Some civil business was also transacted, but not in open court. Monday's business was restricted to a routine order such as littlening to the re-ports of constabiles, etc., and was of little interest, except when Constable Taileain Phillips made his report. M. M. Burke, Esg., was present and in open court put several pointed questions to the constable into the laster's knowledge of any viola-tion of the liquor law on Sunday in the Second ward of Shenandoah. Mr. Phillips answered that he knew of no violations and when Mr. Burke asked if the con-stable did not know that on Sunday after-moon last twenty men went into Pat. King's place in a body, the constables and he had no such knowledge, as he was away on Sunday. As a result of the inquiry the court directed the District Athorney to Investi-gate the matter and that official gave constable Phillips similar Instructions. One of the most important cases taken up by the Grand Jury yesterday was the libel suit of W. W. Lewis, of Mahanoy City, against ex-Clerk of the Courts John J. Toele, Prothonotary James R. Deegan, E. ### Killed at Mid Valley.

Killed at Mid Valley. Special to the HERBARN. Mr. CAUSINE, Sept. A.-William Chernow, a coal inspector employed at the Mill Valley colliery, was killed this morning. He was standing on a train of leaded cars, inspecing the coal, when other cars were rain down the grade without notice and the jar enused by the cars coming together caused the one on which Curnow was standing to start. At the same time the unfortunate main lest his balance and fell to the track, the car passing over his body and causing instant death. Curnow was at one time P. & R. station agent at this place, and was also western freight agent for the Lahigh Valley and Penneyivania Rallroad companies. He was 35 years of age. His body was trightfully mangled, the entire train passing over it.
