Regular Practitioners Make Some Serious Charges.

THE DECEPTIVE TACTICS.

It is Alleged That One Man Who Professes to be a Regular Practicing Physician Peddles His Treatment From Door to

The physicians of town have become ery much exercised over the freedom with which quacks and other illegal prac itioners of medicine are allowed to ply helr vocation in town and a meeting is to be held to officially call the attention of the authorities to the matter.

their vocation in town and a meeting is to be held to officially call the attention of the authorities to the matter.

Some of these illegal practitioners, one of the medical profession says, take shelter behind a color of authority given by a license issued by the Prothonotary. One of them registered upon making an affidavit that he graduated from a medical college in Europe and that he had lost his diploma. This, it is claimed, is an injustice to the profession as the law provides that certificates of registration shall be issued only upon the presentation of a diploma endorsed by the faculty of one of the Pennsylvania medical colleges.

It is not the opposition or competition which has caused the members of the profession to complain, but the unprofessional tactics and deception to which the illegal practitioners have resorted. For instance, one of the men complained of has made a practice of going from door to door and inquiring if any occupant of the house desired vaccination or required medical attendance—peddling treatment. It is also claimed that the regular practitioners are injured by the destruction of the faith of people through the unprofessional conduct of the illegal class. As in the case of a man who was charged $10 for a small vial of liquid on the positive assurance that he would be cured. The guarantee failed and when the man called for the return of his money the quack drove him from the house. "A man called for that purpose, he said he had been deceived so much by 'Dr.' so and so, 'Dr.' this and that, he had lost all faith in doctors. Thus it is that the reginiar and legally practicing physicians must suffer, especially among the poor classes of foreigners who are not intelligent enough to discriminate and see that they have been victims of imposters.

"This movement is by no means a new one in Shenandoah. On the contrary, the attention of the county authorities to the matter some time ago, but the complaints have been dead on one to page the contrary the attention of the county authorities

First of the Season.

On May 30th there will be the first excursion of the season over the picturesque Lehigh Valley route to those ever interesting spots-Glen Onoko and Manch Chunk. Excursion trains will leave Shamokin, stopping only at Mt. Carmsl. Centralia and Shenandoah en route and arrangements are being made for the train to reach Shenandoah about 8.30 a.m. Returning leaving the Glen about 9.30 a.m. Returning leaving the Glen about 6.30 p.m., thus giving all parties ample time to enjoy the beauties of the Glen and also make a trip over that famous mountain road—the Switchback. Those who intend taking in this excursion will be assured the first-class accommodations for which the Lehigh Valley line is famous. For further information call on or address agents of the Lehigh Valley railroad stations named above.

Illegal Car Riding.

John and James Paza and Thomas McManamin were arrested vesterday afternoon for illegal car riding. The first named two were arrested at the Yatesville water tank and the third near the Lehigh Valley depot in town. As they were unable to pay the fines and costs, amounting to 80 each, C. & I. Policeman Kreiger took them down to the Pottsville jail. The Pazas claimed they belonged in Johnstown and came to this rogion to look for work. McManamin claimed Mt.
Carmel as his place of relidence.

meets at Harrisburg on the 23d inst.

The convention was called to order by County Chairman Whitehouse, and after a few brief remarks by that gentleman Secretary Losch read the call for the meeting. After the preliminaries had been disposed of the committee selected James Casiner, of Schuyikill township, as permanent chairman.

The only nominees for state delegate placed before the convention were Francis Job, who represented the Robinson people, and Frank Kanther, who espoused the cause of the Lyon men. Previous to the ballot being taken an animated discussion arose as to the guestion of representation. The convention finally decided that the representation be the same as used in the last county convention. This was considered as a knock-out for the Lyon people.

The election then proceeded with the rote, and Francis Job, of Tamaqua, was sleeted by a handsome majority over his opponent, Frank Kantner, of Lofty. The latter was then elected as alternate.

Resolutions favorable to Hastings for Governor were passed.

PITTSBURG. May 1.—State Councilor William T. Kerr, of this place, the head of the Jr. Order United American Mechanics in this state, has carried his crusade against nuns teaching in the public schools into Cambria county. It will be remembered that he led the movement in the now celebrated Riverside public school case of Pittsburg, where five nuns were compelled to retire from the public schools. On Satarday his attorneys, Hon. T. H. Baird Patterson and A. D. Wilkin, of Pittsburg, and H. W. Storey, of Johnstown, and himself, appeared before Judge Barker, at Hollidaysburg, Blair county, where the judge was holding special session in place of Judge Bell, of Blair county, and presented an application for injunction. After a hearing the judge ordered a preliminary injunction to issue and set Thursday, May 3d, at 10 delock a. m., at Ebensburg, Cambria county, as the time and place to hear argument for the continuance of the injunction. This prevents the nuns from teaching in the schools, unless the injunction is dissolved. From a legal standpoint and in point of interest to the public, the contest is one of much importance.

Rev. Woolston's Lecture.

The illustrated lecture given in the Weish Baptist church list evening, for the benefit of the English Baptist church, was a success both from a financial and intellectual standpoint. Rev. C. H. Woolston, the lecturer, is the popular pastor of the East Baptist church of Philadelphia, and is a most fluent and pleasant speaker. The audience that greated him here last evening was a large and attentive one. The large and highly colored views used by the lecturer are descriptive of the many scenes and incidents witnessed by him daring his extensive travels half way around the globe, and are among the best used by the famous lecturers in the country. The andlence was well pleased with the evening's entertainment, and the church has realized a neat sum therefrom. At the close of the lecture the audience tendered Rev. Woolston a vote of thanks for his very entertaining and instructive lecture and a vote of thanks was also tendered the trustees of the Welsh Baptist church for the use of the church.

The Slope of the Old Colorado Colliery.

TWO MEN ARE MISSING

They Were Working Near the Place Where the Fire Started-It is Belleved They Are Lost A Mine Foreman Overcome by Gas.

LOST CHUEK, May 1.—Packer collier No. 1, Colorado, is on fire and it is feared that two men have lost their lives by it.

The men supposed to be dead or doome are August Loped, aged 27 years, and Seber Pranzey, aged 30. Both men are single and reside at Lost Creek No. 2

Packer colliery No. 1 is one of the oldest operated by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. It is located at Colorado, on the outh side of the valley west of Shenan doah, and opposite Connors' patch. It was no breaker, its coal being conveyed in ears by small locomotive power to Packer colliery No. 5.

The colliery had been idle since last Wednesday, but last night five men went into the place to work, two going to one part and three to another part of the part and three to another part of the mine.

At a quarter past one o'clock this morning three of the men hurried out of the mine and notified inside Foreman Thomas McKeone that there was a fire inside the mine. The other two men falled to appear and up to three o'clock this afternoon no trace of them had been secured.

The colliery officials fear the men have been overcome by the gases onused by the fire, yet they are making strenuous efforts to get to the pisce where the unfortunates are supposed to have been working. These efforts have not been successful. It is generally believed that had the men survived they would have teached the surface ere this, by making their way up through some old workings.

The fire started in a counter chute in the Mammoth vein. The missing men were supposed to be engaged in the counter gangway. Entrance to the mine is made through a drift running cast about 1,500 feet. At this point the slope starts and is sunk north 250 feet to the Mammoth vein. At the foot of the slope is the counter chute, where the fire started, and which is driven south parallel with the slope, a distance of 100 feet to the counter gangway, where the missing men are supposed to have been working.

The cause of the fire is not known, but the officials lean toward the theory that it was started by a maked lamp, but they do not venture to say who started it. It is intimated that it was the lamp of one of the missing men.

Inside Foreman McKeone attempted to reach the counter chutes of new tond.

is intimated that it was the lamp of one of the missing men.

Inside Foreman McKeone attempted to reach the counter chute at noon to-day and dropped like a log, over one by the gases. He was speedily carried from the mine, but remained unconscious for an hour after reaching the surface. He has fully recovered.

Funerals.

The remains of the late Richard Morgan, an old and highly respected citizen of Gilberton, were interred in the Frackville senetery yesterday afternoon. He was fill years old and died from blood poisoning, which resulted from a cut on one of his hands, received in the mines.

The funeral of Samuel Bradley, an account of whose death appeared in last evening's Herald, took place this morning. The remains were interred at Hazleton, the funeral cortege taking the post Lebigh Valley train for that place.
