Chicago, July 17.—A caisson of Battery F. Second artillery, U. S. A., exploded with terrific force yesterday afternoon at Grand and Oakwood boulevards. Three artillerymen and one trooper were instantly killed. Nearly a score of other persons—troops, residents in the vicinity and passers-by—were injured, some of them fatally. The list of the killed and wounded fatally. The list of the killed and wounded fatally. The list of the killed and wounded fatally. The list of the killed and wounded is as follows:

Killed—J. Donovan, private, Battery F, Second artillery; Edward Doyle, private, Battery F, Second artillery; Joseph Gaylor, farrier, Troop B, Seventh cavalry, Fred Stolz, private, Second artillery.

Wounded—Sergeant Linear, Battery F, Second artillery, badly shot through the body and severely burned with powder about face and head; recovery doubtful, John Allen, a private in the Second artillery, shot in head and neck, fatally injured. Mauries O'Donnell, Second artillery, shot in the brad and powder burnes; may recover. C. Elneke, driver in rear, private, Second artillory, blown rear, private, Second artillery, blown from his horse and badly injured; will refrom his horse and badly injured will re-cover. John Urquhart, private, Second-artillers, ball of left foot crushed by a bullet, not serious. Herbert Antes, bug-ler, Troop B, Seventh cavalry, shot in shoulder and arm; will recover. Sergeant Anthony Kane, Troop B, Seventh cav-niry, ear-shot off. Sergeant George Hoff-man Troop B, Seventh cavalry, shot in airy, ear shot off. Sergeant George Hoff-man, Troop B, Seventh cavalry, shot in chin. Corporal Abraham Riley, Battery F, Second artiflery, thrown to the ground and badly bruised. Sergeant King, Bat-tery F, Second artiflery, thrown from horse and bruised. Unknown artiflery-man, thrown from horse and picked up unconscious; injuries slight. Unknown how thrown from blorde infured about boy, thrown from bicycle: injured about the legs. Miss Alice York, tendon of heel severed by bullet. Mrs. B. C. Huhling, verely cut and injured in her home by falling glass.

The troops left Brighton park for a long march to exercise the horses. They were in command of Captain Dodd, of Troop F, Third cavairy, and consisted of Troop F, Third cavairy, forty men. Troop E, Sixth cavairy, Lieutenant Tate, forty men: platoon of Battery F, Second artillery, two guns, Lieutenant Cayle, twenty-thres men; Troop B, Saventh cavairy, Captain Varnuin, forty men. The men marched in this order. Everything went smoothly and there were no incidents until the column marching south on Grand boulevard was just crossing Oakwood boulevard. Then a terrific explosion occurred. vard. Then a terriffic explosion occurred. The men on the caiseon, supposed to be Donovan and Doyle, were literally blown to pieces and others were thrown many feet by the violence of the concussion. Four of the horses drawing the caisson Four of the horses drawing the caisson fell in their tracks, shot through and hor-ribly mangled, while three others were blown fifty feet ahead against the trees on the boulevard. The caisson was blown to atoms, not a piece of it larger than a man's hand being found. The boulevard looked like a battlefield.

There was a quick series of explosions There was a quick series of explosions after the first report and shrapnel shot rained like hail among the trees on the boulevard and pierced the surrounding buildings. The concussion broke every window in the houses for blocks away. The walls and roofs of the dwellings showed the terrific effect of the missiles. Unexploded shells of the rear part of the caisson lay strewn over the ground. With the explosion came great confusion of the troops and for a moment the men and offi-cers seemed powerless to move.

It was some little time before the two artillerymen could be found. One of them, mangled beyond recognition, but supposed to be Doyle, had been blown over a board sign twenty-five feet high and was found in a vacant lot behind it. One leg and an arm were gone. The other man, supposed to be Donovan, had been thrown about 300 feet and was found in a vacant lot near the Lake Shore tracks.

Great damage was wrought by the exwere blown out, and the damage to resi-dence and park property in the neignber-hood of the accident is estimated at about $10,000. The house of F. C. Huhling was damaged to the extent of about $1,000. J. R Custer lives directly opposite where the accident occurred and sustained a loss of about $1,500. A large piece of one of the wheels of the gun carriage was car-ried through his sitting room window and carried away a large lamp which stood at the window. The caisson consisted of a limber on making three chests on the caisson. The explosion occurred in the chest of the limber, and the force of the explosion was to the rear, tearing away the caiseon and igniting the powder in the other two chests. The first caisson carried forty-two shrapnel and forty-four cartridges. The shrapnel are loaded percussion shells, con-taining fulminates and small balls, and are fired from the cannon by a cartridge containing, as in this case three and three; quarter pounds of powder. The theory of the accident is that the screw plug at the base of one of the shrap nel became locsened, some of the powder leaked out any being ground and pounded by the folting of the limber ignited, the powder in the cartridges exploded and powder in the cartridges exploded and the ignition of the cartridges in the other two chests followed. The force of the ex-plosion can be more readily understood when it is remembered that the 132 cartridges in the chests contained 495 pounds of powder.

The guns were the new rifled field pieces recently introduced into the service and have never seen active duty. The ammunition is a counte of months old and has been joited over the rough roads in Kan ans, and yet when going at a light trot on the smoothest road in Chicago, the ex-plosion took place.

OXFORD DEFEATS YALE

In the International Athletic Contest in London.

OXFORD 5 1-2 EVENTS, YALE, 3 1-2.

Captain Hickok, Bitterly Disappointed Over the Result, Says the Americans Did Not Do as Well as They Did in the Trial EVENTS.

LONDON, July 17.—Despite the love of fair play, of which the English are wont to boast, the crowds which witnessed the international athletic contests between the Oxford and Yale teams on the Queen's Club grounds yesterday were generally most unfairly partisan. Of course in the box where the American ambassacior and a large number of prominent English-men were gathered the Englishmen made a show of clapping their hands when a Yale man was encressful, and Mr. Bayard was equally careful to appland the sur-cesses of the Oxford men, but everywhere cesses of the Oxford men, but everywhere else the most intense jeniously was mani-fested. In front of what was known as Yale's pavillon, which was emprosed to be reserved for Americans, a crowd of well dressed men and women gathered, and when the little knot of Yale men gave the college closer many of these people would turn round and make besuiting re marks.

"Flory call themselves: gentlemen," scornfully remarked a lady in the Ameri scountably remarked a lady in the Americian party, and when Yale won some events and her partisans were relocing, a barly Relitator yelled "Ramember that the Britanes west that the Britanes were made good naturedly, but with the most intense passion. The scene at the end expressed the whole feeling. While poor Fond, who ran one of the plucklest races ever seen, was lying in his friend sarms, the Oxonian who had saved the English from being tied, was being beene trumphantly to the pavillon, men and women following, with savillon, men and women following, with es affame, and running and yelling is ouldening crowds, Messrs, Hickok, of the Yale team, and Fry, of the Oxfords, were interviewed by the Associated Press worrespondent after the games. Fry was very happy, He said the Oxford team was delighted with the Yale athletes. He thought the American had not done their best, and certainly were not up to the record. This was be cause they were over trained, while the Oxford men had not reached their bes form because they were under trained. He said further that, mithough it was dif-ficult to induce the Oxford men to train in the summer time, he was determined, if possible, to get (Axford to agree to a re-turn match with Yale in 1895. He hoped that the athletes of the two universities build meet annually.

Hickok said he was bitterly disappointed, not so much because the Yale eam were beaten as because the mon dis team were beaten as bessure the men did not do as well as they did in the trials. "I have thrown the hammer," he said, "over $25 feet, but today I could not ex-ceed 110 feet. However, there is no use looking for reasons. They got there first and we were beaten. They are a splen-did lot of fellows and there is nothing to regret but the result."
