SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

The Shapira-Refowich Litigations are Being Multiplied.

AN ENGAGEMENT BROKEN.

It is Said the Litigations Brought on by the Clothier Has Brought Calamity to the Druggist.

Druggist Isaac Shapira is once more installed in his place of business on South Main street, but the legal controversies between him and Levi Refowich are by no means ended. On the contrary, they seem to be multiplying and, according to the statements of the druggist's friends, there will be at least one suit of more than ordinary interest.

It will be remembered, from the accounts heretofore published in the HERALD, that on the 20th inst. Shapira went to New York to get married to a wealthy Boston lady. The next day Refowich took possession of the drug store and closed it up. This step was taken by virtue of an agreement by which Shapira agreed to pay $1,500 for the drug store and to allow Refowich to take possession in case the payment went into default for three months. Shapira heard of the seizure while in New York. He postponed the wedding for two months and hurriedly returned to town. The druggist re-entered his place by effecting an entrance through a cellar way and was subsequently arrested on complaint of Refowich for forcible entry. At the same time Isador Lauterstein, who was in the store and refused to leave, one of Shapira's friends, was also arrested and each were placed under $1,000 bail. The next day Lauterstein caused the arrest of Refowich and Constables Boland and Dando for assault and battery. Each was put under $300 bail.

Refowich remained in possession of the drug store for several days, when Shapira filed a bond in the sum of $1,000, William Neiswenter and Isadore Lauterstein as sureties, and again took charge of the store. Now the mills of justice will be turned and the result of the numerous suits will be awaited with interest.

One of the latest announcements made in connection with the affair is that the druggist has been very much distressed by his betrothed declaring the wedding engagement off, and he will sue Refowich for damages, as he lays the cause for the break in his matrimonial affairs to the legal controversies, which, he claims, are unwarranted.

If the story told by Shapira is true he has been imposed upon. He admits all the power Refowich claims under the written agreement, but avers that he was misled when he executed it. He says that Refowich actually purchased the drug store from the preceding owner as his agent; that the purchase was made for $1,000, but Refowich required an execution of an instrument binding Shapira to pay $1,500; that Refowich represented that he paid $1,400 for the place, and a $100 bonus Shapira was willing to give made the $1,500. Shapira says he has always been willing to pay Refowich what the latter actually paid and the bonus, on account. The balance has since been tendered, but was refused and now the whole matter goes to court.

CLERGYMEN IN SESSION.

Meeting of the Mahanoy Ministerial Association.

SOME INTERESTING THEMES

A Difference of Opinion as to Whether More and Better Work Can be Done During Evening Hours.

The Mahanoy Valley Ministerial Association convened in the basement of the Methodist Episcopal church, on East Oak street, this morning, at ten o'clock, with Rev. William Powick in the chair and Rev. I. A. Gable, of Mahanoy City, serving as secretary.

After a brief address of welcome by the chairman a series of three minute reports were made by the ministers in attendance, viz: Revs. E. Potts, Wm. Penn; J. E. Reber, Orwigsburg; J. H. Smith, Gilberton; E. Pickersgill, Minersville; I. M. Gable, Mahanoy City, and George Gaul, D. D. Pottsville. The reports gave brief statements on the condition of the respective parishes and were very gratifying.

The balance of the session to the noon hour was taken up by a discussion of ministerial study and reading. Rev. Potts read a lengthy and very interesting paper on the subject and Revs. Reber and Smith made addresses. Rev. Reber said he finds he can do more work in two hours at night than during a whole morning. Rev. Smith thinks night work a bad habit.

When the subject was thrown open for general discussion Rev. Gaul spoke at length and very interestingly. He pleaded guilty with Rev. Reber to indulgence in night work. He found he could do most effective work between the hours of 4 p. m. and 10 p. m. than at any time during the day. He was the author of the question under discussion and in presenting it did not refer as much to the time that should be devoted to ministerial study and reading as to the kind of topics that should be taken up. Suggestive reading should be sought more than exhaustive works. Encyclopedias Rev. Gaul has no use for, except for historical subjects and statistics he cannot readily secure elsewhere. He prefers books on individual subjects.

Incidentally Rev. Gaul remarked, and caused a murmur of surprise by it, that the present victorious Minister of War of Japan was his room mate in the Courtland-Sanders College at Philadelphia in 1876.

The Association adjourned at 12:30 for lunch and dined at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage, on South Jardin street, as the guests of Rev. William Powick and wife. The afternoon session opened at 1:30 o'clock with a discussion of "Inter-Collegiate Games—are they physically, mentally or morally justifiable?"

Dabb has removed his gallery to Hoffman's old stand, West Centre street.

Smashed the Furniture. Joe Levanowitz, a resident of the First ward, became angered because his wife went out with a sleighing party and left him home. He sought consolation by smashing all the furniture on the first floor of his house and when about to begin operations upstairs a boarder named William Shesleski interfered. "Let the bedrooms go until to-morrow and by that time I'll get out," advised the boarder, whereupon Levanowitz turned upon him with pugilistic vigor and painted his face in various hues. Joe was put under bail. His wife has forgiven him and he is now working to get enough money with which to settle the case.

Committed to Jail. Martha Stinawicz and Frank Wesdofsky were committed to the Pottsville jail yesterday by Justice Toomey, in default of $300 bail each, on a charge of adultery. The complaint was made by the woman's husband, George. He says Mrs. Stinawicz and Wesdofsky, who was a boarder at his house, were unlawfully intimate and they left his house together. After they left he missed $300 in cash. He failed to show that the couple had taken the money, however, and a charge of larceny was dismissed.

Notice to Taxpayers. Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of the borough of Shenandoah that on and after February 1st, 1895, five (5) per cent. will be added to the taxes for 1894.
