THE bridge arbitrary represents the kind of a tariff that is paid entirely by the consumer.

UNDER the Democratic tariff policy, the importation of gold is promoted by the exportation of bonds.

AS A RESULT of the war, coal has been offering in Chicago at $1.10 a ton by the car load on the tracks.

In a very gracious, patriotic message Gov. Richards has signed a bill passed by the Wyoming Legislature to establish a Home for the disabled soldiers and sailors of that state.

It is very difficult to make the average every-day man understand why a few weeks ago the government could get $1.17 for a 10-year bond payable in coin, and now but $1.04 for a 30-year bond payable in gold.

THE Hawaiian question grows to be a master middle than ever. Dole and his minions, with their talk of execution and blood vengeance, are almost as contemptible as Liliuokalani and her court.

THE existing financial problem could be quickly solved if Congress would consent to deal with it as a business matter instead of a political question.

Some people of Hebrew blood are taking vigorous exception to the character of Svengali in "Trilby."

THE posthumous influence of great men is one of the forces in history that contributes largely to the shaping of events and the adjustment of conditions.

It is astonishing how eager men are to hold office, even when there is nothing in it.

Mexico has shown her recent progress in no other way more plainly than by her willingness to arbitrate the boundary question with Mexico.

A political scandal. Some of the results of applying politics to business are exemplified in the construction of the most famous building in America today—the state capitol at Albany.

The New York Herald has unearthed from the moldy archives of the past a few of the vicissitudes this structure has passed through in the course of its sufferings at the hands of politicians.

Exorbitant prices were charged for work on the ill fated house. An investigating committee found that John Smith, Timothy J. Sullivan and the state superintendent of public buildings—actually the state superintendent of public buildings—had conspired together and charged over $270,000 for work worth only $165,000.

Anybody who was anybody's friend could get a job on the works, though he did not know a hod from a hole in the ground.

Maxim, the American, is trying to make an airship which can be steered through the atmosphere and carry passengers.

ONE OF YOUR WANTS.

In Considering Your Needs Do Not Forget This.

If You Do You Will Make a Serious Mistake at this Season.

Something of Deep and Peculiar Interest Just Now.

There are many needs during the spring months, but none more necessary or urgent than the use of a spring medicine.

Mrs. C. L. French, of Hardwick, Vt., can tell you out of her own experience just what to do.

"Three years ago," she says, "I was completely prostrated from nervous trouble. I could not do anything. I was confined to my bed much of the time, and was unable to attend to my business for three months."

"I could not sleep for my whole nervous system was prostrated. My trouble was brought on by overwork and loss of sleep."

"I continued it until now, when I can say that I am as well as I ever was. I certainly think this is the best medicine I ever knew of."

It is impossible to express the good which this wonderful medicine is doing for suffering humanity.

FRED DOUGLASS DEAD.

The Great Colored Orator a Victim of Heart Disease.

DEATH CAME WITHOUT WARNING.

Life Sketch of a Man Who, Though Born a Slave, Gained National Fame and Political Preference Through the Brilliance of His Oratory.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Frederick Douglass, the noted freedman, orator and diplomat, died a few minutes before 7 o'clock last night at his residence in Anacostia, a suburb of this city, of heart disease.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS appeared to be a little exhausted from the climb up the steep flight of steps leading from the street to the house, which is on a high terrace.

The story of this second marriage was a romantic one. Miss Helen Pitts, whom he married, was a New England woman, of middle age, a clerk in the office of the recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia when Mr. Douglass was appointed to that office.

Frederick Douglass was born near Easton, Talbot county, Md., in February, 1817. His mother was a negro slave and his father a white man.

In September, 1838, he fled from Baltimore and made his way to New York. Hence he went to New Bedford, Mass., where he married and lived for two or three years, supporting himself by day labor on the wharves and in various workshops.

In 1840 he went to Europe and lectured on slavery to enthusiastic audiences in nearly all of the large towns of Great Britain.

In 1859 the John Brown riots took place in Virginia. He was supposed to be implicated in these, and Governor Wise of Virginia, made requisition for his arrest upon the governor of Michigan.

After the abolition of slavery he discontinued the publication of his paper and applied himself to the preparation and delivery of lyceum lectures.

After the abolition of slavery he discontinued the publication of his paper and applied himself to the preparation and delivery of lyceum lectures.

In 1879 he was appointed United States marshal for the District of Columbia. After this he became recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, from which office he was removed by President Cleveland in 1886.

The Haytian ministry was the last position in the gift of the United States held by Mr. Douglass.

Forecast for 1895

Fair trade winds, with increasing velocity in all branches of business, followed by frequent showers of Dollars into the coffers of the HERALD advertisers.

Do You Want To be in the Shower of Dollars

Everybody in Shenandoah looks to the columns of

The... Herald

For an advertisement of anything worth bringing to the notice of the public. They rarely waste time over other papers. Do you see the point?

..The Moral..

Is that if you have any inducement to hold out to the 17,000 residents and the throngs of strangers constantly visiting the largest town in Schuylkill you should use the columns of the HERALD.

Not only does it guarantee the widest publicity, but its rates are proportionately low.

Job... Printing
