BIG STEAMER WRECKED.

Went Down in Fifty Feet of Water on the Ohio River.

REPORTS OF FATALITIES CONFLICT.

Rescued Passengers Believe That Fully Thirty-five Lives Were Lost, but Dispatches to the Officials of the Company Declare That All Hands Were Rescued.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Jan. 21.—The big New Orleans packet, the State of Missouri, struck a rock on the Indiana side of the Ohio river, near Alton, Ind., Saturday night and went down in fifty feet of water. She gave a heavy lurch forward and sank rapidly. Four of the passengers were picked up near the Kentucky shore and brought here by the steamer City of Owensboro. They swam for life on planks, and reached the Willows. One reached the shore and the others remained in a tree many hours until rescued. They were W. C. Leathers, from Hopkins county, Ky., and a man named Gregory, of Cave-in-Rock, Ill. The names of the other two could not be learned.

These passengers report that the boat struck a rock near the stern and gave a sudden lurch forward. A yawl was launched, but so many crowded into it that it was soon sunk. As the boat lurched again a second yawl was put off from the sinking boat, in which four women and some of the cabin passengers managed to get places. Leathers never swam before, but was able to keep afloat until he reached the Willows. He saw four men drowned near him, but was powerless to act. One chambermaid was picked up by a boat from a farm house near by, and several were picked up further on and taken to Louisville by the steamer Tell City.

One yawl that was upset by the frantic passengers was full of women and children, and all are thought to be lost. There were fifteen cabin and thirty deck passengers and a crew of sixty on board. The surviving passengers think that at least thirty-five were lost.

The cabin and upper works of the boat floated away. The City of Owensboro esbored part of the freight from the cabin deck. In less than ten minutes from the time the boat struck she had gone down. At Rockport and here, as well as at all intermediate points, the bank is lined with skiffs picking up pieces of furniture and watching for dead bodies, but the current is too swift for small craft to get far from shore.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 21.—Commodore Laidley and Captain Wise, of the Cincinnati, Memphis and New Orleans Packet company, that owned the State of Missouri, insist that they have reports from their officers on the wrecked steamer stating that the boat and entire cargo are a total loss, but they do not believe any passengers were lost. It is impossible to get track of all who reached either bank of the river, but they report that the officers are of the opinion that all the passengers will be accounted for. One of the pilots telegraphed his family here that they had a hard time getting ashore, but that no lives were lost.

Still later dispatches say that none of the passengers were drowned, but that at least ten of the crew were lost.

Another River Steamer Wrecked. ALEXANDER, La., Jan. 21.—The Red River line steamer Nat F. Dorsh struck a snag and sunk fourteen miles below here. No lives were lost. The boat has been abandoned by the crew and will prove a total loss.

Prohibited by the Postmaster General. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—Postmaster General Bissell has issued an order prohibiting employes from selling tickets here. To raise a fund for the entertainment of the delegates to the National Letter Carriers' association, which will be held here in September, the local carriers had arranged for a benefit at a theater week after next, and circulated cards containing an advertisement of the entertainment and the statement that tickets could be procured from the carriers. It is thought that some person who received one of the cards made complaint.

A Big Japanese Army Landed. CHEEFOO, Jan. 21.—Yesterday about thirty-five Japanese transports, each towing a couple of junks, and fifteen warships arrived in Yang Ching bay, south of the Shan-Tung promontory. Three of the warships engaged the shore defenses, silencing them after a dozen rounds. There was no further opposition, and the Japanese landed. It is estimated, 85,000 troops. The landing was effected during a heavy snow storm. Yang Ching is thirty-five miles from Wei-Hai-Wei.

Big Suit Against a Railroad. CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Suits aggregating $1,250,000 will be filed against the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad within the next few days. They are to recover for damages caused by the big fire in the lumber district in the evening of Aug. 1, 1894, which swept the entire plants of several lumber companies. It is claimed the fire was started from sparks from a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy engine.

Grand Army Posts Protest. COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19.—The Grand Army post at Liverpool, O., has adopted resolutions protesting against Confederate medals being admitted at the national encampment to be held at Louisville. It is claimed this action is one of the results of recent speeches in congress by southern Democrats with reference to pensions. Other posts in Ohio are considering similar resolutions.

Miss Stevenson's Funeral. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 21.—The remains of Mary G. Stevenson, accompanied by the vice president, Mrs. Stevenson and the other two daughters, arrived here last evening and were conveyed to the residence of the vice president's brother, John Stevenson, where private funeral services were held at 1 p. m., followed by a public funeral at the Second Presbyterian church.

Fought Twenty-five Rounds to a Draw. CONEY ISLAND, Jan. 21.—Young Griffo and George Dixon fought another drawn battle Saturday. Referee Tim Hurst declining to choose between them after twenty-five rounds. The fight was for gate receipts only, and was witnessed by 5,000 persons.

To Make Lynching Expensive. AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 21.—Representative Smith has introduced a bill in the legislature requiring a county to pay to the widow and children of a lynched prisoner a sum not exceeding $5,000.

THE SHREWD SULTAN.

Has a Literary Bureau to Bolster His Government.

The Turkish is probably the only government that maintains a literary bureau for the purpose of creating public opinion in its favor. The Russians have a bureau of censorship, with agents in every post-office of the empire, whose duty is to prevent the circulation of seditious literature and the introduction among the people of radical ideas contrary to the teachings of the church and the policy of the czar.

But the Turkish has a regular and permanent organization of 10 of the brightest literary men and politicians in the sultan's dominions, who are always at work creating sentiment in his favor abroad and at home, and they are very thorough. They not only keep the local press straight on matters of public policy, but confound the enemies of the throne with articles skillfully prepared and furnished to such papers as will print them. They read all the influential foreign papers, too, both of Europe and America, and if any contain articles that are likely to injure the reputation of the sultan or the credit of the government, or prejudice people against the country, some one is employed to answer them or to write in a different vein on the same subject, and in such a way as to correct any false or unfavorable impression that may have been created.

The bureau has its agents in all the commercial centers of Europe, who have access to the columns of the leading periodicals and are always ready to put in a little missionary work. Not long ago an article was printed in a Washington paper reflecting upon the treatment of the Armenians by the Turkish government. In a few weeks a very clever reply appeared in the same paper. It was temperate, diplomatic, interesting and convincing and was prepared by some one perfectly familiar with the subject.—Minneapolis Tribune.

QUEER THINGS IN POLAND.

Superstition Plays a Leading Role With Young Men and Maidens.

It is customary in Polish villages to strew straw over the Christmas eve supper tables, and for the young people, blindfolded or in the dark, to pick out each a straw therefrom. Should the straw be green the lucky maiden expects to wear a bridal wreath or the youth to lead a blushing bride to the altar during the approaching year, but a dried straw foretells to either long waiting, possibly even until death.

In other rural Polish districts on the "Christ's eve" wine, beer and water are placed by a girl between two candles on a table. She then retires into a corner or an adjoining room to watch the result reflected in a mirror hung for this purpose. As the clock strikes midnight a man enters and drinks the wine, she is happy, for her wooer will be rich. Should he drink the beer, she may be content, for the wooer will be well to do. If the water be chosen, her husband will be very poor. But if as the clock strikes no man comes to her table the anxious maiden believes with more than midnight terror, believing that she is doomed to be early the bride of death.

Poland is peculiarly rich in these observations, spreading themselves throughout the year, both sexes being equally superstitious in this respect. On New Year's eve the young unmarried men place themselves before a fire, and bending down look beneath their legs. Should a woman appear in the background it is the one they will marry, but if they see a shape as of a coffin it forebodes for them death during the year close at hand.—Philadelphia Press.

Ancient Medical Proverbs. The Yorkshire folk have a proverbial observation to this effect: "Quickly too'd and quickly got, quickly will thy mother have me," and this has given rise to a lot of learned discussion, for there seems to be doubt as to whether "too'd" means "toothed" or "to God," the former being the interpretation commonly accepted. Others insist that "the early breeding of teeth is a sign of a short life" in spite of the notorious instances to the contrary in the cases of Marcus Curtius Dentatus, Cuetus Paggius Carbo and Richard III. Another proverbial observation has it that "they would be young when they are old" would be old when they are young. A theory highly disapproved of by physicians of the present time is that "children and chickens must always be picking," by which is meant that both must eat often and but little at a time.

Since we have mentioned the physicians, there are ancient proverbs relating to health: Quickly too'd and quickly go. Quickly will thy mother have me. Wash your hands often, your feet seldom and your head never. The best physicians are Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet and Dr. Merryman. Never touch your eye but with your elbow.—Westminster Budget.

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

Proposed Revision of the Currency Question.

PROPOSED NEW PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

To Force a Vote on Chicago's New $4,000,000 Building—Pottsville, Pa., Pottsville, N. J., and Cumberland, Md., Also in Line for New Structures.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The prospect in the senate this week is for more talk than accomplishment. When the senate adjourned on Saturday the senate's attitude towards Hawaii, the proposed recession from the senate amendments to the income tax appropriation, and the Nicaragua bill all occupied in different ways, technically considered, the position of unfinished business.

The income tax question has the right of way by virtue of its being a part of an appropriation bill. The Hawaiian question will in all probability be considered, if not crowded out by the debate on the income tax. Senator Hill is expected to stand out for his income tax amendment. The Nicaragua question still holds its place at the head of the calendar for consideration daily after 3 o'clock. Senator Morgan said today that he was still hopeful of securing a vote on this bill before the close of the week, but if there should be many interruptions he may again be disappointed. Senator Turpie has the floor for a reply to Senator Morgan, and is expected to make one of his characteristic speeches. There will also be other addresses on this subject before the vote is finally taken.

Senator Cookrell expected to ask to have the fortifications appropriation bill taken up as soon as the urgent deficiency bill is out of the way, and thinks there will be no difficulty in getting it through during the week.

The friends of the bankruptcy and territorial admission bills are growing anxious concerning the fate of these measures, and are beginning to be apprehensive that time may not be left for their consideration if the Nicaragua bill be not soon disposed of. The present prospect is against a revival of the financial and currency question in the senate during the week, but much will depend upon the action of the committee on finance at its meeting tomorrow and also upon the attitude of the house of representatives.

This promises to be a busy and important week in the house. The program arranged by the committee on rules before the departure of Speaker Crisp for Asheville, N. C., Saturday night (where he expects to remain a week or two) contemplates the consideration of the public building bills on the calendar, to be followed by the Indian appropriation bill, the agricultural appropriation bills. The committee on rules, after much urging, decided to bring in a closure rule to secure a vote on the bill for a new public building at Chicago to cost $4,000,000.

The improvements for the New York public building are provided for in the sundry civil bill. The other public building bills, six in number, are as follows: Newport, Ky., $100,000; Cumberland, Md., $75,000; South Omaha, Neb., $200,000; Paterson, N. J., $250,000; Brookline, Mass., $75,000; Pottsville, Pa., $60,000.

The program as arranged for the week may be subject to change in case Mr. Springer, chairman of the committee on banking and currency, decides before the end of the week to bring forward his new measure. He has been in constant consultation with Secretary Carlisle for the past week, and is very sanguine that concessions can be made to the silver men which will induce them to withdraw their opposition. He expresses the opinion that he would bring forward the modified bill this week, and that it will pass. This opinion, however, is not generally shared by the Democratic leaders of the house, most of whom do not hesitate to say that they believe all hope of currency legislation at this session is dead.

It is also possible that the resolution for Fifth ward, placed his name with the Citizens Standing Committee as a candidate for Council.

Treasurer Hassler will be at his headquarters 224 West Coal street, up to nine o'clock this evening to receive the names at assessments of candidates.

Any vacancies that may be left on tickets by candidates failing to get the names and assessments in the hands of the Standing Committee within the time fixed will be filled by the committee at a meeting to-morrow night. The committee has this right under the resolution adopted at the joint meeting of committee and candidates last Friday evening.

Candidate for High Constable.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for High Constable, subject to Democratic rules. THOMAS LOWRY, Turkey Run.

Trampled by a Mule.

This movement is the result of action taken by citizens at a meeting held Saturday evening, a sufficient sum having been subscribed by them to start the works, which will be run for the present on the co-operative plan.

Three Wives After Him.

ATTLEBORO, Mass., Jan. 21.—Broker L. F. Chambers has left town and there are three wives, each bearing his name, who seek to know his present whereabouts. One of them, a New York woman, shows a marriage certificate dated ten years ago, and says he deserted her three years ago. There is a woman at Providence who also produces a marriage certificate, and his wife here is well known.

Women Take

a natural interest in what other women do and say; and important it is to all of them to know how to keep well, and get well. Modern civilization bears heavily on our women; they have many aches and pains that man escapes. There is no need to tell about them; every woman knows what her sex suffers. Is all this suffering necessary?
