TROUBLOUS TIMES AT PANAMA.

The Revolution More Serious Than Government Reports Admit. New York, Feb. 13.—A late arrival from the isthmus of Panama brings information of the seriousness of the revolution now in progress in the republic of Colombia.

All passenger ships arriving at Colon are closely examined for suspected sympathizers and munitions of war, and the cable lines are under government surveillance, so that all information received outside of the republic is wholly in favor of the government and extremely unfavorable.

The Snow Covered Area. BERTHINGTON, Feb. 13.—A chart issued by the weather bureau shows that east of the Mississippi river the snow covered area has reached unusually low latitudes, and that from northern Georgia, eastern Tennessee and the western part of the Carolinas northward to New England the ground is snow covered with greater depths than at any previous time during the winter.

ANOTHER INTERESTING LETTER.

From a Regular Contributor to the "Herald" Columns. The question "Will ice be cheaper next summer?" has been asked frequently of late in my presence, and it is one of those conundrums that have no answers. The ice men, generally, have an excuse to offer for the high rate the article is sold to consumers when the time arrives for Old Sol to get in his work. I have grave doubts about ice being any cheaper next summer than it was during the last season, although one would naturally suppose that it would so follow since the crop has been a most plentiful one and of the very best quality as to thickness and solidity. Considerable expense is necessary in cutting and harvesting this article; there is much waste during warm weather, and the expense of delivering it to customers and the wages of employees, all go to foot up a large bill of expenses for the ice men. Then, again, the iceberg, like the potato-bug, plays havoc with the crop. I never saw the bug, but I am reliably informed that there is such an insect, and Paris green will not drive them away.

President Cleveland informs an anxious people that the dark clouds are breaking, and that the country will soon be enjoying good times and prosperity once more. O, hasten the day! It cannot come too soon. Perhaps His Excellency refers to the abdication of ex-Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii, as that one of the "black" clouds that has hovered over the President and his "cuckoo" for a year or more past. Now watch the activity of the politicians of both parties for the next few days. They will be here, there and everywhere, button-holing the poor innocent voter and importuning them to desert the party of their fathers. Wives and sweethearts will have to put up with their absence in the evenings until the election is over. This is a privilege vouchsafed the American voter, and he will be amiss in his duties if he does not help to save the country once or twice in each year.

Senator Coyle appears to have no desire to hide his light under the traditional bushel. His voice is raised for or against every question that affects his constituents. I have a great hatred for "clams" in any legislative body, whether in Congress, state legislatures or in local bodies. No matter whether one is opposed to a measure or not, he should have the manhood to express his opinion. I must confess I am no great admirer of the Senator from this district, but I give him credit for being alert at all times.

Quay county, from present indications, is going to be a fixed fact. And why not? The people living within the borders of the contemplated county are almost unanimous in favor of the movement, while the territory is within the legal requirements, and Hazleton, the proposed county seat, is far enough away from the present county seat of Luzerne. The people of Hazleton are to be congratulated upon their expected good luck, and they deserve all they will get. The people of that thriving town are enterprising and full of that Western push that always counts. There is nothing slow about them, and they showed their common sense when they voted in favor of a city charter and retired the old mossbacks and their methods. With the new county as a sure fact, real estate in that section will take a turn upwards. The prospect of spending $50,000 or $100,000 among the people for the erection of a court house, jail and other public buildings is sufficient to make Hazletonians the envy of their neighbors. There is also a likelihood of receiving an appropriation for a government building in the near future.

Our own town might have been much better off if the people had not taken a Rip Van Winkle sleep and displayed the selfish side of their natures. The defeat of the city charter, in my opinion, was a setback that will take the town many years from which to recover. Its adoption would have marked a new era in the town's history, by giving us a better and more economical system of government, more substantial thoroughfares, and would have been the means of inducing capitalists to locate here and invest their money in various enterprises.

The whole trouble with the town lies in the fact that there are too many old grannies living in our midst who are fearful that it would cost a little more to run a city than it does a borough. I have often regretted that residents of Shenandoah could not be brought to realize the advantages of a city government. Towns like Shamokin, Mahanoy City, Pottsville and our own borough ought to be made cities by legislative enactment. Their population is too large to be confined to borough regulations.

The Girl Surrendered.

Justice Dangler yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of a young woman named Julia Hiley, who had been employed as a domestic in the house of Frank Hess, on West Coal street. The warrant was issued at the instance of Mrs. Hess, who charged the accused with stealing four dresses and three blouses valued at $85. The warrant was placed in the hands of Constable Thomas Toth, who traced the young woman to a hotel in Mt. Carmel. She at first denied all knowledge of the stolen articles, but subsequently rendered them and paid the costs of the suit to avoid a trip to this place with the constable.

Idle Gossip. Despite repeated statements to the contrary by the family, reports continue in circulation to the effect that Charles Lebe, the man who dropped dead in the Philadelphia & Reading depot on Monday morning, is not dead, but is in a trance. These reports arise from idle gossip and have not the slightest foundation in fact. The body retained some warmth for an hour or so after death set in, but that was due to the suddenness of the fatal attack. That life is extinct in this case there can be no doubt. Dr. Hamilton examined the remains and is positive on this point. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.
