The row between England and France is another case of an African in the wood-pile.

The Chinese should tear down their Great Wall and build school houses with the material.

That Spanish apology is evidently lost in the mails. Our Spanish friends really should reform their postal arrangements.

If it seems to be necessary later on to set the Monroe doctrine to music and compel John Bull to sing, we are quite prepared to do it.

The body of another robber, riddled with bullets, has been found in the woods near the scene of the recent attempted "hold-up" on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad. This makes three. To arm train hands is conducive to honesty.

Queen Victoria has given her consent to the bill passed by the South Australia Parliament bestowing the full right of suffrage on women. Woman suffrage is now on trial on both sides of the world, and students' politics will watch the results crest.

The trade revival, which began to manifest itself two or three weeks ago, becomes more marked as the time passes. On the stock market the improvement is particularly noticeable. Not only is the volume of sales larger than they were, but the prices are higher. Nobody, of course, looks for anything like a boom in the next few months. The business torpor of two years can not be overcome suddenly. The improvement will be slow for a while, but it will be continuous and before the present year ends the normal conditions will probably be restored and trade reach the level of the period immediately preceding the panic. As measured by bank clearances, the business of the country is still 10 or 15 per cent. below that of 1892, but the gap is steadily narrowing. Prices of all sorts are about this much below the average of that year, so that the present clearances may represent as large a volume of transactions as those did. Because of the increase in population and in extent of industries, however, which has taken place in the past three years, higher figures than those will have to be reached before the level of the prosperity of 1892 will be touched, but it is evident that that line will soon be in sight.

It is now clearly apparent that the manufacturing supremacy so long held by New England, is seriously menaced, and what is very significant is that New England statesmen recognize and appreciate the fact. They have set themselves to investigating the why and the wherefore, for if the manufacturing industries of their respective states are likely to be crippled by the activity and success of like industries in the South and the West, it will leave their hitherto marvelously prosperous section of the country with but few of the natural resources enjoyed by those sections in which this manufacturing activity is so markedly asserting itself. The West and the Northwest have already made great progress, and the South appears to be awakening to a full sense of her ability to add manufacturing in its various branches to the vast natural resources with which that section abounds. Evidently there is going to be a wider distribution of the many blessings vouchsafed this widely extended country of ours. The manufacturers of New England have not only made Massachusetts and her sister states wealthy and prosperous, but they have also contributed in an eminent degree to the mental cultivation of the people. The same results will follow the establishment of manufacturing on a large scale in any section of the country, and hence, in addition to the building up of the labor interests, there will be an outgrowth of culture that will greatly enhance the blessing.

VENEZUELA WILL FIGHT

Rather Than Yield to the Demands of Great Britain.

HER CITIZENS FULLY DETERMINED

Ready to See Their Homes and Cities Desolated and Laid in Ashes Rather Than Submit to What They Regard as National Dishonor.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—It is stated by persons in a position to speak with authority that as soon as Venezuela is convinced that Great Britain has finally declined to arbitrate or settle the boundary dispute, as suggested by the United States through Ambassador Bayard, the southern republic will resolutely but not unreasonably resort to what she regards as her only recourse—a resort to force. Venezuela fully recognizes the great military strength of Great Britain, but it is declared that her people are ready to see their homes and their cities desolated and laid in ashes rather than submit to what they regard as national dishonor.

Jonquin Crespo, who three years ago led the revolt that resulted in the overthrow of President Palacios, is now president of the republic. He is a brave and determined fighter, and is pronounced in his opposition to the British demands. There was considerable hard fighting in Venezuela before the triumph of Crespo's followers, and while the trouble was going on it was openly stated that victory for Crespo and his accession to the presidency would mean the peaceful cession to Great Britain of the disputed territory. When Crespo won, however, and was made president, he proved to be as good a patriot as Palacios had been, and does not propose to give up an acre, let alone the vast territory England demands, with its fabulously rich gold mines, without the bitterest kind of a struggle.

It is said that the contention with Great Britain is not so much one of territory as of the sentiment and honor involved. So firmly impressed have the people become with this that the opinion is expressed that they would rather see their country go out of existence than pass into the practical control of a foreign power. Little doubt is felt under these circumstances that Venezuela will forcibly assert her rights to the disputed Orinoco territory as soon as Great Britain's rejection of a sentiment are definitely communicated.

This territory extends about 150 miles along the coast, running back thirty-five miles to what is known as the Schomburgk line. Through the middle of this strip runs the Orinoco river, commanding the commerce to the interior of South America. Great Britain is already well entrenched there with a naval station at the mouth of the river.

The interest of the United States in the controversy has progressed steadily in recent days. It began with the friendly suggestion through Mr. Bayard of a settlement, and a request from congress that Great Britain submit the matter to arbitration. The United States squadron under Admiral Meade was accorded an ovation at Venezuelan ports quite recently, and steps were taken to commemorate the Monroe doctrine by erecting a statue to President Monroe at the capital of Venezuela. Within recent days Venezuela has granted large concessions of the Orinoco country to citizens of the United States, and a strong hope seems to be entertained on the part of Venezuela that the United States will not stand idly by if a resort to force is made.

It is understood that the position of Great Britain in declining the suggestion of the United States for the settlement of the trouble with Venezuela is substantially as follows:

First—Great Britain takes the position that the question of arbitration was once before proposed by Venezuela. At that time the foreign office gave the subject the most careful consideration, and then submitted a reply embodying a proposition to arbitrate certain definite subjects of controversy. To this proposition Venezuela has never made a reply, either accepting or rejecting the proposed basis of arbitration. Under these circumstances it is not desirable to proceed to a second proposition of arbitration, when the first remains unanswered.

Second—In any event there are certain portions of territory to which Venezuela lays claim, which under no circumstances will be made the subject of arbitration, as they are recognized and established portions of the British domain, and are not, therefore, a subject on which the judgment of arbitrators could be invoked.

Third—The subject matter is one between Great Britain and Venezuela, so that the good offices of the United States are not regarded as essential to a settlement, as it is not understood that the United States has assumed a protectorate over Venezuela or has other interest than that of a friendly power.

His Father for Slander.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The row in the Spreckels family has reached a somewhat sensational stage. Young Gus Spreckels filed a complaint in the superior court yesterday charging his father with slander. Gus Spreckels, in a recent newspaper interview, practically charged his younger sons with embezzlement and "a type of blackmail" by which they were trying to beat him out of $2,000,000. Gus sued for only $300 damages, saying he merely wishes to refute his father's charges.

Urging a Free Trade State.

The association has sent out circulars inviting a conference of all believers in free trade to be held in Chicago during the first week in October. The movement is claimed to have the endorsement of President Cleveland, Secretary Carlisle and many other leaders in the party.

FIGHTING FOR "SAINT TERESA."

Mexican Fanatics Create a Miniature Revolution Just Over the Border.

GALVESTON, Tex., April 5.—A letter to The News from Presidio, Tex., on the Rio Grande, tells of an incipient insurrection among Mexican fanatics. The trouble, which has been brewing among the Mexicans of the border over the person known as "Saint Teresa," who claims power to perform miracles, broke out again this week. The more ignorant of the Mexicans are greatly stirred up about the matter.

The miniature revolution which took place at Mulatto has culminated at Ojinango (Presidio del Norte), Mexico. The prisoners taken at Mulatto were incarcerated in jail at Ojinango. The hunchback leader of the Saint's party demand the surrender of the prisoners, and upon being refused sent word to Ojinango that he would use force to obtain them. Suing his actions to the words the hunchback started with an armed force of 150 men. The authorities, hearing of his approach, started a force to meet him, and in the fight which ensued, which was kept up until dark, eight were reported dead on both sides and several wounded. The authorities retreated to Ojinango, and the hunchback remained outside the walls of the city, threatening it for three days, and Ojinango is still in a state of siege. The women and children have crossed the Rio Grande into Texas for safety.

BATTLE WITH TRAIN ROBBERS.

One Man Killed and Several Wounded in Indian Territory.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 5.—Five men stopped a Rock Island train near Dover, I. T., at a late hour, and made a desperate but fruitless attempt to secure the contents of the safe in the express car. Express Messenger Jones refused to open the door, and was shot through a crack in the door, sustaining a serious wound. The robbers went through the cars, which were well filled with passengers, and compelled them to empty their pockets, securing in this way $350, six watches, two diamond rings, and other articles of value. Then the robbers rode off.

Word has reached here that the posse which went in pursuit of the outlaws overtook them about fifteen miles from the scene of the robbery. In a fight that followed one man was killed and several wounded. Names are not given. The leaders of the robbery, it is now known, were Charles Bailey and Zyp Wyatt, of Ingalls, Payne county. They were recognized by ex-United States Marshal Grimes, who was a passenger on the train. The others were evidently local thieves from Giffisher.

General Maceo Lands in Cuba.

MADRID, April 5.—A dispatch from Cuba states that a filibustering steamer was run ashore near Duabon, a short distance east of Baracoa, near the eastern extremity of the island, and twenty-two rebels were landed, including General Maceo, Crombet and Valdes. Two sailors belonging to the steamer were captured by the Spaniards. They stated that the filibusters had killed the captain of the vessel for refusing to land them at the place they destined. Senor Dupuy de Lome, the newly appointed Spanish minister to the United States, left Madrid Wednesday evening with Marshal Martinez de Campos. He accompanies the mar to Cuba, and will proceed thence to Washington.

Clerk Nolan's Stealing.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Nothing has yet been heard of William T. Nolan, formerly clerk of the Park Avenue hotel, who disappeared on Saturday last, leaving many irregularities in his books. It had been said that the extent of Nolan's defalcations might run from $20,000 to $30,000, but General Earle, proprietor of the hotel, said that he did not think the amount would be over $8,000. He said that Nolan had stolen the money by turning over false balances to the auditor, Miss Lansing. Nolan lived in a flat in West One Hundred and Fifty-first street with his wife and two little children. The story that he led a double life is indignantly denied by his friends.

A Connecticut Murder Mystery.

NEW HAVEN, April 5.—The state expert who has been examining for several months the blood stains at the home of Storakowski, the Pole accused of murdering his wife and stepson at East Thompson, has determined, after several hundred tests, that the blood is human. This has been one of the most mysterious tragedies in the records of Connecticut crime. The most careful search thus far has not revealed the bodies. The accused man says that his wife and child have gone away, and that the blood in the house is that of chickens.

Mrs. Lease Will Make a Legal Fight.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 5.—The new state board of charities met at the asylum and organized by electing Morton Albaugh, of Kingman, as president and George A. Clark, of Junction City, secretary. The election of Clark as secretary was a recognition of the man appointed by the governor as successor of Mary A. Lease. Mrs. Lease was present and gave notice that she considered the proceedings illegal, and said she would take steps at once to have the new secretary ousted from the board.

Lawyer Disbarred for Fraud.

TRESTON, April 5.—John W. Wartman, a lawyer of many years standing and large practice in Camden, was disbarred yesterday by the supreme court, which rendered a decision in the matter of the charges against the lawyer. There were fourteen of these, contained in as many specifications, all of which charged either fraud or extortion. The court took up only two of the cases, saying that all the others were of a kindred nature.

A Young Wife Murdered.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 5.—News has been received here of the murder of the 18-year-old wife of Riley Thomas, near Sissonville. The murdered woman was found dead in her bed, having evidently been choked to death. Suspicion of the crime has fallen upon her husband, who for some time has been disturbing the neighborhood by his insane jealousy.

Mr. Stokes Pays His Tax.

NEW YORK, April 5.—W. E. D. Stokes has sent a check to the collector of personal taxes for $536 assessed on him in 1893 on $25,000 of shares in the defunct Madison Square bank. Justice Beach on Wednesday signed an order committing Mr. Stokes to the county jail until the amount claimed was paid.

Crushed Under a Jail Wall.

LOUISVILLE, April 5.—While workmen were tearing down a wall at the jail here yesterday it fell, burying Taylor Mills, colored, underneath it, and crushing him to death.
