WAITING ROOM

Charles Lehe Succumbed to Heart Disease This Morning.

THERE WAS NO WARNING.

Wait for a Train.

Charles Lehe, an old and highly respected resident of this town, died suddenly this morning. He passed away in the gentlemen's waiting room of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad pasenger depot, on East Centre street, a about seven o'clock, while waiting the arrival of a train to take him to Wm. Penn, where he had been employed as colliery blacksmith for years.

The deceased resided with his wife and family on West Cherry street. This morning he arose early in excellent spirits and apparently the best of health. After eating a hearty breakfast he walked to the depot. Passing into the waiting room he bade Edward Maugam a pleasant 'good morning" and took a seat, Almost immediately after Mangam noticed that Lehe's manner changed. His features became fixed, the color left them and his limbs appeared to straighten out and stiffen. Mangam thought the unfortunate man had been seized by a fit and summoned Ticket Agent Thomas Farrell, who rubbed the victim's hands and limbs vigorously for a while, but perceiving no signs of recovery hurried away to summon a physician, leaving Mangam with the victim.

Dr. Hamilton responded to the call. He found the man dead. Nothing could be done except to notify the relatives. This painful duty was performed without delay, and Undertaker Williams was summoned to take charge of the remains. They were removed to the family resi

Mr. Lehe was a white haired, venerable looking man, 6l years of age, and one of of a very cheerful and social disposition and his friends were legion. His occupation was that of blacksmithing, and he served in that capacity at the Wm. Penn colliery for the past twelve years. He worked at the West Shenandoah colliery for a number of years.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Lewis Lehe, and Misses Vinnie, Lizzie and Alice Lehe. Miss Vinnie is the oldest daughter and resides at Baltimore. The rest of the children reside at home. Miss Alice is one of the teachers in the local public schools. Mr. Lehe was a member of Washington Camp No. 206, P. O. S.

POLITICAL POINTS.

What the Local Politicians of Both Parties Are Doing.

Vote the Citizens ticket straight. The election is little over a week off. If you have paid your taxes you can

Once again we remark, this is not a Democratic year. See that your neighbor exercises his right of franchise For the next ten days the local politi. TRAINS RUNNING AGAIN ! dans will be busy.

The ward assessors are elected for a erm of three years. This is not a Democratic year, either ocally or otherwise. The wise ones say the Fourth ward will e in the Citizens column this year. At least one Democratic member of the chool Board is on the anxious bench. Some quiet but effective work is being done by the candidates of both parties.

The candidates on the Citizens ticket compare favorably with their opponents in every respect. The Citizens Standing Committee will meet this evening, in the rooms of the Republican League. James Emanuel is leading his opponent for High Constable, and will be re-elected by a large majority. No member of the Citizens party should throw away his vote this year. Vote the ticket from top to bottom.

The people are clamoring for a change of local administration, and what the people want they generally get.

There is no dissatisfaction in the Third ward, much to the chagrin of a few ambitious Democrats in that ward. Magargle and Boehm make a strong team, and even their opponents will acknowledge this after the 19th inst. Richard Reese is making a strong canvass for Council in the Fifth ward, and has the united support of his party.

The Republican League is active in the present campaign, and their work will show itself after the votes are counted. When the vote of the First ward, the Gibraltar of the local Democracy, is counted, it will surprise the "unterrified." This is a bad time for complimentary roting. One vote may decide the complexion of either the School Board or Council. If your husband keeps late hours at presents, he is excusable. The borough is in danger of another year of Demo cratic administration.

The Democrats' little scheme in the Third ward will avail them nothing David R. James will be elected to Coun cll by a handsome majority. J. J. Price will be the next representative from the Second ward on the School Board. He has no warmer supporter two sons and three daughters, Daniel and than his recent opponent for the nomina The Democrats see the handwriting on the wall, and are working like beavers for success. It behooves every Citizen voter to be out on election day, and to vote the ticket straight. To control the Borough Council the itizens party must elect five of the six conneilmen. The election of two School Directors, however, will give that party a majority in the School Board.

The Democrats control both the Bor ough Council and the School Board at present, and it might be well for voters to study well the record of those two bodies before casting their ballots to continue that party in power.

Pratt, of provided her ticket is presented with of horses. The Schuylkill Traction Comanother paid reserved seat ticket. This pany disregarded the notice. The boroffer is good only for this evening, to ough authorities put a gang of men see the sensational comedy drama, "Gold King." Seats are now on sale at Kirlin's upper end of Coal street shoveling back drug store. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Dress Caught Fire.

Presence of mind and prompt action on the part of Michael J. Reilly, a clerk in Chief Burgess Burns gave orders that all Keiter's store on North Main street, saved ida, the eleven-year-old daughter of F. J. Portz, from very serious and perhaps fatal injuries Saturday afternoon. The child streets before the order was complied went into the store to make purchases and stood so close to a stove that her dress caught fire. She made an attempt to run out of the store, but Mr. Reilly grabbed and held her until he succeeded in pulling off the burning portion of the dress and extinguished the blaze. Both the girl and it meets here in regard to the cleaning of her rescuerescaped injury.

Ignited by Wires.

The fire department was called to the residence of Mrs. Mann, at the corner of Those who travel now have a two fold Oak and West streets, at about 5:30 reason to take the Rand-McNally Guide, o'clock Saturday evening, but its services were not required. In changing the posttion of an electric lamp the wires were crossed and the defective insolation caused a blaze that set fire to the wall paper in the hallway. Very little damage was done.

ON THE MOVE

The Blizzard's Victims Hasten to Their Homes.

The Electric Railways are Also in Operation, But are Held Back by the Borough Council's Orders.

The backbone of the blizzard seems to be effectually broken and railway and other business is once more on the move Belated travelers are arriving in and departing from the town, and in a day or two all branches of business will have assumed the shape they had before the blizzard interfered.

Railway connections to all points on the Lehigh Valley, Philadelphia & Reading and Pennsylvania railroads were opened this morning. The lines were open to many points yesterday, but travelers were not given lany assurances that they would reach their destinations without inconvenience. The Pennsylvania ran its night train from Pottsville to this town Saturday night, the train leaving the former place at ten o'clock. The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company ran a passenger train from Shamokin to town Saturday afternoon. It brought several people who left here on Thursday to attend the Westervelt funeral at Trev

The same company early yesterday morning ran a train to town from Delano for the benefit of residents of this place who work at the shops in Delano and who remained snow-bound at the latter place since Thursday.

The P. & R. Railroad Company had a wreck crew at work all day yesterday at the Cambridge colliery crossing removing the tank and engine wrecked there on Saturday.

The Lehigh Valley line north of Delano was declared open this morning. To accomplish this five engines and a snow plow were kept busy all day yesterday. At one place the plow jumped the track and went over an embankment, disap pearing from sight in the snow. The plow was not missed at the time it disappeared and the crew had some lifficulty in recovering it. To-day tickets for all points were being old at the depots of all the railroads. The last of the drummers who were tied up at the hotels here got away this morn-

The Reading party that took chances on the P. & R. train that left here at about one o'clock Saturday afternoon reached Reading Saturday evening.

The electric rallways have recovered from the effects of the storm with much Lakeside Railway Company succeeded in running its cars as far as Bowers street, in this town, by eleven o'clock yesterday norning, and the Schuylkill Traction ompany ran several cars up to Glover's to the end of their lines in town had not Chief Burgess Burns interfered to enforce the resolution of the Borough Council relative to the cleaning of snow from the tracks. The Burgess refused to allow the companies to run their cars through the streets until they made the roads safe. He would not allow them to throw the snow to the sides of the tracks in heaps, as it would make the roads dangerous for vehicles. The Lakeside Railway Company overcame the objection by the use at work this morning at the snow that had been thrown off the track. While they were doing this a gang of the company's men were shoveling snow off the track at the lower end of Coal street. snow taken from the track should be carted away, and said he would arrest any man who would run a car through the with. The Burgess went down to Girardville to give personal notice to the managers of the road. The result of his trip has not been learned. The Traction Company is meeting with the same objection in Mahanoy City that

To Race Here To-day.

The foot race for $100 a side which was to have taken place at Mahanoy City on Saturday between Roach, of Girardville, and Griffith, of Ashland, was postponed on account of the storm and fixed for to day, between 3 and 4 o'clock, at the old Columbia Park track in this town. "The Circus Girl" Company arrived in own at four o'clock Saturday afternoon after three days of hardship from the storm and gave a performance in Jerguson's theatre in the evening before a very small house. All the performers seemed to be suffering from the effects of their experiences and the singing of one of the young women was very much marred by an involuntary cough between lines. The company traveled from Lehighton to Stroudsburg by wagon road on Thursday night, making the distance, 35 miles, in eleven hours. It managed to get to Lansford and performed there on Friday. At So'clock Saturday morning the company started for Shenandoah, arriving here at 4 in the afternoon. MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

A Driver at the Brewery Carries Sixteen Stitches. Two Poles employed at the Columb is Brewery quarreled Saturday night over the placing of a wagon. One of thems applied a vite epithet to the other and received a crack from the bridle in return. The one who struck the blow ran, but alipped and in such a position that his head fell close to the hoofs of a vicious horse, which kicked at the prostrate man several times and cut his face and head to badly that sixteen stitches were required to dress the injuries. It is surprising the man was not killed.

The Scheifly Funeral. The funeral of the late John Scheins ook place at noon to-day from the family esidence, on East Oak street. A delegation of Watkin Waters Post No. 146, G. A. R , of which the deceased was a member, and many prominent citizens escorted the remains to the P. & R. depot. Rev. Robert O Boyle, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, conducted the ceremonier at the residence. Messrs. B. G. Heis, A. Womer, William Malia, Samuel Cannon, John Dando and Philip Miller were the pall bearers and escorted the remains as representatives of the Pest to Tamaqua, where Doubleday Post, G. A.
