THE SODA FOUNTAIN.

THERE IS DANGER IN SOME OF THE TIPPLES IT FURNISHES.

one Result of the Fad of Nervousies -- Extravagant Habits Are Festered-A Liquid Drug Fountain - & Tr. penser of "Tiele Mp Up" Decoctions Expresses Himself.

'Nervousness seems to be a fad just said the man behind the soda water Half the trade is from persons who think they need something to pick them up. First it's phosphate, then bromide some form and then something stronor. I don't know where the craze will end. The soda fountain has become a bar or mixed drinks and a prescription counor where every customer is his own doc-or. I guess the next improvement will is a rickel-in-the slot attachment for pullng teeth while you walt.
"You needn't quote me as saying so."

the loquacious mixologist went on, "but it's a fact that must be apparent to every ne that the soda water fountain is rapid ly becoming a menace and a nulsance. It's a good cheap affair for a young spoon to march his best girl up to on a hot sum-mer night; it's less expensive than the ice cream table, and therefore it is an economical device, but it gets men, women and children into the habit of drinking all sorts of villainous decections about the effect of which they know nothing and which they don't need at all.

"I don't mind serving for cream soda to a bevy of pretty girls, for that is a harmless sort of beverage, and the girls are generally kittenish enough to give the service a certain amount of interest, but when your hypochondrise comes in—the fellow who is biessed with perfect health, who doesn't know that he's got a stomach except when he's hungry, who knows about liver only as something that goes with ba-con and about kidneys only as viands nicest when they're brotled—when such a man comes in and studies out something he has not yet tried, why, then I want to go back to Iowa.

With that awful thought in his mind the egg shaker gave the marble counter a swipe with a towel and sont drops of Wankesha water flying all over the chewing gum.

The worst feature of the business, though," he said, returning to the attack is the medicinal end of it. Men want brone this and brome that, and some ask for quinine and others blearbenate of for quinite and others incorporate of soda; some get whisky, and I have a regu-lar cod liver oil patron. Another man wants pepsin in his, and peppermint is common enough. Plenty of them come to the soda water clerk as if he were a doctor and ask for something for ills, real or imaginary, of which they may or may not be seized or possessed, as I have heard a lawyer friend of mine say.

You wouldn't believe it," the drug store toddy tosser continued after fixing a raspberry phosphate, "but men, and work en, too, come here and ask for poisons One chloroform drunkard drops in regu larly to try to persuade me to give him a drink, and a woman who lives near here comes frequently after landanum in hers. One chap staggered me by asking for some gromo hyneene, a drag I never and I kept a drug store in Des Moines till I got caught at it.

'I looked up brome hyacene, and found that one hundredth of a grain is enough to put a man so sound asleep that a check-erboard suit wouldn't waken him. He didn't get his medicine. Guess he wanted to shuite off."

The dispensing chemist sided up to the other end of the bar, served a lemonade glassful of the curate of magnesia and wabbed the counter on his way back to he cracker bowl, for this soda water bar and a free lunch—"waters" or "bisoults," ad of dirty crankers and much finger

That's the worst feature of the trade. he began again, "the prescribing for self feature. I used to think when patent medcines were my chief stock in trade that the dear people were desing themselves the dear people were dusing themselves into early graves, incling themselves brainless as chimpaneres, meager as lix-ards; but I think now that the crowning giary of American foolishness is the so called sola water fountain. Young peo-ple get into bad and extravagant habits patronizing the soft drink bars, and older people—business men who ought to have otter sense—come tumbling in here for a brace up on drags half a dozen times a day when all they need is as much exercise as is contained in a walk around the block.

"The soda fountain, or liquid drug fountain, is the first cousin to the effice lounge," said the ex-lowan as by policies ed a glass after swallowing a lemon piece ed a glass after swallowing a lemon pos-phate. "There are more branges in offices nowadays than ever before. The profes-alonal man becomes tired, ideepes swilm, and his head aches. He has down for a few minutes and thinks he is all right again and resumes work worse off than perfore rest, for he has to make a greater effort to pick up the thread where he dropped it. If he doesn't he down, he runs out to the sain fountain, gulps anyhing he happens to think of and goes such refreshed after the faith cure idea of refreshment. That is, he thinks he is re-freshed when he im't. That's why I say the lounge and the fountain are related. Take a little semething before you go! "No! Oh, this won't hart you, it's only wild cherry, with a little phosphate to it, and there let's enough pressic acid in the cherry to hart anybody.

"Grawing? Yes, it's growing. In fact, it's the pot notice of all the dawn town drug stores. Her drinks in winter and lerd drinks in summer! Buy a big foun-tain, throw away the key of the front door. knep open day and night, out price on regular trade, and your fortune is made. Sell eigarettes and nerve tonics, and you can keep tramp armies supplied with cranks. Keeping a soda water fountain is about on a level with running a hotel in resort for consumptives. '- Chicago

The vessels that remain stranded are the St. Julian, Mistral, Floride, El Pourtant, All Haba, pilot boat No. 2, Jasmin and Capelan. The Capelan, the last vessel that went ashore, had a crew of twenty men. It was reported that all on board of her were drowned, but it turns out that they were saved by other vessels. The gale sprang up from the northeas at 10 o'clock Tuesday night with sudden violence. It was soon blowing with hurri-cane force, and so continued until daybreak Wednesday. Fog horns from the distressed vessels continued blowing throughout the night. Courageous efforts to render assistance were made by the crews on board the tugboats Progress and

Emilie, but little ald could be given.
Some idea of the force of the gale may be formed when it is stated that ever vessel that went ashere dragged from her anchorage with three anchors out. The extent of the less and the severity of the storm was never equalled in St. Pierre

The officials of the Hussian embassy have no doubt that the coar has the less. chance obtainable in Professor Leydon's hands, because he is to place himself un reservedly under the orders of the German physician and has, as a preliminary, dis-missed Professor-Zacharin.

The reason for the coar's incessant worry ing was first about the plainty approaching death of his son George, and secondly, the conduct of the exarewitz, who stabbornly refuses to marry Princess Alix. The reason assigned for this refusal is the great love of the crarawitz for his mistress, a most beautiful Jewess, who seems to have so great a hold upon him that for the sake o bespling her he has offered to renounce hit eight of succession to the throne.
