TALKS ON ADVERTISING.

J. Austin Bates Tells "Herald" Readers How to Do So Successfully.

No man has reached the acme of business success. Heights that we do not dream of will be attained by twentieth century merchants.

This is the frame of mind one gets into after looking at such stores as Wannamaker's, Siegel, Cooper & Co's and "The Fair" in Chicago, Bloomingdale's and Macy's in New York.

The vast scope of such enterprises, the magnificent systems, the quick alert business wit that it takes to direct them—these give one confidence in future success.

Fifty years ago such establishments were not dreamed of. What will the next fifty years bring forth?

These great stores owe their growth to advertising. To the diffusion of store news, for what use were the finest stores and the biggest bargain if people knew nothing of it?

The science of advertising is in its infancy. It is growing in importance and efficiency every day. It used to be a speculative venture—now it is a scientific certainty.

Speaking of Bloomingdale Bros., I understand that during the first week of a certain "sale" they had recently, they spent $15,000 for advertising and that the estimated profits on the week's business were $25,000.

Bloomingdale's wasn't always a big store. The brothers are both young men. The business has been built within twenty years. Built by judicious, persistent, faithful advertising; just as any other business may be built.

Advertising is merely telling people in a telling way what you can do for them. If you tell them often enough and in the right way, there is no possibility of failure.

A BORDENTOWN MYSTERY.

A Young Woman Found in Her Home with a Fractured Skull.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., May 25.—Miss Lizzie Holloway, 19 years old, was found lying unconscious at her home on Park street, with three ghastly wounds in her head. She died without regaining consciousness. The case is shrouded in mystery, as the young woman's parents were absent at the time. William Massey, a boarder in the house, is under arrest on suspicion.

Latest developments only serve to deepen the mystery. By the autopsy performed a motive for the murder of the girl was discovered. The skull was found to have been fractured, and death had resulted from the blows. A further examination revealed the fact that the girl was pregnant, and that she had been in that condition for some time.

So far the police have been unable to find any evidence of the guilt of Massey. Massey stated that he was in the house at the time the assault was committed, but that he had seen no one or had met no one when he ran to the assistance of the girl on hearing her scream. The police, after a close investigation, have arrived at the conclusion that it would be impossible for anyone to have committed the murder without being bespattered with blood. They believe that if they can find the man who is responsible for the ruin of the girl they will have the man who committed the murder.

Engineer Giddins, after stopping the train, leaped from his engine and rolled around in the wet grass. Martin's clothes, save his under-shirt, were destroyed. THE NATIONAL LAWMAKERS.

Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill Passed by the House.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—After being under consideration for just one week the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was passed by the house yesterday. The main fight was in the house after the bill had been reported back from the committee of the whole on the amendment declaring the laws authorizing the docking of members' salaries for absence repealed and on the amendment referring to provide for the civil service commission. Separate yeas and nay votes were demanded on these amendments, when the first was lost by a vote of 104 to 138 and the latter by 80 to 138. Another amendment, agreed to in committee of the whole, which was designed to still further emasculate the civil service commission, was defeated in the house without division, as was also the amendment to equalize the salaries of the assistant doorkeepers of the house.

The senate proceedings were enlivened by a short debate on Hawaii and a very sarcastic speech from Mr. Hale on Mr. Gorman's speech of Wednesday. It was after 3 o'clock when the senate got down to actual work on the schedules. Very fair progress was made, eight pages being disposed of. The surprise of the day was the acceptance by the finance committee of an amendment offered by Mr. Allen, the Nebraska Populist, to place barbed wire on the free list. Several Republicans opposed it, but did not carry their opposition to the extent of demanding a recorded vote on it. An intimation from Mr. Hoar that free barbed wire was to be the price of Mr. Allen's vote on the tariff bill was indignantly denied.
