ANOTHER CHAPTER OF HORRORS.

The Sworn Statement of a Kurd Who Was Interviewed by a Trustworthy Correspondent of the London Times-The Terrible Death Pit at Djellyegoozan.

LONDON, March 29 .- The Times publishes a long report on the Armenian atrocities written by a competent and trustworthy man, who made a personal investigation on the spot. This report was written in January, but only arrived in London yesterday. The writer says he is convinced that both in 1893 and 1894 the Turkish government gave both oral and written orders to the Kurds to attack the Armenians, promising them the booty and relieving them of the responsibility for the consequences. In the first attacks made upon them the Armenians defeated the Kurds. Undoubtedly but for Turkish help the Kurds would have been unable to have gained a permanent victory. The Kurds in the earlier skirmishes did not harm women and children. Even when incited by the Turks they did little in comparison with the latter.

The account proceeds to confirm the pit incident and the report of the governor of Bitlis reading at Djellyegoozan the sultan's firman ordering the Kurds to destroy the disaffected villages, sparing nothing, for their sultan and prophet. This oc-curred about the middle of August, and the massacre which followed beggars all description. The occidentals of the nine teenth century cannot comprehend it.

Youths were bound, covered with brush wood and burned alive. Others were hacked to pieces. At Shonig a house filled with fifty men, women and children was set on fire and all were cremated. The of-ficers forced their men to acts of cruelty from which the latter shrank. A young priest at Dalvorig persuaded seventy of his followers to yield. They were ordered to dig a trench, and when enough earth had been thrown up all were hacked to pieces and cast into the trench. Pries into the air and allowed to fall on a number of bayonets that had been stuck up right into the ground.

A correspondent investigating the circumstances of the atrocities precented in Armenia recently telegraphs another version of the story concerning the death pit at Djellyegoozan. He said that the refugees on Mount Andok were inveigled back to the village on the assurance that the authorities desired the re-establishment of peace in the district. Hearing this Priest Ohannes went with about 300 persons to the camp, where they were well received. They were asked to remain a few hours in the camp. Meanwhile soldiers were busy digging a big pit behind the house of a village older, a man named Bedo.

About 6 o'clock in the evening Priest Ohannes was taken, and the cross and the Obtaines was taken, and the cross and the gospel were flung at his feet, and he was ordered by the Turkish officer to trample on them. He refused, and the officer ordered the soldlers to gouge out his eyes. Then they gave him a pocket handkerchief and commanded him to dance. Next Armenians were distributed among the soldiers and killed with bayonets and flung into the pit, dead or dying. The only two Armenians who escaped were a merchant named Avak and Pia Ohan Zoroyan, the latter getting away after he had received

The correspondent attached great im-portance to the statement of a Kurd "who killed many innocent women and children in Sassoun," and with whom he "ex-changed daggers." The correspondent took this man's deposition before respectable non-Armenian witnesses, and from this deposition he telegraphed the following blood curdling extracts:

"The Turkish soldiers took little children by the feet and dashed them against stones I saw an Armenian priest. Soldiers tortured him, squeezing his neck, gouging out his eyes and tearing of his flesh with pincers. We hate that; we only stab or bayonet or cut off heads. We dislike needless pain. I saw a Turkish sergeant bind an old Armenian head downwards to two or three branches and slowly cut him through with an ax.

"Armenians who implored protection and surrendered were butchered at night. I saw it done. The soldiers stood in double line of three on each side. The Armenians were marched in, their hands tied, and they were then bayoneted and flung into the pit. Not all were dead when thrown in the pit. I saw soldlers take a woman and stand around her joking and making bets as to the sex of her unborn child. She was then cut open and the money was paid to the scoundrel who had essed rightly. The Kurds killed people with bullets and daggers, but the soldiers delighted in torture. They put some to death with seissors, cutting them and opening veins in the neck. Others were sawed, others had the tongue cut out, eyes gouged out, and several fingers cut off before death. I saw men and women thus mutilated, and they lay about the camp for two hours be-fore they were killed."

VANCEBURG, Ky., March 22.—A strange burial took place on Cabin creek, near Tollsburg, this county. A few days ago Charles Tully, a ploneer of 83, died, and at the last moment requested that has body might be preserved a few days, as he felt a presentment that his wife would follow him immediately. The request was complied with. On Wednesday the old lady, after a very brief lilness, passed away. Followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends, the old people were buried in one grave.

ATLANTA, March 29.-The police board complication seems to be nearing a solu-tion. The board met yesterday, and though no settlement was announced there is every evidence that an end is in sight. Captain English was recognized as temporary chairman, and the board adjourned until Saturday, at which time the court will have passed upon Mayor King's right to preside over the board. It was an-nounced that the new police force will be elected Saturday.

The pain would commence in my head, after which it would seem to pass down my body and settle in my back, my sides ached, my back sched, and I had a feeling of great distress in the bowels. The increased pain which seemed to come from lying down, would be almost unbearable, my face and stomach would bloat up and I could hardly stand on my feet, dizziness made it almost impossible; this feeling was always with me even after the violence of the strack passed over. The less estate of the attack passed over. The last attack had was the worst, and was so bad I would not have been able to tell this story but for Doan's Kidney Pills. As soon as I commenced their use I found immediate relief. The pain in my back and sides left me and the dizziness went with it; the bloating in my face and body disappeared and all distress in my bowels was gone. I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills; in a short time they did a great deal more for me than all the plasters and medicines which I had resorted to in seeking relief and cure. Further Testimony Before the Senate Investigating Committee.

EXTRAVAGANCE EXTRAORDINARY.

One Witness Declares That to Have Used the Amount of Paint Paid for for the State House He Would Have Used a TRENTON, March 29.—The senate inves tigating committee resumed its sittings in the senate chamber with all the members of the committee present. William H. Corbin, counsel for the committee, referred to various sales of state property by Superintendent Ford in 1891, 1892 and 1893, but said he could find no records in any of the state offices of these sales.

John Biker, a clerk in the treasurer's of-fice, was called, and testified that he had made a search of the books in that office and had found only three returns of thes sales, one for $2,061.24, another for $1,050.20 and another for $703.85. There was no itemized statement. A public sale of furniture advertised to take place in December, 1863, was not reported at all.

John Cornell, an employe at the capitol, testified that he acted as clerk for a sale in December, 1893, which amounted to $414.05. No return has ever been made of it. In January, 1805, he sent a record to Ford at the latter's request.

Mr. Corbin stated to the committee that up to 1894, while Ford was in power, sub-stantially everything in the way of carpets and furniture was sold. Even the safes were sold. Some of the furniture was replaced twice, and there was no record of it. It cost from $120,000 to $125,000 to replace it. There was returned from $3,000 to $4,000, but nothing at all from the last sale. The matter was managed as though private property.

Mr. Corbin next went into some of the expenses in the executive department During Governor Greene's administration the bills for postage ran $501 a year. In Gov ernor Abbett's time they amounted to $847 a year, with an incidental account of $1,367. In the two years of Governor Werts' administration the postage ave raged $300, and the incidentals $250.

Mr. Corbin next paid his compliments to Leon Abbett, Jr., the private secretary to his father who appovernor. In the first year of his official career, 1800, he received for various duties, including private sec-retary, $9,728; in 1891, $4,614; in 1802, an 185 of

Mr. Corbin presented bills showing ex travagance in caring for the capitol grounds. Grass seed and flowers cost in 1890 $431, in 1891 $586, in 1892 $893, in 1893 $1,938, and in the spring of 1894 $1,390.

Henry J. Bennett, a painter of Trenton, was called to testify as to the cost of painting done by Kinnard & Co. He showed that Kinnard & Co. had charged for 1,005 pounds of mixed paint at fifteen cents per pound, and 145 days' labor at $3.50, and afterward had charged for different colors that went to make up the amount sep arately, thus getting paid twice. The wit ness was told that 2,003 pounds of paint were charged for on the exterior of the capitol, and was asked if that much could "I could not put it on with a be used. I would have to use a trowel," was

L. A. R. Berrod, a fresco painter, gave the current prices for colors used in decorating, showing that Kinnard & Co. had charged from 50 to 100 per cent, above the current prices, and Mr. Corbin said this was in addition to the cost of the same material already charged for as mixed For a picture moulding fifty-five cents a foot was charged, when they could be purchased for twenty cents.

Hugh Kinnard testified that Martin. who was his partner in the state house painting job, has been missing since last November, and that not even Martin's family knew of his whereabouts. Mr. Kin-nard produced bills of wholesale dealers showing that Expert Berrod's testimony about the price of colors was underesti-
