The Board of Examiners for the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth districts of the anthracite region, met in the Court House at Pottsville, yesterday, for the purpose of examining the papers of the applicants for the position of mine foreman. On the 12th and 13th insts. over forty applicants were examined by the three boards jointly, and each applicant was presented with forty questions which he was required to answer, or rather a certain percentage of them.

There are three boards of examiners, including the Sixth or Shenandoah, the Seventh, or Ashland, and the Eighth, or Portville district, as follows: Sixth District—Inspector, William Stein; Superintendent, William H. Lewis; miners, Messrs. Fred Hughes and William McGuire. Seventh District—Inspector, Edward Brennan; Superintendent, Andrew Robertson; miners, Messrs. Robert Muir and James Gordon. The total number of points were 430, and it will be noticed that Lawrence Keating is the only applicant who reached that number in his examination.

The following candidates passed the examination and are entitled to an assistant mine foreman's certificate: Frank Wilkom, Shenandoah, 290 points; Morgan Bevan, Shenandoah, 290 points; Frederick Weir, Gilberton, 260 points.

KILLED IN THE MINES.

A Rockman Meets Death in the Slope at Wm. Penn.

George Daddow, a rockman, was hurt while riding a car in Wm. Penn slope, shortly after midnight, and died an hour afterwards from his injuries.

Daddow was about 20 years of age and was, until recently, a resident of Rockaway, Morris county, N. J., from whence he came here last April. His remains lie at the home of George Taylor, 108 West Apple alley, to await the arrival of his relatives who have been telegraphed for.

Daddow and his two partners, William Kline and Edward Everman, of Shenandoah, boarded a car and gave the signal to host about midnight. The car had travelled about 15 feet when it began to jump and a second afterward the "barney" got underneath and pushed the car up against the timbers. It was at this moment that Daddow is supposed to have jumped and been caught between the car and the timber. It happened before his companions realized an accident. The engine was stopped and Daddow's body removed, badly injured but not cut. He died before reaching the water level. An inquest will be held.

P. & R. Promotions.

One change on a railroad often brings about many others, as in the present case. A. W. Whitlock, the local agent for the P. & R. at Sunbury, will engage in other business, and will be succeeded by T. R. Sifer, late agent at Mt. Carmel. Fred N. Hipple, formerly relief agent, goes to Mt. Carmel, and his place is taken by D. J. Slattery, agent at Gilberton. R. C. Dutter, of St. Nicholas, will be stationed at Gilberton, while his position will be filled by a young man from New Ringgold.

A Vote of Thanks.

The members of the B. Y. P. U. take this means of tendering their thanks to the members and numerous friends who lent their aid in making the Bazaar of Nations, recently held in Robbins hall, such a decided success.

BURIED TO-DAY.

Two Shenandoah Funerals Take Place This Afternoon.

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. William J. Watkins, wife of the local editor of the HERALD, was interred in the Old Fellows' cemetery this afternoon.

The funeral services were conducted at the late residence of the deceased, on North Jardin street. Rev. Robert O'Boyle, of the Trinity Reformed church, officiated at the ceremony. The funeral was largely attended, many people from out of town being present to join in the last sad rites over the departed, who was held in high esteem by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. The pall bearers were George Rohland, Robert Anderson, John Griffiths, Joseph M. Boyer, Frank Reese and Samuel Evans.

The remains of Mrs. Pauline Lemberg, who died at Harrisburg on the 22d inst., were interred in the Old Fellows' cemetery, after services being held at the residence of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Charles Bienemann, on West Centre street. The deceased was the wife of the late George Lemberg. A large number of friends and relatives were in attendance.

Joe Wyatt's Convass.

There is no more popular candidate before the people of the First Legislative district than genial, whole-souled Joe Wyatt, of Shenandoah, who is making a strong fight for the nomination. Mr. Wyatt has among his many friends some of the most influential Republicans in the district, who feel confident of his nomination. Conceding the nomination for the Senate to Mahanoy City it would appear to be good politics to take the nominee for the Assembly from Shenandoah, which is sold for Wyatt.

A COLUMN OF BRIEF ITEMS.

Dished Up in a Spicy Manner For Your Perusal.

WHAT THEY TALK ABOUT!

The Reporters' Note Book Divulges the Doings and Sayings of the Largest Town in the County.

The introduction of the Love process for the manufacture of illuminating gas in town brings to mind the attempt of this inventor to have the process introduced here when the works were first projected. The gentlemen who were interested in the project at that time visited the plant of both Love and Patton, and they finally decided to put in the process known by the latter's name. Patton had a small plant in operation in Herndon, while Love was located in Montgomery county. The latter system has been greatly improved, however, since then, and the consumers will no doubt readily distinguish a difference between the quality of gas furnished now and when the new process is in operation.

Nothing seems impossible in these days of Democratic rule, and the project of tunnelling Ringtown mountains from Shenandoah would not only be a good thing for the Reading company to ship its coal west, but would be a benefit in other ways. It has been talked of often, and it will be agitated in certain quarters.

A day or two ago an old resident lost at least five minutes of his valuable time in trying to deposit a letter in a fire alarm box. He did not succeed, however.

Pottsville is to have an additional letter carrier. It is about time another one was added to the local force. The work exacted from the five carriers now on duty is too much. For prompt and more frequent delivery one more would not be any too many.

A prominent member of the P. O. S. of A. hinted the other day that a new hall and opera house would yet be built in Pottsville, but the site could be secured.

It seems queer, nevertheless, it is true, that better prices are obtained for old furniture, carpets, etc., at auctions than the original article when new. At almost any sale this fact can easily be demonstrated.

The beer keg nuisance still exists. It's a wonder the breweries don't run short, judging from the number of kegs lying around the back alleys and in the creeks.

The saloon-keepers, in common with other people, are complaining of the hard times, but this fact will not diminish the number of applicants at the next term of license court.

Manager Randall, of the "Phillies," which played here on Sunday, is an old Schuylkill countian. He conducted a passenger train on the P. & R. main line between Philadelphia and Pottsville for a long time and was once active in local politics. As a base ball manager he is a decided success. Railroad discipline he deals out in wholesale quantities to the boys who dare to "day" yet who questioned about their manager, every player voted him a good fellow. One of his rules is that the men must retire by eleven o'clock. He believes a man's playing will be better the next day, though he would not care to see anything more violent than holding a new set.

Mr. Randall and a reporter stood before the hotel on Saturday night two players sneaked toward the house. "O, I'm onto you fellows," remarked the watchful manager, and then to the reporter's question as to a fine: "It will cost those lads $25 apiece if we lose the game to-morrow, and $50 if we win."

"Skally!" who is known by every man, woman and child in town, has made his departure into new business channels, that of the boot-black. He is quite a character, and is making a success of his new venture.

The telegraph, fire alarm, trolley, telephone and electric light poles of town would be greatly improved in appearance if they were painted. Each should have a distinctive color, too—that of the fire alarm a bright red.

The Lehigh Valley station is the scene of many narrow escapes. Hardly a week passes but some individual jumps or is pulled out the way of a train backing down to the station. Last week an Arab stood on the track gazing toward Brownsville. A train backed down and despite the warning yells of the crowd the man evaded unscathed until the car almost touched his coat tail. Then he made a mighty jump for safety. Yesterday a bewildered child ran through the crowd and out on to the track right in front of the Pottsville train which was backing slowly down. "Look out, boy!" shouted Conductor Boulder, and his warning would have been too late but for the prompt action of Frank Reese, who grabbed the boy and swung him out of danger.

Arrested for Embezzlement.

G. A. Sarvis, of Frackville, has been arrested for embezzlement and placed in the Northumberland county jail. He was employed at Mahanoy Plains by the Reading Railroad Co., and he made a thrilling attempt to escape while being taken to jail by jumping from the train, but was captured. He was formerly assistant trainmaster of the P. & E. division at Pottsville.

A Tumbling Run Party.

Quite a number of Shenandoah people left town this afternoon for Tumbling Run, near Pottsville, and will spend the afternoon in that picturesque resort. Among the party was noticed Misses Carrie Seachrist and Emma Broome, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Broome, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Jacobs and Thomas A. Timmins.

Seeking Ball.

An effort is being made by the counsel for Tahany and Whalen, the two young men implicated in the murder of Haynole, the Italian, at Yatesville, to secure their release on bail. Brennan, who was first arrested for the crime, has not secured bail.

Free Lunch at Joe Trewella's saloon from 9 to 12 a. m. and 7 to 10 p. m.

REFUSED ASSISTANCE.

A Youth Declines to Help an Officer and is Given a Hearing.

Joseph Robinovitz, a salesman in Block's clothing store, at the corner of Main and Cherry streets, was taken in charge by Chief Burgess Burns yesterday for refusing to assist that officer in making an arrest.

The Chief Burgess found a drunken man lying upon the steps, and as the man was too lumber in the legs to navigate without assistance, the officer called upon Robinovitz to aid in his removal to the lock up. Robinovitz didn't jump at the chance to distinguish himself, and in fact declined to go near the prisoner. The Chief Burgess then secured other assistance, and after the arrest was made the officer returned for the salesman. He found that individual much excited over the thought of going to the lock-up and pleaded sickness and explained that he was under age and not a citizen.

The salesman said the Chief Burgess told him that his refusal to assist an officer would cost him $4.00, but finally let him off with a reprimand.

BASE BALL.

Welkart received an offer from Staunton, Va., yesterday. He says Shenandoah is good enough for him.

President Brennan talks of touring the coast towns with the home team next week. Among the points in view are Atlantic City, Cape May and Long Branch.

The Caban Giants want a date with the home team in September, or they return from the west. An opportunity will be given them to play here before leaving Pennsylvania. The Giants are a drawing card in this town.

Lock Haven plays their last game to-morrow. It is expected that the Demorest team will also disband. This will throw a number of good players on the market. "Cappy" Martin is playing with the former club.

Two new players have been signed by the home management, and are expected here in a day or two. They are Ashenbach, of Lancaster, and O'Hara, of Reading. The former is originally from Cincinnati, while the latter learned to toss ball about Philadelphia.

The local team has been reduced from fourteen to eleven by the release of Harris, Young and Martin. The former goes to his home in Lewisburg for a few days, but expects to sign with Mahanoy City later on. Young returns to Pottsville and Martin to Philadelphia.

The next game played by the home team will probably be with the "Phillies," on Sunday next. Manager Randall promises to put Callahan in the box and make it warmer for our boys than he did last Sunday. He'll have to put something in besides Callahan, as our club, as it now stands, is much stronger than it has been any time this season.

The "Devil" Skipped.

The Sunday News office is minus that necessary appendage to all newspaper establishments, the printer's "devil," and with him went many things of considerable more value than that particular individual. He is missed, however, and hopeful, and this probably accounts for the unreadiness of our friend Doyle. When the "devil" left the holy sanctum of the News he was well heeled for a long walk, and in direct contrast to his experience while a necessary adjunct to that establishment, he is enabled on his journey to dress in the height of fashion. Not like the great majority of the tourists of the "art preservative," he will neither be compelled to rely upon Old Sol nor strangers to inform him of the time of day, but can complacently inspect his own time-piece and admire its brilliancy and valuation. In the meantime our friend Doyle sits within his sanctum and mourns the return of one who never cometh.

Increased Travel.

From Mahanoy City Tri-Weekly.
The travel between this place and Shenandoah has increased wonderfully since the Lakeside Electric Railway connects the two places. The Lehigh Valley Railroad, previous to the opening of the electric road, sold on an average three to four hundred tickets a month. The electric road stimulated and encouraged travel between the two towns and now it is nothing unusual for the trolley cars to carry more passengers in a day to Shenandoah than the two railroads here carry to that place in a month. New people go to Shenandoah who probably never thought of going before, while there are countless numbers who go "just for a ride." The convenience, probably, more than the slight saving in fare, has created this exodus of travel to the electric road, and the most sanguine of minds ever thought there would be the present large and constant travel between the sister boroughs.

Excursion to the Seashore.

An excursion to Sea Isle, Cape May and Atlantic City will leave here to-morrow from the Philadelphia & Reading road. Tickets will be good for ten days, with stop-off at Philadelphia for two days. The train will leave here to-morrow morning at 9:00 o'clock, and the fare for the round trip will be $2.00.

Centralia-Mt. Carmel Railway.

Work on the electric railway between Mt. Carmel and Centralia began on Saturday, and it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. The work of running the trolley wires in Mt. Carmel will be commenced this week. The fare from the latter town to Shamokin will be 15 cents, and either Locust Gap or Centralia five cents.
