Annunciation hall on South Chestnut street and this afternoon the delegates went to Lakeside accompanied by the Annunciation T. A. B. band and several members of the town branch of the union. This evening the delegates will leave for their respective bomes, starting from Lakeside.

President D. T. McCarthy, of Williamsport, said in addressing the convention yesterday:

You have assembled here in this thriving city of Shenandoah, under the auspices of the St. Patrick's T. A. B. Society, of which there is none more worthy connected with our union. To report on the stremous efforts your societies have made during the year in grappling with the mension evil of the day, the fearful vice of intemperance, it will be interesting to consider with what success your efforts have been crowned, and the means employed in each locality to encourage and convince those of our faith of the necessity of being total abstainers and articut workers for the principles instituted by that should be patron of his faith, the Rev. Theobaid Mathew. The past year has been an eventful one in temperance circles, and especially so can this be said of our National League, for every advantage has been taken by them to give our principles publicity and the advantages of membership made plain to all, with the especial purpose of increasing the vast army of total abstainers in America. But, with all this, we have but to open our eyes to see that the miserable vice is still very prevalent, for it is still no uncommon sight to see the drunkard reeling through our streets with the Divine spark of reason dimmed, if not extinguished within him. The being made to God's own likeness has degraded him lower than the brute; the tears, agonies and hearterending grief of the drunkard's wife, the blighted lives and poisoned physical condition of his children. Our purpose, which has received the sanction of the heirarchy of our holy church in America and the blessing of the drunkard's wife, the Diighted lives and poisoned physical condition of his children. Our

But on an occasion like the present, when looking backward, what a nue sense of pleasure, if not entire gratification, throngs our memories on the forceful glorious achievements which are written on the records of every society connected with the glorious old Pennsylvania Union. Records which are endowed with grateful and blessed tears, and strengthened in their forceful endeavor when grace compelling prayers of country connected with the glorious old Pennsylvania Union. Records which are endowed with grateful and blessed tears, and strengthened in their forceful endeavor by the grace compelling prayers of countiess thousands of mothers, wifes and calldren, who proclaim the eulogies of this organization which is mentioned with a blessing by all good men for it has given strength to the weak, courage to the lattering, inspired with christian hope and heaven's reward men and women bordering on the deep abyss of human despair. It has banshed bunger and poverty from many a family; it has dried the glistening tear of sorrow and anguish on the eyelid of many a drunkard's wife, driven the blush of shame from many a drunkard's child by awakening from a heipless wreak a man. It is striving to protect the weak, to save the erring and to raise up the unfortunate.

The relations existing between this union and its societies have been of the most pleasant nature. Not one single incident transpiring to mar the existing barmony. The same may be said of the relations existing between societies and their spiritual directors, which is gratifying news to us. Our members are all obedient children of mother church, from whom we have received so many blessings, and to her faithful clergy, who have always had the best interest of our societies at heart. Composed as we are to-day, largely of young men, both ardeat and energetic, knowing and practicing the virtue of total abstincace, and bound to teach to all men by word and example the advantages it offers, we cannot but feel hopeful for the future welfare of this grand old union that good and true men labored for years to bring to the degree of perfection that it is enloying at the presenttine, their only hope of reward being the desire to see perpetuated for all time this organization that keeps her children in close commune with mother church and gives to our country solve, is an abstract of the constitution reported that it had decided to merge the offices of recording and ooresponding secretary prise Last Night.

A most agreeable surprise was tendere one of our popular school marms, Miss Julia Miles, last evening. A number of the young lady's friends met at the home of Miss Annie Burke, and proceeded to Miss Miles' residence on West Cherry street. Games of all kinds were indulged in and Thomas Tempest rendered a number of fine tenor soles. Michael Conry and Miss Libbie Cavanaugh sang a fine duett, while Misses Lizjie Carroll and Annie Graeber favored the company with a number of soles.

Dancing was indulged in until 12 o'clock when the company was invited to an elegant repast prepared in the lawn. Dancing was again resumed after supper, and at an early hour this morning all ceturned home well pleased and satisfied that the committee had done all in their power to give every one a good time. The Base Ball Cares.

Rev. William Powick takes exception to the report published concerning the base ball suits which were disposed of yesterday. He says the report included only part of the cases and that the cases of Charles Nyce, Thomas Golden, allas McDonald, Vivian Potts, alias McCormick, all of Pottsville, and Thomas Musser, alias Byon, of town, should have been embraced in it. Mr. Powick also says that the fine paid by each player was not $2.40, but $8, making a total of $40, line and c sts, and adds that the most interesting ant suggestive feature of the case was the fact in evidence that all but three or four dollars of this amount was paid to Squire Toomey at half past one o'clock on Monday morning.

Died.

EVANS.—On the 20th inst., at Shenan-doah, Pa., Elizabeth, wife of Lot F. Evans, aged 67 years. Funeral will take place from the family residence, 269 South Jardin street, on Sunday, 24th inst., at 1 p. m. Interment in the Odd Fellows cometery. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend.

Resumed Operations.

Operations were to-day resumed at the Kehley Run colliery after an idleness of nearly five weeks, due to the flooding of the workings during the prolonged spell of rain. As the colliery employs a large number of men and boys the resumption is a great relief to many families.

were one or two level-headed men among them who succeeded in keeping the game going.

Shultz, the pitcher who was injured in the game with Ashland, made his re appearance on the diamond, and Bancreft of Ashland, played with the home team. In the eighth inning the visitors got dangeronsiy close to the home cinb by ingreasing their score to seven runs and when the home team failed to score in the first half of the ninth inning the spectators prepared themselves to witness a grand wind up by the Jeanesvilles, but it failed to materialize, aithough four of their hardest hitters were at the bat. Miller succeeded in getting on first base through an error by Mulderig, but was put out on second on Shultz's throw in to Toman and no others got un bases.

There were no brilliant features in the game, but the contest was of a kind that heid the interest of the spectators and kept them in doubt as to which side would win until the last batter was declared out. The score:

Bancroft made a good impression yes terday. Shenandoxh goes to Jeanesville on Saturday.

The Jeanesvilles showed yesterday that they are chronic kickers. Hagen and Butterman are expected o-night. They have left Altoona.

Harris, the new catcher, formerly filled hat position on the Bucknell University The home management intends to put a team against the Harrisburgs which will make them hustle.

The game with Harrishurg will be stirring one. Sheuandoah will have very strong team in the field.

Guesses are being made on the probable attendance at the Harrisburg game and many people fix their figures at not less than 4,000.

It is said that by the close of this weel the Shenandoah team will be made up o some of the strongest players on the dia mond and the club will be ready and able to meet all comers

VERY LITTLE EVIDENCE.

Verdict of Acquittal is Expected in the Allen Case, pecial to Evenino Henaud, Portsville, June 21.—According to the ruling of Judge Weldman, yesterday, the Commonwealth was compelled to restling case with the testimony of Heffner and Hause. After the examination of the itause. After the examination of the latter, the lawyers for the defense raised the point that the indictment was defective in that it failed to set forth specifically what it was proposed to prove by the witnesses, and as a result J. H. Honsberger, Theodore C. Heller, John Wususch and Henjamin John were not allowed to testify as witnesses for the Commonwealth.

The court held a private examination

Shenandoah Started Out With a Bush,
But the Visitors Put on a Check and Become Dangerous—There Were a Number of Close Decisions.

The court held a private examination of John Woodward, the man alleged to have approached witnesses for the purpose of intimidation. Woodward all mitted be told Heffner and Housberger, as friends, to be careful what they test field to, as he overheard a remark that Allen would promised them positions. For this service he said he received spectators and for nearly two hours straggled for supremacy. Shenandoah took a decided lead in the second inning, but after that falled to score and the team was kept busy trying to hold the visitors down and preventing them from tiong the score or taking a lead.

The game was a pretty good one and the pitchers of both sides did well. Setley made his re-appearance in the box for Shenandoah and showed that his arm is not as bad as some people supposed it was. Harris, the new catcher, made his first appearance with good elect. He is a hard worker.

publicanism which attempted to make a camidiate throw aside his manhood and become the tool of chronic office-seekers. George Heffner, he said, was either in his political dotage or the biggest political itar in the world, and the defense would show him such. The defense would show how Heffner came to introduce Allen through North Manhelm township.

Mr. Wilhelm paid his respects to Charles Hause. He called him an "old blister" and said he never did an honest day's work in his life. He lived by his wits and on the prostitutes of the town, and wanted a political job, and his application for the janitorship was regarded as a joke by those who knew him. In closing he said the defense would present witnesses who would dispel all wrong behiefs which might have been created, when the jury would not be put in the position of passing political judgment upon Charles F. Allen.

The first witness for the defense was Guy E. Farquhar, Esq., who said he had known Charles Hause for about twenty years, and that his reputation for truth and veracity was bad in the neighborhood in which he lived.

Ex Burgess Frank J. Alber, of Pottsville, was the second witness, who said he had met Hause one day previous to the Republican convention, and they went to "Jumbo" Treut's saloon. While there Allen came in and they had a drink together. The latter was introduced to Hause. Witness said there was no truth in the testimony given by hause as to Allen having had a conversation with Hause in reference to an appointment. Witness remained with Allen until he left Pottaville for Tremont, and also denied having told anyone that Hause and Allen left Trout's place together and alone.

The defens - then called a number of witnesses to residir as to the reputation of Charles Hone and all worse that the testimony given by hause

The defens then called a number of witnesses to testify as to the reputation of Charles III use, and all swore that his reputation to such and veracity was not witnesses to testify as to the reputation of Charles II one, and all swore that his reputation to unit and veracity was not of the best. Councilman Michael Moser, Decatur E. Nice, ex-Prothonotary Hiram Moyer, John Leonard, Supervisor Isaac Jones, John Howeil, William Britton, John Scheerer, N. C. Morrison and Georga Meintyre were all called and all testified that the general sentiment was against Hause's reputation for truth and veracity. Dr. J. W. Cooper, of Friedensburg, testified that on October IB Allen was brought to his house by 'Squire Fertig and at at his solicitation Allen remained all night. The next morning he took Allen to Schuylkill Hayen, and on the way had a few minutes conversation with Heffner at his house without any previous arrangement.

Wellington Hartman was one of the men at the poils on election day at Mellots. He saw George Heffner there and asked him if he had voted, and received a negative reply. About a half an hour later Heffner left the town and did not you at that election.

The defense closed its case this morning and the Commonwealth opened a rebutta I the balance of the day being taken up by the testimony of witnesses called to prove the good character of the witnesses for the defense.
