STRIKE ON THE NEW WORKS.

Sub-Contractor Wants the Money Due for Last Month.

THE MEN STOPPED WORK.

It is Understood an Amicable Arrangement has Been Made by Which the Strike Will End to-morrow.

There was a strike on the public water works yesterday morning and not a man has done a tap of work since, although it is understood that they will start again to-morrow. The strike differed from that of the Pullman men in that the contractor favored it because the borough failed to put up the money required to pay the men according to contract.

It seems that $15,000 is the amount due sub-contractor McAdam for last month's work in laying the water pipes through town, but on account of the differences existing between Contractors Quinn & Kerns and the Borough Council over the amount of the engineer's estimate, the responsibility for repairs to the damaged reservoir, additional pipe, etc., Mr. McAdam has not received money to pay his hands. The men got tired yesterday and quit work.

Sub-contractor McAdam notified the borough authorities that something would have to be done soon, as the men would not remain idle long, and if the difficulty was not adjusted right away they would seek work elsewhere.

A. W. Schalk and J. H. Pomeroy, Esqs., counsel for the borough, had a consultation at Pottsville yesterday and upon Mr. Pomeroy's return there was an informal gathering of members of the water committee—a sidewalk conference—at which it was decided that if Mr. McAdam would get an order from Quinn & Kerns for the amount due him the borough would furnish the money to pay the men.

It is understood that Mr. McAdam agreed to apply for the order and as soon as he gets it a special meeting of the Borough Council will be called to make arrangements for paying the men. Mr. McAdam has also agreed, it is said, to have his men back to work at the Fowler's Run reservoir to-morrow morning.

WORKING TIME AND WAGES.

The P. & R. Collieries Will Suspend to-morrow Night—Nine Per Cent. Off.

All the collieries of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company will suspend operations on Wednesday night for the balance of the week. No announcement has been made as to the working time for next week.

The Schuylkill Coal Exchange committee has issued a report showing that the rate of wages for the last two weeks of July and first two weeks of August will be nine per cent. below the $2.50 basis.

A Denial.

EDITOR HERALD: In the last issue of the Sunday News were quoted some extracts from "Nanja Gadyne" (New Era) published in Mt. Carmel, from the article "Life of Father Bl. Demski," and the author of the extracts describes the views expressed there to Dr. Szlupas. Let me say through your columns that my name is not connected with the biography of Father Demski in "Nanja Gadyne," and that the views expressed in the article contain only the views that have been advocated by the said reverend gentleman of the Catholic church. I wish that insinuations would not heap upon my shoulders other people's expressions and thoughts. As to myself, I am an advocate of the poor working classes, but I never advocated the extirpation of explosives of the representatives of the church, or capital. My religion is the worship of God "in spirit and truth," and my social problems can be solved by evolution, i. e. legislation and the desired referendum. The means to attain liberty, brotherhood of men and the welfare of human community is education, and is possible. All my lifetime I have been commending against ignorance, superstition and violence. If my adversaries try to put upon my shoulders everything that is mean, everything that other people advocate, their aim is plain. They sow the seed of discord and hate in the community in the hope that their dirty deeds in this way will be covered, as it is easy to go fishing in muddy water. Only recently an effort was made to make me anything but what I really am. This was exploded and now new channels are being tried. Nevertheless, I will try to do good, as much as it depends on me, even if I should suffer many persecutions, more than I have suffered until the present day.

I am, very truly yours,
JOHN SZLUPAS, M. D.

A SAD CASE.

Two Small Boys Overcome by Liquor and one Dies.

GIRARDVILLE, PA., July 31.—A most distressing affair occurred at the residence of Thomas Monaghan, at Colorado, yesterday. His sons, aged respectively 5 and 9 years, were left alone in the house and managed to get hold of a demijohn of whiskey. They partook freely of the contents and both were in a critical condition when found by the parents. The younger son died in a few hours. The whiskey had been procured for use at a raffish.

POSTAL MEN IN CAMP.

Philadelphians Spending Their Vacation at High Point Park.

The Loretta Camping Club, of Manayunk, Philadelphia, has pitched its tents and colors—blue and black—at High Point Park, on the line of the Lakeside Electric Railway, midway between this place and Mahanoy City. The club is composed of Manayunk mail carriers, postal clerks and business men. They are a happy, genial and rather sporty crowd, and during their three weeks' stay at High Point will no doubt make the place very lively.

The officers of the club are Michael J. McRide, president; Edward Gallagher, vice president; H. C. Byrne, secretary; James J. Boyle, treasurer; James F. Gallagher, captain; Edward E. Maken, purser. The other members are James Cunniff, Michael Green, William Emory, D. Cunniff, John J. Frazer, John P. McFlynn, Archie Wilson, James Murray, Frank Maken, Wilson Hagererty, J. Tobin, John Quinan, M. F. Millers, Charles Gallagher, Edward Fitzgerald, John F. Boyle, Francis Cunniff, proprietor of the Cunniff House, Manayunk; James J. Sullivan, inspector of postal stations; Rev. James Brehony, formerly of St. Clair and now pastor of St. John's Catholic church, Manayunk; Peter A. Conavan and John F. Cunniff. Most of the members are athletes and pass time between meals in general athletic sports and base ball.

THE RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Grant the Worst Injured—All Except Miss Stein in Bed.

All the victims of the runaway accident on Fowler's public road are making good progress towards recovery, although it will be some time before some of them will be able to go about without some inconvenience, especially in the case of Mrs. Jesse Grant, who suffers from a fracture of the right thigh. This was determined after Mrs. Grant recovered from the shock last evening. The fracture is not a severe one, but the injury is made serious by the fact that Mrs. Grant is close upon sixty years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Stein are confined to their beds, but are making good progress towards recovery. Mr. Stein was bruised worse than was at first supposed and spent a very restless night, but rested easy to-day. Mrs. Stein has recovered from the shock and rests easy. Miss Annie Stein is able to leave her bed and walk about the house. Mrs. Grant is very much worried over a pair of gold spectacles, which she lost in the accident. She praised them highly as a gift from the late William Grant, her husband.

THE COUNTY POLITICIANS.

Views of the Campaign as Taken at the County Seat.

CONGRESSIONAL WHISPERS.

Brumm and Losch Appear to be About Even, but Shoener is Hugging the Rail—Spiese for Sheriff.

Special HERALD correspondence.

POTTSVILLE, July 30.—It has been terribly hot down this way the past few days, in more senses than one. It is nip-and-tuck between the weather and the Republican candidates for Congress and their friends. What added to the fuel was my last letter, in which I gave as my honest opinion the relative strength of the three candidates. The situation as I found it did not suit me, but I disregarded personal preferences and sent you the news.

"What is the situation to-day?" you will probably ask. Well, to tell the truth, it is hard at this time to tell just where we "are at." So much has been done by the candidates, each one having put on a good suit, that I have been unable to keep up with the procession. As it looks now it is an even thing between Brumm and Losch, and if I were to wager on the result I would have to go it blind, i. e. toss up a penny to pick the probable winner. But that does not necessarily put Shoener out in the cold. He is making a good fight and should any of the friends of Brumm and Losch fall out he will gather them in. Shoener has one of the shrewdest politicians in the county managing his campaign.

Up to last week the rivalry seemed to monopolize the attention of the politicians, but while the Congressional fight has since overshadowed it that contest is still vigorous. Davis is now doing Tamaqua and Rush, Rahm, Ryan and Reilly townships. Scott's friends are everywhere in the county and will not concede that Davis apparently has a lead. The latter has the advantage of campaign experience and is using as his best card the two-week pay bill, the passage of which he secured through the Legislature. The attempt to put up a Pottsville man to knock out Davis and Scott is a waste of time. The man under consideration is not "in it," never was, and never will be.

Candidates for Poor Director and Jury Commissioner are quite numerous and before the convention meets will be as thick as blackberries. Ex-Poor Director Heffner and Squire Mellon are two of the latest aspirants for the latter office.

In respect to the Legislative fight in this district there is an additional development, the advent of Dr. Quinn, of Ashland, which has upset the calculations of many interested. The doctor generally gets what he strikes out for and for that reason none of the other candidates can look upon his appearance with complacency. The leading candidates now are Quinn, Cass, Schuykill Haven, Hartung, Palo Alto; Orme, St. Clair; and Schuylkill, Pottsville.

Among the Democrats the bone of contention is the nomination for Sheriff. Shenandoah's candidate, Higgins, who is now absent on the race, is likely to be named to disappointment, as well as the rest of the announced candidates. Frank P. Spiese, who had his eye on the Senatorial nomination in the 35th district, is to be nominated for Sheriff and the others who are working so hard and sweating their money may as well give up the job now, and save shoe leather and cash. The people who wish I direct this advice may not swallow it at once, but in time will submit like the "cuckoos" in Congress. Mr. Reilly, the Congressman, is to be named as well as he has decreed that Spiese shall be the man.

Congressman Reilly was here on Saturday and was in consultation with some of his ablest lieutenants. They received their orders and his will must be obeyed. Great is James B.

The scrutiny of Democratic candidates for the Legislature in this district seems unaccountable. The handwriting on the wall must have scared them.

TWO FUNERALS.

The Remains of Charles A. Reilly and John Laubach Interred to-day.

The funeral of Charles A. Reilly, the third son of John A. and Ellen Reilly, took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the family residence on South Main street. The procession proceeded to the Annunciation church, on West Cherry street, where solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. R. F. O'Reilly, Rev. Father Brady, of Beaver Meadow, assisting as deacon, and Rev. Father Duffy, the curate of the church, as sub-deacon. The remains were taken to Pottsville in No. 3 cemetery, the attendants proceeding to that place in carriages. Many prominent people from all parts of this and adjoining counties were in attendance, among them Henry P. Laner, Major Levi Huber, ex-Clerk of the Courts Toole, Richard Collins and family, John Buckley, Mrs. Edward Fisher, John Cooney and William Kennedy, Pottsville; Prothonotary James R. Deegan, Frank Weber and M. T. Shredler, Ashland; William J. McCarthy, St. Clair; Judge Murphy and Daniel Curry and wife, Centralia; Mrs. Logue, Port Carbon; John L. Williams, Mt. Carmel; Caleb Williams, Hazleton; and Tax Receiver McLaughlin, Haven Run. The pall bearers were Messrs. M. J. Muldoon, H. J. Dowling, E. J. Foley, Thomas Rowley, F. J. Brennan and David Owens.

John Laubach, one of the victims of Saturday night's explosion at Packer No. 4 colliery, was buried to-day. The funeral took place from the residence of the deceased's parents, on West Coal street, and high mass was celebrated in the Church of the Holy Family, on North Chestnut street. Interment was made in the Annunciation cemetery. The attendance at the funeral was large.

FUN WITH AN AGENT.

He Calls to Collect and is Caged in the House and Beaten.

Noise much like a horse kicking out the side of a barn attracted the residents of West Raspberry alley to No. 224. The racket continued for some moments until a man was shot out the front door, into the yard. He was hatless, speechless, bruised and bleeding from cuts in the neck, and was torn up generally. He surveyed himself, pulled his garments together, took a good look at the door through which he had just made a hasty exit and started off for Justice Cardin's office.

He introduced himself to the genial "Squire" as William Ryan, installment agent, and a resident of Brownsville. He had been beaten by Lewis Grabloski and his stout wife Agnes, and wanted a warrant for their arrest. While Constable Bolan served the summons, Mr. Ryan told the story of his adventure.

He had called at the Grabloski's domicile to collect an account about a month ago, when the woman kept him at bay at the end of a broom until she could slam the door in his face. When the door was opened for him yesterday, Ryan stepped cautiously inside. The woman promptly fastened the door and called for her husband. They denied owing him, claimed but two weeks residence in odorous Raspberry, and when the agent insisted Grabloski grabbed Ryan catch-a-catch-an and tried to get him fall out of him on the hard plank floor. Ryan objected and backed his big antagonist up in a corner, whereupon Mrs. Grabloski lay hold a broom and did her prettiest to break it over the solicitor's head. He was kept dodging pretty lively and instead received them on the neck. The Grabloskis closed in upon him, but the wiry Ryan slipped away from and toward the door, through which his flight was aided by the boots and broom of the angry Poles.

The defendants were placed under bail for their appearance at court.

CHILD BADLY HURT.

Under a Fence With a Playmate, who Escaped Injury.

John Polisheshek and a little playmate, both aged three years, were run over in front of their home in West Raspberry alley, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Polisheshek child now lies in the Mines' Hospital, Fountain Springs, with a broken leg and internal injuries that may result in its death. The other child was not hurt.

The accident was a peculiar one. The children were playing beside a removal gate that had been taken from its usual place and set against a coal house, when a team within the yard, belonging to Thomas Van Dusen, walked off without their driver and, turning the corner of the coal house sharply, struck the protruding end of the gate and tumbled it over on the children. The youngsters screamed and tried hard to get out of danger, but the horses and the wagon passed over the gate, pinning them to the ground. Van Dusen ran out for his team in time to liberate the children. Physicians examined the boy and ordered him to the hospital. The uninjured child was taken in arms by its mother, who was so glad her boy was safe that she thrashed him severely.
