THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1895.

The Fifty-third Congress came in like a lion and went out like a goat.

The only good thing to be said of the late Congress is that it would have been worse if it had carried out all of its evil intentions.

The public credit is all right because it is based upon the fact that the Republican party is certain to be restored to power in 1896.

A Democratic writer says there is "gratifying evidence that free wool has come to stay in this country." But what about the sheep?

Mr. Wilson says: "A campaign of education has begun" and it is to be hoped he means that the Democrats are going to try to learn some sense.

The organization of the new party has proceeded as far as the selection of leaders, and as soon as it gets some followers it will be ready for business.

The lists of resumptions of work in the trade papers are several times as long as those of shut-downs. This is a business "pointer" of great significance.

The Treasury gold reserve is gradually increasing, but for every dollar of such gain, it is to be remembered, there is a dollar of new bonded indebtedness.

The most common comment on the break in Cleveland's Cabinet is that it does not extend far enough. It ought to have taken in Morton and Hoke Smith at least.

If France follows the example of Germany in including American dried apples, the supply of foreign champagne in this country may be considerably disturbed.

UTAH is arranging matters so that she will be in the Union of States early enough to add her quota to the Republican candidates' big total in the Electoral College in 1896.

The bill introduced in the Legislature to license clubs to sell liquor, if it had only been a law last year, would have saved from jail many now there, who under cover of a chartered social organization or club, sold liquor to members, and were convicted of running a chartered speak-easy. The existence of the so-called club, it was very evident, was only a pretext to facilitate the furnishing of liquor at all times to members. A fifty dollar license, as is now proposed, would multiply such drinking clubs to a demoralizing extent. The bill, as it stands, should never become a law.

For some time certain newspapers have been declaring that the treasury will be looted and that the era of extravagance was ushered in with the retirement of Mr. Pattison from the gubernatorial chair and the accession of Gen. Hastings. Some of the chief instances cited by them in support of this sort of talk are shown to be in reality very different from what has been alleged concerning them. In one case the increase was recommended by Gov. Pattison's appointee, in another there is no real increase, a different fund only being provided to be drawn upon, while in a third there is an actual decrease of expenditure contemplated. Gov. Hastings has already taken occasion to make it very clear what the state revenues for the next two years are likely to be and to indicate that all extravagances will be groned by him. That work will in the first place be done very carefully by the different committees, who will know very nearly how close they must cut their appropriation cloth, so to speak. Every legislative body is asked to appropriate an immense amount of money beyond its capacity to fulfill the demand and our present state body is no exception. When its work is finished it will be found that the wild streaks as to its intentions have been but the baseless fabric of a dream evolved from superpartisan minds.

MASSACRED ITALIANS.

Colorado Lynchers Add Two More to Their List of Victims.

SIX LIVES SACRIFICED FOR ONE.

Two of the Men Suspected of Complicity in the Murder of Hixon Hiddled with Bullets by Two Masked Men as They Groveled in Their Prison Cell.

WALDENBURG, Colo., March 14.—Four dead bodies are now in the hands of the coroner of Huerfano county as the result of the vengeance wreaked Tuesday night on the Italian miners who were charged with the killing of Abern Hixon in a most brutal manner at Rouse, last Sunday night, by beating him over the head with a club, and two more Italians have unquestionably been riddled with bullets by friends of the popular saloon keeper. A few hours will almost certainly bring the discovery of the corpses, and every man against whom there is the slightest suspicion of complicity in the killing has met with summary and frightful punishment. Three of the four bodies are those of Hixon's alleged assassins, the fourth is that of Joe Welsby, who was driving four of the Italians to jail in a wagon when he met his death. The dead are (the first four being in the hands of the coroner):

Antonio Lorenzo, charged by the coroner's jury to have struck the blow which crushed Hixon's skull and caused his death, 24 years of age, unmarried, an Italian citizen.

Stanislau Vettari, 30 years of age, married, wife and three children in Italy; intention of becoming an American citizen declared.

Francisco Ponchetto, 27 years of age, unmarried, intention of becoming an American citizen declared.

Joe Welsby, 23 years, unmarried.

Pietro Giacobino, 34 years of age; young son living here; said to have taken out first papers.

Antonio Appeto, 24 years of age, married; wife and three children in Italy; first papers taken out.

Though the mob commenced its work Tuesday evening, it was not until yesterday morning that the work of revenge was completed, after having killed three of the suspected homicides and brought death to the young wagon driver, who had nothing to do with the killing of Hixon.

When the three Italians captured from the wagon at Bear Creek bridge, where Welsby was killed, had been made ready with the small but determined mob and came to the county jail here, and a few minutes before 1 a. m. completed the work of revenge they had commenced six hours before. Ponchetto, who had been wounded in the breast at the Bear Creek trouble, was found asleep in the calaboose with Lorenzo.

The guards placed at the jail, William Smith and Henry Farr, were playing cards when a rap came at the outer door of the jail. They asked who was there, and were told it was Sheriff O'Malley. Without a moment's hesitation they unbarricaded the entrance, and instead of seeing two revolvers in the hands of two masked men. The experiences of others earlier in the night taught them to obey the command to throw down their pistols and throw up their hands.

While the first two men covered Farr and Smith with their pistols, another pair, with their faces hidden by handkerchiefs, and carrying big guns in their hands, stalked in. One of the last arrivals picked up the keys to the cell in the jail, and going back into the building, unlocked the door where lay the now trembling Italians, who felt sure their time had come, and in their broken English begged pitifully for mercy.

The avenger had no mercy for the doomed Italians. In the cell with them was Frank Oik, who is charged with a brutal rape. He was gruffly told to stand aside, and slunk into a corner of the cell. The masked men then turned their pistols loose on the Italians, who shrieked in agony as bullet after bullet went tearing into their defenseless bodies. One of the first shots must have brought relief to Lorenzo, whom the men seemed to regard with special hatred, as the officially declared murderer, for their leaden balls were sent into his brain.

Ponchetto was not so fortunate. One bullet passed through his head and two tore great holes in the thoracic cavity, but instant death was not to be his good fortune, for he writhed and groined in intense agony for as much as twenty minutes, when the vigilantes felt their work was surely done, and turned away, leaving their victims writhing in their own and in one another's blood, while the covering brute who had seen it all was too terrified to utter a sound.

When the last bullet had been fired that was thought necessary to avenge one death with six, the men who had done the latest piece of killing walked out from the jail into the dark night. A moment or two later the keepers of the two guards backed out through the door and closed it behind them. Farr and Smith now picked up their own revolvers and fired five shots through the heavy wooden door after the retreating men. Summoning up courage, they peered out in a few seconds, and seeing six or eight men making off on foot across the railroad tracks, they shot at them until they were out of sight.

WEAK NERVES EPIDEMIC.

Weak Nerves Will Surely Break You Down.

Nerves Are the Very Foundation of Strength and Endurance.

If Your Nerves Are Weak, Lose No Time in Getting Them Strong.

You are growing older every day, and if you do not wish the unifying years as they roll on their relentless way, to rob you of your hopes and joys, your pleasures, your ambitions, your very strength and energies, keep your nerves strong and vigorous.

It is the nerves which soonest wear out. You thoughtlessly use them up in work, pleasure or dissipation, and suddenly wake to find yourself broken-down—that only your body remains, bereft of strength, energy and power, a mere wreck of what you were and with only dreariness, pain, weakness, and discontent your future portion. Then you realize the immeasurable depth of bitterness in Longfellow's lines:

"Oh, sudden thrills of fire and frost!
The world is bright with joy remain,
And a sick and dead when ye are lost."

Health, hope, happiness—everything is dependent upon strong and vigorous nerves. It is weak nerves which give to young, fits, convulsions, hysteria, St. Vitus' dance, and the myriad nervous affections of youth. It is weak nerves which make the women constantly tired, irritable, nervous, dispirited, dragged-out and miserable. It is weak nerves which conquer men in their struggle for mastery in the world, which render them nerveless, strengthless, powerless, with dull, feeble head, shaky, shattering and unsteady nerves, without appetite or good digestion, enfeebled from sleepless nights and wretched and discouraged from trying days. It is weak nerves which make a curse instead of a blessing a body, a casket from which every power and energy has fled, leaving only weakness, despair and utter weariness.

If there is any advice, which above all other, should sink into the heart, it is the admonition to keep your nerves strong. Hence, the words of Mrs. Eliza E. Clements, of 126 Bright St., Indianapolis, Ind., should have weight with every one:

"I was afflicted for six years with nervous debility, would not sleep nights, and I was in a terrible condition. I had heart trouble, and it beat so hard I thought I should die. I was in constant misery and could do no work."

"I had heard much talk about the wonders of Dr. Greene's Nervura and nerve remedy, and now made up my mind to take it. I had given myself up for lost, but began to improve immediately under the use of this marvelous medicine."

MRS. ELIZA E. CLEMENTS.

"It has made me sound and well. I can work all day and not get tired. My heart disease is entirely cured, and my nerves are strong and under perfect control."

"I feel it my duty to tell suffering humanity what Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has done for me, and what it will surely do for them. I am thankful that Dr. Greene has given such a valuable medicine to a suffering world."

"If you would be well and strong, with vigorous nerves full of the vim and energy of youth, use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. At this season of the year you should take it, by all means, as it is the best spring tonic and invigorator you can possibly use. It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 85 West 14th St., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that this medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by any one at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine."

A New Oil Field Discovered.

DUBOIS, Pa., March 14.—Oil has been discovered about two miles west of this place. About the first of the year a drill was started there to explore for natural gas, but the work proceeded slowly with no result. The drill reached the second sand at a depth of 2,000 feet yesterday afternoon, and the workmen became elated over the prospect of oil in the sand.

Russian Yacht Carina Safe.
ATHERLY, March 14.—The Russian Imperial yacht Carina, which ran on a sand bank while on her way from the Piraeus to Corfu, with the Russian minister to Greece, M. Ogon, on board, has been floated. The Russian minister was on his way to greet the czarowitz, and for some time fears were entertained for the safety of the yacht and those on board.

Bank Officers Indicted.
CHICAGO, March 14.—The federal grand jury indicted, on charges of embezzlement, Henry Wells, E. Hill, John Austin and E. T. Paul, the first three officers and the last one a director of the defunct Evanston National Bank. Paul is the only one in the vicinity at the present time. The aggregate amount alleged to have been embezzled is $44,500.

Taylor's Reported Capture.
PIERRE, S. D., March 14.—Governor Sheldon admits that he would not be surprised to see W. W. Taylor return to Pierre soon. The governor declines, however, to give anything definite. Other state officers give credence to the report of Taylor's capture, but know nothing definite.

SPANISH CRUISER LOST.

Believed to Have Been Wrecked Off the Moorish Coast.

OVER FOUR HUNDRED IN HER CREW.

Present Indications Are That All of These Officers and Men, Have Found a Watery Grave—One of the Finest Vessels in the Spanish Navy.

GIBRALTAR, March 14.—The Spanish cruiser Reina Regente is believed to have foundered off Tangier, Morocco, during the recent gale. She had a crew of 490 officers and men. Pieces of one of her boats and semaphore flags are reported to have been picked up along the shore near Ceuta and Tarifa.

The Reina Regente had just conveyed the returning Moorish mission to Tangier. She left that port on March 10 for Cadiz, and has not since been heard of. The absence of news from her is causing the greatest anxiety, and it is believed that she has been lost with all hands.

The Reina Regente is a steel-protected cruiser and was completed in 1887. Her dimensions are: Length, 320 feet; beam, 50 feet 7 inches; draught, 19 1/2 feet. She is of 4,750 tons displacement, 11,500 horse power and her speed is 20 1/2 knots. She was one of the three Spanish warships that took part in the great Columbian naval parade in New York harbor in the spring of 1893, the other two having been the Nueva Espana and the Infanta Ysabel.

The cruiser Isla de Luzerna, of the Spanish fleet, sailed yesterday from Algiers in search of the missing vessel, but it is believed that the search will be fruitless.

One of Spain's Best Vessels.
WASHINGTON, March 14.—The government of Spain has been considering the advisability of increasing its naval representation in the waters of Cuba. The presence of more vessels of war in that locality is desired in order that the government may more effectively and promptly intercept filibustering expeditions that so often threaten the peace of that country, and in assisting in putting down revolutions that arise. The authority for the above statement is Mr. Muragan, the Spanish minister to the United States, and it was made in connection with the report coming from Gibraltar of the loss of the Spanish cruiser Reina Regente. The minister suggested that the government had ordered or was about to order war vessels to Cuba, but whether the Reina Regente was one of them he did not know positively.

The Reina Regente, the minister said, was used in transporting troops and munitions of war between Cadiz, Spain, and the African ports of Tangiers, Suta and Millilla. She was considered one of the best ships in the Spanish navy.

Wants to Fight a Duel.

HAVERTHILL, Mass., March 14.—Walter Scott Hale, of Haverhill, confirms the report that Thomas Gilroy, Jr., of New York, son of ex-Mayor Gilroy, and Hale's brother-in-law, had, as the result of a violent quarrel in the cafe of the Parker House, challenged Hale to fight a duel, and the challenge was accepted. The quarrel arose through personal charges and counter charges resulting from young Hale's endeavor to have his mother removed as his guardian. Hale accepted the challenge, but declared that he would fight nowhere but in the vicinity of Boston. Gilroy refuses to meet Hale except in New York. Hale states that he is prepared to fight at any time, but not within 100 miles of New York.

Japan's Descent on Formosa.

PARIS, March 14.—A dispatch received in this city from Shanghai says that the rumored Japanese descent on Formosa is an accomplished fact. A Japanese squadron from Wei-Hai-Wei, numbering sixteen vessels, has been sighted off the northern extremity of the island. The squadron is hovering around Kelung and Tamsin, which are the strongest places the Chinese possess in Formosa. The garrisons there amount to 30,000 men. It is expected that these towns, which are not far distant from each other, will be the first points of attack.

Fatal Steamboat Collision at New York.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The tugboat N. B. Starbuck, Captain Bradow, was sunk off pier 17 East river by the steamship Seneca, of the Ward line. The captain and crew of five men were thrown into the river, and had to swim for their lives. All were picked up by surrounding tugs, but Captain Bradow's condition was so very serious that all efforts to resuscitate him were futile, and he died at the barge office. The Starbuck was passing a line to the Seneca at the time of the accident.

Important Mining Decision.

DENVER, March 14.—Judge Hallett granted a temporary injunction to the Delmonte Mining company, restraining the New York Chance company from encroaching upon its territory. Both mines are situated at Crooked, and the New York company has produced millions of dollars' worth of ore. The New York has been following its vein beyond its lines and under the ground of the Delmonte since the suit for the injunction.

Mr. J. Baumer, 49 E. Twenty-first St., Bayonne, N. J., says: "Eighteen months ago I was so crippled with rheumatism that I could not dress myself. I tried all the doctors in Bayonne, but they gave me up as hopeless. I also tried numerous preparations, but failed to find any relief. At last I heard of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure and began using it. THE CONSTABLE SHOT TO KILL.

Successfully Resisted the Attempt of a Mob to Release Prisoners.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 14.—The whole Cripple Creek district is excited over a lively running fight between an officer and a number of miners and former railroad men, in which one man was killed and another badly injured. Constable Frank Lupton had arrested a man named McQuade at Victor for participation in the railroad strikes last summer. A number of his captives objected, and in the melee one man, Seth Walston, was shot through the cheek. The officer finally got Walston and McQuade before a justice of the peace, where both were put under $200 bonds, which they refused to give.

Lupton placed his prisoners on a train to bring them to Cripple Creek, but friends of the men covered the engineer with guns, preventing the train's departure. When the constable approached the locomotive the engineer jumped off and ran. Finally the train was started, but after going a mile was stopped, ostensibly to let off passengers. Patrick Looney and a couple of other men attempted to enter the car where Lupton and his officers were. Lupton grappled with Looney, and as he was losing ground pulled a revolver and fired. Looney was instantly killed. The prisoners were finally landed in jail here without further incident, but further trouble is expected.

The body of Looney was taken to Victor. The coroner went there to bring the body to this place in order to hold an inquest. Friends of the dead man gathered in force and prevented the removal of the body. Excitement is high, and if the attempt to remove the body is persisted in there will be more bloodshed.
