FORGERY IS HIS FORTE.

A Man with Many Aliases Captured at Lansing, Mich.

RECENTLY ESCAPED FROM PRISON.

He Has Swindled Business Men in All Sections of the Country, and Was Awaited Trial in Maryland When He Made His Escape.

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 26.—Frank A. Harvey, alias Horace B. Baker, alias George P. Sage, the forger, was arrested here yesterday by a Pinkerton detective from Philadelphia. He had been posing as the Rev. Charles O. Gibson, and was preparing to swindle banks in this city.

On July 20 last Harvey was arrested at Vineland, N. J., where he had been living under the alias of Horace B. Baker, with his wife and child. He was taken on a requisition to Harford county, Md., where he had been indicted, under the alias of George P. Sage, for swindling the Harford National bank of Belair, Md., by means of forged checks. He escaped from the Harford county jail on the night of Oct. 6, being aided by two fellow prisoners.

Harvey is said to have been born in Virginia, and to have moved with his parents to Philadelphia when a boy. His father was a reputable business man of Philadelphia, and died some years ago. His mother still resides in Philadelphia. He has two brothers in business in that city. His original career commenced in California, where, in 1881, when 25 years old, he was convicted in Santa Clara county of embezzlement and sentenced to the state prison at San Quentin for two years.

After serving his sentence he went to Montana and from there to Topeka, Kan., where, under the name of Robert H. Alexander, he obtained to be engaged by the publishing house of Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago. Here he connected himself with the Order of Good Templars, Y. M. C. A. and other religious and charitable organizations, and carried on extensive swindling operations.

In 1889 he appeared at the national capital, where, under the alias of Robert E. Hall, on Nov. 14 of that year, he was arrested for forging the names of several business men on checks for small amounts. On his arrest it developed that he was wanted in Montana and Colorado for forgeries there, and an effort was made to extradite him, but he was tried on March 21, 1890, for the Washington offenses, found guilty and sentenced to three years in the Albany penitentiary, from which he was discharged in August, 1892.

In November of the same year, at Elmira, he secured from a bank there $121 on a forged draft, dated Oct. 29, 1892, purporting to be issued by the Twin Valley bank of West Alexandria, O., on the National Bank of the Republic of New York City. He planned this forgery while sick with typhoid fever in the Elmira hospital.

From Elmira he went to Cleveland, where he secured a passport to New York, and forged draft for $200 on the bank of the Merchants' bank of Manhattan, N. Y., on a New York city bank. He also succeeded in swindling banks at Chicago on March 21, 1893, at Mount Vernon, N. Y., on June 27, 1894, at Belair, Md., on May 11, at Worcester, Mass., on June 30, 1894, and many others.

Early in June of the present year Harvey, under the name of Frank Moulton, got control of a drug store in Worcester, Mass., from a Mr. Brewer, paying $300 on account and giving a mortgage for the balance. He carried on business until June 20. Mr. Brewer introduced him to the Quinsigamond National bank, and after opening and carrying on an account with the institution for some time he succeeded in cashing a check for $8,000 on the Manufacturers' National bank, at Providence, R. I., on the Quinsigamond National bank.

In his operations Robert A. Harvey has used the following aliases: Horace B. Baker, Henry M. Thomas, Reade Halford, Herbert A. Roberts, Ralph C. Hunter, A. C. Huxley, Sherman Melchett, Henry W. Hunter, Lawrence Stevens, A. C. Buckley, C. E. Hiscok, Henry B. Scott, Frank G. Woods, George P. Sage, Frank Moulton, Walter B. Snow, G. W. Nelson, W. H. Bunner, Victor Pennick and W. H. Miles.

A Rich Gold Find.
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 26.—Michael Shuman, a well known miner, soon has just returned from his mine in the Okanogan district. He reports the find of a veritable bonanza gold mine at the very summit of the Cascade range of mountains.

Two young men from Anacostez, named Baroj and Gorrish, are the lucky finders. Shuman says that the boys, after a week's work with the crudest implements, have cleaned up $12,000, with plenty of the same rich dirt in sight. Nearly all the miners in this section of the country have flocked to the new Eldorado and staked out claims.

Miners Buried in a Snowslide.
MONTICELLO, Wash., Nov. 26.—A snowslide struck the big drying house of the Pride of the Mountain mine and buried ten miners. The alarm was given, and a force of seventy-five men and boys went to the rescue. When Louis Erickson's feet were reached by the shovellers he was discovered head downward, and was taken out dead. William McCarthy was struck on the back of the head by a broken stick; Otto Kelly was struck in the face; W. E. Smith fell on a stove, burning his forehead. Four others were cut painfully about the head. All of the ten men were rescued alive but Erickson.

Grander Unto Caesar.
HARRISBURG, Nov. 26.—A letter signed "Caesar" and inclosing a draft on Devoal & Co., Philadelphia, for $25 was received by State Treasurer Jackson. The writer explained that the draft was for the payment of tax on moneys at interest, and requested that the amount be added to the confidence fund of the state treasurer. The letter closed with the quotation, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

YALE AGAIN WINS.

The Game with Harvard Especially Distinguished for Bravery.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 26.—Yale won the annual football match with Harvard at Hampden Park Saturday afternoon by the score of 12 to 4, in a game which for fierce and rough playing has never been equaled at a championship contest. Yale scored her two touchdowns and Harvard one in the first half, the New Haven eleven crossing Harvard's goal in thirteen seconds after the game began. Five men left the field on account of injuries and two were disqualified for roughness. The game will do more to arouse popular opposition to football than anything in the past history of the sport.

Murphy, the Yale tackle, was knocked insensible, and taken from the field on a stretcher to a hospital. Butterworth, the famous Yale fullback, was injured in the head and sprained his ankle, the former hurt making him dazed for more than half of the game; Wrightington, the Harvard halfback, fractured his collar bone; Charles Brewer, the other Harvard halfback, was carried from the field with a twisted knee; Jerome, the Yale fullback, had to leave the game with a strained side; Hallowell, the Harvard tackle, was compelled to drop out with his mouth and nose bleeding profusely, and Hayes, of Harvard, and "Broncho" Armstrong, two substitutes, who went in were ruled off the field for alleged roughness.

MAIL STATISTICS.

An Interesting Report by Postmaster General Bissell.

OPPOSING THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

He Believes It Would Enormously Increase the Deficit—Opposes Annual Tax Increase, but Favors Its Extension in Cities That Now Enjoy It.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Postmaster General W. S. Bissell has submitted to the president his annual report for the year ending June 30, 1904. He briefly outlines the policy of the department in the following:

"In general I would recommend that the first and most important thing to be done is to revise the law as to second class matter, so as to place the postoffice department immediately upon a self-sustaining basis. Avoid expensive experiments like the postal telegraph, rural free delivery, etc. Develop the postal service on existing lines of administration, viz.: Extend free delivery in cities that now enjoy it. Extend it to towns entitled to it under the law. Quicken railroad transportation. Revise and reclassify the organization of the railway mail service and reclassify clerks in the postoffices. Provide for district supervision of all postal affairs by appointment of expert postal officials from classified service, as recommended in my last annual report."

Mr. Bissell first discusses the effect of the continued depression upon the postal revenues, and says:

"When adverse business conditions prevail an ordinary business establishment may overcome them in part by economies of management and retrenchment in expenditures. Not so, however, with the postoffice establishment of the government. It cannot and should not stop to consider little economies. It must needs exert itself to the utmost to secure the best possible results in the way of efficiency, accuracy and security in the dispatch of the mails, and without sparing any reasonable expenditure in that behalf.

"Accidental delays in mail transmission, always vexatious, become unbearable at such times. It might happen that the delay of one hour in the delivery of a letter containing a remittance of money would work ruin to a business institution."

The revenue for the year was $75,080,479; expenditures, $84,254,414, leaving a deficiency of $9,243,935. The estimate for the current year June 30, 1905, are: Revenue, $81,427,718; expenditures, $90,399,450; deficiency, $8,971,732. The estimates submitted to the secretary of the treasury for the next fiscal year are: Revenue, $86,907,400; expenditures, $94,059,288; deficiency, $7,151,878.

This annual deficiency, the postmaster general says, could be overcome by an increase of postal rates, but he does not believe this advisable. It could be cancelled by a readjustment of rates on second class matter, a question which he treats at considerable length in another part of the report. Economy has been practiced, but nevertheless great care has been taken not to effect the efficiency of the service.

Of the obstruction of mails by strikes the postmaster general says:

"In my last annual report I called attention to the necessity for legislation, such as that was and is now, recommended by the superintendent of the railway mail service for the punishment of train wrecking, and for legislative determination and definition of a mail train. Such legislation would be of great advantage to the postal service, and during the past year would most likely have prevented the embargo placed upon the mail trains of the Great Northern railway by the strike which practically tied up that system from April 12 to May 1. It would also have lessened the loss of revenue to the department, and other great evils incident to the greater strikes that paralyzed all business to a greater or less extent from June 27 until July 24 of this year.

Mr. Bissell commends the International postal union, but gives some forgotten history connected with it, showing by a letter written by Postmaster General Montgomery Blair, to Secretary Seward, in 1863, that Dr. Blair was its originator, although Dr. von Stephan, of Germany, did a great deal toward securing its perfection.

The postmaster general does not favor the postal telegraph, a system advocated by his predecessor. The conditions in this country, he says, are such as would enormously increase the large deficit. He also points out that the division of the postal telegraph system throughout different sections would be productive of endless sectional jealousy and disagreement.

Mr. Bissell gives the following daily average business of the department, which shows the vastness of the postal service: Number of miles of post route run, 1,190,000; number of stamps manufactured, 8,000,000; number of envelopes manufactured, 1,900,000; number of postal cards manufactured, 1,500,000; number of pieces mailed, 15,700,000; number of letters mailed, 7,400,000; number of pieces of mail matter distributed and redistributed by railway postal clerks, 27,000,000; number of pieces handled in dead letter offices, 24,000; daily transactions in money order business, $1,100,000; daily expenses, $251,100.

The postmaster general believes in civil service in the postoffice department. At the close of the fiscal year there were 23,013 employees in the classified service, an increase of 1,259 over 1903. With thousands by recent extension orders there will be a total of 22,093.

Train Robbers Thwarted by a Woman.
LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 26.—A plan to hold up the east bound train on the Kansas and Arkansas Valley railroad by the Cook gang was defeated and frustrated. When the train reached a siding near Fort Gibson it was flagged by a woman, who had run five miles to warn them of a hold up which had been planned. Twenty-five armed men had taken possession of a station house. The wife of the section boss ended the watchfulness of the gang, ran to the next station and gave the alarm. Armed men were placed on board, and the train pulled slowly by the station house where the bandits were concealed, but no attempt to hold it up was made. The bandits discovered that their plans were known.

Blackmailing Syndicate in Paris.
PARIS, Nov. 26.—The magistrate examining into a club scandal here has advised evidence showing the existence of a blackmailing syndicate, which offered to procure the silence of eighteen newspapers concerning the club. The evidence against the club showed that gambling to the amount of $50,000 francs went on annually.

A VICTORY FOR PASKOLA.

It Receives the Official Endorsement of Eminent Experts and a Jury of Representative Citizens.

The bill brought by Ohio's Food Commission to amend a Cincinnati ordinance for selling milk on the ground that it was not pure, was not passed, but a great victory for Paskola and a verdict against the State.

During the course of the trial, Prof. Schmidt, of the University of Cincinnati, testified that Paskola was not unclean, even if it was not pure, and that it was a great victory for Paskola and a verdict against the State.

A practical test was made in court, showing the digestive action of Paskola on eggs and insects of various kinds, whereas a common milk powder of the same quality produced no effect whatever.

This test, but confirmed the experts' statements and proved Paskola to be of great value in indigestion and wasting diseases.

This verdict disposed of the malicious attack that has been made against Paskola by interested cities, and suits have now been brought against the proprietors of a well known emulsion of cod liver oil for having given wide circulation to a false formula and other misrepresentations regarding it.

The animus of this attack will be the better understood when it is stated that Paskola is being largely used in the place of cod liver oil.
