HEADQUARTERS
REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE,
Philadelphia, Feb. 24, '94.

To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania:

I am directed by the Republican State Committee to announce that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State convention at Harrisburg, Pa., on Wednesday, May 23, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the following purpose, to wit:

For the nomination of candidates respectively for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, two members of Congress from the state at large, Auditor General, Secretary of Internal Affairs, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.

Attention is called to the rule adopted at the State Convention of 1893 providing for the basis of representation as follows:

Representations in future state conventions shall be based upon the vote cast at the Presidential or gubernatorial election immediately preceding, one delegate being allotted to each legislative district for over 2,000 Republican votes and an additional delegate for a fraction exceeding 1,000 votes, each district to have at least one delegate.

By order of the Republican State Com.
B. F. GILKESON, Chairman.

A. D. FILLMORE, Secretary.

The representatives to which each district of the county is entitled to is as follows:

First district, 1; Second district, 1; Third district, 1; Fourth district, 3.

The seventeen-year locusts have made their appearance; but that is all right, for if we have all the miseries at once the quicker we shall be through with them.

Besides his other acquisitions, Gen. Kelly is a professional ball player, and wants to organize a club to march with him and play those of the towns on his route. While out for fun, why not make the most of it?

The fact should be impressed upon the mind of every young person that it is impossible for an individual to make a success of life without work. Unless a young man learns a trade or acquires a love for some honest avocation, he will, before he knows it, become a chronic loafer, despised by all with whom he comes in contact. Let the young man resolve to do something, however unimportant the work may be, and very soon he will find himself climbing the ladder of success. Whatever the obstacles, toil, grit and endurance will enable one to overcome them all. Rest assured, young friend, that if you help yourself others will not fail to help you.

In electing delegates to the state convention the Republicans should exercise their very best judgment and greatest care, for the powers conferred by such an election give the delegates the right to act for the individual voters in deciding who shall go before the people next fall for election to most of the important offices of the state. Among the candidates for election as state delegate in the First representative district is John W. Phillips, a gentleman who stands high in the estimation of the people of Mahanoy City as a business man and a citizen. He can be depended upon as a man who will faithfully reflect the sentiments of his constituents in the state convention, should he be elected to represent them.

An enterprising Chicago man, a short time ago, started a postoffice of his own and appointed, confirmed and commissioned himself postmaster. He received and delivered mail and had an outfit of lock boxes for his customers. Men who didn't want the prying eyes of their wives to look on the fine hand addresses put on their letters by the dangerous kind of typewriter, and wives who had equally good reasons for not wanting to bother their husbands with such matters, were patrons of the new postoffice, and a flourishing business was carried on for some time. By orders of the postoffice department no mail will be delivered at the number where the independent postoffice is located. As a result a large number of letters intended for that place of assignment are held in the Chicago postoffice, and their final return to the writers through the regular channels may open these letters to the wrong member of the family firm, and open the eyes of said members to a condition of affairs never dreamed of in the ante-marital period.

MODERN LAURELS.

Careful and Complete Investigation by a "Journal" Reporter.

A Searching Inquiry as to Startling Statements Recently Published.

[From the Albany, N. Y., Evening Journal.]
A few days since, the Times Union of this city published a remarkable letter, under the head-lines of "An Athens Miracle." The statements made were so unusual, and the interest occasioned so great, that an investigation by a "Journal" reporter seemed a necessity. The letter was that of Mr. Lewis Clow, of Athens, N. Y., who had been stricken with kidney disease. The best of medical attendance was obtained, and failed to benefit him. While in this almost hopeless condition, he began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it cured him; and furthermore, that there were other residents who had a similar experience.

To verify these statements and get what other information would be of interest to our readers, the Journal representative left Albany and soon found himself in the pretty village of Athens. It did not take long to satisfy the reporter that the statements of Mr. Clow were in every way true. The Rev. D. William Lawrence, pastor of the Lutheran church, Postmaster True and Justice of the Peace Crocker, were asked about it, and they all agreed that they were true. Mr. Clow was at death's door with kidney trouble. The physicians failed to help him, and he was cured by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Also, Mrs. Alice Remy had performed as marvelous a cure for Mrs. Casper Brooks, wife of the proprietor of the Robins House of that place.

Calling upon Mrs. Brooks, your reporter stated his mission, and Mrs. Brooks replied that she would be perfectly willing to tell all about her wonderful recovery.

"Yes," said she, "I had a hard fight for health, but Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy restored me. My first trouble was a pain in the back, and it was the most intense pain and suffering. I consulted my regular physician, but he did not benefit me; in fact, I kept growing worse. My kidneys were getting very much diseased, and this combination of troubles was almost unbearable. At my husband's suggestion I consulted physicians at Albany, Hudson and Chatham, and took their medicines and prescriptions faithfully, but found no benefit. You can imagine my terrible condition at this time, after employing five of the best physicians, all to no purpose; but at this dark hour a ray of light broke upon me. Dr. Wm. Smith, of Jewett Heights, was recommended, and it is to him I owe my good health. He prescribed Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for me. I bought a bottle and commenced taking it, and began to feel better and improved daily. The doctors healed up, and my kidney trouble left me entirely. My case was greatly complicated; for I suffered misery from those terrible headaches, which were among women, but I kept on taking Favorite Remedy; and an hour entirely free from these diseases.

"I am told that I have a tumor that cannot be cured unless I go to a hospital, but I think Favorite Remedy will cure it. I have been so well for the past few months," said Mrs. Brooks with a smile, "that I do nearly all the work about the hotel, and am getting along with about one-half the help we used to employ. I certainly don't work as hard as a miracle, but what else could you call my recovery?"

Such a straightforward statement convinced the reporter that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was a Godsend to the suffering.

Hundreds of people in and about Athens are conversant with the facts of these cases. In speaking to Mr. Horton, the well-known druggist of that place, he said: "Oh, yes, we sell quantities of Favorite Remedy. Why, that's Joseph McGiffert, William Mackey, Martin Hallenbeck, Crper Hallenbeck, Mrs. Robert Tiffany and many others who say Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is worth its weight in gold."

The investigations of the Journal reporter admit of but one conclusion: that as this great medicine is within the reach of all, it should be used by those who are suffering from rheumatism, dyspepsia, biliousness, kidney, liver and urinary troubles. It will correct the worst cases of habitual constipation, and is a certain cure for the diseases and weaknesses of women, particularly those that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, eczema, ulcers, sore-throats, gravel, diabetes, etc. Favorite Remedy is acknowledged by the medical profession as nature's antidote for uric acid.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and it never fails to cure when the directions are followed. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is to be found with every dealer in medicine at $1 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.

Phillipsburg Strikers Keep Indictment.

BEHAVIOR, N. J., April 28.—The Warren county grand jury, at the regular term of the criminal court, completed its labors. One of the Phillipsburg silk mill strikers was indicted for assault. The grand jury paid little heed to the charge of Justice Abbott and found no indictments against any of the strikers for riot. Neither was Joseph Firth, of the Phillipsburg town council, indicted for assaulting Councilman Striker. Harry Lehr and Charles Dorsey, jewelry thieves, who broke jail, pleaded guilty and were sent to state prison for two years.

The Great Northern Strike.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., April 28.—Freight train No. 15, the first over the Great Northern since the beginning of the strike, pulled in yesterday from St. Paul. No obstruction was offered by the strikers, as they were confident that the freight would not leave the St. Cloud yard, claiming that the company would not find a crew to take it out on the Gergus Falls division. The shoppens of the Great Northern in St. Paul have all obeyed the order to strike, and everything is at a standstill.

WELL BALANCED

—the mind of the woman who knows the best medicine for her aches, pains and weakness, is to be found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Remedy. It is a remedy which corrects and cures the distressing derangements and diseases peculiar to women, builds up and strengthens her system when she is weak, run-down and overworked. For an invigorating, restorative tonic, especially adapted to woman's needs, this Favorite Remedy is so positive in its effect that it is guaranteed. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, in cases for which it is advised, you have your money back. What else can be "just as good" for you?

A CHALLENGE TO VOTE

It Is Made by Republicans and Accepted by Democrats.

BUT IT AMOUNTED TO NAUGHT.

For a Time It Was Believed That the Head of the Great Tariff Debate Was at Hand, and It Created Great Excitement at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Yesterday was a field day in the senate. There was maneuvering, marching, clashing and rapid firing. The bugle notes of defiance have been sounded on both sides. The battle flags waved in the senate over the heads of chieftains of tariff reform and protection. Hostilities did not actually begin, and it was apparent that there was no intention that they should begin. There was countermarching, skillful retreats, and a quick reforming of lines, leaving the contending armies within the same fortifications and camping on the same ground as before.

The news of the lively passage at arms going on spread rapidly, and a number of representatives from the other end of the Capitol hastened over to make eager inquiries. Related newspaper men came hurrying excitedly towards the Capitol from up town, and the wires from the state telegraph office were quickly loaded with widely varying opinions as to whether there was to be a vote of the tariff bill immediately or not.

The discussion was started by the senior senator from Ohio, Mr. Sherman. It was not his intention to create a disturbance when he injected a remark into the speech of Senator Lindsay, of Kentucky. The junior senator from Ohio has been enjoying considerable notoriety by his recent assertion that a "tariff bill had been agreed upon by the Democratic leaders which would pass the senate," but it was not Senator Sherman's intention to again bring Ohio prominently to the front.

Sherman's innocent remark was followed by Mr. Aldrich, who is the recognized leader of the Republicans in the tariff fight, and in the colloquy in which he engaged with Mr. Lindsay there developed the most interesting situation that has yet taken place during the tariff debate in the senate. Mr. Aldrich had pointed out the difference of opinion between the Democrats of the senate, and intimated that they could not agree upon a tariff bill, to which Mr. Lindsay replied that if the Republicans would give them an opportunity they would soon show that they could agree.

Mr. Aldrich then started the senate by offering in behalf of the Republicans to vote at 8 o'clock on the bill as it came from the house. Mr. Lindsay skillfully parried the thrust by asking why not vote upon the bill as reported by the senate finance committee.

Mr. Aldrich here became bold, but at the same time wary in the use of language, and asked Mr. Lindsay if the Democrats would vote on the bill as it now stood. The Kentucky senator was willing so far as he was concerned, but could not pledge the vote of his colleagues.

Mr. Aldrich demanded that Mr. Harris, of Tennessee, speak for the Democratic side, and say whether or not the Democrats would vote on the bill as it now stood at 8 o'clock.

The intense of senators and spectators in the gallery became intense. All eyes centered upon the sturdy, white haired senator from Tennessee, but he did not reply.

There were hurried consultations, and it was soon known that the defiance of the Republicans would be hushed back, and there was an air of expectancy when Mr. Lindsay finished the end of his speech. When he finished Mr. Harris was on his feet immediately, and, although others also sought the floor, he was recognized.

In an intense and dramatic manner he read the verbatim report of the colloquy between the Rhode Island and Kentucky senators and himself, and at its conclusion he accepted the proposition to vote on the senate bill, and followed it up with a request for unanimous consent for such a vote at 8 o'clock.

It was at once apparent that Mr. Aldrich did not intend to accept this offer. Several Republican senators objected to the unanimous consent, and when Mr. Aldrich received recognition he explained that while he had offered to vote on the house bill he had only asked Democratic senators if they would vote on the senate bill. Further than this, he made the proposition to the senate, and not to a Democratic caucus, which he intimated had been made. He was accused of backing down and quibbling, and Senator White, of California, intimated that he had been "bluffed" and had been "called," and also that the senator from Rhode Island would probably understand the term. The senate and spectators knew, and an audible demonstration followed the sally.

Mr. Aldrich evidently knew what was meant, and replied by saying that it was not common in places where the words were applicable to allow the adversary two hours to look over his hand before making the call, and that was what the Democratic senators had done.

If any one had, even for a moment, expected that a vote was possible the expectations had now disappeared, as the combats had reached the stage of the duel between Touchstone and his antagonist, explained by Shakespeare's merry clown in the words: "I durst go no further than the lie circumstantial, nor he durst not give me the lie direct, and so we measured sword and parted."

Senator Teller stated his objections to a vote in vigorous terms, and in an allusion to the compromise tariff bill brought out a vigorous denial by Senator Voorhees that any such bill was in existence. But the interest in the battle had disappeared, the bugles sounded a retreat and the most dramatic incident of the senate tariff debate closed.

Twenty-one private pension bills passed the story of the day's work in the house. The beneficiary of one of the bills, an old lady of 96, totally blind, the widow of a soldier of the war of 1812, had died since her bill was reported from last Friday night's session. When it was about to be placed upon its passage her death was announced. The evening session was also devoted to pension bills.

Pennsylvania's Oldest Inhabitant Dead.
LANCASTER, Pa., April 28.—News is received here of the sudden death of Levi Miller, of Providence township, the oldest resident of the county, if not of the state. He was 106 years old, and was a moderate user of tobacco and whiskey. His faculties were remarkably well preserved, and he could not recall a day's sickness in his long life.

CONJUGAL STATISTICS.

The First Data of the Kind Ever Collected by the Government.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The first data on the conjugal condition in the United States ever gathered by the government is given in a census bulletin just made public. It shows that of a total population of 62,623,450 in 1890 almost three-fifths were single, a little more than one-third married, and not quite one-twentieth were widowed. The divorces constituted a fraction of 1 per cent. The actual numbers of the classes are as follows:

Single, 37,159,564; married, 22,891,434; widowed, 2,279,503; divorced, 130,998; unknown, 70,214. The males constituted over 51 per cent of the total population. Of 22,057,890 males in the country, 13,945,376 were single; 11,305,228 married; 515,457 widowed, and 40,101 divorced. Of the females, 17,183,958, or over 50 per cent, were single; 11,120,196 married; 2,154,615 widowed, and 17,895 divorced.

The proportion of widows, says the report, was nearly three times as great as of widowers, indicating that a greater portion of widowers remarry than widows, while figures show that divorced men have remarried to a greater extent than divorced women. Of the married males there were 25 out of 11,920,008 under 15 years of age; 355,748 out of 3,104,593 between 20 and 24 years; 1,739,980 out of 4,253,654 between 25 and 34 years; and 593,925 out of 1,333,719 35 years and over.

Of married females there were 1,411 out of 10,950,192 under 15 years; 319,983 out of 3,308,859 from 15 to 19 years; 1,444,713 out of 3,091,788 from 20 to 24 years; 1,805,054 out of 3,529,466 from 25 to 29 years; 1,717,304 out of 2,152,960 from 30 to 34 years; 2,908,266 out of 3,846,031 from 35 to 44 years; 1,790,979 out of 2,430,878 from 45 to 54 years; 905,637 out of 1,496,997 from 55 to 64 years; and 418,369 out of 1,189,569 were 65 years and over.

Suit for Stolen Affections.

READING, Pa., April 28.—Mrs. Marie Lauer brought an action against "Miss" Rebecca Postliger, charging the latter with having alienated the affections of the former's husband, George F. Lauer, a wealthy brewer of this city. It is said the damages are laid at $50,000. The defendant is an attractive woman, who but recently returned to this country after having lived abroad for many years, during which time she was married to an English baronet named Sir Henry Reed, who recently died, after which Miss Postliger resumed her maiden name.

Colonel Walter's Alleged Forgeries.

BALTIMORE, April 28.—The News says: Additional operations in forged notes by Colonel Sidney I. Walter are coming to light and from developments today it looks as if more were negotiated in Washington than in Baltimore. Some of Walter's friends in town do not believe he has left the state, but say that he is so covered with shame at the exposure of his forgeries that he is in hiding, but that he will, before long, appear and endeavor to pay the full amount of the forged notes or take the consequences.

A Seven-Year-Old Heroine.

LYNN, Mass., April 28.—Helen G. Southwick, a 7-year-old girl, yesterday received a medal from the Massachusetts Humane society for saving a playmate from drowning. As the two girls were returning home from school one of them stepped into an opening in the ice and Helen seized her companion, threw herself backward, and with great exertion pulled her out upon the ice and afterward helped her to her home.

Clue to the New Brunswick Tragedy.

JERSEY CITY, April 28.—James V. Lombardi is the proprietor of an Italian bar shop at No. 302 Henderson street. Lombardi was the most intimate friend of Anthony Price, the peddler found dead on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near New Brunswick, N. J. Lombardi thinks that Price was murdered by an Italian farmer near New Brunswick, with whom he had had trouble.
