THRILLING RUNAWAY

Remarkable Escape of a Man, Woman and Child.

DASH DOWN A MOUNTAIN

One of the Most Exciting Incidents Ever Witnessed on the Cemetery Road—Three Lives Saved as if by a Miracle—A Bad Tempered Broncho.

One of the most thrilling runaway accidents which have occurred in this vicinity in some time took place on the steep mountain north of town yesterday afternoon. The occupants of the carriage to which the horse was attached were a Polish man, residing at Brownville, and his wife and infant child.

The carriage was on its way down the hill from one of the cemeteries. At the turn in the road at the top of the mountain the horse, a broncho, took the bit in its teeth and dashed down the steep and narrow roadway. People at the top of the hill who saw the dash turned their faces to the opposite direction. They felt that the occupants must surely be thrown over the steep embankment south of the road, or be carried down with the horse and carriage.

A number of carriages were farther down the road, returning from a funeral. Alarmed by the shouts of the man holding the reins of the runaway horse, the drivers on the other vehicles turned their teams against the embankment on the north side of the road. This left a space, a very narrow one, for the runaway to pass between the halted carriages and edge of the steep embankment to the right.

Death seemed to be the inevitable fate of the occupants of the carriage, which was descending the mountain with lightning rapidity, but just as it reached the first carriage turned to the side of the road, the horse wheeled to the north side and the two carriages collided and locked. At the same time the man, woman and child were hurled out upon the road. The carriage which had been run into was somewhat damaged, but the occupants retained their seats and escaped injury.

When the collision occurred the broncho broke away from the harness and madly plunged up the steep embankment at the north side of the road. The embankment is about twenty feet high and almost perpendicular. Now the horse managed to scramble up the side was a surprise to everybody, but he succeeded and disappeared in the tangled bushes.

The Polish man and his wife scrambled to their feet and when the astonished spectators arrived upon the scene the latter had seated herself on a rock on top of the north embankment and had the baby in her arms. She held on to the child during the flight from the carriage and both escaped serious injury, but one of the woman's fingers was broken. The husband was uninjured.

The woman was as white as a sheet and trembled like an aspen leaf. All she could say was, "Oh, thank God, thank God, thank God!" The husband stood in the road, gazing mournfully at the damaged wheels and voiced the sentiment of his wife with "Yes, dat horse him a beller fellow." In spite of the seriousness of the occasion many of the spectators were forced to smile at the exclamations of the unfortunate couple.

A few minutes later the horse was seen dashing down the mountain side, along a dangerous path passing the "Hokey" dam. It continued at a terrific pace down the path to the road leading to Main street, down that street to Line and then made other turns until he got to Coal. The owner and his sympathizers watched the horse from their elevated position on the mountain. When the horse got to the west end of Coal street he turned to the left and ran along the electric road. When it passed out of sight the owner remarked "Yes, him a d—l; him no stop till him get to stable," and the horse carried out the expectations.

The Next Adjutant General.

The HERALD's announcement that Gen. J. K. Sigfried, of Pottsville, would likely be the next Adjutant General under Governor Hastings, has brought out the following comments:

General J. K. Sigfried, of Pottsville, is mentioned as likely to become Adjutant General under Governor Hastings—Republican.

An interesting piece of political intelligence which will be received with satisfaction by Pottsvillians, is to the effect that General Hastings has practically decided upon General Joshua K. Sigfried, of this town, for the position of Adjutant General. The candidate for Governor and Gen. Sigfried has been close friends for many years, and the many hints which have been thrown out indicate that there is something more than a mere rumor behind this matter. It would be an honor worthily bestowed.—Chronicle.

The rumor to the effect that Gen. J. K. Sigfried is to be Adjutant General under Governor Hastings is receiving very favorable comment. General Sigfried is eminently worthy of such recognition. He has all the necessary qualifications and should be thus honored his past record is sufficient guarantee that the interest of this commonwealth, as far as his authority would go, would be most carefully guarded. For the time and energy the General has spent in the interest of the Republican party he deserves some recognition.—Journal.

Lewis, of Philadelphia, will be given a trial at right field by the home team.

Schultz, of last year's Bloomsburg club, will play here.

The home team will consist of the following players in the game here on Friday and at Ashland on Saturday: Pitcher, catcher; Setley, pitcher; Reed, first base; Martin, second base; Toman or Griffith, short stop; Kelly, third base; Toole, left field; Henry, center field; Lewis, right field; Schultz, tenth man.

Summer-Traveling Guide.

The Pennsylvania railroad for 1894 is out, and presents an unusually meritorious appearance. Great care has been exercised in its compilation, the technical information being especially reliable. The great variety of routes suggested, the exhaustive schedules of rates, the graphic description of about four hundred places, the explanatory maps and the illustrations, make the volume exceedingly valuable and almost indispensable to those contemplating summer touring. A nominal charge of ten cents is placed on each copy, which can be obtained on application to ticket agents or the General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Philadelphia. Ten cents extra will be charged for mailing.

Coming Events.

June 11 and 12—First annual ice cream festival under the auspices of Lincoln Section No. 17, T. of H. & T. in Bender's hall, Wm. Penn.

Caught on the Fly.

Wellington Wolf, a marble worker, left town at Ashland on yesterday morning, leaving an unpaid board bill of $14 in the hands of Mrs. Margaret Whalen. Constable Tash deputized John Eisenhart to execute the warrant Justice Dangler issued and Wolf was caught at Reading. He paid the bill and all costs at that place and was released.

Revival Continued.

Mrs. Rice, the evangelist, is still conducting revival meetings at the Evangelical church. On Monday evening and last evening the altar was crowded with penitents and many who remained seated seemed to be under deep conviction. Mrs. Rice will conduct another meeting to-night. She is doing glorious work. Come and hear her. None will regret a visit.

A NEW PARK AT LAST

The Columbia Hose Company Secures its Lease.

LOCATION OF THE PLACE.

Within Easy Distance From the Town and on the Line of the Lakeside Electric Railway—To be Made a First-Class Pleasure Resort.

To one an expression which savors of the chestnut, Shenandoah is to be supplied with a long-felt want. Nothing of which the town has been deprived for years past caused so much regret as did the demolition of the old Columbia Park, which was the haunt for pleasure seekers of the town and surrounding county for so many years—the scene of the glorious old camp fires, celebrations of anniversaries and the favorite resort of the Sunday schools. Its abandonment caused many a sigh.

When the fence enclosing the grounds was razed it left the people of the town with nothing but the bushes and rocky grounds on the mountains to look to for substitute, but the vacancy was never filled. Frequently during the past few years there have been rumors that the old Columbia Park would have a successor, but none had the courage to tackle the desolate mountain spots and transform them into a place to meet the requirements, and with each recurring season when the people wished to hold a picnic or attend one they were obliged to travel miles from the town to seek suitable grounds.

It will be different hereafter. Within a few weeks the old park will have a successor and be located almost opposite the old site. The Columbia Hose Company yesterday received notification from Pottsville that the lease they have been seeking has been granted and this morning a large gang of men started putting the place in condition.

The ground leased belongs to the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company. It has been surveyed by one of the company's engineers and it is expected the documents establishing the lease will be received from Pottsville to-day. The land started out here at the fork of the road between the Yatesville and Ellengowan roads, a short distance southeast of the Indian Ridge breaker. The lines run northeast along the Yatesville road 750 feet, southwest along the Ellengowan road 940 feet, and from the road at the east end. The new grounds will be two acres larger than those of the old park.

The site is superior in all respects to the old one and will have every convenience. The Lakeside Electric Railway Company will take an active part in this connection. The number of other attractive structures erected here and there. Walks will be laid out and where there are spots requiring shade numerous rapid growing trees will be planted. The pavilion spoken of will have a dancing platform 60x60 feet in size. A foot racing track will also be laid out and a plot set aside for football, lawn tennis and like pastimes.

It is expected the park will be ready for an opening on July 4th.

Orange Blossoms. William S. Uhler, a prosperous business man of Gordon, was married to Miss Emma Nattress, of Girardville, to-day.

Dr. J. W. Erwin, the South Jardin street dentist, was married to-day to Miss Bertha Tingley, daughter of W. S. Tingley, a prominent merchant of Wilkes-Barre. The ceremony took place in the latter city, and Dr. C. L. Erwin, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After a short bridal tour the couple will take up their residence in this town, where the doctor has a lucrative business.

A pretty wedding took place at 11 o'clock this morning in the Annunciation church, on West Cherry street. The contracting parties were Miss Annie McAllister, of town, and Patrick J. Toland, of New Boston. Miss Maggie Slattery, of Macroron, was the bridesmaid and Neil Feery, of town, the groomsmen. Rev. F. F. O'Reilly officiated at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Toland left town this afternoon on the Pennsylvania train and after a tour of several days, including visits to Philadelphia, New York and Washington, the couple will return to Mahanoy City, where Mr. Toland will embark in the tea business.

PENCIL POINTS. A Republican campaign club is said to have been organized in town.

David J. Jones, aged 81 years, died at his home in St. Clair yesterday. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 2 p. m.

The Carter & Allen machine shops at Tanamona have been sold to the Vulcan Iron Works, of Wilkes-Barre. These shops have been shut down for two months, but it is understood they will now be put in operation.

ALWAYS A DEMAND.

Hard Times no Terror For the Shenandoah Beef Company.

One can hardly go in any part of the town without hearing a groan about the hard times. Business is certainly at a low ebb and in such a condition that complaints against it cannot cease. There are some spots where the depression is not felt with the same effect as in most places and one of these is the establishment of the Shenandoah Beef Company. This place seems to set the hard times at defiance. When a reporter called there yesterday he found Manager T. G. Mayberry bustling about just as if times could not be better. Dressed beef was leaving the house by cart loads as fast as the teams could make the deliveries and return for more loads. It is true that the matter what the condition of the times are the people must eat, and as the dressed meats sold by the Shenandoah Beef Company are always prime and sold at the lowest prices, the people always demand it. This company, of course, does not suffer from the depression, but not to much extent, since Manager Mayberry is now negotiating for an extension of the present quarters. The building now containing the salesroom and office, the refrigeration department and the barn is 125 feet long and 25 feet wide. The increase in the company's business has made a demand for larger quarters, hence Mr. Mayberry is now negotiating for the lot at the north end of the building. The proposed addition will make the whole structure about 100 feet long. Chicago dressed beef is certainly enjoying prosperity. The government inspection at the place of killing, the admirable facilities for delivering the meats to the places of sale, and the perfect process by which they are kept cool, sound and clean until called for by the consumers, have made the confidence of the public so firm in the dressed beef business that nothing can shake it.

College Exercises.

The graduating exercises of the University of Philadelphia will open to-morrow morning. Among the most brilliant of the graduates is William N. Stein, son of Mine Inspector Stein, of town. He has successfully passed the medical course with a high record. The percentages of the class for this year have been announced, but it is known that Mr. Stein's is a high one. Last year, his second, his standing was 95. Among the people from this region who will attend the exercises are Mine Inspector Stein and wife, and Jessie, Agnes and John Stein, of town; M. R. Stein and wife, Austin Sherman, Messrs. Medlar and Landau and Peter Gorman and family, of Mahanoy City; James Roberts and wife and Col. P. H. Monaghan and family, of Girardville. They left for Philadelphia this morning.

Not So Funny.

John Bowshick, a First ward Hungarian, got into a funny mood and in his search for amusement ran against people who passed him on the sidewalk of East Centre street. He ran into William Roach, who retaliated by showing the aggressor into the gutter. Bowshick then threw mud and was pounced upon by Roach and Joe Lutkus. Bowshick received several stiff punches and was then arrested upon Roach's complaint. He was discharged upon paying the costs and buying Roach a new hat.

They'd Soon Wed.
