corner of Oak and West streets, for the benefit of the English Baptist church. The lecturer, Rev. C. Herbert Woolston, was born in the city of Camden, N. J., April 7, 1856. Was educated at South Sersey Institute, Bridgeton, N. J., and was ordained in January, 1889, at South River, N. J. He is now the busy paster of the East Baptist church, Philadelphia, and is in the eighth year of his pastorate. His church has grown from one of the smallest churches in the city to now rank among the first, having 78th members, 600 of whom the pastor has baptized. He believes in the "forward movement" in the churches, and preaches the old gospel with the application "up to date." He has one of the large-t Protestant congregations of the city, and among the Haptists his church ranks second in numbers baptized. He has also been an extensive traveler and lecturer, having crossed the Atlantic twice, and also sailled on the North Atlantic and Irish seas; he has visited six of the nations of the globe, and traveled in all fifteen thousand miles—half around the globe—without accident. His lectures are illustrated by large and highly colored views secured by him from photographs taken on the spot, and are equal to the best now used by the famous lecturers in the country.

in making liberal contracts with its members. It now has assets over $50,000 and gradually increasing from year to year. Considering this quite enough assurance to keep the society at high water mark of solid security, it now increases the benefits above all other industrial insurance companies doing business in America. It not only greatly increases the benefits, but will put infantile policies in immediate benefit for one-third the first six months, two-thirds seconds ix months and the full amount according to their table of rates. Adults in immediate benefit for one-third the first six months, two-thirds seconds ix months and the full amount after one year; and at the expiration of ten years of persistent membership all who are insured on the life plan, if they feel so disposed, may discontinue and draw fifty per cent. Its the most liberal policy ever offered and contains the features of in surfance and savings bank combined. The visitors received a cordial welcome and after enoying themselves for a while they made this while other companies do not.

The answer is simply this: They could all do it if they would, and cease building up the millions of surplus that are neither necessary nor beneficial to the members.

The Home Friendly Society is conducted on small expenses and conservative principles, with a careful selection of risks. No speculative features in this society. This is the reason it can fulfill its promises, and the the beat proof in the world is that it has always done what it promises.
