

A DUEL IN NEW JERSEY.

One of the Participants Expires Two Days Wounds in the Head. BLOOMSBURY, N. J., Jan. 1.—Dr. E. L. R. ...

The trouble was caused by jealousy. Bobbler, who is a cousin of Dr. Riegl's wife, had been corresponding with her and paying her frequent visits. On Saturday he paid her a visit which resulted in a war of words between Bobbler and the doctor.

Mrs. Riegl, who is the alleged cause of the trouble, is 29 years of age and very attractive. The parties are well connected, and the affair has caused quite a sensation.

The Shortage in Brooklyn's Finances. BROOKLYN, Jan. 1.—Lawrence J. Torney, the cashier in the county treasurer's office, who, according to the expert accountants' report, is short in his accounts to the amount of $24,148.23, is back in Brooklyn from Augusta, Ga., where he went a few days ago with his wife and sick daughter.

Brutal Wife Murder in Pittsburg. PITTSBURG, Jan. 1.—James McMullen, a laborer living in a small tenement house opposite the exposition buildings at the Point, with a hatchet chopped his wife to death early in the morning, and then attempted suicide. McMullen lived with his wife and three children in three small rooms on the second floor. He has not been working for several months, and his wife and children have been suffering from the necessities of life. After hacking his wife to death the murderer cut his throat from ear to ear. He cannot recover.

President Martin to Retire. NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—President James J. Martin, of the police department, will resign his office within a few days. Mr. Martin himself made the announcement. He said: "My friends know that I have been anxious to retire from the police department for some time. This place has never been congenial to me, and now that the investigation of the department by the Lexow committee has concluded, I intend to resign. I did not resign under fire. My resignation will be in the hands of Mayor Strong in a few days."

Massillon Mines to Remain Closed. CLEVELAND, Jan. 1.—Secretary Phillips, of the Massillon District Coal Operators' association, said concerning the coal situation: "We shall not make any attempt to get the mines at present. We have every reason to believe that the men will reconsider their action taken last Friday and go to work at the price stipulated by the award of the arbitrators. The men have had the public sympathy with them all through their contest until now, and we feel that they will see this very soon."

Breckinridge Gets Nothing. CINCINNATI, Jan. 1.—The case of W. C. P. Breckinridge to recover the receipts levied upon at his lecture last Thursday night was lost by the congressman. Gustav Meyer, who levied upon the receipts for his services in taking depositions in the Pollard case a year ago, was sustained. It is stated that Breckinridge's receipts have been small at other points, and here he lost all. Manager Hollenberg claims the receipts, and will replenish them from Meyer.

Pennington Lawmakers. HARRISBURG, Jan. 1.—The Republican members of the house held their caucus in the supreme court chamber last night. Mr. Walton, of Philadelphia, was nominated for speaker by acclamation. A committee of thirty was chosen to select officers of the house. The house Democrats elected John H. Fow, of Philadelphia, for permanent chairman and nominated Andrew L. Fritz, of Columbia, for speaker.

Closing Up the Pool Rooms. HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 1.—The pool rooms were closed in this city yesterday afternoon, the city council having refused to license them. The mayor informed the operators that all pool rooms that attempted to reopen would be raided, and it is safe to say they will remain closed. This will not affect the race meeting here, as the city will have no jurisdiction over that.

The Addicks Candidate Defeated. DOVER, Del., Jan. 1.—At their caucus last night the Republican members of the house chose McMullen, the Higgins candidate for speaker. He received eight votes, to seven for Moore, the Addicks candidate. On joint ballot three Republican senators will vote. Of those one is known to be an Addicks man, and both sides claim the others.

Killed His Baby Brother. YORK, Pa., Jan. 1.—The 3-year-old son of John Glantz, of Snyderstown, killed his 2 months-old brother. A neighbor's girl was teasing the boy about taking the baby home, when the boy became angry and threw a pair of scissors at her. The missile struck the baby in the head, killing it instantly.

A Hunter Accidentally Killed. RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 1.—Willie Crawford Womack, aged 16, was hunting with his friend, Boyce Scoggins, the latter's gun was accidentally discharged and the entire load struck Womack in the face, almost entirely blowing the head from the body. Scoggins is nearly crazed by the accident.

Overcome by Coal Gas. DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Jan. 1.—Four members of the family of Mrs. Edwin Stout, of Quakertown, this county, were overcome by coal gas, which escaped from a stove. One, a 3-year-old child, died from the effects, and the others were revived with great difficulty.

Driven Insane by Shock. ALMONTE, Ont., Jan. 1.—Miss Bella Armstrong, a wealthy young lady, jumped from a moving train yesterday and broke her neck. Her father witnessed the accident, and the shock drove him insane.

NEW YORK'S NEW GOVERNOR.

Roswell P. Flower Metinates the Helm of State to Levi P. Morton. ALBANY, Jan. 1.—The new governor of the state of New York was inaugurated today, and the ceremony was more modest than usual. Mr. Morton a few weeks ago, when the preliminary preparations for the ceremony began, gave it as his wish that the inaugural ceremony be as simple as possible. Last Wednesday the executive mansion was turned over to Mr. Morton's servants by Mr. DeLahanty, the superintendent of public buildings, and since that time the place has been put in order. Ex-Governor Flower and his family vacated it over a week ago, and certain changes were made to accommodate the needs of the new occupants.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning the Tenth battalion, N. Y. N. G., Lieutenant Colonel Fitch commanding, marched to the executive mansion to act as an escort for the new governor and his staff from the mansion to the capital. Mr. Flower, the retiring governor, and his staff met Governor Morton and his staff in the executive chamber, and the party proceeded to the assembly chamber. There the Rt. Rev. Croswell B. Deane, Episcopal bishop of Albany offered prayer, and Governor Flower made the welcoming address to the governor-elect. Mr. Palmer, the secretary of state, administered the oath of office to Mr. Morton, who then proceeded to make a brief inaugural address. The simple ceremonies closed with music by the band, and the benediction by the official clergy.

Mr. Morton then proceeded to the executive chamber, where he held an informal reception for the public for an hour. This evening Governor and Mrs. Morton will receive the people of Albany at the executive mansion. Mrs. Morton will hold a reception from 3 to 5, and that ceremony will be the beginning, probably, of the most elaborate series of social functions the mansion has seen for many a day. In fact, the advent of the Mortons is expected to be the beginning of the liveliest social season the old Dutch capital has had for years.

John Burns in Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1.—John Burns, M. P., the English labor leader, arrived here from Washington last night and addressed an audience that filled every available spot in Association hall. The meeting was under the auspices of the United Labor League, and among those present were John W. Bonn, M. P., who accompanies Mr. Burns; President McBride, of the American Federation of Labor; P. J. Maguire, the first vice president; Bishop Whitaker and a large number of prominent labor workers and professional men. Burns, who was introduced as "the world's champion of labor," was greeted by vociferous applause, which was continued throughout his very forcible address. The subject upon which he dwelt particularly was trade unionism, which, he said, holds the fort in Philadelphia.

A Romance of the Ocean. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1.—Captain Johnson, of the "ank steamer Ervin, which reached this port yesterday from Antwerp, related a romantic story. Johannes Van Gorpvers, about 37 years old, shipped at Antwerp as a fireman, but the work proved too hard for him, and he was put in the coal bunkers. He was a refined man and wore good clothes. When the vessel was off Bishop's Rock light at the mouth of the English channel, he leaped overboard and was drowned. Among his effects was found a broken miniature of a young woman, which looks as if it had been ground under foot, and a letter from Johannes' brother, a rich ship broker in Amsterdam, telling him to put the ocean between him and Europe. This is all the captain knows. The effects were turned over to the Dutch consul here.

Train Robbery in Alabama. BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 1.—At Livingston, Ala., last night, two masked robbers boarded an express train on the Alabama and Southern road and robbed the express car of its valuables. The scene of the robbery is 120 miles south of here, and details are meagre. The robbers, disguised as passengers, waited until the train was in motion and then going out on the platform, they put on their masks and entered the express car and at the point of pistols compelled the messenger to give up the contents of the safe, supposed to be several thousand dollars. Then they pulled the bell rope, and when the train slowed up escaped to the woods.

Ex-Congressman Butler Going Home. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 1.—H. G. Phillips, a prominent attorney of Goshwin, Ia., arrived here last evening in search of ex-Congressman Walter Butler. He found him at the police station, where Butler had gone during the afternoon to give himself up. Butler told Police Superintendent Powell that he had an irresistible desire to board a train, and was afraid he might leave the city before his friends arrived. Mr. Phillips left for Iowa with Butler. The ex-congressman left his home several weeks ago, and his wife behaved him dead. He says that until a few days ago his mind was a perfect blank.

Mortality of the Metropolis. NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—John I. Nagle, M. D., chief of the bureau of records, made his annual report yesterday. The report shows that the health of the residents of this city has been better during 1894 than in any year since 1874, when the death rate was 17.56 to the 1,000. The deaths in this city in the past year were 41,212, against 44,485 in 1893.

Dreyfus' Sentence Confirmed. PARIS, Jan. 1.—The appeal of Captain Dreyfus, sentenced to be deported for life and to be interned in a fortress after having been convicted of treason in disclosing important military documents to the representative of a foreign nation, was heard by the military council of revision and was unanimously rejected.

NUGGETS OF NEWS. Jack Dempsey and Tommy Ryan are matched to fight at Coney Island Jan. 15. The socialist boycott of brewers in Berlin has ended in a victory for the striking brewery workers. The barge Venus foundered at sea and her crew were landed at Key West by the steamship Adams. New Mexico has a dual legislature, Republicans claiming that five of their members were illegally excluded. Miss Susan Pennington Cooper, the last surviving child of the famous novelist, died at Cooperstown, N. Y., aged 81. Governor Matthews, in his message to the Indiana legislature, vigorously denounces prize fighting and gambling. The loss to Florida fruit growers by the recent frost, on oranges alone, is estimated at $5,200,000. This does not include trees destroyed.
