Palpitation of the Heart

Shortness of Breath, Swelling of Legs and Feet.

"For about four years I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and swelling of the legs and feet. At times I would faint. I was treated by the best physicians in Savannah, Ga., with no relief. I then tried various Springs without benefit. Finally, I tried also his Nerve and Liver Pills. After beginning to take them I felt better. I continued taking them and I am now in better health than for many years. Since my recovery I have gained fifty pounds in weight. I hope this statement may be of value to some poor sufferer."

E. B. SUTTON, Ways Station, Ga.

Dr. Miles Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

PROTECT FOREIGNERS.

The Government Handicapped by Inadequate Legislation.

NECESSITY FOR FURTHER POWERS.

The Riot at New Orleans and the Lynching in Colorado May Involve Uncle Sam in Vexatious and Expensive International Complications.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—With two such incidents as those of New Orleans and Walsenburg, Colo., facing them, and such affairs as the Rock Springs massacre of Chinese and the killing of the Italians in New Orleans in the background, the state department officials make no secret of their apprehension that the United States is destined to have serious difficulty in maintaining its treaty relations with foreign nations unless congress comes to the rescue. As it stands now, owing to the limitations placed upon the exercise of the federal power by statute, the government finds itself powerless to protect foreign citizens whom the United States is under solemn treaty obligation to protect.

Under our peculiar conditions the national government can only look to the state to extend protection, and if this is denied or the measure of protection is inadequate it cannot interfere. Meanwhile the state itself is wholly free from any responsibility to the foreign powers with which the United States has entered into treaty relations, and these powers are prohibited from even remonstrating with the offending state government. They can look for redress only to the helpless national government. So it is within the power of any erratic governor, or weak mayor, or even an incompetent chief of police in any city to force an issue that can be decided only by war, and the fate of the whole nation may depend on the conduct of such officials.

This matter was brought to the attention of congress by President Harrison at the instance of the late Secretary Blaine after the adjustment of the trouble that threatened war with Italy as the result of the killing of the Italians in New Orleans, but no action was taken to carry out the suggestion, probably owing to the fact that the necessary legislation might be regarded as an infringement upon the old states rights theory. It is very probable, however, that President Cleveland will feel obliged to again call attention to the subject at the meeting of the next congress, and point out how, in the absence of such legislation, he is obliged to appeal to congress to pay out of the money raised by the whole people large sums for indemnity for outrages committed by a disorderly element in one small place.

Just what shape the proposed legislation will take cannot be now defined, but the prevailing idea will be to make it the business of the United States courts in all parts of the country to protect foreigners in the United States, first through the court deputies, and if that is not sufficient then through the troops of the national government, and to do this without delay in all cases. This would require an amendment of the law passed with the express purpose to prevent the use of troops at elections, but proved to be of much wider scope than was intended, and would otherwise hurt the sensibilities of the strict constructionists of the states rights theory, but as between this and the ever present danger of becoming involved in a foreign war without a reasonable or just cause it is believed that congress will not hesitate to declare for the law.

Cheering the Silver Party.

RALEIGH, March 14.—Senators and representatives of the Populist party in the North Carolina legislature in caucus indorsed and adopted resolutions recommending to the Populists of North Carolina that they give their sympathy and influence to the movement looking towards the organization of a distinct political party which has for its chief issue before the nation the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, but at the same time declaring that the Populists of North Carolina maintain their autonomy and distinct organization as Populists.

Thousands Destroyed in an Hour.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 14.—Fire destroyed between $300,000 and $350,000 worth of property at Fourth and Broadway last evening. At about 5:30 flames burst out of the windows of the big four story building at 410 West Fifth street, occupied by the English Supply company, dealers in engine supplies and wrought iron materials, and spread with great rapidity. One hour after it started only walls and a mass of burning debris remained to mark the place where the big building had stood.

Death of a Noted English Clergyman.

LONDON, March 14.—The Rev. Dr. Dale, a well known Congregationalist clergyman, is dead. He was born in London in 1829. Dr. Dale was chairman of the Congregational Union of England and Wales in 1868-69. For seven years he edited The Congregationalist, and was the author of a large number of religious works. In 1877 he delivered a series of lectures on preaching, being the first Englishman appointed to the Lyman Beecher lectureship, and in the same year he received from Yale the degree of D. D.

Cape May's New Mayor.

CAPE MAY, March 14.—The municipal election here produced more excitement than any election ever before held here, and its results were a surprise. The whole Democratic ticket was elected with the exception of the candidates for council, the Republicans securing two of these and the Democrats one. J. Henry Edmunds was elected mayor.

Murderer Starved Himself to Death.

ALFRED, Me., March 14.—Leroy Fernald, the East Lebanon murderer, awaiting trial for the killing of his mother with an ax and setting fire to the house in which her body lay, died in the county jail. He literally starved himself to death, having refused to take any nourishment for a week.

Mysterious Suicide in a Bank.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 14.—A. Burwell Symmers, aged 26, bookkeeper for the Carolina National bank, shot himself through the heart in a room in the rear of the bank building. His accounts were perfectly straight. There is some doubt as to whether the killing was suicide or accidental.

Burned to Death at His Home.

PECULIAR QUASHIE DIALECT.

Odd Lingo That Is Spoken by the Natives of Jamaica.

A thing that fills you with amazement is the queer gibberish that is spoken here, writes Fannie B. Ward from Kingston, Jamaica. In this old English colony you expected to hear the English language, and they call it English and would feel greatly insulted if you intimated that it was not of the best.

We got a fair and easy sample of the "Quashie" dialect, as it is called, of the Jamaica negroes the moment we set foot on shore. Among the crowd clamoring to carry our things we singled out a big coal black fellow in a white linen suit, because he looked the most intelligent. In reply to the question how much he would charge to carry one trunk and two satchels to the custom house he yelled: "Hi Buckrah! I dat quick, quick fe quattie fe de lil tings an tanner fe tunk," which, as translated by our consul, who has grown familar with their murdering of the king's English, meant that he would do the job very quickly and would charge "quattie," or one-quarter of an English sixpence (3 cents in our money), for each of the small packages and "tanner," a sixpence, for the trunk.

All the negro sentences appear to be constructed on the "baby talk" plan, and it rolls out in an oily stream from their thick lips, wholly unintelligible to the newcomer. The poorest of them are very polite to one another as well as to strangers, and it is amusing to hear a half naked wretch, hatless and shoeless, bowing low to another in the same condition and saying: "How do dis morn, marm? Hope um do be well, marm," and the response invariably is, "Quite well um dis morn, sar, thank um, sar." The use of "um" is not understood, but is constant, and it is always "sar" instead of "massa," as in slavery days.

THE FIRST MRS. ADAM.

She Was Lilith and Was Expelled After Being 130 Years Married.

Whether Lilith was one of the female creation of chapter i, or a demon, or something between the two, she was, considered matrimonially, a complete failure. She was expelled after living with Adam 130 years and subsequently became the wife of satan, by whom she was the mother of the Jinns, so familiar in Persian fairy lore.

The emphatic remark of Adam when he first saw Eve, "This is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh," makes, it is suggested, a comparison between Eve and the beautiful but fiendlike Lilith not complimentary to the latter, while the reference on the birth of Seth to him as Adam's son "in his own likeness, after his image," conveys a painful hint of the uncanny offspring born to Adam and Lilith.

Perhaps in revenge for this Lilith—the name occurs translated "night monster" in Isaiah xxxiv—became the sworn foe of little children, whom she was wont to strangle with one of her glorious golden hairs, unless the watchfulness of their mothers drove her away. It has indeed been gravely suggested by an etymologist of great daring that our word lullaby is simply a corruption of "Lilla abi," Lilith, avaunt, which mothers and nurses would croon over the cradles or write on the door-post.—All the Year Round.

Asphyxia by Electricity.

According to Professor Kratter of Gratz, who has for some time been performing experiments on the effect of electrical shocks on animal life, death is most usually caused by sudden cessation of respiration and consequent suffocation. During the suffocation the heart continues its action. If the asphyxia lasts more than a certain time, about two minutes, the heart stops, this being a secondary phenomenon. Generally speaking, the animals used—cats, dogs, rabbits and mice—were not easily killed by 1000-2000 volts alternating. The danger appears to lie in the nervous system and to decrease with the amount of brain development. Frequently death occurs by momentary stoppage of the movement of the heart, but a slow cessation of the heart's action, such as has been observed in cases of human death, was never observed. In no case was any anatomical alteration observable to which death might be attributed, but there are sometimes lesions, breaking of blood vessels, and the diagnosis is rendered certain by the peculiar burning at the position of contact and by the escape of blood from the capillaries, which indicates the path taken by the current.—Philadelphia Record.
