Evening Herald. FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1894

IF Mr. Cleveland had wanted to go gunning for lame ducks, his trip to the South would have been unnecessary. His own party has been full of the crippled fowl ever since the November election.

ANOTHER unsuccessful attempt to restore Qmen Lilluokalani to the throne of Elawali has been made. Its collapse, however, seems to have been of so ignominious a character, and to have excited such universal derision, that it may confidently be expected there will henneforth be an end to all royalist conspiracies. The natives no longer appear to show any interest in the fate of their former sovereign, and are perfectly content with the en lightened rule of the present government. Under the circumstances, the English adventurers who have been the prime mov ers in all the royalist plots that have taken place are now unable to find any of the islanders willing to follow their lead.

AMONG other shortcumings, the present Administration is chargeable with sup plying postage stamps that are a source of great annovance and inconvenience One of the prime virtues in a stamp is that it shall stick. Beauty in a stamp is of secondary importance compared with this. The stamp that does not stick is a stamp that fails of its manifest destiny. Not only is the mugilage on the stamps at present furnished from Washington scanty and inadequate, but the colors on their lucrares, poorly laid on that they "ran" on the slightest provocation. It is not the Postoflics Department but the Treasury Department which is really responsible for the bad quality of the stamp and thus another sin must be laid at the door of Secretary Cartode. An Adminis tration which is unequal to the task of supplying postage stamps capable of performing their full duty cannot expect to be e unlazoned high ou the scroll of histors

The closing months of 1894 have been marked in Europe by such an awakening of revolutionary activities as had not been seen before for many a year. In al most every country there has been open and sometimes wielent demonstration against the existing order, and to day the commanders of the great armel camps are far more concerned with suppressing or preventing domestic revolt than with guarding against foreign attacks. Local causes and conditions are probably in part responsible for this state of affairs : but there is also reason to believe that more general forces are at work, and that this remarkable concert of action is the result of dellberate Socialistic prearrangement rather than of chance. What will come of it all, it would be vain to prophesy. That all Europe, or that any one important state, will be perverted to Socialism is not to be expected. That the agitation of social topics, even though started by the enemies of social order, will result in some good, is entirely probable. There is much room for Improve ment in the social comdition of even the best state in the world. But what is to be most feared is that this Socialistic madness will provoke reaction, and will drive the true liberals in every country. into the ranks of the ultraconservative and repressive parties. This has actually occurred in Belgium, where the party of moderation and progress has vanished. and there are now only Clericals and Socialists. It would be an unspeakable misfortune should it occur generally throughout Europe. Yet nothing is more certain to cause such a reaction than the unreasoning clamor and menace of those who are "expecting all things in an hour."

culation, does expose them to such unfair and destructive competition by state banks that they would be most powerfully influenced to abandon the national system, sell their bouds and organize under the new bill as state banks. This would leave them free to continue the circulation of notes of less than $10 each. while as national banks this most profitable part of their circulation would be withdrawn. The change would save them from two taxes amounting to one per cent. on their entire circulation, which state banks would not have to pay. It would offer the chance by convenient arrangements with state officials to get back into their own keeping as state deposits at least a part of the guarantee fund of 30 per cent. of their circulation which the state banks are permitted to place with a state official, who can then keep the fund as he does other funds wherever he thinks safest and best, while the national banks have to place their funds with the Treasury. These are but part of the inducements which would operate to break down the national system, and to substitute notes of forty-four different kinds of state panks. One of mormous patency is the opportunity to lend money on real estate which in some sections would enable the banks to in crease their conital and business almost indefinitely, and, until the crash comes, their profits also. The men engaged in conducting national banks are not so en tirely different from others engaged in noney lending that they would shrink from the risks attending leans of this character. What restrictions state laws may provide can only be guessed from experience under state banking laws be fore the war, when Democratic money brought repeated disasters. Thirty years under the national system have proved that it is eminently wise in its restrictions and safeguards, and the disposition to overthrow these, and to rush again into the saturnalia of wildcat banking, is not one which any sober business man should encourage.

Sensations Continue Before the Lelow Investigators.

COMSTOCK NOW ACCUSE

WILLIAMS' TESTIMONY CONCLUDED

Then a Green Goods Operator Declares That the Agent of the Society for Suppressing Vice Accepted a Bribe of $1,000 from Him-Constock's Denial.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 .- The feature of the Lexow committee's investigation yester Lexow committees a investigation years day was the introduction of evidence go ing to show that Anthony Compton agent of the Society for the Prevention of Vice, had raken a brice of $1,000 from green goods man to procure the distailast of an indictment against him. Inspector Williams' ordeal on the wit ness stand was also continued, and the en ness stand was also continued, and the er-latence of panel houses and a large num ber of houses of fill fame in his district, while he was contain we shown. He said he found the houses of ill mine there when he came to the district, and left them un molested "because they were fashionable." Mr. Goff also introduced the inspector to the knowledge that Japanese law would not have allowed him to own real estate in Hakodate at the time he claimed in his testimony on Wednesday that he owned property there.

At the conclusion of Inspector Williams' examination Louis S. Streep, a green goods operator, was called. This witness created a sensation by telling a story involving Anthony Comstock. "On May 23, 1889," said Streep, "two in-dictments were found against me for opcrating in green goods. Anthony Com-stock was the prosecutor. Comstock told me that if I would give up the name of my accomplice I should get off with a light punishment. I refused to do so. Edward Bechtel called and gave my wife $5,000 in hills. The ball was at that time $5,000, but was reduced shortly after to $3,000. In August, 1890, I called on Comstock with ny brother, who told me that the state adjectment would be dismissed on pay-nent of $1,000. Constock said: 'Mind, he $1,000 is not in the shape of a bribe. It a subscription to the society." "I asked him whether if I paid him the noncy I might not be brought up at all, in Constock's promise I puid him $1,000. On the following Friday the Indictment was dismissed." Mr. Goff produced the indictments which bore an indorsement bearing data Sept. 29, 1860, that the district attorney having moved that for reasons affecting the administration of laws the indictment was dismissed.

mstock subsequently called on ms and asked me to swear that Bechtel was an accomplice of mine. I refused, and he threatened to bring me before the United States court. I asked him for time to con dder the matter. Benhtel was arrested on the charge of stealing $100 from the Amer can Express company. He was brought before Commissioner Shields. Negotia tions were carried on with him by Com-stock, and he paid Comstock $1,000. The following day he was discharged. United States District Attornay John A. Mott abso got $1,000.

"I was then arrested, and employed Lawyer Hess. I told all about Constock to Commissioner Shields. Comstock wa

IT is shoer nonsense to argue that the Democratic currency bill ought to be put through because the Treasury is to trouble. The fact is that the Treasury is in trouble because this dangerous bill is pending.
