TILMAN, the Populist Governor of South Carolina, has defeated Gen. Butler at the primary elections. This will insure, almost to a certainty, the election of Tilman to the United States Senate.
The country will hardly be benefited by the change.

Several voyages across the Atlantic have again attracted attention. A few days ago the Campana, of the Onard line, broke all former records by her last trip, and since then the New York has put the achievements of the Paris in the background by beating the best time from Southampton, made by the latter, by a full hour. We shall now no doubt have some more sports by other crack racers.

COL. INGBRIGGS' essay on suicide, in which he labors with his facile pen to prove that suicide is in many cases an imperative duty, is working out its legiti-mate results. More cases of self-destruction have occurred since its appearance in New York a few weeks ago than for many months previous. In giving his views to the world, did he for a moment contemplate its widespread influence and direful effects?

A NEW ORLEANS Councilman has been arrested, caught "red-handed," as it is reported, on a charge of accepting bribes.
If he is proved guilty he should be visited with the full penalty of the law. While corruption in municipalities is believed to flourish in more than one American city it is almost impossible to establish the charges to the satisfaction of a jury.
Runners which pass current embody no evidence as a general thing, and the "boodler" retains immunity from exposure and punishment. But, while it is not easy to convict a delinquent Councilman of accepting bribes, it would not be difficult to defeat such a person for re-election if the public took the proper interest in the subject.

GOVERNOR WAITE, of Colorado, must, we think, be admitted to be the prize governor. In saying this we would not pluck a single jewel from the silver crowns of Lawelling, Penoyer or Tillman. These gentlemen can not be lightly passed over, for they are in many ways remarkable and unusual. Neither is it easy to say just why it is that Waite surpasses them. But the fact is clear. And the Colorado governor's pre-eminence is more evident today than it was yesterday. The letter which he wrote to the Populace party of his state, advising against fusion, gave him a lead over his brothers of South Carolina, Kansas and Oregon, which they cannot overcome. The contest for the booby prize may result in a tie, but Waite can not be beaten. He stands to-day as a virtual leader of the third party, the typical Populace. Perhaps it is hardly fair to hold his party responsible for his peculiar views. But he has never been repudiated, and, being as he is the most conspicuous member of the party, it is interesting to study his theory of the nature and function of the great office with which he has been clothed by the people of Colorado, in what we hope is only a fit of temporary insanity.

REPUBLICANS should not overlook the important fact that Thursday, September 6, will be the last day for the registration of voters and the assessment of taxes, and Saturday, October 6, the last day for the payment of the latter. It is of the greatest moment that no votes shall be lost to the cause of protection this fall, and that the majority for its candidates shall be so great as to forever end the possibility of any more Democratic tariff tinkering such as that which has recently inflicted unnumbered evils on the country. Therefore every Republican should see that he is registered and his taxes paid in time to vote.

THREE FARMERS KILLED

And Another Badly Scalded by a Bursting Engine.

FRENDS FALLS, Minn., Aug. 31.—The engine of Knudson & Thorsen, who were threshing in Stony Brook, Grant county, exploded yesterday. Hank Knudson, one of the proprietors, was engineer. He was badly crushed and died instantly. Knudson's father was firing, and the top of his head was blown off and his brains scattered. Tollof Anderson, aged 80 years, was feeding, seventy-five feet away, when a piece of the boiler went through his thigh, injuring him so that he died in four hours. Hans Thorsen, aged 28, one of the owners, was driving the water tank, and was about thirty feet away. He was badly scalded but may survive. Both ends of the boiler were blown out and carried a long distance. The cause of the explosion is not known, as all who were near ought to have seen the trouble were killed.

Suing for Stolen Affections.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Arthur Loring Mackaye, a son of the late Steele Mack-aye, theatrical manager and playwright, has brought an action in the superior court to recover $50,000 damages from his former friend, Paul Latzke, for the alleged alienation of the affections of his wife, Flora Louise Mackaye. Latzke was arrested and released on $2,000 bail. This is the second wife of Mackaye, who is under 30 years. His first wife was Maud Miller, the only daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras. Maud, who is a Catholic, left Mackaye soon after marriage because she learned he had not been baptized.

The Mystery of a Freight Car.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 31.—The body of a murdered man was found yesterday in a car of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railroad, sealed and containing grain consigned to Cleveland Bros., this city. The car was sealed on both sides and the seals were covered with blood.
The coroner found eight wounds in the back and side of the head, made with a blunt instrument. Letters and papers found indicate that the dead man's name was Charles A. W. Mason, of Joplin, Mo.
It is thought that the dead man was knocked on the head by a railroad employe.

A Policeman Accidentally Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—Patrol Sergeant Andrew Hamilton, of the Ninteenth district, died yesterday in the Periclin hospital from the effects of being accidentally shot in the groin by Daniel Callahan, of Carver street, Wednesday afternoon, in a barber-shop on Sixteenth street. Callahan was examining a revolver belonging to Officer Young, who was getting shaved, when the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking sergeant Hamilton, who was waiting his turn.

Charged with Embezzlement in Office.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—William W. Holdrich, 35 years old, living at 218 West Fourth street, this city, was arrested yesterday afternoon at the office of Charles A. Baldwin & Co., stock brokers, on a telegram from the chief of police of Orlando, Fla. The dispatch stated that Holdrich was wanted in that place on three indictments charging him with the embezzlement of public funds while the treasurer of Ogden in 1892. He was remanded to await extradition papers.

BEAUTIFUL SLEEP
—is an expression used for sound sleep. Nothing is so gratifying to the nerves, heart, and head, as perfect sleep—a companion of good digestion and a healthy liver. A freed digestion fails to assimilate, or take care of the food we eat. Something bracing or invigorating is needed for the liver, stomach, and intestines.

This is where you will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do the most good. They are tiny, sugar-coated pills, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, made of concentrated botanical extracts. These "Pellets" are easily dissolved in the stomach and absorbed into the blood, stimulating a flow of bile from the liver, and arousing to activity all the glandular secretions. Thus they act in nature's own way.

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded, in all Bilious Attacks, in Sick Headache, Constipation, Dizziness, and Indigestion.

When you have Catarrh, use the sure remedy—Dr. Sage's. $500 for an incurable case.

STATISTICS OF HOMES.

An Interesting Report from the Census Bureau.

THE METROPOLIS IN THE LEAD.

New York has a Larger Percentage of Citizens Owning Their Own Homes Than Any Other City in the Country—Boston Second, Philadelphia Eighth.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The census office gives to the public the principal results of the investigation of farm and home proprietorship in all the states and territories. This is the first investigation of the kind ever conducted in any country.
Of the 12,000,192 families in the whole country almost 46 per cent. own their farms and homes, and the rest rented.
Of the families owning farms and homes almost 28 per cent. have no incumbrances, and over 72 per cent. have no incumbrance.
The number of resident owners of land in the United States is 6,060,417, to which must be added any landowners who may be living in tenant families.

The farm families number 4,767,170, of which 96 per cent. own their farms and the others rent. Of the owning families over 28 per cent. have incumbrances on their farms. In 1890 25.56 per cent. of the farms were rented.

In the cities that contain over 100,000 population there are 1,048,884 home families, of which almost 32 per cent. own and 77 per cent. rent, while of the owning families 88 per cent. own subject to in-cumbance. Among the cities having 100,000 population and over New York has the highest percentage of home tenancy, namely, 93.67; Boston is next, with 81.57 per cent.; Brooklyn third, with 81.44 per cent.; Jersey City fourth, with 81.20 per cent.; and Cincinnati fifth with 80.83 per cent.
The percentage for St. Louis is 79.58; New Orleans, 78.51; Philadelphia, 77.34; Washington (D. C.), 74.80; Baltimore, 73.94; Chicago, 71.27; Denver, 70.89; San Francisco, 70.46; Minneapolis, 68.86; Cleveland, 69.99; Buffalo, 69.03; St. Paul, 59.80. The smallest percentage, 56, represents Rochester, N. Y.

Bringing the urban population into contrast with the non-urban population, almost 44 per cent., or 4,234,560 home families living outside of cities and towns of 8,000 people and over own their homes, and 56 per cent. rent. Of the owning families 77 per cent. own without incumbrance.

The value of the 1,000,890 incumbered farms and homes is $5,087,208,000, and the incumbrances aggregate $2,132,940,500, or 37.50 per cent. of the value. The 888,957 farms subject to incumbrance are worth $5,054,928,105, and the incumbrance is $1,985,999,500, or 39.55 per cent. of the value. The 809,958 homes subject to in-cumbance are valued at $2,632,374,604, and the incumbrance is $1,046,953,663, or 39.77 per cent. of the value.

The cities of 100,000 population and over have 214,613 incumbered homes, occupied by owners, worth $739,846,087, with an incumbrance amounting to $292,611,974, which is 39.55 per cent. of the value.

In the cities of 100,000 population and over the value of the 168,139 incumbered homes occupied by owners is $694,191,811, and these homes are incumbered for $259,- 029,000, or for 37.62 per cent. of their value.

In the country, outside of cities and towns of 8,000 people and over, the value of the 421,161 incumbered homes occupied by owners is $668,387,668, and the incumbrance is $261,311,706, or 39.10 per cent. of the value.

Of the incumbrance on farms and homes over 22 per cent. bears interest at rates less than 6 per cent., 34 per cent. at the rate of 6 per cent.; 48 per cent. at rates greater than 6 per cent., and 11 per cent. at rates greater than 8 per cent.

The average value of each owned and incumbered farm in the United States is $4,444; of each incumbered home, $3,209; and the average incumbrance on each of the farms is $1,224; on each incumbered home, $1,393.

In the cities having at least 100,000 population 65,553 represents the average value of each owned and incumbered home.
New York has the highest average value, $19,200; San Francisco, $7,998; Brooklyn, $7,349; Omaha, $7,159; Washington, $7,084.
The annual interest charges on each owned and incumbered home in these cities is $184, the highest amount being $48 in New York and the lowest, $83, in Louisville. Denver has the highest average rate of interest on the incumbrance on owned and incumbered homes, namely, 7.57 per cent. New Orleans is second, with 7.86 per cent. New York has the lowest rate, 4.95 per cent., and Boston stands next, with 5.14 per cent.

Over 74 per cent. of the incumbrances on owned farms was incurred in buying real estate and making improvements, and over 83 per cent. of the incumbrance was for the purpose of buying and improving real estate, investing in business, etc.
Over 81 per cent. of the incumbrance on homes was incurred to secure purchase money and to make improvements.

Congressman Shaw's Funeral.

EAT CLAIR, Wis., Aug. 31.—The remains of Congressman Shaw lay in state at the family mansion all yesterday forenoon, attended by a guard of honor of twelve Knights of Pythias in full uniform. The official delegation from Washington arrived yesterday, and were taken immediately to the Shaw residence, where they looked upon the remains. The funeral services at the house began at 2 o'clock; Rev. Dr. Dudley, of the First Congregational church, officiating. There were over 1,500 knights in the procession, besides many other organizations. The interment was at Lake View. All business was suspended during the funeral.

Recovered Her Stolen Child.

LYONS, Mass., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Leslie M.
Bent has just recovered her daughter, who was stolen from her thirteen years ago. The child was born in northern New Hampshire, and when three years old its father eloped with another woman, taking the baby. Six years afterwards the mother found the girl seriously sick at Alexandria, N. H. She went for a doctor and when she returned the child was gone. Two weeks ago the girl was located in Waltham, and with the aid of the police she has just been restored to her mother.

Kob for Congress.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 31.—When the state executive committee of the Kolites, Populists and Republicans met here on Tuesday and made out a slate of congressional nominees to be named to their district convention next week, they left the Seventh district without a candidate. It is learned that they are quietly arranging to nominate R. F. Kohl in that district, though he does not reside in it.

FANCY REVOLVERS.

COSTLY SHOOTING IRONS AND THOSE WHO BUY THEM.

They are Frequently Used For Wedding Presents, and Had Men in the West Like Them—A Montana Rancher's Weapon and Its Handle's History.

A reporter was looking into a big plate glass showcase in a downtown gun store.
The black lining in the bottom of the case was covered with revolvers and pistols of all sizes, shapes and prices—revolvers for cowboys, gun fighters, drammers, housekeepers and society women. There were steel barreled guns that looked big enough to arm a cruiser of a South American republic, and there were tiny single shot, gold mounted pistols that seemed small enough for watch charms. The prices ran from $2 to $150, and there was an assortment that placed the ownership of a revolver within reach of any one who cared to have one of these rattlesnakes about the house.

"Who buy revolvers?" asked the reporter, and what are the highest priced firearms of that class?"
"People of all degrees and kinds buy revolvers," replied the salesman, "but the largest sales of the high priced arms are made to people who want them for presents. It is a curious fact that more high priced revolvers are sold for wedding presents, though the costliest have been sold to cowboys and gun fighters in the far western states."

Here the clerk stopped and showed half a dozen single shot pistols. All were gold mounted, and the trigger of one was set with diamonds. On another was a space that had been left open for the picture of the giver, very much as pictures are placed in watch cases. It had been made to order and was marked $75, though the barrel was hardly larger than a good sized finger. On all revolvers of this class ap-ears in gold and silver, the chasing is in original designs, and really the guns look like pretty toys rather than death dealing weapons. It was noticed that none was of the bull dog pattern. The clerk explained that bull dog guns were not fashionable, because the size of the barrel did not harmonize with the handle, and it was therefore impossible to get a symmetrical form.
Besides bulldogs, however well made, are considered dangerous to the owner. They have been known to explode with disastrous results.

Fashion in revolvers seems absurd, but as revolvers of the class described are intended for ladies there is really as much reason for changing the style of revolvers as that of button boxes and table jewelry.
A fact that has been started lately is the wearing of small pistols attached to chains, along with bunches of keys and such trifles as the swell young man of the day thinks he must carry in his capacious trousers pockets. The pistol carried in this way is fastened to the chain by a spring catch, so that it can be easily detached. It may interest young men who follow this fashion to know that they are liable to be arrested and fined for carrying deadly weapons without a permit.

The highest price set upon a revolver in this country was $1,500, asked for a prize exhibit at the World's fair. Probably the costliest revolver for sale in New York would fetch $150. As in the case of an extra fine watch, the greater part of this money is invested in the finishing and decoration. Last year a leading manufacturer made a revolver to order for a cattle owner in Billings, Mont., that cost $400.
It was of the long barreled, cowboy design, but was much larger and heavier than the average gun of that class. It carried six shots, and of course was as perfect in action as it could be made by modern mechanics, the handle was made from a piece of cottonwood which possessed an interesting history to the purchaser. He brought the wood to New York when he gave the order for the revolver. He said that six years ago he was out after cattle rustlers in southern Montana. Three of them were hanged by his party, but the others got away and could not be caught after a long chase into Wyoming. The owner finally agreed to give up the hunt, and after reaching the Rosebud river in Montana they separated for their ranches, which lay within 40 miles of one another.

They had not been separated an hour before this owner was caught in one of the couples by half a dozen rustlers who had been looking for a chance to attack the party. The rustlers decided to make short work of their captive. They bound him to a log, drove him to the Rosebud river, and in less time than it takes to tell had a rope around his neck and over the limb of a cottonwood. They were about to punch the captive ahead and leave the cattle owner swinging under the shade of the tree, when the biggest rustler of them all swung his gun in the air and called a halt to the show. The show stopped, and the cattle owner was released on his promise never to give away the names of his captors or to hunt them down. He was of course willing to accept any compromise, but he did not forget the rustler who saved his life. After rustling had died out he found the man and made him foreman of his outfit in Yellowstone county, Mont. Last year he went down to the Rosebud river, cut off the limb of the cottonwood which he came so near decapitating and brought the wood to New York for the butt of the revolver.

The revolver was a marvel of fine workmanship. The mountings were of solid gold. It was chased with pictures showing scenes of the capture and rescue from the rustlers and was set with the sapphires and rubies of Montana, which are found in the beds of the Missouri river near Helena. The holster—for the revolver was much too large for the hip pocket—was of leather and was mounted with gold and silver decorations. It was arranged, after a pattern made by the cattle owner, so that the touch of a spring would throw open the top and sides and leave the revolver ready for instant use. When closed, it lay over on the side of the saddle as tight as a drum. Christmas this outfit was given by the owner to the foreman who had saved his life.

Gamblers in western mining camps are great fellows for high priced revolvers for presents, and every year the Christmas orders are large.—New York Sun.

Rebuked the Bishop.

"Bishop Neenan of Georgia once had a rebuke from a negro hack driver at Chattanooga," said E. L. Bates. "The bishop, who is an inveterate smoker, had visited Lookout mountain and was returning to the city smoking a fragrant Havana. It occurred to him to offer the driver a cigar, which that worthy refused with the remark: 'Thank you, sah. I don't smoke, sah. I'm a Christian, an amokin' is as vicked as card playin, sah.' The job was too good to keep, and the reverend doctor had to tell it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.
