WAILS OF COMPLAINANTS

All the Disturbances Spring From a Supply or Insufficient Supply of the Fluid of Hxuberance-What One Man Suffered for Asking for Beer Money.

Saturday being pay day at the Philadelhia & Reading Coal & Iron Company's ollieries in this district the Justices and constables reaped a fresh harvest of law enits from the classes who feel that a emi-monthly battle with his focor friend s one of the necessaries of life.

semi-monthly battle with his focor friend is one of the necessaries of life.

The docket of Justice Williams to-day showed that official was called upon to dispense considerable law Saturday night, and yesterday. One of the Saturday cases was that in which Enoch Seibert prosecuted Frank Shukowsky and Joe Taholski.

The two last named men board in the same house. Seibert says that when he made a friendly visit to the place and indulged in drinking beer the men beat him, and without cause. Each of the accused was put under $300 ball, but immediately turned upon Enoch and made a serious charge. They said that after drinking considerable beer Frank fell asleep and Seibert took $1 from his pocket. Both Shukowsky and Taholski claimed that the beating Seibert received was brought on because the latter was caught in the act of stealing the money. Seibert was also put under ball.

Another case on the docket grew out of trouble which took place yesterday. Mike Bezenis and Stiney Washkawicz are boarders in one house. Yesterday Mike asked Stiney to give him twenty cents to purchase beer. The latter became offended and struck Mike a blow which badly discolored his left eye. In addition to this Stiney ran up stairs and fired Mike's trunk out the window, wrecking the trunk and scattering the contents. Mike brought suit and after spending several hours in the lockup Stiney settled the case by paying all costs.

The docket of Justice Toomey's court also presents a number of cases, in one of which there was almost a murder. At about 12 o'clock Saturday night, while walking westwardly from Main street along the Lehigh Valley railroad, Stiney Tapulski was attacked by two men named Benjamin and Mike Malefski. Tapulski was beaten, kicked and stoned and when he appeared before Justice Toomey the blood was streaming from wounds on his head so that it cleated upon his clothing and on the furniture in the justice's office.

The injured man could not account for the attack and when the Malefski men office.

The injured man could not account for the attack and when the Malefski men were arrested they gave no explanation of their act. The two men were held on a charge of assault with intent to kill and bail was fixed in the sum of $500 each. This they were unable to furnish and they were taken to the Pottsville jail yesterday by Constable Giblin and Special Officer Sadusky.

There were a number of other cases of assault before the several justices and no less than thirty warrants were issued Saturday night and yesterday.

Favorable Mention

The Utics Daily Press contains the following favorable notice of one of our former townsmen: "The attractions at following favorable notice of one of our former townsmen: "The attractions at the Wonderland Musee this week are drawing crowded houses. In the theatre are Sam Archer, musical comedian; Tom Waters, Jr., the popular young Irish comedian, who with his funny songs and eccentric dances keeps the andience in a continual roar of laughter, John Murtha, the funny blackface comedian; Allen Sisters, character change artists; Messimer and Cassidy, and others. Taken as a whole the show is a very good one, and deserves the liberal patronage it is now receiving."

Evangellat Maice,

Revival services were opened in the Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Oak and White streets, last evening. The services are under the direction of Evangelist Maice, of Washington D. C., who occupied the pulpit last evening. Rev. J. H. Maice, although blud, is a most pleasant and extrest talker, and his success in this special work during the past several years in various parts of the country, causes the members of the church to expect great results from his efforts. Services have been announced for every evening during the week. On Wednesday evening he will give a short sketch of his life.

The Greek Easter.

The Russian Greek Catholics of town resterday held impressive Easter services. The commodious church edifice of that denomination was thronged during the day by large attendance. The colcivation of the event began on Thursday evening with the reading of the Twelve Apostles, and on the following evening occurred the commemorative ceremony of the burlal of Christ. At midnight on Saturday services were held commemorative of the resurrection of Christ. The Russian church is under the control of the Car.

Ruguet Wintlant charged Sofie Dreko with larceny as ballee before Justice Toomey vesterday. The complainant charged that the woman had possession of his watch and clothes, valued at $30, and refused to surrender them. The woman claimed that she held the property burlal of Christ. At midnight on Saturday services were held commemorative of the resurrection of Christ. The Russian church is under the control of the Car.

business man of Mahanoy City, passed to his final rest at 8:15 o'clock last evening. his wife, children, some relatives and friends. He requested them to sing for him and joined in the song. He passed away very peacefully.

away very peacefully.

The direct cause of Mr. Parmley's death was kidney frouble, but he had never been well since exposed at a fire two years ago, and this is supposed to have hastened his death. He possessed considerable real estate and held stock in many of the enterprises about Mahanoy City, among them the elseric light plant and hosiery mill. Much is said of him by poor people who fared generously by his hand during the past winter.

The deceased is survived by a wife, two sons, Charles and Harry, and two daughters, Sallie and Ursula, ranging in ages from ten to twenty-four years. Due notice of the funeral will be given in these columns.

SMOTHERED BY GASES. One Man Dead and Another Has a Close

Special to EVENING HERALD.

MAHANOY CITY, April 30.-James Garrigan, aged 28 years, was suffocated by gas at the lime kiln early on Sunday morning. Garrigan and his younger brosher, Thomas, were discovered by Patrick Hobin, who came to look after the fire at six o'clock.

the fire at six o'clock.

Hobin found the two young men lying on top of the kiln and beside the fire, the gases from the burning stone and coal floating over them. Thomas Garrigan, when aroused, was half stupified and called for water, but his brother was dead and had probably been so for some time. Br. Wark', a administered restoratives to the younger man and it is thought that he will not suffer seriously, although the was quite fill during the day. Thomas could not give a very satisfactory account of the affair except that they had been drinking and had lain down beside the fire at midnight. The dead man's face and body was horribly swollen.

The Garrigans are natives of this place, but have lately been traveling the country. They have relatives here and their mother resides in Philadelphia. The poor fellow who was suffocated was weak minded from a fright received in Pottsville jail some years ago, when his clothing took fire. Undertaker Cunningham took charge of the remains. An inquest will be held this evening.

Robbins' opera house will be the scene of much gaiety and mirth on Friday evening. It will be the occasion of the Telegraphera' Assembly, and will no doubt prove one of the social events of the season. The affair is in the hands of a competent committee, who will see that the visiting knights of the key-board are entertained in royal style. One of the features of the evening will be a contest between a number of expert operators, three prizes being awarded to the successful competitors.

A copy of the Telegraph, published at eattle, Washington, and of which Will A. Steel, formerly of Ashland, this county, is city editor, has been received at the HERALD office. It contains an article having reference to many [ex-residents and present residents of Schuylkill county and for that reason It is published in these columns. The article is as follows:

I am prepared to believe almost any story of the marvelous beauty and wonderful resources of your magnifeent country, remarked Ed. Beddall last evening to a Tolegraph representative, who personally knows him to be a young man of strict vericity, and yet at the same time one of the leading members of the Schuyikil country. Pa., bar. In crossing the continent I was impressed with the scenic grandeur in the Hockies, gazed with awe upon nature's wonders in the Yosemite, was surprised at the proportions of the midwinter fair, but not until I reached Puget Sound did I experience the greatest surprise of all my trip. At Tacoma the first reveisition came, as I looked upon a metropolitan city so beautifully located upon the hillside in this far-off northern section. Then the hour and a half ride on the water between the twin cities was a delight. But the sight that met my gaze late this afternoon in traversing your succession of hills on the was mounted in its white garb; in the east towered the great Cascades with calm and peaceful Lake Washington, that I am told is 20 miles long, seemingly at the very foothilis, while to the west, and beyond the ocean's waves, were the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, waves, were the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, waves, were the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, behind which the snow-capped Olympies, to fire that brilliantly illumed the sleas. It was grand beyond description. And your magnificent buildings, surrounded on all sides by the most modern inprovements, are almost a revelation and speak volumes for the stability and future of the "Queen City" and progressiveness of the "Queen City" and progressiveness of the "Gueen City" and progressiveness of the "Gueen City" and progressiveness of the research of bringing my wife out on a trip with the province of the form of the part of th

A Cave in on Apple Alley Causes Excite-

The workings of the seven-foot vein of the Kohinoor colliery have caved in and caused a disturbance of the surface at the west end of Apple alley, where the rows of two-story frame houses owned by the Whalen estate, James Grant and others are located. A few of the tenants became are located. A few of the tenants became so much alarmed that they moved out last night, but an investigation has shown that although the affected territory under the surface is still working and will cave in more it cannot cause very much damage and the houses can be occupied. The Grant and Whalen row of houses have been pulled about six inches from the Toole row, but the interiors and foundation walls have not been disturbed. There are six crevices about two laches wide running from a southwesterly to a northeasterly direction. They extend up the mountain.

For State Delegate.

EDITOR HIMALD.—There seems to be a spirited contest for state delegate from the First Legislative district, and among those announced I know of none more able to full the position than Mr. William H. Lewis, of Wm. Penn. Although he has always labored in the interest of the Republican party, and contributed liberally of his means, he has never sought nor received any recognition in the shape of office for services he has rendered. He is a man of recognized ability and has always been in touch with the voters of his party, identified with neither faction, he is in a position to represent the wishes of the party in this section at Harrisburg, and the convention, in my opinion, would do a very wise thing in electing him as the delegate from this district on Wednesday.
