SOUTH CAROLINA AND ITALY.

A Controversy That May Lead to International Complications.

COLUMBIA, Jan. 18.—Governor Evans, in the enforcement of the state dispensary law, is likely to involve the country in international complications if he carries out his announced intention of seizing an Italian bark now lying in the Charleston harbor.

Several days ago Italian Consul Costello refused to allow state dispensary constables to search the bark Fortuny. It being claimed that the crew was selling liquor to persons on shore, contrary to the dispensary law. The captain and mate of the vessel both deny that any liquor was sold from the vessel, but one of the constables swears that he bought wine from a member of the crew, and moreover saw numbers of negroes purchase liquors also. The vessel has not been molested pending an investigation of treaties and international laws by Attorney General Barber and Mr. W. Gibb Whaley, of Charleston, who was requested to act with him by the governor. The governor is greatly incensed at the action of Consul Costello, and said today:

"I am satisfied in my own opinion that the consul has made himself obnoxious by his conduct; that he has gone beyond the pale of the law; and that he is simply protecting a floating barroom. He has rendered himself persona non grata to the state, and I will likely ask the United States government to have him removed." He said further that in case the attorney general's opinion coincided with his own he would seize the vessel and arrest such of the men as he thinks have been guilty of violating the laws of the state.

"She won't be allowed to leave," he continued, "until we find out what the situation is. It is coming to a pretty pass if any little scow of a foreign nation can come into this state and violate our laws with impunity, and it shall not be done. If we convict any of the officers of the boat of selling whisky I will confiscate the boat."

Brooklyn's Trolley Strike Still Unsettled.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 18.—Still the great trolley strike remains unsettled, and both the officials of the companies and the strikers claim to be sure of victory. Aside from the breaking of the strike by abstraction on the DeKalb and Franklin avenue lines of the Brooklyn and Newtown Railroad company and the running of a few cars on the Putnam avenue line of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad company the situation is practically unchanged. Presidents Lewis and Norton, of the Brooklyn Heights and the Atlantic Avenue roads, respectively, stand firm. They declare that if the men wish to return to work at the old terms they may do so. If this offer is not satisfactory, the officials further state, their places will be filled by the men who are coming in from outside cities.
