Notice!

Hereafter all political advertisements, etc., MUST BE PAID FOR IN ADVANCE. This is imperative, as the management has experienced long enough and finds that collections for this kind of work are more easily made at the time the contracts are made than at any other time.

The Democrat who says that there is no significance in the Maine election results talks through his hat.

When last heard from the Chinese and Japanese armies in Korea were on opposite sides of an impassable river and glaring at each other with their accustomed ferocity.

There has been a report in Panama that Americans have gone into the syndicate which proposes to finish the canal, and rejoicing accordingly. There were Americans interested in the project originally, but some of them did not find much in it to rejoice over.

The Canadian sealers seized by American ships in Bering sea were quick to accept the reported offer of $25,000 by Uncle Sam to settle their claims, but unfortunately for them, there has been no such offer and no such sum appropriated by Congress for that purpose.

While most of the rest of the country has been burning up with drought, Texas has received too abundant water supplies from above and below, the earthquake joining its tribute with that of the thundercloud, and deluging a large section of the country. The event is without precedent.

It is only just to Mr. Cleveland to say that he accepts the logic of events in Hawaii somewhat less awkwardly than he did the humiliation put upon him by his party leaders in the Senate. It is too early as yet to determine whether this is "consecration" or the saving common-sense of a man who knows when he is beaten.

ITS OWN ENEMY.

The Democratic party has been tried and found wanting, and the American people are not to be deceived by partisan premonitions of unexampled prosperity as the result of the policy of "party perfidy and party dishonor." Everybody will rejoice if the feeling of temporary relief experienced by the business classes over the cessation of tariff uncertainty be followed by permanent improvement of business; but the people now know that Republican times were prosperous times because the party was competent to govern the country and to adhere to broad, patriotic policies; and that Democracy is responsible for the last two years of commercial depression and stagnation. The Democratic Congressional Committee has accepted a large contract in undertaking to return a Democratic majority to the next Congress. It is not putting it too strongly to say that it has essayed the impossible. A serious break in Louisiana is now considered certain, but the committee has a good deal besides to disquiet it. There are disturbing reports from Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and other states, calculated to fill the breasts of zealous Democrats with alarm. Some of them have felt that their majority in the present House was too large, and have predicted that, instead of eighty, it would really be better to have a majority of, say, twenty-five or thirty. But calculations in that direction now seem to have been widely astray. Democratic disaffection is increasing, and Republican prospects of controlling the LIVth Congress are daily growing in brightness.

DISLIKED THE MINISTER'S STYLE

A Reverend Gentleman Tarr'd and Feathered by a Masked Mob.
HILLSDALE, Mich., Sept. 13.—Rev. Charles Clancy, of Frontier, was tarr'd and feathered last night and rolled down a steep hill by about forty masked men, some of them husbands, who did not like the minister's style.
A few years ago, on account of his troubles, Clancy started a church of his own in a little log building, taking five or six families with him. Mr. Clancy was returning from the church alone. When about a mile from home he was stopped, pulled from the buggy, stripped of his clothes and tarr'd and feathered. He was dragged a long distance before he was rolled down hill. All the time he was shouting "Praise the Lord" and "Glory to God," and it is said his cries were heard a mile distant. He has made no complaint to the authorities as yet.

Legislators Create Disorderly Scenes.

EDINBURGH, Queensland, Sept. 13.—The bill empowering the government to stop outages connected with the strike of the sheep shearers has been the cause of several disorderly scenes in the legislative assembly. In the course of the discussion of the measure several members in the house were so disorderly that they were suspended for a week. Yesterday when the debate was resumed there was a renewal of the turbulent scenes. Finally all the labor members and the entire opposition withdrew from the house amid the cheers of the visitors in the gallery. This ebullition met with a prompt damper from the speaker, who ordered that the gallery be cleared. The bill was then passed.

Fifty-eight Brazilians Executed.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A dispatch to a news column from Montevideo asserts that fifty-eight Brazilians were executed by order of President Peixoto on April 25 last. The condemned men had had no trial. Among the number were military and naval officers, whose names are given in the dispatch, commencing with that of Marshal Almeida da Gama. In addition to these a number of persons were shot at Curitiba. It is also reported that many prisoners were killed by being thrown from precipices along the Paranaguá railway, among them being Senior Luiz Thiers, a federal deputy, who was a distinguished writer.

A Systematic Band of Robbers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The police in the capture of the "Mother" Martin and "Tape" Hogan gang of thieves, whose fence on West Fifteenth street was raided recently, have unearthed one of the most thoroughly organized bands of robbers that ever infested the city. The gang, the police claim, was as thoroughly organized as a police force, covering the entire city by districts and working in night and day "shifts." A part of the force it is claimed consisted of boys, and several of the youngsters are under arrest.

The Doncaster Races.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—At Doncaster the race for the St. Leger stakes, of twenty-five sovereigns each, for three-year-olds, colts carrying nine stone, fillies eight stone eleven pounds, was won by Thistle, bay filly, bred at the stud of the late Lord Alington, Ladbroke, by colt by Hampton, out of Hinnitball, owned by Lord Roseton, was second, and Matchlock, bay colt, by St. Simon, out of Match Girl, owned by Sir F. Johnstone, was third.

The Car's Illness.

VIENNA, Sept. 13.—News received from St. Petersburg indicates that the czar's illness is cerebral, complicated with an ailment of the kidneys. Prayers for his recovery have been ordered twice at the court. When the czar went to Bellevue he made the journey on a bed. It is added that his subject's tail, which from time to time is shaking, is a mental depression. His usual severity has left him, and he is taciturn with associates of his family.

Charged with a Political Murder.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 13.—S. R. Vinson, United States marshal for West Virginia, and Dr. Charles Yeaman, south and Peters were yesterday arrested, the former charged with the murder of James Frizzle at a political meeting last week, and the others accomplices. All waived examination and were held over.

YOUR MONEY IS RETURNED

if you receive no benefit from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This fair and business-like offer is held out to all women who suffer from the disease and derangements peculiar to their sex. To weakly womanhood no prize could be more secure, nor the benefit more lasting, than that to be derived from the purchase of a bottle of this famous "Prescription." Its success in curing all the functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of women, warrants its makers in guaranteeing it. What this medicine has done for thousands of delicate women, it will do for you. At the two critical periods in woman's life, the change from girlhood to womanhood, and, later, the "change of life," it is an invaluable tonic and a soothing balm, which can produce only good results. It cures cases of nervous prostration, insomnia, or inability to sleep, and many nervous disorders due to derangement of the functions.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Louisville Selected as the Next Place of Meeting.

THE CONTEST FOR COMMANDER.

The Political Situation Is Very Much Mixed and a Vigorous Campaign for Votes Is Going on—in a Healthy Financial Condition.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—The national Grand Army encampment opened in the new Grand Opera house. The commander-in-chief and delegates were welcomed by Governor Pattison on behalf of the state of Pennsylvania, and by Mayor McKenna, of Pittsburgh, and Mayor Kennedy, of Allegheny, on behalf of their respective cities.

Commander Adams opened his address by congratulating Pittsburgh in its loyalty now, as well as during the days of the war, citing its liberality in caring for the soldiers from the west on their way to the front, as Philadelphia had done for those from the eastern states.

One year ago there were in good standing 397,293. There have been gained during the year 16,752 by muster in; by transfer, 6,884; by reinstatement, 14,096; reinstatement from delinquent reports, 2,510. Total gain, 39,242; aggregate, 436,535. There have been lost by death, 7,883; by honorable discharge, 1,726; by transfer, 7,382; by suspension, 84,905; by dishonorable discharge, 184; by delinquent report, 16,671. Total lost, 67,801. Number remaining in good standing, June 30, 1894, 369,083.

To which he added: "These figures show that the Grand Army of the Republic has reached the beginning of the end, and each succeeding year will show a decrease in our membership. The long continued depression in business has caused many suspensions, and these we hope to regain when prosperity returns, but it will be impossible for us to recruit our ranks as fast as our comrades are mustered out by death."

General Louis N. Wagner, quartermaster general of the army, reported that there was more money in the treasury than last year, while the bills are all paid. Over $300,000 had been expended during the year for relief.

The staff of Captain Jack Adams, the retiring commander-in-chief, presented him with a badge studded with diamonds, combining the past commander's insignia, the corps badge and the Grand Army star. Mrs. Adams was also honored by being elected honorary member of the staff—the second woman to receive such a compliment, the wife of General Alger being the first. Mrs. Adams was given a beautiful diamond souvenir.

The citizens of Pittsburgh gave Commander Adams a gavel made of wood from Fort Sumter, Appomattox, Gettysburg and Libby prison.

The political situation of the G. A. R. is very much mixed. The friends of each of the candidates for commander-in-chief claim to have enough votes pledged to elect their man, and have regularly organized campaign committees working hard for votes. No point is left uncovered. As there are but two candidates, the campaign is all the more vigorous. By custom, the state in which the encampment is held is given the national senior vice commander-in-chief. A. P. Burchfield, of Allegheny City, will have no opposition for the position.

INSANE ASYLUMS.

CAN THE UNFORTUNATE HAVE BETTER CARE THAN AT HOME?

Interesting Article on the Advantages of Hospitals For Those Who Lose Their Minds—Trouble From Trying to Get Along With Lunatics at Home.

The following masterly and interesting article, written by Dr. Joseph J. O'Connell, examiner of the insane for the department of charities and correction, upon "Asylums as the Proper Place for the Treatment of Alienation of the Mind," was published in the New York Medical Journal. Dr. O'Connell is one of Brooklyn's rising physicians.

Practitioners are often called upon to treat patients with diseased minds and are then confronted with this problem: Is asylum treatment more beneficial, or can they be treated and receive equally good care at home? I take the liberty of answering this question from my experience as examiner of the insane for the department of charities and correction in Kings county, in which capacity I have examined some 4,000 or 5,000 persons to asylums in New York and vicinity.

The institutions in this state, both private and public, are under the jurisdiction of the state commission in lunacy, and the first important step in the advancement of the treatment of the insane dates from the time when commissioners were appointed to supervise the management of these institutions. A few years ago any person, whether physician or layman, citizen or foreigner, could establish a retreat for the insane and employ whatever treatment he pleased with the unfortunate who came under his charge, and it was not always so much a question as to how long could the patient be retained under the plea of insanity—while the revenue came in.

The amount of room allowed to each inmate or the number over which each attendant should have charge was never considered. If patients were not overcrowded, it was due quite as much to the lack of demand for the extra space which they temporarily enjoyed as to the good judgment of the person in charge. With but few exceptions the state and county institutions were no better governed. The superintendents and subordinates were not selected on account of their fitness for the positions, but were appointed through political influence. I am pleased to say that at the present day the public and private asylums in New York state are equal to if not better than any others in the world.

The state commission does not grant permission to any individual to conduct a private asylum unless it is in charge of a physician who has had considerable experience in the treatment of the insane and who is well qualified to manage such an institution. These asylums are licensed for a limited number of persons in order that each may receive proper attention and have proper accommodations. The food must be of the best quality, and sanitary requirements are very exacting. Asylums are in the treatment of the insane what hospitals are to the sick—in fact, they are a combination of hospital and home.

The insane are very cunning. They often know that their ideas differ from those of the persons with whom they converse; that they are alone in their belief, and for that reason, when questioned by physicians or others, will not answer according to their belief, but in accordance with the ideas of the questioner. At home the family feeling toward them is well known to them; they will refuse to do as those in attendance may request and will impose upon the good nature of their relatives. If the physician recommends certain work for them to occupy their time and to divert their minds from the subject of their malady, or if walks at certain hours of the day are advised, they feel that their movements are closely watched, and it is useless to try to convince them to the contrary. If these simple recommendations cannot be carried out at home, how can any systematic treatment be given without the use of force? And the continued use of force with the insane so affects the nervous system as to render ultimate recovery a doubtful question. The principle rule to be followed is that the insane must be led and not driven.

The estimate entertained of the insane by the public renders it an enemy to asylums. They are supposed to be a wild set confined in a building like wild animals, who are restrained at night by chains or by some other means; that the mild and the violent are placed together and that the latter are always ready to pounce upon others when they approach them.

It should be considered that the insane are classified; that on entering an asylum they are placed in a receiving ward for several days in order that their form of insanity may be studied by the physician in charge. They are then transferred to wards set aside for the treatment of their special mental disorder, and as they improve they are gradually advanced to the various lines of asylums entertained by the public, as I have stated, prevents the incarceration of many of the so-called cranks who are allowed to roam at large. Their relatives think they are not fit subjects for asylums because they offer no violence to the family and do not break furniture or tear clothes, but only go about ventilating their hobbies whenever they can find a listener. Many have come from this class of people during the past few years than from any other class of lunatics. The attacks upon a banker in New York and upon the late mayor of Chicago are still fresh in the minds of the public.

In both cases the progress of the disease was slow, but so well marked that the peculiar actions and ideas of the individuals were known to the relatives and friends months prior to the commission of their crimes.
