At Keiter's.

HE STOLE A TRUNK.

But Dropped it After an Exciting Chase.

A HUNGARIAN'S BOLD ACT

He Hadn't Time to Break Open the Trunk to Get the Money, so Carried it Boldly in Broad Daylight.

Constable Tallan Phillips stood on the corner of Main and Centre streets yesterday morning making final adjustments of his attire, preparatory to taking a "constitutional," when he was approached by an excited Hungarian named Jacob Gawans, a resident of the flats, at the west end of Coal street.

Between his gaspings for breath Gawans managed to explain in broken English to the somewhat surprised constable that a theft had been committed and the thief was escaping. A mutual friend explained in better language that one Mike Kochinski had stolen Gawans' trunk and was speeding out of town with the receptacle upon his shoulder. The trunk contained $100 and Kochinski, not having time to break it open, had made a wholesale haul.

The constable started in pursuit and epeled the fugitive about a quarter of a mile ahead on the Lehigh Valley railroad, pushing eastward with the trunk on his shoulder as fast as his legs could carry him.

Phillips is not a sprinter, but as his competitor was handicapped by a heavy load he made rapid gains. The constable was drawing pretty close when the man with the trunk looked over one of his shoulders and discovered the chase. Despite his load and the exhaustion already entailed the fugitive increased his speed, whereupon Phillips drew his revolver. Three times the officer shouted "Halt!" but the cries had no effect. Then Phillips fired. As the echo followed the shot Kochinski dropped the trunk and took to the bushes. The constable and Gawans poked up the trunk and found the money and everything belonging to the owner intact. It was brought back to town. Kochinski has not been seen since.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Shenandoah Cases Disposed of at Motion Court To-day.

POTTSVILLE, Dec. 24.—In the Orphans' Court this morning M. M. Burke, Esq., obtained an order for the sale of the Harkus property, on North Jardin street, Shenandoah, to the Phoenix Fire Company. The consideration is $8,900.

The Orphans' Court to-day confirmed the sale of the O'Hara property, on North Jardin street, to Thomas Bells for $8,500.

In the case of Henry Wiederhold against George Rohland, the court to-day granted a rule on the parties to interplead to determine the title to the property levied upon by the Sheriff.

McElbenny's Christmas Luncheon.
For to-night (Christmas Eve) Mr. McElbenny has prepared that very popular and inviting free lunch, clam chowder, and to-morrow (Christmas) morning he will serve you with a lunch extraordinary, consisting of stewed veal and mashed potatoes, a very inviting dish to eat before going home for your Christmas dinner; and to-morrow he will give every visitor a hot Tom and Jerry, free. Everybody invited. 12-24-1f

By buying your goods at Holderman's jewelry store you can rest assured that they are the best that can be procured.

The Rescue Fair.

The fair of the Rescue Hook and Ladder Company opened in the company's house, on North Main street, Saturday evening, and will be continued during the holidays. To-night a vocal and instrumental entertainment will be given. The fair will open at 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

Such goods as you see at Holderman's you can't see anywhere else in Shenandoah.

Band Serenades.
The Grant Band will spend this evening serenading citizens of town. It has been a custom of the band to give the serenades on New Year's Eve, but this year that evening will be spent in giving a concert in the band room.

Must Avoid the Dams.

Skaters flocked to the reservoirs of the Shenandoah Water & Gas Company in droves yesterday to indulge in skating, but were ordered away by Superintendents E. J. Wasley and F. C. Reese, who spent some time on guard for that purpose. The company to-day issued public notices that any person caught skating on the reservoirs will be prosecuted. The object in keeping the skaters away does not arise from any selfish motive, but is to preserve the purity of the water and the supply. Through the recklessness of the skaters some parts of the reservoirs have been made filthy and it has been deemed advisable to prohibit this sport altogether.

Obituary.

Mrs. S. L. Brown, of South Main street, yesterday received a telegram announcing the death of her brother, William E. Shaw, at Lathrop, in his 26 year.

The deceased suffered from inflammation of the lungs and had been ill but a few days. He was a son of William and Hannah Shaw, and lived here with his parents up to a few years ago. The deceased was a most popular young man and had many friends here who deeply regret his death. The funeral will take place at Lathrop to-morrow. Mrs. S. L. Brown and Mrs. E. A. Doherty, sisters of the deceased, have gone to attend it.

Such goods as you see at Holderman's you can't see anywhere else in Shenandoah.

No Paper To-morrow.

In order that the employees may have ample opportunity to enjoy the festivities attending the advent of Christmas, the publishers of the HERALD will suspend publication to-morrow. The paper will be issued on Wednesday evening with full accounts of all important events during and immediately succeeding the holiday. Meanwhile the publishers extend the compliments of the season to their patrons.

The League.

The membership of the Shenandoah Republican League is increasing rapidly. The discussions that take place in the rooms are of an interesting and instructive character. The league meets every Thursday evening and its roll contains the names of nearly all the prominent Republicans of the town. All Republicans are invited to attend the meeting next Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

CHRISTMAS HERALDINGS.

Notes by Reporters on the Eve of the Festal Day.

SHOP AND MARKET SCENES.

Arrangements for Feasts of Song by the Children of the Many Sunday Schools To-morrow Night.

Christmas Eve is here and brings with it all the attractions that help to bring joy to the old and young. The toy shops are overflowing with the latest products of the inventive genius; the stalls of the poultry dealers are stocked to their utmost capacity with live and dressed turkeys, geese, chickens, ducks, etc.; the confectionery stores present an appearance that make the mouths of the spectators stream, and Christmas trees and shrubbery fill almost every nook and corner. The shoppers are out in force and everything indicates that in spite of the hard times Santa Claus will have a long route to cover before he puts his retailers in the stable to-morrow morning.

The poultry market is very brisk. The supply is great this year, consequently prices are low and the demand is lively.

One of the prettiest business displays in the town is that at Max Schmidt's dry goods store, on North Main street. It is a holiday sight that crowds look upon with unstinted admiration. The windows are arranged with rare artistic taste and many very attractive novelties are introduced.

Another business man who has taken special advantage of the approach of the holiday season to draw trade is Whitelock, the boot and shoe dealer. During last week he gave away upwards of a thousand pounds of candy to his customers.

All the churches have made arrangements to give substantial Christmas enjoyment to the children of their Sunday schools, and to-morrow night most of the edifices will resound with the notes of seasonable carols. The children of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will hold their entertainment in the church at 6:30. There will be a distribution of candy among the scholars and a program of responsive reading and vocal and instrumental music will be rendered.

The children of the Presbyterian Sunday school will assemble in the church at 6:30 to-morrow evening. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the entertainment at this place. A representation of a chimney will be arranged on a platform for the benefit of Santa Claus, who will make a liberal distribution among the children.

The doors of the Evangelical church will be thrown open at 6:30 to-morrow evening and the entertainment will commence at 7. The children will receive gifts at the hands of the Sunday school officials to-morrow afternoon, at two o'clock.

The scholars of the Primitive Methodist Sunday school will have their Christmas celebration to-night. There will be an entertainment and presents will be distributed, but as the church has been put to considerable expense recently on account of improvements the exercises will not be as elaborate as in previous years.

Look in Otto's window and see the fine assortment of layer cakes from 35 cents up. 37 South Main street. 12-21-1f

More plain band, engraved and fancy rings can be selected at Holderman's than at all the jewelry stores in town combined.

Post Office Notice.

To-morrow being a holiday the local post office will not be open for the transaction of business at the usual hours. Collections and deliveries will be made at 7:00 and 10:15 a. m. and the post office will be open until 11 a. m., but not for any money order business. Residents of Forky Run, Ellengowan, Yatesville and Brownsville will receive their mail by the 7:15 a. m. delivery.
