Sensational Testimony in the New York Police Investigation.

IN LEAGUE WITH GREEN GOODS MEN

How Fortunes Are Made by Victimizing Countrymen with the Connivance of Officers of the Law-The Testimony of a Professional Confidence Man.

NEW YORK, June 15 .-- Several witnesses were examined by the Laxow committee yesterday, and considerable interesting yesterday, and considerable interesting testimony was given. The first witness called was Mrs. Maud Harvey, who testi-fied that for ten years past she has kept a "furnished room house" for transient guests in the Tenderioin district. She de-guests in the Tenderioin district. She de-clared that she had never paid for police protection. Edgar A. Whitney, a Park-hurst detective, testified that the woman and been paying for years. Mr. Whitney swore that he had been inside the Homestend club, which he said was a gambling house, at Fifty-third street and Broadway, owned by "Mel" Rickett. The witness said he was in this house one night when Captain Reilly came in himself and said: "Constock's men are likely to be around tonight; you must clean up." Mr. Whitney said he helped to carry the gambling parapherralia up-stuirs and hide it. He said he saw Reilly's ward man receive $25 for protection in this ward man receive $35 for protection in this place, and that on several occasions he had taken the $15 himself to the precinct station. Mrs. Harvey was recalled and declared

Mrs. Harvey was recalled and declared that Whitney's testimony regarding her house was false. Miss Evelina Bull swore that for ten years past she has kept a disorderly house at 74 West Thirty-sixth street, in the Ten-derloin precinct, and paid to the polles during all that time $50 a month. Each succeeding pollee captain had different ward men. She had never paid anything to a cantain personally. She always caye o a captain personally. She always gave patrolmen 85 at Christmas.

Mr. Golf called George Appo to the stand. If a bomb had exploded in the court room it would not have created any nore of a sensation than when the noted 'green goods" man stepped to the bar. When called to the witness box Appo said: "I want you to know that I am here unwillingly. I am forced here." Mr. Lexow assured him that he would be protected. Appo described his various methods of App described his various methods of swindling. He said: "I can swear that green goods men pay for protection." "Now, George, have not green goods men their representative in the post-

"Sees that the green goods circulars do not get stopped in the mails." The witness told of James McNally, the largest green goods man in the city. He was formerly a porter, and by money se-cured from the sharne of a woman went into the green goods business. He is now worth from $75,000 to $100,000.

The witness said when a victim de-manded his money back he would sometimes be taken to a police station and the sergeant or captain would scare the vic-tim and let the green goods men go. He knew of several instances, but refused to say where the station house was or who the sergents or captains were, as it might incriminate them, and he had a few friends among the police. He worked MuNally for a good many years, and although the policemen and detectives knew he was a steerer he never was arrested, because McNally had ar-ranged for protection. Fifteen thousand green goods circulars were being sent out from the city to rustics every day. Mc-Nolly has exclusive rights in certain pre-courts, and no other green goods game rould flourish there. When a green goods

sharp who was not in the employ of Mc-Nally invaded the territory the police

Stealing Commonwealers,

When the Deputies Meet the Gang of Desperate Consyltes at Julcoburg, Colo.; There May be a Conflict-General Kelly's Slow Progress.

OMAILS, June 15.—Yesterday afternoon a special train crowded with 150 heavily armed deputies sped out of the Union de-pot via the Union Pacific for the scene of the outbreak of the 600 Weslers. They are the outbries, of the boy weaters. They are armed with revolvers, shotguns and rifles, and theretighly understood before leaving that there might be some fighting done. It was said at the office of General Man-ager Dickinson that the Commonwealers would allow no one near them. They as-serted that they could take care of them selves. It is believed that their reasons in relusing to allow a stranger near then was to prevent the spies from ascertaining their movements. There has been considerable excitement about the Union Pacific headquarters, the government building and army headquarters. The men in charge are retirent, but acknowledge that trouble was anticipated, as the Commonwealers were growing restless and desperate, and would as as sathle make a break with a train for the

Just what will be done with the men if Just what will be done with the men if captured is not definitely known, or at least if it has been decided upon it has been kept secret. The probability is that the near will be brought to Omsha and placed in the Colliseum until they could be brought before the United Sintes court. I show the constant of the second Later tolegrams from Julesburg say that the Commonwealers are in fac-tions. One is composed of those inclined to be penceful and the other of the des-perate men who are determined to secure a train and come cast at all hazards. One hundred will walk to Venango, Neb., 200 will attempt the capture of the first train through, and the balance will wait for the fleet coming down the river. General Adams goes with the Venango party.

Concyttes Cause & Murder,

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 15 -Shortly before So'clock last night a shooting affray occurred at Guyandotte, two miles east. A contingent of Commonwealers, under General Sullivan, had passed under General Sullivan, had passed through this city under a police escort and were left at that place, where the authorities of the small town were given much trouble. Marshal Owens asked then to keep unlet, and upon refrains to do so attempted to arrest the leader, when Charles Fry, a local tough, interfered and wanted to fight the offlier. He pulled a revolver upon him when ordered under arrest, and the method him fatally.

Coming East on a Stock Train.

La POITE, Ind., June 15.—A gaug of sixty Commonwealers reached this city Wednesday evening, but were held in the suburbs all night. The outfit was marched to the Lake Shore depot yesterday and started east on a stock train. The other part of the army, 150 in number, composed entirely of Poles, went to Michigan City where they are camped outside the co poration limits.

Closing Quotations of the New York and Thitadelphia Exchanges. New York, June 14.—The professional op-erators, who usually take the short side of the market, were in control on the Stock Ex-change today, and, as is customary in their campaigns, carried the war on with rumor as the chief weapon of attack. The pressure to sell Sugar stock was fed at the very opening, and was kept up almost steadily to the close. Closing bids: Ladueb Valloy 2004 W. N.Y.& Pa. 100 FOR JURY COMMISSIONER.
