No costs are allowed

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan, 80, - What is known as the Manitoba school case has been a long, todions and expensive litigation. It has kept alive much of racial and religious animosity. Its settlement was much to be desired. The essential facts of the controversy are these:

In 1870 Manitoba was admitted to the Canadian confederation. Its first legislature bassed a school law providing for Protest ent and Cathelle schools, to be supported by these respective religionists. But in 1800 the Greenway government passed an act appropriating all school taxes to the support of a common school system. When, under this law, the city of Winnipeg sought to collect school taxes from Roman Catholics they resisted payment and began an action to contest the constitutionality of the act, contending that under the Manitoba act conferring provincial jurisdiction the logislature had no right to take away the rights of separate denominational schools held by the Catholics prior to federation.

The courts of Manitoba upheld the provincial government, but the Catholics kept pushing the case until finally it reached the importal privy council, the court of last resort. The decision of that body permits a reopening of the case.

All these notes were in Stone's own handwriting, and their detec-tion was made by Mr. J. A.
