IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

Both Branches of Congress Discussing Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The financial question again came forward in the senate yesterday when Mr. Hill (N. Y.) presented a resolution defining the policy of the government to pay its bonds in gold in case the parity between gold and silver could not be successfully maintained. Mr. Stewart (Nev.), representing the radical silver element, submitted a counter resolution declaring that the government had no legal right to prefer gold to silver. The resolutions went over until the senate rules, but they offer an opportunity for a renewal of spirited conflict over the financial situation. Most of the day was spent on the postoffice appropriation bill, a spirited contest being made against the senate amendment giving the postmaster general discretion in expending the $3,300,000 for railway postal routes. There is such freedom of debate in the senate that Mr. Allen (Neb.) branched off into an elaborate presentation of the alleged frauds in the last Alabama election. Mr. Pettigrew (S. D.) presented a resolution directing the president to secure private counsel to prosecute the rights of the government against the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads. The senate had not completed the postoffice appropriation bill up to the time of adjournment.

The legislative appropriation bill, to which the house devoted yesterday, was completed save for the paragraph relating to the pension office. Several amendments were agreed to, among them to allow the public printer to bid for the work of publishing the Patent Office Gazette; to allow courts of appeals to use half the surplus fees of the clerks of said courts for the purchase of law books; to establish a refinery at the Helena, Mont., assay office separating gold and silver and molding them into ingots, bars, etc., and to reimburse the claims of the Cherokee nation for the loss of their land under early treaties with that nation.

School Teacher Frozen to Death.

LYONS, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Davis, the teacher of the district school three miles north of this village, was found yesterday frozen to death in a snow bank, where she had lain since Friday morning. The teacher boarded two miles from the school house, and on account of the storm Thursday decided to stay over night in the school house. No tidings of the woman having since been heard a searching party was organized yesterday, and about a mile from the school house her body was found. It is believed that she started for her boarding house through the blizzard on Friday morning. Mrs. Davis was about 25 years old.

Frozen to Death in a Haystack.

BYRON, O., Feb. 12.—While breaking into a stack of hay that was wintered in an unused barn Gideon Falls, a farmer living a short distance from this town, discovered the bodies of two men who had evidently taken shelter in the barn during the storm last week and had been frozen to death. On the clothing of one of the men, who was apparently about 35 years of age, was a traveling card of the Metal Workers' union, Denver, Colo., issued to Frank P. Hart. Nothing was found on the other to enable identification.

Nine Prisoners Break Jail.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—Nine prisoners escaped from the officers of the Athens county jail yesterday. They bored out a panel of the inside door of the jail, giving access to the outer door. Six of the nine were in for felonies. Four went east on the Baltimore and Ohio and crossed the river at Belpr. Officers are in close pursuit. The principal prisoners are Joseph Richardson, John Hasmanson, Frank Conroy, William Neilson, Isaiah Moon and Howard Bowen.

Eight Sailors Rescued.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Pilot boat America arrived here today with the crew of the schooner Rose, Esterbrook, of Boston, eight in all. On Saturday the America sighted the schooner flying signals of distress, bore down to her and stood by for sixteen hours until 2 a. m. on Sunday, when she succeeded in rescuing the crew of eight men. Fifteen minutes after the rescue the schooner sank from sight.

Looks Like a Murder Case.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 12.—C. A. Watkins was found dead in his house in the southern part of town yesterday. He had evidently been dead some days, and the indications are that he was murdered. There is a bruise on the forehead as from the blow of a blunt instrument. Watkins had some money when last seen, and no trace of it can now be found.

"Lize, the Man," Got Ten Years.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Lizelle Boguan, alias "Lize, the Man," was sentenced by Judge Ingraham in the court of oyer and terminer to ten years in the state prison. She was convicted of manslaughter in killing Bridget Gorman on Jan. 6 at No. 30 Mott street by throwing a lighted lamp at her.

THE LIGHT QUESTION.

"Index" Has More to Say Upon the Illuminating Power.

The suggestion made in this column the other day that the borough should own an electric light plant has certainly touched a popular chord among the readers of the HERALD. I find the sentiment to be almost unanimous in its favor, and it would only require some one to make a move in pushing the project to procure the legal endorsement of the citizens of the town. When you treat upon a subject that affects a man's pocket book, you will receive his undivided attention. That is the case with the light question—it affects every household, by a reduced rate for illuminating power. There is no denying the fact that the citizens in general would be greatly benefited, but there are a certain number of residents of the town whose interests might, and undoubtedly would, be sacrificed by the project. I refer to the stockholders of the electric light companies, most of whom are among the largest taxpayers in the town. By their enterprise they have furnished Shenandoah with the best electric light in the county, and brought the town from the "candle-dip" to the latest system of illumination, and for this they are to be commended in strong terms. Others had the same opportunity to invest their money, but lacking the necessary spirit of public enterprise, or through fear of financial loss, they failed to grasp the opportunity. For the men who are at the head of these companies I have nothing but the highest praise. What is written on this subject was the stockholder's burden of the already highly-taxed residents of the town, and at the same time increase materially the revenues of the borough. This is a plain statement of my motives, and I make them public in order that those of our citizens who have stock in these companies may not impugn them.

If the movement ever assumes proper shape I should certainly favor the borough purchasing the present plants at a reasonable figure. The stockholders, I am positive, would be willing to sell, as I am informed by several that their plants are not paying. This statement, of course, must be "taken with a grain of salt." The machinery used at electric stations can be bought to-day at almost fifty per cent, less than what the present plants cost, and this may be one reason why the dividends are not as great as the local investors anticipated.

The people of Tamaqua will have their own electric light plant, the same as they do their water works. The vote on the question at the approaching election will be favorable. Tamaqua may be a slow town, in a great many respects, but the people certainly have more advanced ideas on certain public enterprises than those of many boasted wide-awake towns. Ashland is another neighboring town that is seriously thinking of procuring an electric system controlled by the borough.

There are not many of your readers, perhaps, who know the circumstances relative to the introduction of bananas into this town. In conversation with a pioneer resident, yesterday, he informed me that while the Grant Band was holding a fair to raise money for their first uniforms and instruments, a member of the committee was sent to Philadelphia to purchase novelties for the fair. Among his purchases were four barrels of red and yellow bananas. When they arrived the bunches were hung up in the hall. No one appeared to know what they were nor for what purpose they were intended. The committeeman was criticised by his fellow members for throwing money away on such worthless things, and was subsequently nicknamed "Banana." None of the delicious fruit was sold until the closing days of the fair, when one or two bunches were disposed of. The balance was used to pelt at the patrons of the fair. A month or two afterwards, however, one of the truck dealers had the hardihood to order a bunch of the fruit, and he had no difficulty in disposing of it. From that time on bananas have commanded ready sale here.

When the miners of this region were given a trip to Philadelphia by F. B. Gowen, to attend the Centennial exhibition in 1876, they were furnished refreshments in the park. Beside each plate was a large banana or two. Many of the Schuylkill countians, not knowing what they were, called them "sweet pickles," after taking a bite or two. Since then "sweet pickles" became a bye word in the coal region.

The peddler question, I find, has stirred up considerable interest among the town merchants. If the merchant is compelled to pay high rents, mercantile and other taxes, they should be protected from these non-taxpaying, itinerant dealers. A peddler is a peddler, no matter of what nationality, and the business should be indiscriminately suppressed. If it is not the legitimate merchant will be compelled to retire. Let the merchants organize, and act upon the suggestion offered in a previous article in reference to employing a detective, with the necessary legal power, and this nuisance will be abated. It will require united action, however, on the part of our mercantile men.

Pottsville is not the only town in the region that is headquarters for the peddlers, where they are supplied with shoddy goods. Shenandoah, I am informed, supplies more goods to these people than any two towns in the county. There are among us some seventy or eighty Armenians nearly every one of whom is a peddler. These, with the peddlers of other nationalities, form quite an army that legitimate business men have to contend with. The peddler must go.

Pottsville is to have an improved night telegraph service. Here the office closes at 8 p. m. From that hour till 7 next morning we are entirely cut off from the outside world. Give us an all-night service.

The failure of the Grant Band to go to Shanoktin on Friday, owing to the blizzard, lost the members a royal reception, if one may be allowed to accept the past as a criterion. I notice the Shamokin papers copied the article appearing in this column in reference to the band's first visit to that town, and it was no doubt pleasant reading to many of the older citizens of that town.

Four Fishermen Probably Drowned.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—After having been suspended for several days by reason of the storm and ice, communication with Swinburne Island was resumed yesterday. Nothing has been heard or seen on the island of the four fishermen belonging to the schooner Emma, which drifted ashore in the ice on the night of Feb. 7. The boat's crew left their vessel in a vain attempt to reach Staten Island, and their fate still remains a mystery.

Run Down by a Sleigh.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—General Cyrus Buzby, of the interior department, was knocked down by a fast driven sleigh late yesterday afternoon and trampled on by the horse attached to it. He has a bad scalp wound, and it is thought he may have been injured internally. He was taken to the Emergency hospital. The physicians cannot say whether or not he will recover.

Hood's Saved My Life

I Can Honestly Say This

"For years I was in a very serious condition with catarrh of the stomach, bowels and bladder. I suffered intensely from dyspepsia, and in fact was a miserable wreck, merely a skeleton. I seemed to go from bad to worse. I really wished I was dead. I had no rest day or night. I did not know what to do. I had taken so much medicine of the wrong kind that it had poisoned me, and my finger nails began to turn black and some fell to pieces. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had faith in the medicine, and it did more for me than all prescriptions. I have gradually regained perfect health, am entirely free from catarrh of the bowels, and pain in my back. My recovery is simply marvelous." W. R. Young, Potter's Mills, Pa.
