There will be a number of vacancies in the National Guard of Pennsylvania next year and perhaps a complete re-organization. The vacancies will soon be filled, as a number of towns are anxious for a representation. In all probability Shenandoah will seek admission and knock at the door of the next Adjutant General, who will very likely be General Sigfried, of Pottsville. Shenandoah was at one time represented in the National Guard by one of the best and largest companies and it can now recruit a company on short notice. The material is at hand and many of old Co. H would form a nucleus for a re-organization. Three Shenandoah young men joined Co. F at Girardville within the past two months and there are scores waiting for an opportunity to flock into the ranks of a home organization. That the largest town of Shenandoah should by all means be represented in the National Guard is a prevailing sentiment and a call will shortly be made for a meeting at which to take steps to apply for admission. If Adjutant General Greenland should not take kindly to the movement it is quite certain General Sigfried, who is looked upon as certain to succeed General Greenland next spring, will do so.

The present condition of the streets in Shenandoah is such that it is difficult to have immediate improvement made. They have already caused losses to a number of teamsters. Of course the longer the necessary repairs are delayed the more the complaints multiply. Special complaints are made against the paved part of Main street and many of the property owners who contributed to the payment for that improvement are very indignant. They say that the blocks have been replaced in a very indifferent manner and unless the kind of work is done better and with more care it is only a question of a short time when the street will be worse than it had never been paved. Bitter complaint is also made against the throwing of straw, paper and other rubbish upon the streets. Some merchants are very careless when unpacking boxes on the sidewalks and they should be watched. If they will not take pride in the condition of the streets they can at least be made to respect the ordinances. The Board of Health would perform a good service by inspecting some of the streets and gutters. In many of them they will find drainages of slops and filth which should be diverted into some underground channel. The spread of the sewerage system has left little room for an argument that surface drainage is necessary. The health of the public should not be jeopardized because a property owner does not properly drain his place.

There are many among us who think the rebels are resigned to the inevitable and willing to forget the past and recent remissions of men from the Union and ex-Confederate states have added color to the supposition, but the following words dropped from the lips of Rev. Cave at the unveiling of a monument at Richmond, Va., on Decoration Day, is sufficient to convince one that the old spirit still lives in some of the men of Dixie's land: "At Appomattox, puritanism, backed by overwhelming numbers and unlimited resources, prevailed," said Rev. Cave, "but brute force cannot settle questions of right and wrong. Thinking men do not judge the merits of a cause by the measure of its success; and I believe 'The world shall yet decide, in truth's clear, far off light, that the South was in the right; that her cause was just; that the men who took up arms in her defense were patriots who had even better reasons for what they did than had the men who fought at Concord, Lexington and Bunker Hill; and that her coercion, whatever good may have resulted or may hereafter result from it, was an outrage on liberty."

The Jackson's base ball club will cross bats with Lost Creek team to-morrow. The picnic of the T. A. B. Society, which was to take place on Decoration Day, was postponed until to-morrow. The game of ball between Silver Brook and Lost Creek on Decoration Day was postponed until some future time. Mrs. Roper, of Dubois, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Kleckner. Miss Mame Sheridan, of No. 2, was the successful lady in a walking contest for a gold ring at the ball of Columbia Club, of Girardville, on Wednesday evening. James Hutton, Mike Maloney, Anthony Maloney, George Walsh, Mike Munley and Robert Greford, accompanied by their lady friends, took in the sights at Lakeside on Memorial Day. "That Tired Feeling"

One who knows says a raw egg is an excellent tonic with which to begin these warm spring days. It is strengthening, and tends to prevent that tired feeling so prevalent at the season of the year. If prepared in the following way it really is a delicious drink: Put the yolk of an egg into a dish with a teaspoonful of white sugar and a teaspoonful of orange or lemon juice, and beat lightly together with a fork. Put the whites on a plate, and add a pinch of salt; then, with a broad-bladed knife, beat it to a stiff froth. Now, as lightly as possible mix all together in the dish; then as lightly transfer to a clean tumbler, which it will nearly fill if properly made. It must not stand in a warm place, as it soon becomes liquid and loses its snowy look. Any fruit juice may be used in place of orange or lemon, or even brandy if the doctor has ordered it.

CAMP 206.

Its Eighth Anniversary Appropriately Celebrated Last Night.

One of the most successful entertainments, socially and otherwise, was that held last evening in honor of the eighth anniversary of Camp 206, P. O. S. of A. Intellectually, it was also of a high order. The entertainment was held in Schmidt's hall and the cosy camp room was artistically decorated with flags and bunting and upon the walls were hung pictures appropriate to the occasion, all contributing to make the scene a memorable one to the members of the camp and their friends.

Immediately after adjournment of the Camp, at 8 o'clock, the doors were thrown open to the members and their lady and gentlemen friends soon filled the room. Extra seating capacity had been secured, and well it was for there were no vacant seats. M. H. Master acted in the capacity of chairman. After a few brief introductory remarks, and the singing of "America" by the audience, the chairman introduced James R. Lewis to talk upon "Patriotism." The speaker handled his subject with much ability, and at the conclusion of his remarks was heartily applauded. James R. Patterson then favored the company with a song, and was greeted by a prolonged encore, which was responded to.

F. H. Hopkins, Jr., the Dutch comedian, gave a recitation in his native dialect, and was followed by an address on the history of Camp 206 by Thomas H. Snyder. The speaker traced the history of the camp from the time of its institution in 1886 up to the present time; showing it to be the largest camp ever instituted, having at that time 237 members. The practical work it has performed in behalf of the members, and predicted bright prospects in the future for the camp.

Then followed an address on "Building Up" by C. F. Straughn, after which the address was given by refreshments, and the shape of bananas and oranges. During the intermission Dr. H. Hoffman Baker entertained the assembly by a song with organ accompaniment.

John Kesse followed the intermission with a very creditable recitation, and D. G. Richards dished up the audience a patriotic labor speech in his own inimitable style. The audience sang "Columbia" and Lewis Lebe followed with an eloquent and stirring address, which was highly appreciated.

A general debate was then in progress upon the question: "Shall citizens of foreign birth be admitted to membership in our order?" This was one of the most interesting features of the entertainment, and was participated in and handled in an eloquent and forceful manner by many of the members present. The speakers were about evenly divided upon the question.

Ice cream and cake were served, and when all had their appetites appeased the evening's enjoyment closed at 11:30 by singing the closing ode, thus ending a very pleasant social gathering. The success of the affair is due in a great measure to the committee, which consisted of W. S. Lindemann, Thomas Shapiel, A. C. Morgan, John Danks and R. H. Morgan.
