IS DEATH TO BABIES

When Food Fails to Give Strength in September.

Children Must Now Eat Well and Digest Well in Order to Live.

Lactated Food Will Not Disagree With

Any Child-Should be Used.

Don't take chances with the baby. These summer disorders, diarrhea and cholera infantum, come with a sudden-ness and progress from bad to worse with a rapidity that throws unprepared mothers into helpless confusion.

Every experienced norse knows that it is of the utmost importance to keep at hand lactated food as a substitute for baby's food, even when the child is fed at the breast. Often the heat so weakens the infant stomach or the natural milk falls, so that a partially digested food, such as lactated food, must be employed, that will burden the weakened stomach less and yet keep up the buby's strength. The irritated condition of the bowels is what leads to fatal diarrhea when mothers persist in clinging to the same old diet despite the warnings that baby is not only not thriving, but in great danger of cholera lufantum and diarrhea that carries off so many infants.

It is far easier to prevent these summer disorders by using pure, highly nourishing instated food.

When babies throw up their milk or when they are not keeping up their strength, especially during hot weather, it is plain there is trouble with the food. Either the food, if it is mother's milk, is poor in quality from long nursing or from the effects of the summer heat on the mother, or if the child is weared the infant stomach, weakened as it is by the high temperature, is irritated and cannot digest and assimilate sufficient food to keep baby strong and healthy. Physicians when called in such cases put the child on a diet of lactated food. Being a partially digested food, as physicians call it, lactated food is more easily converted into vigorous blood than any other food upon which a child can be fed. It is in fact the nearest possible substitute for healthy mother's milk. Its parts are well nigh identical with baby's earliest and best food, healthful breast milk. Babies that seem to mothers to take "hardly enough nourishment to keep them alive" eat heartily when fed on lactated food, because that great object of a successful infant food has been thoughtfully attained it pleases the infant taste and induces the child to eat heartily.

Bables are safely and readily weaned during the summer months on this splendid nutritive. And for the same reason that lactated food is by far the best diet for young children, so it is peculiarly fitted to the needs of nursing mothers to well as invalide who have slight energy to extract strength and mutrition from ordinary coarse, hearty food.

Lactated food is used in all the large omes for children throughout the United States and Canada, and in families posensing every means for securing the best for their children; and yet it is easily within the reach of the most modest house hold in the land.

Regarding His Political Position.
New York, Sept. 15.—Channier M. Depew returned home yesterday on the swift American Have New York. He looked the deture of health. Mr. Depew was taken off on the New York Central's fag "Channesy M. Depew." A few minutes later the revenue cutter Hudson, with the matom officers and a number of newspaper men, ran alongside the tug, and the party bourded her. Mr. Depew was at mee asked regarding his political position. He laughed and said:
"I am not in a situation to talk politics."

"I am not in a situation to talk politics I have been so long away that I know little or nothing of the political situation here. There are no daily papers published in Hamburg, where I spent much of my time, and I only got a glimpse of home life politically through the Paris ellition of a New York newspaper, when I was in that city."

"You are frequently spoken of as the "I am not in a situation to talk politics

"You are frequently spoken of as the probable Republican candidate," he was told.

Then I must say once and for all that I will not be the candidate. I could not accept the nomination. Before I went to England for my summer vacation representatives of each faction of my party came to me and assured me that if I would then consent to accept the nomination. would then consent to accept the nomination for governor I could have it, but there were conditions imposed. I would have had to give up my trip abroad and enter at once upon my canvass. I refused to do so. Then I declined the honor. I have not changed my mind since."

Mr. Depew added: "In England the tariff was the one absorbing topic before the Wilson bill became a law. Since the tariff question was settled there has been a wonderful revival of business both in England and on the continent. The situ-ation is not materially different from what it was under the much abused Mc-Kinley bill, but the world believes there will be little change for many years. The consuls told me, and I saw everywhere signs of industry and prosperity, espe-cially in Germany and England which has not existed for years.

THE DEBS CASE ADJOURNED

The Defense Decides to State Their Case on the Evidence Before the Court. CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Much to the sur prise of everyone the defense amounced yesterday afternoon when the last wit-ness for the presecution had been heard that they would stars their case on the evidence before the court. Mr. McGregor said the defense had some witnesses that could modify the testimony, but that the cardinal points would probably not be af-fected. He said that he and his associates would therefore refrain from putting witnesses in rebuttal on the stand, and would be ready after a reasonable time for the preparation of alastracts.

This was apparently a great surprise to Mr. Walker and his associates who repre-sent the prosecution. However, after some preliminary stipulation as to the preparation of papers, Judge Woods ad-journed court until Tuesday, Sept. 25, when the arguments will be heard. Twenty days after that the defense will present its briefs and the whole matter will go to the court.

Counsel for the defense express themselves as confident that the government has not made its case on the testioniny produced, and are confident of being able in the end to free Mr. Debs and the other officers and directors of he American Railway union from the contempt charges On the other hand, counsel for the protion are quite as confident of success. It is thought the case may run well into November before it is finally ended.

DEBS TALKS TO THE FIREMEN

The President of the A. R. U. Beceives an Immense Ovation at Harrisburg. HARRISDURG, Sept. 15.—One of the largest and most intelligent audiences that has ever gathered in the opera house assembled there last night to hear Eugene V. Deba discuss for two hours the cause of the great sympathy strike.

Debs said he was opposed to strikes, but that they are the only weapons which labor has to defend itself against the encroachments of capital. He claimed that the Pullman employes were unjustly treated by the company, and that he ad mired them for striking.

Debs contended that the sympathy strike was forced by the General Man-agers' association offering to make the fight for the Pullman company. He said he had no more to do with ordering the strike than if he had not been in the country. It was ordered by the unani-mous action of 350 delegates to the American union convention after all subordi-nate lodges had been consulted.

He said the strike was won five days after it was inaugurated, and then the injunctions were issued against the leaders and they were enjoined from directing their forces.

He advocated unification of all branches of labor, and claimed that class brother hoods had never won successful strikes themselves. He claimed that Attorney themselves. He claimed that Attorney General Olney was a corporation lawyer, and ought to be impeached for his recent decision on interatate commerce law.

Debs said that both political parties ought to be wiped out of ex-stence, am advocated the election of fee-ral judgmand United States senators by the direct vote of the people.

Many of the best people of the city called and extended sympathy.
