ASHLAND WAS THE WINNER.

The Foot Ball Game Drew a Big Attendance.

SHENANDOAHS WEAKENED.

They Made a Hard Fight in the First Half and Apparently Exhausted Themselves—Lessig's Good Work.

About fifteen hundred people witnessed the foot ball game at Ashland yesterday afternoon between the team of that place and the eleven of Shenandoah. Great interest was manifested in it, as each of the teams had won a game from each other and yesterday's contest was to decide the supremacy for the season.

There were several features on the grounds that did not reflect credit upon the Ashland management. It was quite evident that the Shenandoahs were to be beaten, by fair means or foul, and the interferences made by outsiders were of a disgraceful character. At one stage of the game an outsider drew one of the Shenandoah players into a flat encounter that lasted several minutes.

It is but fair to state, however, that the result of the contest was not affected by these disturbances. The Ashland men were well trained and drilled and used their superior weight and strength to excellent effect; but Lessig, of Shamokin, really gained all advantages for the team. He was like a giant when surrounded by the visitors.

The Ashlands were the first to appear on the field and the game commenced at four o'clock. Ashland took the kick off and Jones got the ball. He ran about five yards for the first down. Robert Rose was given the ball and he made a run of thirty-five yards around Ashland's left. It was the longest run of the game and the only good gain the Shenandoahs made.

Ashland secured the ball on an onside and they steadily advanced it to the Shenandoah goal line. Here they lost it and the ball was sent back to Shenandoah's thirty-yard line. It was Ashland's ball and Lessig, of the Shamokin team, carried it for gains every time, crossing the line with about two minutes to play. Powell kicked the goal.

The Shenandoahs had put up a strong fight, and the spectators were in excellent humor, but in the second half the visitors were weak.

Ashland took the ball on Shenandoah's kick off and worked it up the field by Lessig's superior playing. Here the Ashland captain, not wishing to let all the credit go to Shamokin, gave the ball to Powell, who crossed the line. He also kicked the goal, and the game ended on account of darkness with the score 12 to 0 in favor of Ashland.

The rumpus that caused so much indignation occurred about ten minutes after the first half started. Shortall, of Shenandoah, received a brutal kick in the side from an unknown man in the crowd that was hugging the teams. A riot was ripening, but after a delay of half an hour, during which there were no less than half a dozen scuffles on the field between players and spectators, the game was started again.

The teams and positions in the game were:

Ashland.	Position.	Shenandoah.
Walters, Capt.	Left End.	Shortall
Powell	Left Tackle.	A. Rose
Ellis	Left Guard.	Maley
Smith	Centre.	Treble
Lessig	Right Guard.	McHale
Snyder	Right Tack.	Malick
Waudless	Right End.	Frost
Rossius	Quarter Back.	Jones, Captain.
Faust	Right Halfback.	Wertz
Davis	Left Halfback.	R. Rose
Evans	Full Back.	Burkhart

A Dangerous Pastime.

If some of the young women and girls of this town knew the dangers they encounter they would not be so indifferent in the selection of their pastimes and would travel less with men of whom they know nothing. One of the dangers is shown in the case of the man who was arrested yesterday for defrauding a hotel, keeper out of a bill. While in the town this man was seen in the company of several well-known young women. When arrested yesterday he said his troubles were caused by one of the young women with whom he associated stealing his pocketbook. He said he did not know her name, nor did he wish to prosecute. His story was not believed, but how easy it is for such men to cast an indelible stigma upon the character of a young woman! Flirting with strangers may afford lots of fun, but that fun frequently means a great sacrifice. It is opportune to say that there is an axiom among "men of the road" that a stranger with a high silk hat and an ulster can create more stir among the young women of Shenandoah than any circus ever billed, and it would perhaps be as good as a certain lecture if many of the young women could hear some of the conversations when the strangers exchange lists of the available meshes in different towns.

Best violin strings, Holderman's.

Best violin strings, at Holderman's.

"Faust."

The sterling actor, George Learcock, supported by a very clever company, will produce "Faust" at Ferguson's theatre on Tuesday evening, December 4th. This production will be one of the most elaborate and effective ever given in this place. The version played by Mr. Learcock admits of unusual scenic effects, and as these have been carefully attended to, the result will no doubt be a surprise to the people. All the necessary apparatus will be brought to this town, and the lightning effects, the thunderbolt and the rain of fire, will be given on a scale of magnificence never before attempted.

Bargains in Winter Wear.
A clearance sale of children's coats. Special bargains in ladies' garments. Gents' natural wool underwear reduced from $1 to 65 cents. Ingrain carpets reduced 30 per cent.

Closes To-night.

The fair and series of entertainments at Robbins' opera house under the auspices of the vestry of All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church will close to-night with the star program of the week. There will be a musical under the direction of Mrs. O. H. Bridgman. Some of the best talent in the county will appear and give string trios, piano, violin and vocal solos. The entertainment alone will be worth much more than the price of admission asked.

Republican City Committee.

A meeting of the City Committee of the Republican party of Shenandoah, Pa., will be held in the rooms of the Shenandoah Republican League, Belowich's building, on Friday, November 30, 1894, at 7 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of making arrangements to carry into effect the resolution adopted in January, 1894, relative to the new rules applying to nominations.

Became Drowsy.
A young woman of South West street was sent to do some housework on one of the upper floors of her home the other day and two hours later her mother found her asleep on a trunk in a clothes closet. The ball season always works franks of some kind.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

"Toby Wise" Furnishes Food For Serious Reflection.

THE ROOKERIES SHOULD GO

Many Over-Crowded Localities That Are Dangerous to the Public Health. Timely Action Needed.

It appears strange that the property owners on Main street, both on the east and west side of the street, should allow the rear end of their properties to be encumbered with old stables, when their properties could be made more valuable and at the same time more healthy, by the erection of substantial dwellings, as a number have already done. Therevenue to be derived from such an investment will more than double the actual cost within a few years.

The idea of tolerating foul-smelling stables less than 150 feet from the main business street of the town is abominable, and not at all in keeping with the high value of these lots. Every dwelling erected back of Main street, east and west, will find a ready tenant at a good rental, and with the addition of modern conveniences more desirable tenants and higher rents can be obtained. There are undoubtedly too many stables in the heart of the town for the health of the inhabitants. I hope to see these rookeries razed to the ground and more substantial structures erected in their place.

In making a tour of the streets the other day I was particularly interested in examining some of the rookeries on the outskirts of the town, and a few that are located almost within a stone's throw of the main streets. In each instance I found them in a filthy condition, and in most cases overcrowded. The Board of Health could be kept busy for two years in these localities alone, without attention to other matters for which it has been created. Most of these places are owned by some of our leading citizens, much to their discredit. Other towns would not tolerate anything of the kind.

Just imagine human beings living in these shanties packed like sardines in a box! It is from this quarter that most of the police cases originate. It is the source that fills the coffers of the justices and their constables. An inspection of these places will cause wonder why more epidemics are not prevalent here. The Board of Health and Sanitary Committee of Council should make the owners of these rookeries toe the mark. It is useless for me to designate their places of location, because they are all known to every official in the town. Some of the owners have become wealthy within a few years from rents, and others are in a fair way of getting there. Relegate the rookeries to the rear unless they be kept in a more healthy condition and in not so crowded a condition. This is necessary for the health of the community.

In this respect I might draw the attention of councilmen to the practice indulged in by many of throwing ashes and litter of all kinds upon the streets. There is an ordinance prohibiting this, but it is never enforced. Some of the alleys are used as a dumping ground for this purpose. It is one thing to enact an ordinance and another to enforce it. This is a true test of the competency or incompetency of our borough officials.

Pleasing the Children.

The infant classes of the Presbyterian Sunday School enjoyed a social in the chapel yesterday afternoon. There were about fifty children present and they enjoyed themselves immensely. They were served with ice cream and cake. The social was arranged by Rev. T. Maxwell Morrison, the pastor, and Misses Katie Glaver and Mary Johnson, teachers in the Sunday school, who deserve much credit for the interest they take in children.

A Novel Idea.

Rev. Robert O'Boyle, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, has hit upon a novel idea to keep track of the attendance at his church. On Sunday evening he will station in each vestibule of the church two young men who will be expected to list the names of all persons who enter. The object is to ascertain what members of the church are not attending the services and also learn the names of strangers who attend.

Captain Leib's Funeral.
The funeral of the late Captain Levi C. Leib, will take place from the home of his son-in-law, James R. Deegan, on Saturday afternoon. Services will be held at the house at 9 o'clock and interment will follow at Fountain Springs cemetery.

The chrysanthemum will soon be disappearing from view.

Put things in good trim around your premises for the winter.

In four weeks more the schools will have another holiday season.

It won't be long till the perfume of baking Christmas cakes will scent the air.

Republicans were thankful for their victories, and Democrats that it was not worse.

Anticipation does not beat realization when it comes to eating the Thanksgiving turkey.

Should be Repaired.

There is a board pavement on the east side of North Main street, between Lloyd and Coal streets, that is in an unsafe condition. Several persons have narrowly escaped injury in walking over it.

Nearing Completion.

The work at Fowler's Run reservoir on the public water works was completed today. The pipe line will be complete tomorrow and the pumping station will be ready early next week.

Gold Dust Is Wanted.
