Interesting Letter From a Correspondent.

A SURPRISE IS IN STORE

The Nomination of Coyle and Franey as Senatorial Candidates in the Thirtieth District Predicted—The Allen Case and Its Probable Results

Special HERALD correspondence.

POTTSVILLE, June 23.—A prominent candidate for Congress complains that all other contents are overshadowed north of the mountain by the 90th district Senatorial fight. This person told your scribe last Monday that he could get no satisfaction from the politicians during a recent visit to Shenandoah, Mahanoy City and other towns and little else did he hear but talk about "Squire Coyle and the possibility of beating him with another from Mahanoy City. 'You wouldn't think,'" he said, "those people were aware such an important office as congressional representative was to be filled this year, to hear them about over the Senatorial candidate."

If it was that candidate's experience, who is no less a personage than Hon. S. A. Loech, always noted for the faculty of flouting out whatever is going on, what must be the experience of others in their peregrinations? Yet it must be accepted as a fact all other contents sink into utter insignificance contrasted with the Senatorial fight and it arises from no other cause than the prospective great battle on hand and the POSITIVE PROMINENCE of the men who are to be the combatants. Little is heard here now of Ex-Senator King's movements, and except that he is engaged in the stillest kind of a still hunt he is "not in it" at all. As to his competitor, and most probable successful candidate, J. J. Franey, his name is in every one's mouth. During court week, which always brings prominent people here, his name and chances have been canvassed constantly and if that is not an evidence that he is the most thought for for the place I have taken my political lessons in vain.

Nothing succeeds like success, they say, and from the time Franey's name was first mentioned there has been a constant increase and swelling of his boom. I am told that recently a canvass of the districts that once were strongholds for King and his friends, it was found that the people wanted Franey and would listen to the claims of no one else. From this point of view, and the information from political centers in the county seat, I regard the outcome of the two conventions as sure for Franey on the Democratic side and Coyle on the Republican; so that whoever is elected, his name will commence with the same two winning letters, J. J. There is, I am informed,

A SURPRISE IS IN STORE for us all to be flashed on us in a very short time. What it is and where from it emanates, I know it correctly, it is not mine to divulge at present, but it refers to the Sheriff's office candidacy of some one not yet in the field, whose coming will be trumpeted and his name will be brought terror, all the same, to the several ones who claim to be ahead and on top in the race just at present.

Speaking of this office to one who is away up in political wisdom there came the information that Frank E. Spieser, floundering in the mire of innocuous desuetude, to borrow one of President Cleveland's terms, has reduced him to the ranks in the army of office aspirants. He has now no command as neither a man, mouse or long-tailed rat. It should teach him, and all other flounders, that when they get stuck on an office they should go for it and not become wanderers and grasping after too many. I regard Spieser as either a possibility as Senator or a possibility as Sheriff.

THE ALLEN CASE. The political persecution of Commissioner Allen, which culminated in the trial now going on in the Quarter Sessions is becoming ranker and ranker as the trial proceeds. Whether guilty or not of the charges of which he is indicted there seems to be a strong feeling amongst the people in his favor and against his conviction on the testimony of heeled unworthy of belief. The testimony that Mr. Allen will be acquitted, and if he is acquitted will it not retire some people who have high aspirations to private life? Most likely we shall hear very little of some men who only a few short months ago took the great credit upon themselves of being great Warwickes, and very likely there won't be so much laughing in Shaferstown as there once was. The acquittal of Allen will make him a popular official. He will be regarded as a man who had the nerve to do and dare. Our people are great hero worshippers, and Mr. Allen will be a hero if a jury of his countrymen say "not guilty" to Clerk Shortall's query last Monday.

RECEPTION AT Mt. Carmel. Supt. and Mrs. John L. Williams gave a big reception at their home on the Avenue in Mt. Carmel, Thursday evening, in honor of the return of their son, Thomas H. Williams, and his bride. A large number of guests were present from Shenandoah, Mahanoy City, Drifton and other towns. Dancing was one of the amusements indulged in and the newly married couple were serenaded by the band. Appetizing refreshments were served. The young couple will make their future home in Mt. Carmel.

Maltreated His Wife. John Dalton, of Lost Creek, last night pulled hair from his wife's head and brutally kicked the woman on the head and face. Justice E. E. Johnson, of Lost Creek, committed him and Constable Thomas Toshi, of town, took him to jail this morning.

Fell off a swing. Jacob Noll fell off a pole swing and James Maley fell off a drum at the Rescue picnic at Lakeside yesterday. The former was knocked senseless, but recovered soon. Maley dislocated one of his knee caps. Both young men reside in town.

TESTIMONY ALL IN.

Close of the Long-Drawn-out Case Against Commissioner Allen.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

POTTSVILLE, June 23.—All the evidence in the trial of Commissioner Charles F. Allen was submitted yesterday afternoon, and this morning the lawyers made their addresses to the jury. Very little substantial evidence was submitted yesterday afternoon, outside of that of S. A. Loech and W. C. Dunkelberger.

Ex-District Attorney H. H. Koch testified that he had met Mr. Allen upon his (Koch's) own solicitation, at the rooms of the Pottsville Club. Allen stated to the witness that he had promised to support Dunkelberger for Warden, and could not go back on it. If the latter was out of the fight he might support the witness's man Gressang. Koch said he spoke to Allen about other appointments; urged Allen to support Gressang, and that the evening after he had conversed with Allen, Gressang and Hazzard, upon his advice, called on Young at Tamaqua for the purpose of getting Dunkelberger out of the way.

Peter Bauer was again called and related how Messrs. Allen and Ulrich met at his saloon in Schuylkill Haven for the purpose of having a conference with S. A. Loech but the latter was not at home. Arrangements were then made for a meeting in Pottsville.

Hon. S. A. Loech was the next witness. He stated that he was the prosecutor in the case, and then went on to detail how Ulrich made a proposition to him that if the suit was dropped and Mr. Gressang waited until the following year he would be made warden. The witness was also to have the right to name the mercantile appraiser and have the delegates from Mahanoy, Hazleton, Rush, Schuylkill, Walker and West Penna for Congress, and the influence of the Commissioner's office.

At this point the court allowed the Commonwealth to amend the indictment so as to charge but two offenses—these through George Heffner and Charles Heise.

Frank J. Alber was then called by the defense and denied the testimony as given by John F. Gressang the day previous. He denied ever having had a conversation with Gressang relative to the wardenship. W. C. Dunkelberger said he had a conversation with John F. Gressang in Tamaqua at John Young's house. Witness said he was called to Young's house when Gressang called him into the parlor and he (witness) ought to get out of the wardenship fight. Gressang said he himself should have the place because he (Gressang) had spent considerable money in the campaign. Witness said he could not see why Gressang was any more entitled to the place than himself. Gressang then offered him $500 to get out of the fight, intimating he had the money with him. Nothing was said about Dunkelberger's financial reverses until the offer of money was made. Gressang called him into the parlor. On cross-examination the witness stated that Gressang made a direct offer of $500, and when witness refused to accept the offer, the private conversation with Gressang ended.

This ended the hearing of evidence, and court adjourned until this morning. To-day's sessions were devoted to the summing up and charge in the case. It is not likely that the case will be given to the jury before four o'clock this evening.

AN OFFICIAL KIDNAPED.

DEATH IN THE MINES!

Two Men Meet Their Deaths and One Injured.

WHO THE VICTIMS WERE

One of the Men Crushed Between Shaft Timbers and a Cage—The Other Killed by a Fall of Rock—A Third Lost One of His Eyes.

There were three accidents in the mines last night, two of which were fatal, and the three victims were residents of this town. One of the dead men was crushed in the shaft of Maple Hill colliery and the other was killed in the same mine by a fall of rock.

The man who met his death in the shaft was John Pankawicz, a single man who boards in one of the houses of Lamb's row in the First ward. Mine Inspector Stein was seen late last night, but said he had not been notified of the case and knew nothing of it.

From information gleaned at other sources it was learned that Pankawicz hurried to the bottom of the shaft after finishing his day's work and was the last man to get on the cage. Pankawicz's rash bewildered the bottom man, who said there were more than ten men on the cage and pulled the mine back; but the next moment he found that Pankawicz was only the tenth man and pushed him upon the cage, which commenced to ascend and almost immediately the unfortunate miner was caught between the cage and shaft timbers and crushed to death, the body falling into the sump.

The case will be made a subject of investigation. The second man killed was Stacey Korch, a resident of West Coal street. He was employed as a miner in a gangway of Maple Hill colliery and at a late hour last night was instantly killed by a fall of rock. The remains were removed to the boarding-house of the deceased at two o'clock this morning. Korch was thirty three years of age and has a wife and two children in Poland.

Stacey Whitlow was the man injured. This accident occurred in the Ellengowan mine. A piece of coal from a premature blast struck the man in the right eye, completely destroying it. A piece of coal almost half an inch square wedged itself in the eye socket and was removed with difficulty.

The Ringtown Railway.

The surveyors of the proposed electric railway to Ringtown from Shenandoah will probably finish their work to-day and be ready to report to the parties interested on Monday. After that the work of organizing a company and submitting plans for the road will proceed. A charter for the company will be applied for on Tuesday or Wednesday. Considerable interest is manifested here over the project and if it gets a good start lots in the valley will be bought up in large numbers. From current discussions it seems safe to predict that if the construction of the road becomes a certainty at least one hundred dwellings will be built along the route this year. Shenandoah people are clamoring for more and better dwellings than can be secured in the town and more breathing space and this electric line will put these things within their reach.

FOUL TREACHERY.

Startling Stories of Mrs. Heck and her Paramour.

The case of Mrs. Peter Heck, of Green Ridge, near Mt. Carmel, and James Dunstan, of Shamokin, is creating widespread attention and if one half the stories told are true the couple come as near to being brutes in human form as have attracted public notice for some time.

Mrs. Heck deserted her family at Mt. Carmel some weeks ago and eloped with Dunstan but a few days later the latter returned to his family at Shamokin. The Heck woman is still missing but is said to be in Williamsport. She took all the money her husband had saved, about two hundred dollars, and in addition to being penniless the husband has lost his work, so that the two small children of the family, aged five and seven years, are not only suffering for the want of a mother's care, but are actually starving. Their privations have brought on sickness and the neighbors say the children will die. Dunstan, it is said, is now attracting the attention of the Shamokin people by maltreating his wife.

BASE BALL.

The home management is getting a strong aggregation of players to meet the Harrisburgs. The game will be a good one.

Secretary Woodoll, of the Virginia base ball league, has waived all claims to Setley and the player may now sign and play where he pleases. Setley pitched for Allentown at Pottsville to-day.

Toman has received a letter from the Binghamton, N. Y., management that unless he reports at that place at once he will be arrested for accepting and retaining advance money. Toman says he never took the money from the telegraph office.

Six carpenters and twenty-five laborers started early this morning to replace the base ball grand stand which was destroyed by fire yesterday. They will work until midnight if necessary in order to have the stand ready for the Harrisburg game. The new stand will be built of parts from the stand at the trotting track and will be much larger than the old one.

The destruction of the grand stand at the base ball grounds was undoubtedly the act of an incendiary. There was nothing within or about the grounds which could have set the place on fire and somebody is responsible for an act which cannot be viewed as excusable from any standpoint. Some hot-headed crank has been unable to withstand the temptation to resort to the torch.

The Lock Haven base ball club is in financial straits, says the Lock Haven Democrat. Some of the players have not received their pay for a month. Manager McNeerney says that the gate receipts have not been sufficient to meet the expenses of the club, which are between $500 and $700 a month. A meeting of the manager and players will be held and the situation gone over. The unpaid players gave notice that unless their salaries were forthcoming they would not play any longer. Manager McNeerney replied that he could not, and would not, go down into his pocket to make up the balance. The propriety of organizing a stock company was then discussed, but no definite conclusion was reached.

Making Measurements.

A special car used by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company in gauging the width of tracks and heights of bridges along the company's line was in use on the local branch yesterday with a corps of civil engineers. A test of the track leading from the Emrick street switch to the rear of the Lehigh Valley Railroad was made and it is said a change will be necessary, as the Shenandoah Feed and Lumber Company's fence is too close to the track. Measurements were also taken for the proposed electric railway bridge at Oak street.

He Went to Jail.

Steve Kulas, a Hungarian, was unable to get $200 bail yesterday and was taken down to the Pottsville jail to stand trial on two charges of assault and battery. Special Officer Alex made the arrest. Kulas cut a Polish boy's scalp open with a piece of rock and beat Mike Hinchell, who interfered in the boy's behalf.
