WHY HE CUT HIS THROAT.

John Sitka Was Driven Desperate by Want.

A CHANCE FOR RECOVERY.

The Man Calmly Smoked a Cigarette When He Believed His Life's Blood Was Ebbing.

The story told by John Sitka, the Hungarian who cut his throat at Yatesville yesterday, was one of great privation and hardship. Sitka was a homeless man and when he attempted to take his life it was only, as he says, after every door had been closed and he had spent fifteen nights in the bushes and had little or nothing to eat for almost a week. Yesterday he appealed to several people at Yatesville for assistance, but failed to secure any. He was turned off as a professional beggar. The outcast stole a table knife at one of the houses he visited and while resting at the Yatesville station of the Lakeside Railway he concluded to end his existence. The knife was a sharp one and cut deep into the throat, making a gash about three inches long and almost severing the larynx. Dr. W. N. Stein put eight stitches in the wound. The victim exhibited wonderful stamina and while the gash was being stitched did not give the least indication of suffering.

Constable Giblin, of the First ward, was notified of the case by the motorman and conductor of a Lakeside Railway car, who stated that a Hungarian was sitting in the station at Yatesville with his throat cut and smoking a cigarette. In company with J. J. Kelly, the constable went to Yatesville and found Sitka lying on the highway between the Lakeside and Lehigh Valley stations. The man was covered with blood from the horrible wound in his throat and was apparently very weak, but still conscious. The Knickerbocker colliery officials furnished the stretcher and a resident of the neighborhood contributed a covering. The victim was then placed on an electric car and brought to the Borough Council chamber he was taken to the Lehigh Valley station and sent to the Schuylkill Haven almshouse.

Before the train left, Sitka told a reporter that he left his wife and child in the old country about six years ago. He went to England and remained there about a year, when he came to the United States. Three months later he was struck by a train near New York city and suffered the loss of his left leg. After his recovery he wandered about the country in search of employment, but failed to get any. He eventually drifted into the coal fields and sought employment in the breakers, but at each place was told that young people were wanted for work. For several months he made a practice of soliciting alms at the colliery pay offices and with his collections he paid his way at cheap boarding houses; but the aid gradually dwindled and finally he found himself without funds. Fifteen weeks ago he found himself without shelter and he sought a place on the mountain near the Kehley Run colliery. He burrowed a place beside a large rock which sheltered him from the storms and during the day he visited the town and begged food. Monday night, he said, was bitterly cold on the mountain and he concluded to make another effort to secure shelter in the town. This proving unsuccessful he decided to take his life. After slashing himself he smoked a cigarette he had begged and calmly awaited the end. Notwithstanding the character of the wound the man has a chance for recovery.

A search of the clothing revealed a slip of paper bearing this address: "Josef Krysztopowicz, East Centre street, 430." The party named acknowledged that Sitka remained with him a few days, but said he was only a charitable guest.

Good College Education.

Parents in search of a place where they can send their boys or girls to receive a thorough business education should make inquiries concerning The Wilkes-Barre Business College. They will find the course of tuition the very best and the cost very reasonable. Wade & Williams are the principals and they have an experienced corps of instructors. Send a postal card for a catalogue, from which full particulars may be gleaned.

McElhenny's Cafe To-night.

There is no disguising the fact that McElhenny is endeavoring to please the public, and, as he remarked the other day, in speaking of his tanches, "They come high, but the people must be catered to." He invites you to a clam chowder lunch to-night. Do not forget to call. He will have plenty for everybody.

AMUSEMENTS.

"CELL 22."

Madame, and her son Augustin, Neville, will be the attraction at Ferguson's theatre to-morrow evening, presenting for the first time in this city their new play entitled, "Cell 22," from the pen of the talented actress and author—Mme. Neville, and written for her son Augustin, giving him an opportunity to show his peculiar style than in any of his other plays. The story is one of intense interest and well worked out, holding the interest and attention of the audience to the end. Mme. Neville has a part entirely dissimilar to the emotional line of work to which she has been accustomed, and Augustin Neville has a part which suits him exactly. The critics from our neighboring cities are loud in their praise of the play and the company presenting it. Mme. Neville and Augustin have many friends and admirers in Shenandoah, they all remembering their appearance here in "The Boy Tramp" for the past three seasons; but this year, with a new play and the best company he has ever had, will be doubly welcomed.

"McKENNA'S FLIRTATIONS."

Dan Williams made people open their eyes at the Auditorium last night, his imitation of Billy Barry was so clever. In "McKenna's Flirtations," Barry and Fay's old piece, Williams was almost as good as the original Barry. The company is capable and the performance was much enjoyed by a good sized audience. It will be repeated to-night, to-morrow night and matinee.—Bridgeport Post. At Ferguson's theatre on Saturday evening, November 24th.

First grand concert of the season by the Grant Band, Robbins' opera house, Thursday evening, November 22nd.

Miss Shane a Bride.

It will doubtless be a surprise to many to learn that Miss Irene Shane, one of the teachers in the second grade primary department of the local public schools, is a bride. She tendered her resignation to the school authorities yesterday and taught her class for the last time to-day. Miss Hannah Scanlan has been assigned to take Miss Shane's class. The surprise is a double-decked one, in that it appears that Miss Shane was married to C. H. Lewis, formerly an employe of the HERALD, a year ago last August. The union was so successfully surrounded by secrecy that it has only just leaked out. Mr. Lewis has been residing in Philadelphia the past few months. He is expected here to-morrow.

Rather Mixed.

The paragraph in an article of yesterday's HERALD that read "David Lloyd moved his family from this town to the Miners' Hospital, at Fountain Springs, suffering from injuries," etc., was badly mixed by the compositor. It should have read "David Lloyd moved his family from this town to Minersville, three weeks ago yesterday and the next day was taken to the Miners' Hospital," etc. This statement is made to remove the impression that the whole family was injured in the mines.

TOSH WAS IN A TEMPEST.

Mrs. Eisman Gave Him a Very Warm Reception.

SMASHED THE FURNITURE.

The Only Whole Piece The Constable Got on the Levy Was a Stove—Law Will Follow.

Constable Thomas Tosh had a lively time in making a levy on a landlord's warrant yesterday afternoon. George Leitzel claimed that Mrs. Cassie Eisman moved out of one of his houses early last Sunday morning, leaving rent unpaid to the amount of $51, and caused levy to be made. Leitzel and Tosh found the furniture in the house of Mrs. Hoffman, in Grant's row, on West Coal street. Mrs. Hoffman is Mrs. Eisman's sister.

When Tosh arrived at the house he found all the doors locked, but he raised a window which had not been fastened and crawled into the house. Mrs. Eisman flew into a terrible passion. She struck Tosh several times with a poker and commenced smashing the furniture with an ax. Two bureaus and several chairs were cut into kindling wood in short order and Tosh was like a jumping jack trying to steer clear of the flying pieces.

The enraged woman was covered with blood from cuts she sustained from splinters and splintering glass, and the constable declares that he was never in a more lively place in his life. After smashing all her furniture Mrs. Eisman sprang forward to demolish a stove with the ax, and at this point Tosh interfered and took the weapon from the woman.

After a while Mrs. Eisman cooled down and Tosh proceeded to see what was left for the levy, and the stove was all he could find. He opened the door to let Leitzel in and the two carried out the stove.

But this did not end the matter. Last night Mrs. Eisman caused Tosh's arrest for assault and battery, and her sister, Mrs. Hoffman, had Tosh and Leitzel arrested on a complaint of forcible entry. Justice Williams heard the cases and put Tosh under $300 bail on each charge and Leitzel under $300 bail.

Mrs. Eisman claims that Constable Tosh choked her and Mrs. Hoffman alleges that the constable and Leitzel forced open the window by which entrance was gained with a crowbar and pole and that Tosh smashed the lock of a door with an ax. Tosh and Leitzel deny these allegations.

Thanksgiving Week.

A grand fair and entertainment will be held in Robbins' opera house, under the auspices of the vestry of All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church, during Thanksgiving week, beginning on Monday, November 26th. The entertainments will be of a high standard and will include musicals by Mrs. O. H. Bridgman, Prof. Hill, of Pottsville, and Miss Bertha McCarrroll. An orchestra will be in attendance each evening and Mrs. Jarley's world renowned wax-works will be a feature of the programs. In addition to the fair and entertainment there will be a colonial tea on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and the admission to all will be but ten cents. On Thursday evening a turkey supper will be an additional attraction, and for this night only the admission will be increased to 25 cents.

Refused to Pay.

Rev. Newhart, of Pottsville, the representative of the Eschertie faction of the Evangelical Association, visited town yesterday and demanded rents from the tenants of properties belonging to the local church, on West Cherry street. The tenants refused to recognize Rev. Newhart's claim to rents. It is believed that the demand and refusal of payment will be used as a basis for a suit in ejectment by the Eschertie people. Rev. Newhart stated that no immediate steps would be made to gain possession of the church, which is still in the hands of the adherents of Bishop Dubs.

Held For Trial.

Thomas Igo, of Jackson, and John Dempsey, of Barry's, were before Justice Williams last night, charged with creating a disturbance on a Lakeside Railway car last Saturday night and smashing one of the large windows. They were held in $300 bail each for trial at court. There were about twenty in the fight, but Igo and Dempsey were the only men who could be identified, and they are said to have been the ringleaders.

Glotke Not Guilty.

One night several weeks ago Max Glotke, who was acting temporarily as a clerk in a South Main street store, was sent out to get a couple of pairs of boots for a customer who could not get what he wanted from the stock in the store. Glotke hurried to a store on Main street, south of Cherry, and in running back with the two pairs of boots he had purchased passed Sam Block's store. Mrs. Block, seeing the flowing man with two pairs of boots in his hand, jumped to the conclusion that a case standing in front of her husband's store had been robbed. She alarmed her husband. When Glotke reached the store where he was employed he was closely followed by Block, who charged the clerk with stealing the boots. Glotke protested his innocence and called the Polish shoe dealer from whom he had made the purchases as a witness, but Mrs. Block was positive that the boots were taken from one of her husband's cases. An arrest was made and Glotke was put under bail. Yesterday the case was called for trial at Pottsville. Hon. C. N. Brumm and M. M. Burke, Esq., appeared for Glotke and W. D. Seltzer, Esq., represented the commonwealth. The trial lasted until the adjournment of court and this morning a verdict of not guilty was handed in by the jury.
