

What a Learned Professor Told the Writer and How It Was Put into Practice.

I felt very badly and ran down yesterday, probably about the same as many other people do just at this time. I was tired, weak, nervous, had no appetite, had had poor sleep for several nights, my mouth tasted badly and my head ached, I did not feel like work and so concluded to take a half holiday.

Just as I was turning into Broadway I met a friend who is a Professor in one of the New York colleges. We strolled leisurely along and I told the Professor of my trouble.

"Well," he exclaimed, "I know just what is the matter with you. Your stomach is sour and out of sorts and has virtually gone on a strike. I don't blame it a particle. See how you abuse it, by over-eating, under-eating, hasty lunches, wrong kinds of food, and all that sort of thing. It is only natural that it should rebel."

"That is all very well, Professor," I replied, "but if the stomach will not digest food what are you going to do?"

"Do!" he exclaimed, "why artificially digest the food for the stomach of course."

"Are you trying to make fun of me?" I asked.

"Not in the least. It is just as easy to digest food outside of the stomach as within it," he exclaimed.

"Now you are mystifying me," I said.

"Nonsense. It is very simple. When you take food into your mouth it begins to digest the minute the saliva touches it. This process is carried on still more in the stomach also in the intestines. Now can you not see how easy it is to mix vegetable digestive principles with the food even before you take it into the mouth, so that it is practically digested even before you touch it? That seems simple enough, does it not?"

I was bound to admit that it did.

"Well, that is just what scientists and physicians call pre-digestion or artificial digestion, and the discovery that it can be done is working a revolution upon the subject of digestion. Paskola, or pre-digested food, is simply a nourishing, starchy food, artificially digested. It gives the stomach no work whatever to do and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods; in other words, it gives the stomach a vacation. Take my advice and try it; you will certainly be surprised at the effect. Instead of feeling weak, tired, despondent, with a sinking sensation at the pit of the stomach and general lack of energy, you will find yourself strong, active, healthy and a new man."

I did not take the Professor's advice that day, thinking perhaps my little vacation would bring me around all right, but it did not. The next day I tried it though, and been brought around so completely that I determined to publish the arguments and advice of the learned Professor just as they occurred and for the benefit of others—and this is what I have done.

Paskola can be had of any reputable druggist. An interesting pamphlet descriptive of the product will be sent free on application to the Pre-digested Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamps in relation. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. H. Roach, J. P., Primory, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by Grubler Bros.

Check Books.

A large supply of bank check books of artistic design, always on hand, at the HERALD office; also justice of the peace and other legal forms.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo. W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Grubler Bros.

PULLMAN COMPANY'S PROFITS

It Has Never Paid a Dividend of Less Than 8 Per Cent.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—George M. Pullman was before the labor commissioners for nearly three hours yesterday afternoon. Vice President Wickes, who followed his superior, occupied two hours, and will appear again. In answer to queries by Chairman Wright Mr. Pullman told of the contracts for work undertaken by the company at a loss in order that the men might be kept at work. He said that on a bid for cars for the Long Island railroad he put in a bid for something between $300 and $400 a car below actual cost rather than have the men idle. Up to the time of the strike the company had lost more than $3,000,000 in pursuit of this policy.

Judge Worthington brought out the fact that the company's original capital stock of $1,000,000 in 1867 had increased to $30,000,000; that the company had paid dividends of 12 per cent. during the first two years of its organization, 9 1/2 per cent. during the next two years, and 8 per cent. annually since, and at the same time had accumulated a surplus amounting to $35,000,000. He also elicited the statement that the stock of the Pullman Lumber association was entirely in the hands of the Pullman Palace Car company.

Mr. Pullman said he remembered no formal attempt to get him to arbitrate with the men. He had declared his willingness to arbitrate.

After getting an admission that for the whole time the company had made money and paid for the year 3 per cent., or $2,800,000 in dividends, Judge Worthington said:

"Has the Pullman company during the years of its prosperity ever advanced the wages of its employees voluntarily?"

"I do not know as to that. It has always sought to pay fair wages."

"What do you see that is objectionable in submitting a difference like this to arbitration?"

"The question as to whether our shops should continue to run at a loss is a thing that could not be arbitrated. It violates the principle that a man has a right to manage his own business."

"Let me ask you, Mr. Pullman, whether you do not think a company that pays dividends of $2,800,000 could not afford to share the losses of its employees who have worked for it so long?"

"The manufacturing business is separate from the business of the sleeping car company. I see no reason why I should take the profits of the 4,300 stockholders in the Pullman sleeping car company and pay men a higher rate of wages than was paid in other parts of the country for the same work."

In response to further questions Mr. Pullman said the execution of contracts at a loss was better for the plant than to let it lie idle.

Lieutenant Welch Irresponsible.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Lieutenant Welch of Company E, Fifteenth infantry, who assaulted Colonel Crofton on Sunday, was declared to be temporarily insane last night by a board of medical examiners who were appointed by General Miles. The examiners found that Lieutenant Welch was not responsible for the assault, and recommended that he be placed in the care of a physician. Welch will be relieved from military duty at once, and placed upon the retired list. The direct cause of the lieutenant's infirmity is said to be a sunstroke received some years ago while stationed at Fort Buford.

A Murderer Attacks a Judge.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 28.—A murderer William G. French created a sensation in the circuit court yesterday. During the recess he was given the liberty to walk about the court room. French suddenly rushed at Attorney Dufur and immediately rushed at him, shrieking and swearing vengeance. Dufur was badly pummeled before the bailiffs could subdue French. Judge Parish ordered him put on bread and water. The prisoner again broke loose and jumped shrieking at the judge. He was finally carried shrieking to his cell.

SENATOR BUTLER BOLTS

He Will Not Enter the Primaries in Opposition to Governor Tillman.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 28.—A sensation has been created in the state by the announcement that Senator Butler will not abide by the result of the primary elections, which takes place today. At the elections members of the legislature will be nominated who will elect a successor to Senator Butler. In withdrawing from the primary Senator Butler leaves himself and friends free to make a contest in the general election, which takes place in November. It is a rule in the Democratic party in South Carolina that each candidate must pledge himself to support the nominees of the party, otherwise he cannot be voted for. General Butler made such a pledge, but withdrew it yesterday in a letter to the secretary of the Democratic executive committee.

It is understood that legislative candidates will be nominated in November who will support Butler. It is further said that General Butler, if defeated by Governor Tillman, will make a contest before the United States senate, contending that the registration laws of the state are illegal, and that if a full vote could have been polled Butler's legislators would have been elected.

Senator Butler, in a telegram to the Columbia Register, says: "I am following in the footsteps of distinguished reformers, who are unwilling to submit their claims to a primary where everything from cornmeal has been out, dried, packed and salted down to the ring."

There is likely to be a bitter political fight in the state in consequence of Senator Butler's action.

Stricken by Apoplexy.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—John C. Gault, the veteran retired railroad official, has been stricken by apoplexy, and was reported last evening in a dying condition at his home in this city. On Tuesday he was seized with apoplexy while on a visit to the board of trade. General paralysis followed in a few hours, and Mr. Gault's condition afterward offered little hope of recovery. His tremendous physical strength, however, warded off immediate death. There is even a chance that he may live for a considerable time, but in that event the doctors all declare that he will be an imbecile.

Whisky Trust Failed to Secure a Big Loan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—It was reported yesterday that the whisky trust would pay taxes to the amount of $5,000,000 on its goods in bond before last midnight, and the announcement created considerable excitement on the Stock Exchange. Late in the afternoon, however, it was learned that no further attempt was being made to negotiate the loan. They had raised $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 out west, but nothing here. The stock dropped on the Stock Exchange from 2 1/2 to 1 1/2 when the announcement of the failure of the loan was made.

A River Steamer Burned.

BRIDGETON, N. J., Aug. 28.—A mysterious fire burned the side wheel steamer George Law to the water's edge at the wharf here. A deck hand and fireman were asleep on the boat at the time. The boat ran between Baltimore and Philadelphia last summer and last year between Bridgeton and Philadelphia this summer.

The Broker's Fee.

There's nothing mean about a lawyer when it comes to raking in the fees. The other day a well to do Detroit attorney ran short $10 and went across the hall to a broker's office to borrow it. "Lend me $10 till tomorrow," he said, "and I'll give you my check for it." "Um—er," responded the broker doubtfully, "what is your opinion as to my ever getting the $10 again?" "My professional opinion?" inquired the attorney, entering into the spirit of the joke. "Yes."

"Well, I should say it was a safe loan and would recommend it."

"Very good. Here's the money," and the broker handed him a $10 bill.

"Now give me a check, and I'll fill it out," said the attorney, and the broker did so.

The check was duly made out and given to the broker.

"Here," he said, "this is for only $7."

"Of course," responded the attorney, with never a smile.

"But I let you have $10."

"Certainly you did, but you asked me my professional opinion, which should have been $5, but I only charge you $3, seeing you are a neighbor of mine," and the attorney walked dignifiedly out of the broker's office.—Detroit Free Press.

A Clock of Birds.

The ingenuity and close observation of the scientist who established a "clock of flowers" by planting in regular order specimens whose corollas open at specified hours have been matched by a German who has composed a "clock of birds."

This is especially a night clock. The birds and hours of their songs are as follows: The chaffinch, 1:30 to 2 a. m.; the timonster, 2 to 3:30; the quail, 3:30 to 4; the redbird, 4 to 4:30; the ouzel, 4:30 to 5; the warbler, 4 to 4:30; the marshit, 4:30 to 5; the sparrow, 5.

It is a curious incident," says The Journal des Debats, "that the most celebrated of the birds, whose song has always served to mark the hour, is missing in the list. It is not yet near day; it was the nightingale, and not the lark. * * *

It was the lark, the herald of the morn, no nightingale ('Romeo and Juliet,' act 3, scene 5)."—Boston Transcript.
