SINGULAR COURT SCENE.

Conflict Between a Judge and Twelve Jurymen.

REFUSED TO OBEY THE COURT.

In a Suit for Damages Against a Railroad Company the Judge Ordered a Nonsuit and the Jurymen Entered a Vigor-

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.-Never has a United States court in Chicago been the witness of such a scene as occurred in Judge Scaman's court yesterday. An entire jury rebelled against the order of the judge, and though eleven of the jurors afterwards submitted to the directions of the court. one juror, Julius Clayton, refused under protest, to obey the court. With a long imprisonment staring him in the face for contempt of court he was firm, and at the close of the day scored a virtual victory over the judge.
Juror Clayton was sitting on the dam

Juror Clayton was sitting on the damago suit of Marie Cabili against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul raliroad, which began on Monday, Jan. S. Miss Cabili used the crossing at Forty-second street and Packer's alley to reach her place of employment. On the morning of Nov. 25, 1893, she was struck by a switching engine of the defendant road. She was dragged under the engine, one foot being severed. The crew of the train saw the severed. The crew of the train saw the accident, and the engine came to a stop. The brakeman of the train, believing that the engine could be backed off the young woman, signalled the engineer. In back-ing away the wheels again caught the girl, and the other foot was severed and one leg and a shoulder broken. In the evidence before the court the brakeman and the engineer admitted the facts as stated.

The attorney representing the road made a motion, after all the evidence was in, that a nonsuit be entered on the ground that there was no responsibility attached to the road; that the action of the switch engine crew was not wanton nor wilful. The jury was requested to retire, and the motion was argued. Judge Seaman said he would grant the motion, and ordered a

After a hot wrangle between the attor neys Judge Seaman delivered his charge to the jury. He had, he said, nothing but sympathy for the woman, but under the dircumstances there was nothing for the jury to do but to render a verdict for the defendants. "This," he continued, must be your verdict. So say you all?" address ing the jury.

Not a man of the twelve moved nor made a motion of assent. On the faces of the jurors was seen a dogged determina-

Juror Clayton rose, and in a quivering voice said to the court:

"Judge, those are not my sentiments. I cannot agree to render such a verdict,"

The other jurors followed. Clayton's example. Judge Seaman's face flushed a deep crimson, and then, one after another, nearly every juror made a similar state-

Judge Seaman explained to the jury that they were not judges of law, and that the responsibility of the verdict was on him alone. Finally all the jurors except Clayton agreed to render the verdict or lered by the court. The matter was argue at length by the judge and juror, each maintaining his position in a vigorous but manly and dignified manner.

The case was finally dismissed on the stipulation that the order of dismissal should be equivalent to the rendering of a verdiet by the jury upon order of the court and under the protest of the jury. The jury was anxious to render a verdiet of $24,000 for the woman.

TROUBLE FEARED AT COLON

Threats to Destroy the Yewn by Fire-Americans' Property Endangered.

Colox, Colombia, Jan. 17.-The great est excitement prevails here among the native population, and the American resi dents are anxiously hooling for the arrival of a United States warship. This state inffairs is due to the fact that placards have been posted in a number of public places announcing that a plot has been formed to destroy Colon by fire, and that this will be done if wages are not promptly raised in proportion to the cost of living The most serious trouble is anticipated as the plotters threaten to destroy the property of the Panama company, an American concern.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The department of state has received no late advices from United States Minister McKinney re-specting the Panama canal. He is, it is known, keeping a watchful eye on the situation there, and in so doing is aided by the United States consuls at Colon and The last official information received indicated a very unsatisfactory state of affairs on the isthmus, and the minister, who made a careful inspection of the canal work, took a very hopeless view of the completion of the project un-der existing auspices and of the effect on the country of its collapse. There was no special reference to labor troubles, but much was said of the stagnation that pre-

Should there be serious trouble on the isthmus our government undoubtedly would feel constrained, in view of the American interests there, to send warships to Colon and Panama. This was done once before, some years ago, when revolu-tionists undertook to sack and burn Colon. Admiral Jonett, then commanding the North Atlantic station, hastened to the isthmus with two ships. He took aboard many refugees, and when it became evident that the government was unable to protect valuable terminal properties of the railroad a body of United States marines and blue jackets were landed and speedly restored order in the town.

The United States cruiser Atlanta is at Truijillo, on the coast of Honduras. In se of need she could run to Colon in two or three days. There are also at least four men-of-war at San Francisco that could be dispatched to Panama at three days no tice, and arrive there in about ten days.
