Mrs. L. L. Bartlett, 558 W. Sanborn street, Winona, Minn., writes: "Juursed our taby until he was four months old, and my health was in such a terrilde state that it threw him into inflammation of the howels of a severe type. His life was despatred of. I had heard about incluted food, and by the advice of the attending physician, we purchased some. The baby liked it from the first and it agreed with him. He got well and began to grow fat at once. At 0 months of sige he weighed 25 pounds. He never had the slightest trouble with techning, his teeth coming without our knowledge until we could see them. On the whole he is one of the happiest, sweetest bables one would care to see." No family should be without factated food from this time on.

It is claimed the trouble in the cole region was brought about by hostility between the different races of H ugary, but such is not the case, from the fact that they are all Slavs inasmoch as they come from that kingdom. Any hatred that may exist between the divisions in Hungary is confined to a small district, and is not to be traced to racial, but to social or political jealousies. The reason these propies object to being called Huns is because the ancient race of Huns were barbarians, calers of horse flesh, etc. and they recent the action as an insult. As far as they are concerned they don't object to the word Hungarian, which is the proper appellation.
