THE NIGHT SCHOOLS OPEN.

An Opportunity That Should be Grasped by Every Working Boy-Parents Should Give it Attention.

The night schools were topened last night for the winter term. It behaves every parent who has boys working during the day to see that the names of such are enrolled on the night school registers and also to see that they attend each and every session. Night schools for the working boys are certainly one of the grandest institutions in our land; but, unless parents lay particular stress on this subject, the children will fall short of securing the full benefit of them. The moral influence of night schools on working boys is glowingly perceptable and the inestimable benefits which naturally accrue therefrom will be highly appre clated by them when they grow to man-hood. It is to the night schools and pri vate study that many prosperous and ntelligent men owe their success.

In a recent issue that veteran and prosrous county seat newspaper, the Miners fournal, stated that James J. Francy, our townsman, was about making prepar ations for the opening of a mammoth store on the Wanamaker plan. Mr. Francy has the money and enterprise to do this, and it is not a new idea with him. He has promised the departure more than once and it has not materialized. We hope he will step forward this time and show the stuff he is made of. His property interests in this town are extensive and his Main street business place is excellently adapted for the scheme he has cherished for so many years. If he makes a start and gives his Wanamaker plan a fair trial he will succeed, as he has in manner other notable enterprises of the

Now that the elections are over one again let each and every one cast aside their political controversies and animosities and exert themselves to their utmost to increase business and promulgate general prosperity. They should be truly thankful that they live in such a progres sive age and that they possess such an admirable form of government as that af forded by this country. Whenever the administration of one party become dilatory or indifferent to the public interests they, the people, have the inalienable right to throw it aside and institute a new administration. This is undoubtedly one of the most illustrious features of our oble country.

The movement against the gas and elecriclight companies did not flop any scone than most people expected it would. When people want to engineer opposition of that kind they must lend their names to it and give the public a chance to draw their own conclusions from the sources of promised support. In the absence of this there is no occasion for anybody to go into convulsions over threatened opposition or

Here is a morsel that is being chewed with some degree of jealousy by the backelor frequenters of the Ferguson House. About a year ago five widowers occupied seats at dinner in the hotel, Marriage was one of the topics discussed and a sandy-haired member of the group, after venturing the opinion that on a fair and square business basis the backelors couldn't hold a candle to the widowers, made a prediction that the majority of the group would be married within a year. The pre-diction has been fulfilled. Four of the party have since become Benedicts for the scond time. Two of them are P. J. Fer guson, the prophet, and R. A. Davenport The one who falled to get in with the crowd is Hev. Robert O'Boyle. The latter gentleman and Mr. Ferguson discussed the prediction at the Lehligh Valley depot this morning. The reverend gentleman has consolation in the thought that not a backelor stopping at the hotel has gradnated into the matrimonial state since the prediction was made and there is still ; chance for the widowers to receive credi for a clean sweep.

A Narrow Escape. Anthony Grojok, a Hungarian, residing at Honey Brook, visited friends in town yesterday and when he started for the train to go home had a good load of beer on board. He stepped on the first train that left the Lehigh Valley depot and it proved to be the train that runs up to the red bridge and then backs into a siding to lay over until it is time to make the afternoon run to Pottsville. As soon as Grojok discovered his mistake he jumped from the moving train and landed on his head, only a few inches from the wheels of the train. He was picked up uncon scious with two severe scalp wounds and a badly damaged nose. He regained his enses about five minutes after he made the jump and was guided to the house of s friend in the First ward.

Pottsville, Shenandoah and Mt. Carmel People Are Involved in the Case. What the Complainant Alleges.

Isase Levine, of town, was before Jus-ice Dengier last night charged by Horris Rubinski, of Pottsville, with conspiracy In conjunction with one Simon Kronosky, of Mt. Carmel, to cheat and defraud the complainant out of $250. Levine furnished $500 bail for trial and Constable Tosh went to Mt. Carmel this morning to ar rest Kronosky.

According to Rubinski's affidavit in the ise Kronosky, in order to cheat and defraud the creditors of the firm of Kronosky & Sinegelski, doing business at Mt. Carmel, did, on the 27th day of October, 1804, enter into a fraudulent conspiracy with Isaac Levine, who is the father in law of Kronosky, to confess judgment in the ame of the firm and in favor of certain alleged preferred creditors; and in pursuince of such agreement Kronosky executer adgment note in favor of one L. Shapira n trust for certain alleged creditors for the sum of $965, which judgment was at once entered up in the Court of Common Pleas of Northumberland county, and by virtue of an execution the Sheriff of that ounty sold out the goods of the firm's store at Mt. Carmel.

Rubinski also sets forth that whether or not all the parties named in the trust judgment are bona fide creditors he is not advised, but he asserts that Isaac Levine, if a creditor of the firm at all, was not en titled to more than about $70, but that Kronosky and Levine, in order to cheat and defraud him, Rubinski and other creditors, fraudulently conspired to insert the name of Isaac Levine in the judgment to the amount of $300 for the purpose of covering the stock of goods in the store a Mt. Carmel and fraudulently convert and absorb the proceeds of the Sheriff's sale to the exclusion of Rubinski and other swellfore.

Rubinski is in the wholesale dry goods and notions business at Pottsville and sold Kronosky's firm $250 worth of goods before the failure.
