SHOOTING

AFFRAY.

Two Men Fired Upon at a Polish Christening.

NEITHER BADLY INJURED.

They Were Guests and the Host Seemed to Become Suddenly Possessed of Jealousy—Placed Under Bail.

Peter Stenitus, a resident of the First ward, is indebted to his bad marksmanship for not being a candidate for the gallows. He has shot two men, and evidently does not do harm, but the bullets went wide of the mark. According to the stories of the victims and the accused's own statements the latter is not the kind of a man that should be at large.

Stenitus had a christening at his house and among the visitors were Charles Savitsky, a cousin of Mrs. Stenitus, and John Yanchefsky. Beer flowed freely, of course, and everybody had a good time. There was no quarrel and no hot words were exchanged. Savitsky and Yanchefsky did not remain long, and according to the statements of all the witnesses, they were not intoxicated.

Savitsky was the first to prepare to leave. He stepped up to his cousin and her husband and kissed each good-bye. He was about to leave the place when Stenitus, without any provocation, hit him on the head with a small hammer. The blow did not knock Savitsky down, but it dazed him and before he could fully realize what had happened, or prepare to defend himself, Stenitus drew a revolver and shot him in the left arm, just below the shoulder. Great excitement prevailed and there was a general scramble for the doors and windows. Savitsky was still partly dazed from the blow he had received on the head and did not seem to think of escape. Yanchefsky put his arm around Savitsky's neck and urged him to go home. At the same time Stenitus fired another shot and the bullet passed through Yanchefsky's left hand.

After the second shot all the parties, including the victims, rushed from the house and the trouble ceased. Savitsky and Yanchefsky went to Dr. Spalding's office and had their wounds dressed. The doctor probed for the bullet in Savitsky's arm, but could not find it. He says both wounds are ugly ones, but he does not apprehend any serious consequences.

Stenitus was arrested and taken before Justice Toomey. He was nonchalant and freely acknowledged the shooting. His story of the affair brought a veil of jealousy in it. He stated that during the evening Savitsky spoke privately to Mrs. Stenitus and told her that he could not consider himself her cousin while her husband lived, as he did not like him; that when Savitsky was about to leave the house, and just after the kissing, Savitsky took a strong hold of Stenitus and ground his teeth in an ominous way. Stenitus took this as a threat, hence the attack. He first fired a shot to the floor, he says, and after shooting the men ran out into the alley and fired six shots to attract the attention of the police. According to this he fired nine shots in all. The revolver he used could not be found. It had six barrels and was of 32 calibre. When asked how he could fire nine shots Stenitus said he carried plenty cartridges in his pocket and he reloaded the weapon. Stenitus was put under $500 bail.

ADDRESS TO WORKERS.

Miners Urged to Send Delegates to United Mine Workers' Conventions. EDITOR EVENING HERALD: Will you kindly oblige by allowing me space in your valuable paper to address the following important letter to mine workmen.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN FAHY.

Mahanoy City, Jan. 19, 1895.

To the members of District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America: Having attended the recent meeting of the National Executive Board, held at Columbus, Ohio, wherein was discussed matters of great importance to every member of our organization and from whence was issued the call for our annual national convention to be held at Columbus on February 12, 1895; and having fully considered the progress of our organization in the anthracite field, the deplorable conditions governing our workmen in their employment, etc., and recognizing, as you, too must recognize, the great mutuality of interests between anthracite and bituminous miners to the extent that competition exercises a control power, whereby it becomes necessary that all mine workmen co-operate with each other to the end that our condition as wage earners may be materially bettered.

Not having sufficient time in which to visit all locals before February 12th, I take this means of calling your attention to the absolute necessity of every local union in the anthracite region being represented to the national convention, believing as we do that if you were once represented as a part of such convention it would exercise a far greater influence toward complete organization between anthracite and bituminous miners than can possibly be now made by any other method. This can be done with but little expense to you, as the national organization pays the railroad fare of delegates to the national convention.

All locals having paid dues to the national for the month of November or December are entitled to representation. Locals that have not paid said dues for the above mentioned months will immediately forward same to Patrick Mellyde, national secretary and treasurer, Columbus, Ohio, or send same with delegate to the Pottsville convention. Pay only for members in good standing with your local.

Send your delegate, or delegates, to the district convention at Pottsville, instructed to elect delegates to the national convention. Delegates to the Pottsville convention, January 25th, will please bring blank credential cards sent to their locals from headquarters.

We have determined to continue our efforts to organize the anthracite region, consequently will do all in our power to assist you in sending delegates to the national convention and urge that you do your part in this most important matter. The dark, threatening clouds now covering over every miner and laborer in the land foretell additional hardship and increased suffering and demands our most careful, wise and conservative consideration and united co-operation.

Fraternalty yours,

JOHN FAHY.

Member National Executive Board, United Mine Workers of America. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 19, 1895.

Electric Light Troubles.

Justice Toomey's office was in darkness last night. A wire of the incandescent electric light system broke and fell across the Lakeside Railway trolley wire. The current from the trolley burned out all the lamps in the justice's office.

The street electric lights were out of service last night on account of a wire on South Main street breaking and falling across the Schuylkill Traction Company's wire, which caused a burning of the light wire and disabled the whole system.

Dabb has removed his gallery to Hoffman's old stand, West Centre street.

Shut up Shop.

The effort to revive stock brokerage business in this town has again failed. The experiences of several years ago killed the confidence the people had in that line and apparently it cannot be regained. Cooper & Co. first made the effort last October and continued the business for several weeks, when Hodson & Co., of Philadelphia, took hold and tried to make it go, but with no more success. Yesterday the office was closed permanently.

McElhenny's Popular Cafe.

There is no questioning the fact that the popularity of McElhenny's cafe is owing to that gentleman's perseverance and untiring efforts to please the public. His eating department is certainly one of the best conducted in the state. It embraces everything the market affords, particularly his oyster counter. At present he is handling Shrewsbury, Cherry Stones, Wire River and Lynn Haven bays. Finest oysters in the market.

Sleighing Party.

W. M. Brewer gave a sleighing party to a number of his friends last evening and entertained them royally. They enjoyed a drive to Ringtown and dined at Applegate's hotel. The party comprised Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Franey, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. M. Mellet, Mr. and Mrs. M. Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Breen, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bradigan, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Ackerle, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Clark.

Theatrical Notes.

"The White Squadron" a nautical drama that has had long runs in the large cities, will be the attraction at Ferguson's theatre on the 23th. James Young, the young tragedian who met with excellent success in a series of Shakespearean plays at Ferguson's theatre about two years ago, will appear here again in the near future.

Post Office Inspected.

Post Office Inspector D. C. Owing, of Harrisburg, was a visitor to town yesterday and inspected the local office. He found everything satisfactory. Mr. Owing also inspected the quarters in the Ferguson's theatre building to which it is proposed to move the post office. It is understood the place is favored and the removal may be made about March 1st.

Died.

KING.—On the 22nd inst., at Shenandoah, Pa., Patrick F. King. Funeral will take place on Friday, 25th inst., from the family residence, 39 South Bowers street. High Mass at the Annunciation church, at 10 a. m. Interment in the Annunciation cemetery. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend.

Gallery Moved.

Dabb, the photographer, has moved his gallery to the old Hoffman quarters on West Centre street. He has fitted up a handsome suite of rooms and now has as fine an establishment in his line of business as any in the county.

ENROLLING CANDIDATES

Final Arrangements for the Citizens Party Primaries.

ROLLS CLOSE TO-NIGHT.

All Candidates Must be Properly Enrolled Before Nine O'clock to Get Their Names on the Ticket.

The time in which people who intend to be candidates before the Citizens primaries next Friday must place their names and assessments, will close to-night at nine o'clock. John L. Hassler, the treasurer of the Standing Committee, has been instructed to receive no names after that hour.

The candidates already announced are quite numerous and it is said there will be a rush of names at the eleventh hour. To-morrow night the committee will meet to make arrangements for the printing of the tickets and other preliminaries attending the primaries.

The High Constableness is looked upon as a plum this year. Thus far there are five candidates in the field for the nomination. They are James Emanuel, Jabez Powell, George Knott, Edward Mason and Benjamin F. Woomer. The contest for the nomination will be spirited and should draw a large attendance at the polls.

The hottest contests will be in the Second, Third and Fourth wards and will hinge on the selections for Council and School Board. There are four candidates for Council in the Second and two are to be nominated. The School Directorship in this ward is also exciting some interest, and the same offices form the bones of contention in the Third ward.

There has been considerable speculation as to whether Councilman A. B. Lamb would be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Lamb has ended the uncertainty by announcing that he will be a candidate.

The candidates for Borough Council thus far announced are William D. Chimelewski, First ward; Frank Schmidt, John P. Boehm, F. E. Magargle and George Rohland, Second ward; A. B. Lamb and William Nelawender, Third ward; Daniel Reigel and A. D. Gable, Fourth ward; Richard Reese, Fifth ward.

The aspirants for the Citizens party nominations for School Director are Edward O'Donnell, First ward; John J. Price and B. C. Church, second ward; T. R. Edwards and R. A. Davenport, Third ward; Joseph Daddow and E. D. Beddall, Fourth ward; Thomas S. James, Fifth ward.

George H. Krick will be a candidate for assessor in the Second ward, and B. F. Parrott and Harry Reese will be candidates for the same office in the Third ward.

This afternoon William Meyers, of the Fifth ward, placed his name with the Citizens Standing Committee as a candidate for Council.

Treasurer Hassler will be at his home, 234 West Coal street, up to nine o'clock this evening to receive the names and assessments of candidates.

Any vacancies that may be left on the tickets by candidates failing to get their names and assessments in the hands of the Standing Committee within the time fixed will be filled by the committee at its meeting to-morrow night. The committee has this right under the resolutions adopted at the joint meeting of committee and candidates last Friday evening.

Candidate for High Constable.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for High Constable, subject to Democratic rules. THOMAS LOWERY, Turkey Run.

Trampled by a Mule.

William Shaeffer, a young man employed as a driver at the Shenandoah City colliery, was badly bruised yesterday by being trampled on by a mule. Shaeffer was on a mule's back when some men threw up their arms in front of the animal and scared it. Shaeffer was thrown to the ground and trampled. He had to be carried home.
