BATTLE OF HONOLULU.

A Royalist... Ho of Honolulu...

COMMISSIONER OF THE ARMY

His is the Only Life Lost in Defending the Government—Several Brief skirmishes, in Which Fourteen Rebels Were Killed and Many Made Prisoners.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The steamer Alameda, just arrived from Auckland and Sydney via Honolulu, brings news of a revolution and bloodshed at Honolulu.

There were no fresh developments in the threatened uprising until last Sunday afternoon, when the marshal's detectives brought in news for that office immediately to summon the cabinet and leading officers of the military and Citizens' Guard for consultation.

On approaching the house the deputy marshal left the squad on the lawn, while he entered the house, and finding Bertlemann and a strange white man there proceeded to read his warrant.

Bertlemann replied: "I know nothing about it. There are no arms here." Brown rushed over to join his squad just as Charles Carter shouted: "There they are under the boatshed," and pointing to a shed in the rear of the lot, and rushing forward, followed by his cousin, Castle, and the others.

Realizing that their case was desperate it was resolved that Brown and Parker should make a dash for their horses, which were tied near the house. This was done with success, and they were soon at the nearest telephone.

Within ten minutes after receiving the telephone of the fight a detail of soldiers was on the way as fast as horses and wheels could carry them, the distance being about four miles.

At daylight a force of natives attacked the guard from Diamond hill, the latter being forced to retire. Shortly after twenty-five more regulars arrived, making the government force fifty, while the royalists numbered 200.

At 2 o'clock on that day the government troops surrounded the rebels that there were arms, but a six-shooter as his car induced him to bring to light several rifles and pistols.

At 6 o'clock the government forces camped for the night, pursuit being impossible in the dense brush. While this was going on the tug Eiau, with a field piece and a detail of sharpshooters, left Honolulu and in a half hour was in a position to shell from the rear the natives whose camp fronted King's command.

WHAT THEY ALL SAY

Beautiful Women Give some Wonderful Information Concerning Female Beauty.

We do not Think it will Take Women Long to Act Upon This Idea.

The poet and philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson, says: "The beauty of a woman is not in her face, but in her eyes, which are windows into her soul."

Beauty of feature and elegance of form have ever been the desire of the feminine mind. And it is a perfectly laudable and natural ambition. Women are born to be beautiful.

And yet how few women attain the beauty which should be theirs, and in so few who are beautiful, how quickly their beauty fades! This is wrong. Women are naturally beautiful—so long as they are in the prime of life.

Good looks and beautiful forms are entirely dependent upon good health. One must have strong nerves and pure blood to be beautiful. Failing to have these, she is liable to all kinds of ailments.

"I have been a sufferer for ten years, and the victim of a large tumor weighing twenty pounds, which I had removed, and I suffered untold agony for many months after."

"I tried the skill of many physicians, all of whom utterly failed to give me any relief. I then used that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and after using a few bottles I was entirely cured."

"To those who have been suffering from various diseases, and have failed to find any relief, I am, to-day, a living testimony and witness to the wonderful and marvelous curative powers of this great medicine. To persons suffering from various diseases, I earnestly recommend the use of this remedy if they would be cured. For further information I will send you a copy of the book 'The Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy' free of charge. It contains full particulars of the disease and the cure, and is a most valuable work for every household.

During the day a large number of prominent royalists were arrested, including the editor of the Honolulu paper, which was suspended, the business manager being since arrested. On Tuesday thirty-four of Honolulu's prominent royalists, not including natives, were under arrest.

At midnight the remaining rebels were being pursued in every direction by small squads of police, the troops returning to the barracks during the night, their clothing torn and their dilapidated appearance showing the effects of their hard trip.

THE ROUSED JURIST.

Judge Ricks Will Explain to the Judiciary Committee.

THE CASE PRACTICALLY SHELVED.

Mr. Bailey, Chairman of the Sub-Committee, Declares That He Will Renew the Charges on His Individual Responsibility as a Member of the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The judiciary committee of the house held a long session yesterday over the Ricks case. Representative Bailey of Texas, presented the majority report, drawn by himself, and Representative Broderick, the minority report. The majority report says the evidence establishes the following facts:

A. J. Ricks became clerk of the circuit court for the northern district of Ohio on March 20, 1878, and served in that capacity until July 31, 1889, when he became the district judge for the same district. During the time while he was clerk there were pending in the circuit court a great many cases brought by John G. Birdsall and the Birdsall Manufacturing company against various defendants, involving a question of patent infringement.

The money out of which Judge Ricks is charged with having defrauded the government, says the report, are the fees for making final records in fifty-five of these cases, which were not finally disposed of until after he had become the judge of the district court. Notwithstanding the fact that Judge Ricks had ceased to be clerk of the court he claimed the right to make the final records and to collect the fees for that work.

In his own testimony Judge Ricks testifies that he reported these fees as earned and received, but he admitted that they were neither received nor earned when he so reported them. The report quotes an answer made during the course of the investigation as to how Judge Ricks ascertained the amount for which he charged himself for records in the Birdsall cases, and says his explanation that he selected fees in the cases where he knew the parties to be solvent, if true, would discredit him, because an honest and faithful officer would not select solvent litigants for his debtors and leave the insolvent ones for the government.

The report goes on to argue that the result of wrongful taking of these fees by Judge Ricks was to deprive Martin W. Sanders, his successor as clerk, of $55 and the government of $100.

The report closes by saying that it finds it impossible to reconcile this conduct with the rules of common honesty, and, therefore, recommends the adoption of the impeachment resolution.

The minority report reviews the charges from a different standpoint, concluding with this recommendation: "In view of all the facts in this case it is our conclusion that Judge Ricks is not guilty of any offense, that there was no intention of wrong doing and that no moral turpitude attaches. We, therefore, recommend that the resolution reported to the house for impeachment be not adopted."

After hearing the reports the judiciary committee adopted a resolution allowing Judge Ricks to come before the committee and be heard. This is unexpected, and looks like killing the case in view of the shortness of time for action.

Speaking of the action taken by the committee, and of his intentions, Mr. Bailey said this morning: "Judge Ricks will appear next Tuesday, and the day will be taken up with an examination of him. An adjournment will be taken until next Friday, and a week will be lost. It would be nonsense to send a resolution for impeachment to the senate thirty days before adjournment. I do not intend to drop the case here. While I am chairman of the sub-committee I must follow the directions of the committee, but as soon as I am released from that office I will bring the resolution up in the house on my individual responsibility as a member."

Saving Fund!

SHARES FOR SALE.

The Safe Deposit Building and Saving Association of Reading, Pa., offers for sale a few hundred shares of stock. This is a good, reliable and prosperous association in which to take shares. Having ready sale for all money, the premium received is large, consequently the stock will mature much sooner than associations located in towns where there is no great demand for money, and building operations are very limited. The value of each share is $20 at maturity. Applications for 25 cents each share. Monthly draw, one dollar per share. Five per cent interest allowed on all payments made in advance for 6 months or longer. Members may withdraw one or all shares at any time by giving 90 days written notice, and are entitled to the full amount of dues paid, with 6 per cent interest after one year, thereby making it an 11 per cent investment. All shareholders are entitled to loans from fund on real estate security. No shares will be forced out.

The fund is run on the same conservative principles as our local funds which have been tried for years and found safe. Any one wishing to invest in a Saving Fund will find it to their interest to call on the local agents and receive full particulars. Rev. H. A. Keyser, D. D., of Mahanoy City, is one of the directors.
