Republican State Ticket.

- For Governor, GENL. DANIEL B. HASTINGS, Centre county. For Lieutenant-Governor, WALTER LYON, Allegheny county. For Auditor-General, AMOS H. MYLIS, Lancaster county. For Secretary Internal Affairs, JAMES W. LATTA, Philadelphia county. For Congressmen-at-Large, GALUSHA A. GLOW, Susquehanna county, GEORGE F. HUFF, Westmoreland county.

County Ticket.

- For Congress, CHARLES S. BRUMM, Of Minersville. For Senator, 30th District, JOHN J. COYLE, Of Mitanoy City. For Representative, 1st District, JOSEPH WYATT, Of Shenandoah. For Sheriff, ALEXANDER SCOTT, Of Frickville. For Director of the Poor, NERI DETRICK, Of Wayne Township. For Jury Commissioner, THOMAS J. RICHARDS, Of Belly Township.

The men employed at the Lehigh Valley shops at Weatherly who have suffered a reduction of twenty per cent. in wages will go to the polls on Tuesday and cut down the Democratic vote twenty per cent.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S first speech on the tariff was a short one, but in clearness it cannot be excelled. He said he did not pretend to know much about the tariff, but he knew enough to know "that when an American paid an English manufacturer $20 for steel that the American had the steel and the Englishman had the $20, but when he paid that $20 to an American, America had both the steel and the $20."

It is highly essential that every Republican shall vote next Tuesday and every one of them should cast his ballot for Hon. John J. Coyle, who is the working-man's representative and should receive their votes. Mr. Coyle's fidelity to the interests of labor during his term in the Legislature should not be forgotten. His record is that of a man who is unflinchingly when the interests of constituents demand action and the mine employes of this district cannot vote against him without prejudicing their own interests. By standing by Coyle they stand by themselves and if they do not look after their own interests they cannot consistently complain of oppression.

Ask any publisher with whom you may happen to be acquainted how his business has been progressing lately, and if he wishes to be frank with you he will tell you that it has never been so bad as during the past eighteen months. It is true there is some improvement at the present time, but early in 1893, just about the time that the Democratic Administration assumed control of our national affairs, the publishers' business began to decline. It fell into a rapid decline, becoming a first-class consumptive, consuming in fact much of the profits that had been gathered together and laid aside during the previous years when prosperity existed under Protection. During the early months of 1894 there was no sign of improvement and publishers found that idle people and a general business stagnation do not create a demand for the books and works that they issue. Though, as a general thing, publishers have always been Free-Traders, many of them are now beginning to feel that there is some distinct connection between themselves and the policy of Protection, the connecting link being prosperity.

A WEAK HEART.

What a Fearfully Dangerous Thing It Is!

And Yet How Few People Heed Its Terrible Warnings.

What Does That Palpitation and Shortness of Breath Mean to You?

Persons with weak heart get out of breath easily and have palpitation on the least exertion. As it gets worse they have dizziness, swimming of the eyes, night, headache, faint, sinking feelings attended by strange sensations. There is generally more or less nervousness and sleeplessness.

It is fearfully common, and neglect is fatal. You can get well by taking the right medicine now. Mrs. Mary L. Robie, of Morrisville, Vt., states: "For many years I have had heart disease. My family on both sides have been p. adjoined to it. I had terrible prickling sensations and numbness in my hands. I suffered terribly, and was greatly worried. I would be taken with bad spells and gasp for breath. It seemed as though I should die. "Doctors did me no good, neither did medicines. At last I began using that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Well, I wish I could tell you the marvelous effects it had on me. I tell you it was simply wonderful."

"It helped me immediately, and I continued to steadily improve under its powerful influence. I am now seventy-seven years old, and owe my good health entirely to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. "My grandfather died at 105 years of age; my father at 93. If they could only have had this medicine they might have reached a ripe old age. I cannot speak highly enough of it."

If you have weak heart, weak nerves or bad blood, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It cures Dr. Greene, its discoverer, is our most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter, at his office, 35 West 14th street, New York City.

A BRAVE MAN LYNCHED

Refused to Betray His Friend Even to Save His Own Life.

PRINCETON, Ky., Nov. 1.—News has reached here of the lynching of Eddy Martin in Crittenden county by a mob variously estimated at from fifty to a hundred men. The scene of the lynching is in a remote part of the country and the details of the crime are hard to get.

The best obtainable information is that Martin was called upon at his home after midnight and asked to get up and help put out a fire that was raging in the neighborhood. On opening the door he was seized by a dozen or more men, who asked for information of Bill Goode, the lawless pauper commissioner of Crittenden county. He was also asked about the latter's crimes. The mob told him they had come to hang him, but if he would turn state's evidence upon Bill Goode he would be spared.

"If these are the only terms, gentlemen," said he, "let the hanging proceed. Bill Goode has been my friend, and I will shield him."

The mob quickly did its work and left the body swinging from a limb upon a lone country road.

The lynching is the result of the lawless acts of the Goode-Richman in Crittenden county. Goode, the leader, has been visited three times by a mob, but escaped each time.

Kerry Blech was hanged about two weeks ago, and the mob made a raid again last week, but failed to find their man.

A VICTIM OF HAZERS.

Student in a Maryland College May Die from His Injuries.

HEATVILLE, Md., Nov. 2.—Hazing by students at the Maryland Agricultural college is liable to result in the death of one of their number. Edwin Gotz, Jr., son of the secretary of state, several nights ago was convicted of a heinous crime. A rope was secured, fastened under his arm and he was suspended to a tree. Young Gotz appeared at breakfast next morning as though nothing had happened, but later in the day was taken very sick. He has had several spasms and continues to grow weaker. He has been too ill to be removed to his home at Annapolis, and his condition is extremely dangerous.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Charles Sweney, the ex-baseball player, who years ago made a phenomenal record as pitcher in the Providence club, and who afterwards played as a star in the St. Louis and Cincinnati teams, was convicted of manslaughter yesterday and will be sentenced to a term in the state penitentiary. Several months ago Sweney shot and killed "Con" Mammis during a drunken row in a saloon.

William Accepts Another Resignation.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The semi-official Cologne Gazette, which was the first paper to announce the resignations of Count Von Caprivi and Count Zu Eulenburg, now states that Herr Heinrich Von Heyden-Cadow, Prussian minister of agriculture, domains and forests, has tendered his resignation to the emperor, and that his majesty has accepted it. The paper adds that Herr Von Heyden-Cadow will receive another appointment.

THE DEAD RULER.

All Europe Mourns the Loss of the Russian Monarch.

PASSED AWAY PEACEFULLY

Peasants to Mourn with a Deep and Abiding Sorrow.

THE EMPEROR'S DOMESTIC PURITY.

Though Stern and Unrelenting in His Treatment of Political Prisoners He Was Most Gentle and Lovable in His Family Relations, and Was an Especial Favorite with the Children—A Giant in Stature and Strength and Always a Hard Worker—Great Indignation Against Dr. Zacharin.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—The angel of death, in the shadow of whose pinions the ancestor of all the Russians has been lying for many days, yesterday beckoned, and the soul of the man who had had in his hands the lives and destinies of millions upon millions of men, was borne away. Calmly and peacefully as a sleeping babe, he who by his slightest word could have plunged Europe into a war, the horrors of which would defy description, fell into the dreamless sleep which he feared not. He, the head of a church whose members number over 70,000,000 persons, took his last rites a few hours before death claimed him from all his greatness.

At 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon the summons came, and a few hours later the thunderous booming of cannon at Livadia and St. Petersburg announced that the czar was dead, and that he who had been the Grand Duke Nicholas reigned in his stead.

CELEBRITY WHEN A BRIDE. His stand. On lightning wings the news of Russia's loss spread throughout the world, and it is safe to say that everywhere the intelligence created sympathy for the family of him who by his policy had maintained the peace of Europe.

From America came words of sympathy, for the dead ruler had always been a friend of the great republic of the west, and Americans have not forgotten how well his father's friendship sustained the north in the war of the rebellion.

Among the peasants of Russia he will be mourned with a deep and abiding sorrow, for was he not the "peasant czar"? None of the grandiloquent titles borne by him was thought as much of as the one bestowed upon him by his lowly subjects, whose virtues were magnified in him, and whose vices in him were entirely lacking. He who denies the popularity of the czar among the lowly classes of Russia is blinded by prejudice. His kind acts to them in their seasons of plague and famine will never be forgotten, and today in thousands upon thousands of homes, from Whitestock in the Pacific, to the fortresses of the Caucasus, millions of people are praying from the bottom of their hearts for the repose of the soul of their "Little Father," who was to them as great in soul as he was in stature.

And there will be sincere mourning, too, in the royal and imperial families of Europe. Not the conventional mourning prescribed by rule, but the mourning of little children. For who has not heard of the annual visits of the czar to Copenhagen, the home of his beloved carina, whom, with the children of emperors, kings and princes around him he was the biggest child of them all, joining in all their sports and romping with them like a big boy.

His death will be a most bitter loss to the wife he loved so well that it was a proverb in St. Petersburg that he was "the only Russian who was true to his wife." His home life was an ideal one, and all his pleasure was found with his own family.

But as the czar and not the man he could be stern and unrelenting as fate itself. He has punished men and women to Siberia, but they were men and women who sought to kill him or to overturn the government of which he was the absolute head, and which he, by the most solemn oaths in the mother city of Russia—Moscow—had sworn to maintain in its integrity.

Since Tuesday, when the doctors informed the czar that there was no longer room for hope, his majesty calmly waited for the end, attending to necessary state and family affairs in the short intervals of consciousness and freedom from pain. These were necessarily brief, the doctors having had recourse to sedatives to procure sleep and allay pain. On Wednesday the czar was still able to be taken to a window of the palace, whence he gazed out upon the country he loved so well as to earn for himself the appellation of the "peasant czar." The night passed with an aggravation of all the symptoms and a continuous distressing cough. The doctors and the czar remained in attendance upon him throughout the night, only snatching brief intervals for sleep in the ante-room.

The morning broke with rain and wind and heavy clouds and the weather much colder. As the day advanced the weakness increased so rapidly that the czar himself, unconscious, recognized that he could live only a few hours. He expressed a desire to receive the sacrament, which was administered to him by Court Chaplain Vanisheff and Father Ivan, in the presence of the whole family.

The czar then conversed long and earnestly with Father Ivan, concluding by asking his family to gather round him. He spoke to each member separately and at the greatest length with the czarina. He blessed all his children present. The scene was one of deep pathos, all being in tears.

tears. All this time his majesty was sitting up in an arm chair. After taking leave of his family he gradually grew weaker, and his voice became so indistinct that it was scarcely audible.

About noon a convulsive fit of coughing was followed by a slight rally. Thence until the end the czar remained quiet, seemingly free from pain. At 2:15 o'clock he heaved a deep sigh and breathed his last in the arms of the empress, who then broke down with the weight of her grief. The doctors fear the results of reaction upon her already exhausted system.

When all was over the empress, Grand Duchess Xenia and the other imperial relatives approached the bedside in turn to take a last farewell. The court officials and members of his majesty's suite were afterwards admitted.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the members of the palace guard were marshalled in front of the palace chapel for the ceremony of swearing allegiance to the new czar. They were the first to take the oath. The grand dukes were the next to swear allegiance and they were followed in the order of precedence by the high court functionaries, officials, military officers and civil officials.

Arrangements that will be made for the funeral are still unknown. It is believed that the remains will be embarked on the imperial yacht Polarnaia (Polar Star) at Yalta, where the Seventh army corps will render military honors. The whole Black sea fleet will escort the yacht to Odessa, whence the body will be conveyed by rail to St. Petersburg, stopping at the important towns en route to enable the troops to render honors to the dead. The funeral will probably be held two weeks hence.

The arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales, now en route to Livadia, is anxiously awaited. A special train awaits them at the frontier. It is believed that the presence of the Princess of Wales will afford great comfort to her sister, the czarina, and it is expected that she will make a long stay in Russia. An imperial decree announcing the accession to the throne of Grand Duke Nicholas (the czarowitz) is expected to arrive from Livadia in a few days.

It is reported here that the populace of Moscow, indignant at what they believe to have been the malpractice of Dr. Zacharin in the case of the czar, are wrecking the doctor's house in that city.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

A Memorial Service to be Held at the Russian Legation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The announcement of the czar's death brought profound grief to the legation at Washington. Aside from the veneration which Russians have for the emperor, it was a personal sorrow to Prince Cantacuzene, who had before coming to this country been brought into close personal relations with the czar and had enjoyed an association with the imperial family. It was on leaving Russia for the United States that Prince Cantacuzene saw the emperor for the last time, bidding him and the czarowitz goodbye and bearing from them words of kindness and admiration for the United States. At that time the czar was in robust health, and his giant physique gave indication that it was proof against disease.

Prince Cantacuzene was loathe to talk publicly at such a time of his country's bereavement. He said history in this would pay its just tribute to the merits of Alexander III. He had given Russia what she most needed, peace and quiet. For ten years there had been nothing heard of military affairs except in the inspired attacks of malicious persons. The previous emperor had been guarded by police, and yet he met assassination, while the late emperor moved openly among his people until he died under their universal grief.

Under these circumstances the minister regretted the public appearance of a violent anarchist proclamation emanating from Switzerland, thus coupling, he said, irresponsible denunciation of the emperor with the expressions of grief at his death. In Russia, said the minister, an affliction of America arouses the broadest expressions of sympathy from the press and people, and any contrary sentiment at such a time would not be tolerated.

Upon the receipt of the official notification of the czar's death, Mr. Adso, the second assistant secretary, acting secretary during the illness of Secretary Gresham, called upon Prince Cantacuzene and conveyed to him verbally the condolence of the president and the secretary of state. A formal letter of condolence from Secretary Gresham will later be sent to him. The members of the diplomatic corps all called and left their cards at the Russian legation yesterday. The only visitor received there last evening was Assistant Secretary Adso.

Prince Cantacuzene has telegraphed to Bishop Nicholas, of the Greek church of Alaska, to inquire whether he can come to Washington and hold a memorial service for the czar. It is proposed to hold the memorial service at the Russian legation, as there is no Greek church in Washington.

Charged with Libeling Mayor Hopkins.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—John R. Tanner, chairman of the Republican central committee, was arrested last evening on a warrant sworn out by Mayor Hopkins, charging him with having committed criminal libel in making the assertion in campaign literature that Mayor Hopkins had "level blackmail on the vice of the city." Mr. Tanner waived examination, and was held to the criminal court in bonds of $500, which was promptly furnished. Mayor Hopkins insists that the case be heard this week, and Mr. Tanner says the mayor is "bluffing."

A City Treasurer's Safe Blown Open.

ALTONA, Pa., Nov. 1.—Thieves broke into Ferguson & Sons' store in this city and blew open City Treasurer Ferguson's safe. The burglars obtained only $10 and a diamond ring. A large sum of money had been kept in the safe for several days, but it was removed to the bank on Monday. The large watch dog was found dead in the store, having been poisoned by the burglars. The Altona Mechanics' library was also broken into, but only a few pennies were stolen.

A Question of Endurance.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—There is little reason now to expect that the German government will relax its new order prohibiting the importation of American cattle and fresh beef and it is probable that the matter will come down to a question of endurance as between German sugar and American beef.

School Wins Its Wager.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Henry Schulz arrived at the city and gained attention, having walked the entire distance from the state house at Indianapolis to Chicago in 73 hours and 59 minutes. Schulz made the walk up a wagon of $500 that he could not do it in 72 hours.

Nervous Headaches

Dyspepsia, Impure Blood

A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

D. Webster Baker, York, Pa.

"I personally recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to my friends and others, whenever I have an opportunity, and I am willing that this statement be used for publication. This medicine has been of great benefit to me. I have been suffering more or less with dyspepsia and nervous headache for several years. After using other preparations without success, I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am pleased to say that I have been benefited more by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla than by any other medicine combined. In fact, I have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I also find Hood's Pills very beneficial." D. WEBSTER BAKER, 29 S. Penn St., York, Pa.
