THE SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

A Regular Meeting of the Board Held Last Night.

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENING!

The Term Fixed and Seven Teachers Elected for the Schools—High School Boys—Won't Raise Salaries.

A regular meeting of the School Board was held in the public library quarters last evening with Messrs. Conry, Hanna, Stanton, Lynch, Baugh, Davenport, Trezise, Hooks, Burke, Manley, Morgan, Muldoon, Devitt and Lee in attendance. The most important business of the evening was the establishment of night schools and the election of and fixing of salaries for teachers.

Requests from Miss Jennie Gunter and Frank B. Williams that their salaries be increased were not acted upon, and a request for an increase of salary by James McHugh, janitor of the Union street school building, met the same fate. The board was not disposed to interfere with the schedule of salaries.

The statistical report of Superintendent Whitaker for the month of October was as follows: Term enrollment—boys, 1219; girls, 1427; total, 2637. Monthly enrollment—boys, 1126; girls, 1395; total, 2521. Daily average attendance—boys, 678; girls, 1182; total, 2155. Percentage of attendance—boys, 90; girls, 89; average, 90. Pupils present every session—521. Visits by citizens—357. Visits by Directors—80.

The superintendent added that the change from monthly to bi-monthly examinations and the rating of examination papers by the modified percentage system were giving satisfaction.

The committee on evening schools recommended that seven schools be opened—one in the West street building, two in Lloyd street, one each in the Coal, White and Union street buildings, and one at Turkey Run; one of the schools to be a boys' evening high school. The committee also recommended that seven teachers be appointed, that the term consist of four months of twenty evenings each, commencing November 19th and ending March 21st. The report was adopted.

The salaries of the teachers for these schools were fixed at $35 per month each for the high school and Turkey Run school and $25 per month for each of the other schools, the janitors to receive $7 per month for one school and $10 for two.

Lewis Hopkins, Jr., was made janitor at the High school building for the balance of the fiscal year. It was decided that $11,000 worth of insurance on school buildings be secured from T. T. Williams, David Faust and J. J. Cardin.

It was decided that the children of the Hood and Gilbert families, residing on Locust mountain, near the cemetery, be admitted to the schools of the borough free of charge.

An election of teachers for the evening schools was then taken up and after three ballots Misses Sadie Baugh, Annie E. McNelis, Maggie E. Palmer, Hannah Scanlan, Lydia E. Eisenhower, Katie Brogan and Mary Whalen were elected. The other applicants were Misses Annie B. Bierman, Katie A. Eisenhart, Iola Lewis and M. Jessie Glover.

Miss Eisenhower will have charge of the High school and Miss Brogan takes charge of the Turkey Run building.

The evening school teachers will not be required to attend the county institute, which is to be held at Pottsville next week.

The board has granted the teachers the privilege of taking the 9:10 a. m. train for Pottsville during institute week, so that their late arrival at the morning sessions will be accounted for. Many of the teachers will be obliged to go down every morning and return at night as they cannot secure accommodations at Pottsville. Superintendent Whitaker will go to Pottsville on Saturday and has volunteered to purchase tickets for the institute series of entertainments for any citizen who may wish to attend them. The superintendent's intention is, of course, to act as agent only. He is not setting them up for the town.

ELECTION ECHOES.

Political Pen Pushers Present Pithy, Pertinent Points.

It is still snowing. But few Democratic footprints are seen in the snow. Hastings' majority seems to be bound to reach the 250,000 mark. Singlerly only carried one ward in Philadelphia, and that by less than 50 majority. Many bottles of champagne were drank last night in settlement of campaign bets. "Farmer" Kulp's defeat of Buckalew in Northumberland is considered one of the wonders of the campaign. Postmaster Mellet's resources for consolation are never exhausted. He says the Democrats succeeded in getting the increase of debt through, anyway. A great many Democrats are professing delight over the election of Senator Coyle. They say his election is a rebuff to the Butler township Democrats for the defeat of Franey.

Messrs. William T. Trezise, T. R. Edwards and P. W. Bierstein deserve great credit for their work in connection with the arrangements for the final Republican parade here.

For a man who has dropped $2,000 in fighting a local cause ex-candidate for Sheriff Thomas J. Higgins is a remarkably self-possessed man. He takes his defeat very philosophically.

Many local Democrats are clinging to the hope that before the official count is completed the farming districts will show King's election. King's election to the Senate is postponed for at least four years.

McElhenney, the caterer, is building up a big trade by his enterprise. The magnificence with which he had his building illuminated and decorated in honor of the Republican demonstration last Monday evening is still the talk of the town.

The Hastings Campaign Club will meet at 7:30 o'clock to-morrow (Friday) night to wind up its affairs and pay off all indebtedness. There are sufficient funds to pay dollar for dollar. The meeting will be held in the rooms of the Shenandoah Republican League, in Kefowich's building.

The offices of Cooper & Co., the East Centre street stock brokers, were exceedingly comfortable quarters for the Republicans who sat up to receive the election returns on Monday night, and the firm has won the hearty thanks of those who shared the hospitality of its handsomely furnished quarters.

The "thanks" of that part of the community that was anxious to hear the election returns on Tuesday night are due to Mr. Frank W. McDermott, the manager of the local Philadelphia and Reading telegraph office. He was prompt in posting the reports and they were given with exceptional accuracy. As a manipulator of the key Frank is equal to any emergency.

The tall, slim, fine-looking gentleman who paraded up and down Main street from 7 to 11 o'clock last night was none other than Constable Thomas Tush. The hat under which he strutted was won from Lawyer Burke on a bet that Higgins would not get 400 majority in this town. The winner of the bet was to walk about town for four hours to give the people a chance to see the hat.

The Jury's Verdict.

Deputy Coroner Manley held an inquest on the body of Eugene Lesninsky, the man who was found dead near the Shenandoah City colliery on Monday morning. The witnesses examined were Dr. S. C. Spalding, James McNelis, George Beck and John H. Johnson. It was shown that on the Saturday preceding the day on which the body was found the deceased had suffered from a hemorrhage and the evidence justified the conclusion that when Lesninsky tripped and fell, his head striking a rock with such violence, concussion of the brain was caused and another hemorrhage was brought on, the man dying before he was discovered.

Traffic Delayed.

Car No. 1, of the Lakeside Railway, left the track near the corner of Centre and White streets last night and was delayed three-quarters of an hour. The track at this place is very low and if the company does not alter it there will be much trouble in running over that part of the road this winter.

DUPED BY HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Untinawicz is First Robbed and Then Deserted.

GONE BUT NOT MOURNED!

If the Recreant Spouse Will Only Stay Away Her Mind Will be Easy—A Boarder a Loser, Too.

Frank Untinawicz, a Pole, who has a family residing on North Bowers street, is reported missing. He was last seen by his wife on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Untinawicz is not distracted over the disappearance of her spouse, but worries a good deal in fear that he may return; and it is not likely that the husband has been kidnapped, or has met with foul play. It is really a case of skip with evidently mutual satisfaction to both husband and wife.

Untinawicz left his house on Tuesday morning at the usual hour to go to the mines. Within an hour later he returned and told his wife that on account of water in the mine there was no work. He went upstairs and a few minutes later left the house saying he was going to look for an empty house. The couple had been talking of moving. The husband has not been seen or heard of since.

Tuesday evening a boarder in the house returned from work and upon hunting for his best suit of clothes found it missing. A further search revealed the absence of about $20 in cash. The boarder called the mistress of the house to account. She made a search in her money box and found it empty.

Mrs. Untinawicz and the boarder were puzzled at first, but they have since concluded that the missing husband was responsible for the thefts and that he resorted to them to give him a start on his own hook.

Farewell Party.

William Willman, who for several years was connected with the local station of the Standard Oil Company, and was recently transferred to Mahanoy City, where he has full charge of a new station established by the company, to-day moved his family and household goods to that town. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Willman were given a farewell surprise party, at their residence on North Jardin street, by a number of their neighbors, among them Mr. and Mrs. George Skeath, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sampsell, Mrs. Harry Reeves, Mrs. C. T. Straughn, Mrs. T. D. Davies, Mrs. Jennie Spears, Miss Dora Willman, Mrs. George Willman, Mrs. John T. Graf, Mrs. E. W. Wilde and Mr. and Mrs. E. Anstock. Several hours were spent in pleasant social intercourse and indulgence in games of various kinds, and at midnight there was a collation, after which the visitors extended their compliments to Mr. and Mrs. Willman and left for their homes.
